Fenway Park, Boston, Mass., Oct. 15.—Hammering "smoky" Joe Wood out of the box in the first inning and piling up six runs, to which they afterward added five more, the New York Nationals today evened their standing with the Boston Americans in the world series by taking the game, 11 to 4.

Never for a moment was the victory of the Giants in danger. Boston scored one in the second, two in the seventh and another in the eighth, but they won the best they could do. It was enough to have won almost any other game in the series, but counted for nothing today.

Two home runs, one by Gardner and the other by Doyle, featured the game. Tesreau pitched for the Giants.

Fenway Park, Boston, Oct. 15.—Before today's game in the world championship series, Tesreau and Meyers warmed up as the battery for New York, while Wood and Cady warmed up for Boston.

Before the game all the Boston players went to the club house, where they had a talk with President McAleer and Manager Stahl behind closed doors.

"We just talked things over," remarked Manager Stahl as the team came back on the field or practice field. Wood and Cady were announced as the batteries for Boston; Tesreau and Meyers for New York.

Umpire Evans went behind the plate; Umpire Higler took the bases; Umpire Klen went to right field, and Umpire O'Loughlin went to left field.

The opening of the game was broken down by the noise of the spectators.

First Inning.—New York.—Devore was safe on an infield hit which Wagner could not get. Doyle singled to center, Devore being held at second. Devore and Doyle executed a double steal. Wood's pitch to the plate was low and Cady made no attempt to throw out either runner. Devore and Doyle scored on Snodgrass' base hit to right. Murray sacrificed Snodgrass to third on a grounder to left field. Snodgrass scored on a single by Merkle, who took second on the throw-in to catch Snodgrass. The wind carried Merkle's fly out of Lewis' reach. Wood took Herzog's grounder and threw to Wagner, who then tossed it to Gardner, who touched out Merkle. Herzog took second on the play and scored on Meyers' single to left. Fletcher got a single to right. Meyers taking third when Gardner dropped Hooper's perfect throw. Fletcher went to second on the play. Meyers scored on an infield hit by Tesreau, which Wood was only able to knock down. Fletcher scored on a delayed steal. Tesreau was out going to second after Fletcher had scored, the play being Cady to Yerkes to Stahl to Wagner. Six runs, seven hits, one error.

Second Inning.—New York.—Hooper walked. Devore stole second. Cady's throw being wild, Doyle walked. Devore was caught off second by a quick throw from Hall to Wagner. Snodgrass singled to right. Doyle taking second. Doyle scored when Hall threw wildly to catch him napping at second. The ball went into center field and Snodgrass took third. Murray flew out to Wagner. Merkle out, Wagner to Stahl. One run, one hit, one error.

Boston.—Gardner scored on a long home run into the center field fence. It was the first home run of the series. Stahl sent up a high foul to Meyers. Fletcher threw out Wagner after Tesreau had knocked down the ball. Cady struck out. One run, one hit, no errors.

DODGE TELLS ABOUT FUNDS

Talks Before Clapp Committee About Raising $85,000 for Wilson.

Describes How He and Perkins Together Helped Trenton Paper.

Washington, Oct. 15.—Cleveland H. Dodge, who collected $85,000 for Governor Wilson's campaign, which included $12,500 from Cyrus H. McCormick of the International Harvester company, told the Clapp committee that "he realized there might be some question about the McCormick money."

Dodge said he feared the government suit to dissolve the Harvester company might arouse adverse criticism and he asked Mr. McCormick to take the money back. The question finally was left to Governor Wilson.

The governor said he was perfectly willing to receive the money and was not afraid to take it, said Dodge.

"Mr. McCormick gave the money just as he would have given it to Princeton university."

Loans to Newspaper.

Senator Oliver's questions brought out that Thomas D. Jones, another contributor to the fund, was connected with the Harvester company. Mr. Dodge told of loaning $25,000 to the Trenton, N. J., True American early in Governor Wilson's term. It had nothing to do with the presidential campaign, he said.

Henry Jones Ford of the Princeton faculty and E. H. Howe, vice president of the Princeton bank, told of loans to the True American. Mr. Howe testified he negotiated loans to him by Miss Kilm, secretary to the paper and that the "money was handed to him" by Miss Kilm.

Mr. Perkins, who said the paper totaled $40,000, he said, although that had nothing to do with the American's support of Governor Wilson.

"I want to explain this Perkins matter," said Mr. Dodge. "Mr. Perkins and I went into the Princeton bank to get the money."

WILSON SENDS HIS SYMPATHY

Telegraphs Roosevelt Congratulations That Wound Is Not Serious.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 15.—One of the first things that Woodrow Wilson did today was to read the newspaper accounts of the attempts to assassinate Col. Roosevelt. He sent the following telegram to Col. Roosevelt:

"Please accept my warmest sympathy and heartfelt congratulations that your wound is not serious."

Governor Wilson went to Philadelphia this afternoon to consult a throat specialist. He will return to Princeton tonight.

SAM SCHEPPS ON THE STAND

Is Called By State to Testify Against Lieut. Becker.

Whitman Expects Him to Corroborate Rose's Story of Crime.

New York, Oct. 15.—Dapper little Sam Schepps, gambler and underworld hanger-on, whom District Attorney Whitman's men apprehended at Hot Springs, Ark., took the witness stand at the trial of Police Lieut. Charles Becker today.

Rose, Vallon and Weber having given their coinciding versions of the alleged plot to slay Herman Rosenthal, the prosecutor hoped to find further corroboration in the story of Schepps. The little gambler has described himself as the "keynote of the arch."

With Schepps disposed of the state proposed to call Mrs. Herman Rosenthal, widow of the murdered man. She has not been well of late, however, and there was some doubt this morning whether her condition would permit of her going on the stand.

Rose's Story Corroborated.

"Bald Jack" Rose's story of how Police Lieut. Charles Becker plotted the murder of Herman Rosenthal was corroborated on the witness stand yesterday by both "Bridgie" Weber and Harry Vallon, self-confessed accomplices in the crime.

Weber went further. He swore that Becker told him that on the night of the murder he would have killed Rose.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 15.—John Schrank was taken to district court at 10:30 o'clock this morning for preliminary examination, on the charge of attempting to kill ex-President Roosevelt. Schrank pleaded guilty.

This action was taken on recommendation of District Attorney Zabel, who issued a warrant charging Schrank with shooting Col. Roosevelt with attempt to kill.

SURGEONS MAKE NO MOVE FOR OPERATION

X-Ray Examination Shows Ball Did Not Penetrate to the Lungs.

Reassuring Statement Is Issued at Mercy Hospital in Chicago.

Complete Rest Is Needed and Campaign Plans Are Cancelled By Managers.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—Col. Roosevelt's wound is not a mere flesh wound, but is a serious wound in the chest, said a bulletin issued this afternoon by physicians at Mercy hospital.

This statement was made in the form of a bulletin which was issued by the doctors after a late examination of the wound made by the bullet of an assassin in Milwaukee last night.

At 1:05 p. m. the following bulletin was issued by physicians attending Col. Roosevelt at Mercy hospital:

"The examination of Col. Roosevelt at 1 p. m. showed his temperature was 98.8; his pulse, 92; his respiration normal. It pains him to breathe. He must have absolute quiet; must cease talking and must not see anyone until we give permission.

"This is not a mere flesh wound, but is a serious wound in the chest and quietude is essential."

"J. B. MURPHY."
"ARTHUR DEAN BEVANS."

Dr. Jameson of Milwaukee arrived this afternoon with plates of X-rays he took of the wound last night in Milwaukee, soon after Col. Roosevelt was shot. He will compare the plates with those taken today in an attempt to ascertain whether the bullet has "traveled" in the meantime.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt, shot by John Schrank, a would-be assassin, in Milwaukee last night, lies today in Mercy hospital here, resting easily.

Half a dozen of the most noted and skilled surgeons in Chicago, led by Dr. John B. Murphy, made X-ray examinations of the colonel's wound and announced that the bullet did not pierce the lung, but had lodged in the chest. They had not planned to operate this morning.

The following official statement was issued at 10:30 a. m. by the surgeons attending Col. Roosevelt:

"Col. Roosevelt's hurt is a deep bullet wound of the chest wall without striking any vital organ in transit. The wound was not probed. The point of entrance was to the right of and one inch below the level of the right nipple. The range of the bullet was upward and inward, a distance of four inches deeply on chest wall. There was no evidence of the bullet penetrating the lung. Pulse, 90; temperature, 99.2; respiration, 20; leucocyte count, 82, at 10 a. m. No operation to remove bullet is indicated at the present time. Condition hopeful, but wound so important as to demand absolute rest for a number of days."

"DR. JOHN B. MURPHY."
"DR. B. J. SAYLE."

Medical men, when shown the official statement issued by the surgeons attending Col. Roosevelt, seemed to think conditions most favorable. In their opinion the chief danger would lie in the formation of pus within the chest cavity. As the bullet did not penetrate that far, this danger was, of course, obviated.

Col. Roosevelt was stronger after the X-ray examination. He ordered a hearty breakfast of tea, bacon and eggs and toast, his customary morning fare, saying that he was hungry.

The colonel at 9 o'clock was much stronger than he was in the morning, according to the attending surgeons. He was bright and cheerful and seemed

Chicago, Oct. 15.—Elbert E. Martin, to whom Col. Roosevelt perhaps owes his life, told the story of his adventure as follows:

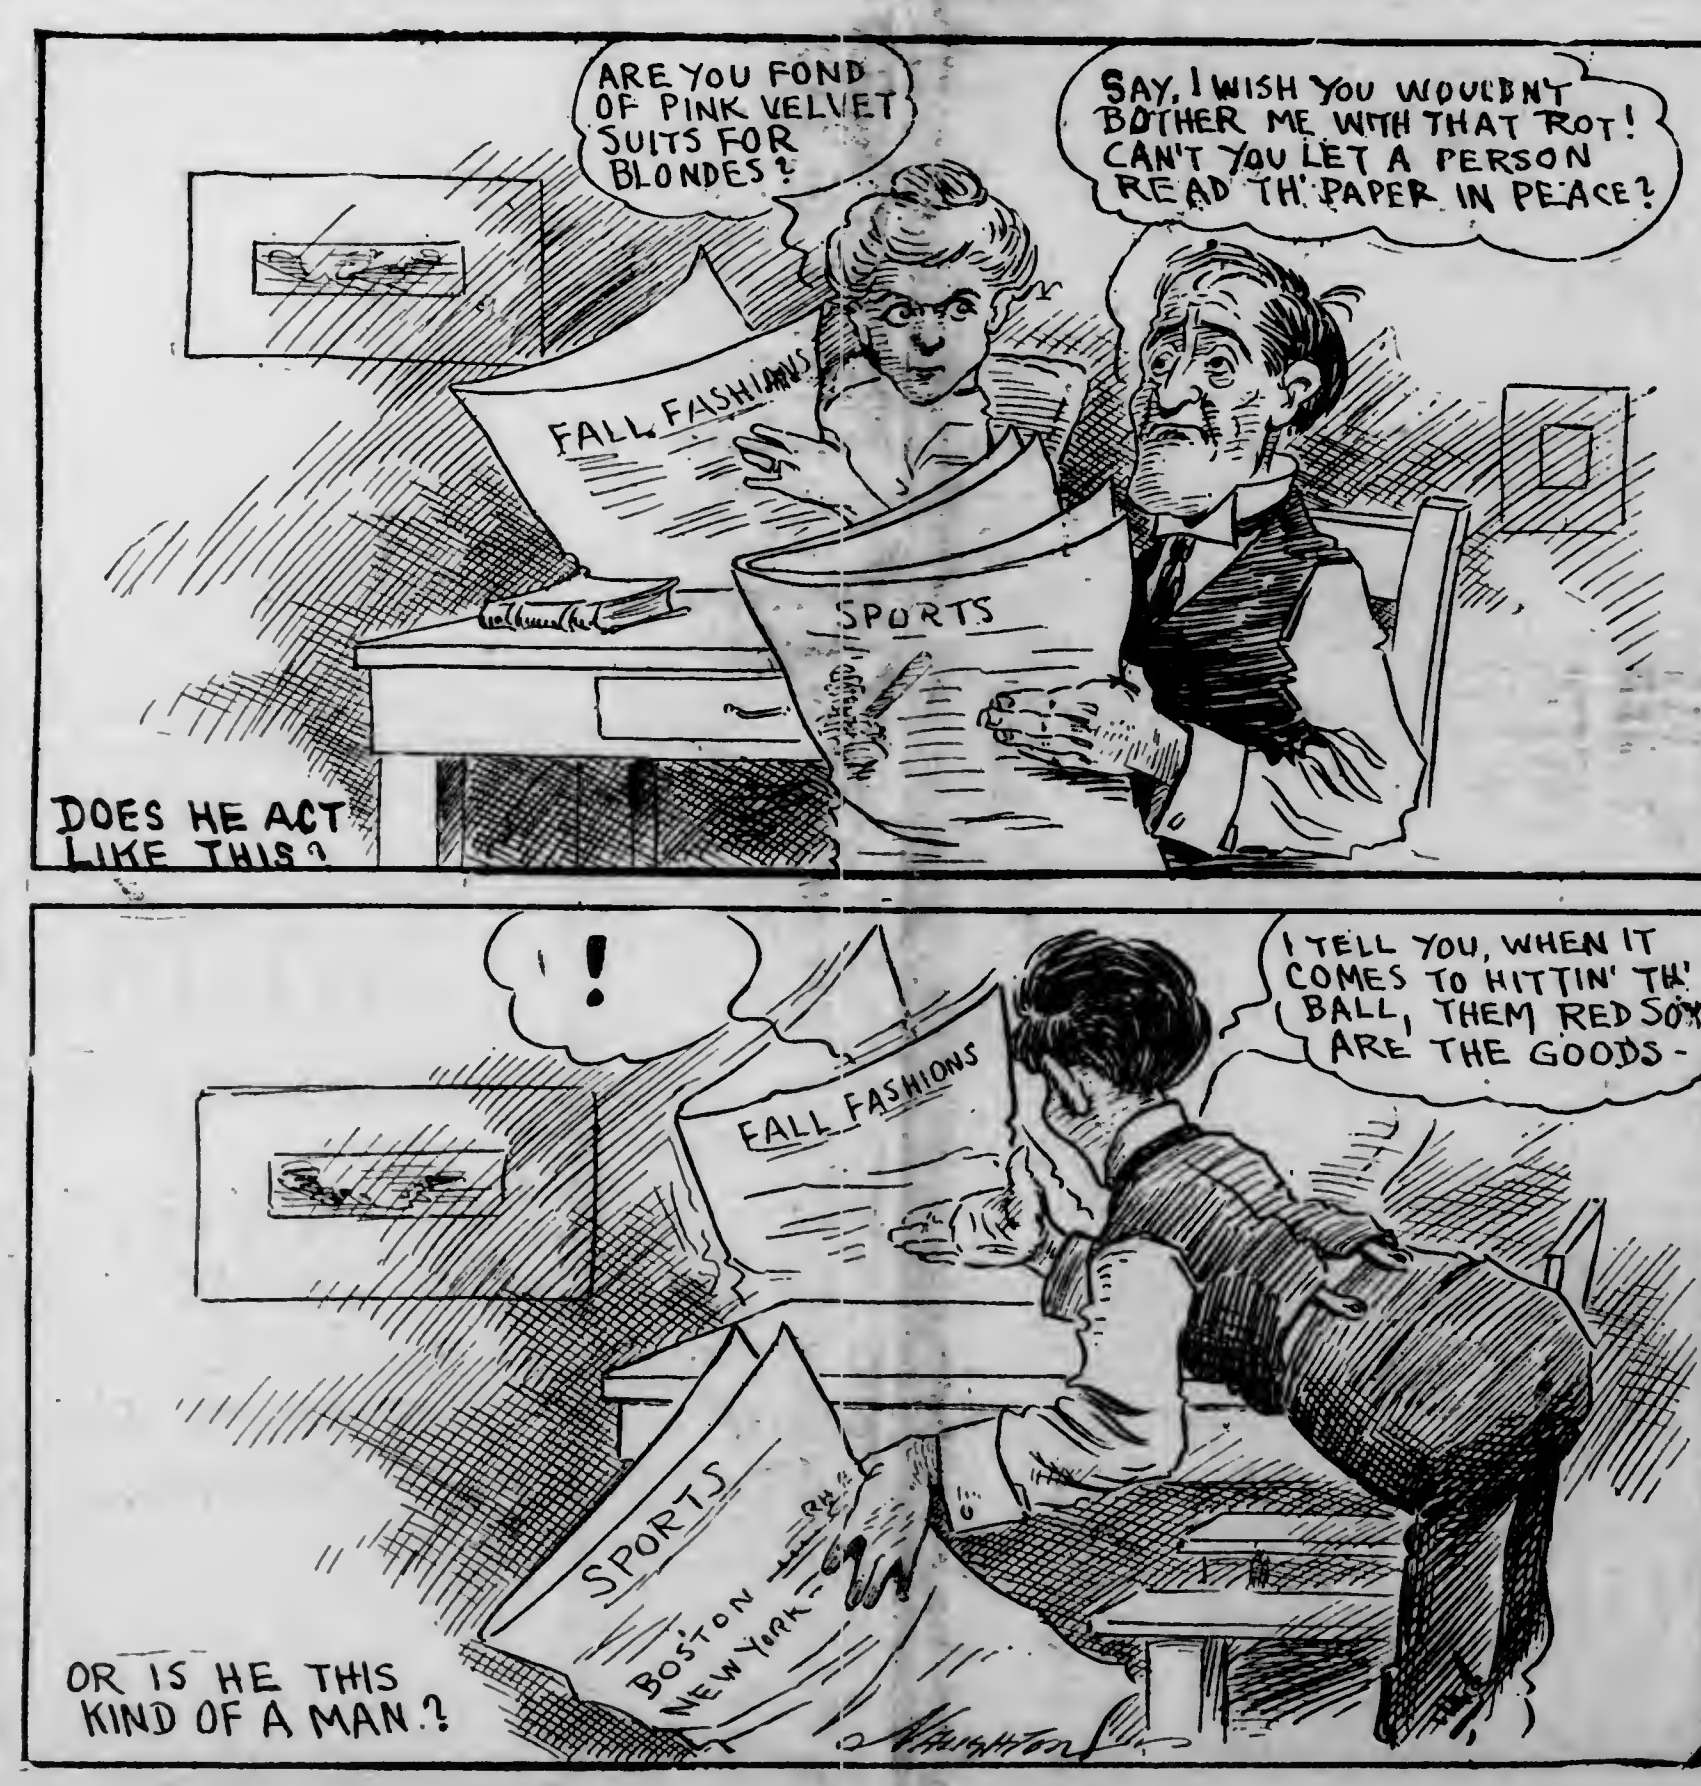

"I walked downstairs with the colonel and out to the car and had taken my seat before anything happened. As Col. Roosevelt was standing in the car waving his hat to the crowd, the flash of metal caught my eye. I didn't stop to think what I was doing, and before I really knew it I had jumped over the Washington, Oct. 15.—Deep gratification was expressed in official and unofficial circles here, in both of which former President Roosevelt had been a striking figure, when it was learned as the night wore on that his wound was not serious. The White House was kept advised until near dawn of the condition of Col. Roosevelt and newspaper offices were besieged for information.

"When the nature of his wound was

NEW CHARTER READY FOR DULUTH'S CONSIDERATION

Believed to Be More Progressive Than Any Yet Adopted.

Contains No Experiments, But the Pick of Other Charters.

What is believed to be the most advanced government ever drafted in this country will be submitted to the Duluth charter commission Thursday evening by a sub-committee consisting of John G. Williams, C. H. Phelps, C. A. Condon, Bert Fesler and T. T. Hudson.

Government by commission, the abolition of wards and the single election system are the principal new features of the charter.

The sub-committee has been at work for over a year studying the experiences of other cities. Starting with the idea of drafting a charter providing for a commission form of government, the committee has taken from the charters of various cities features that the members believed to be applicable to Duluth.

The charter draft contains nothing experimental. Every feature has been tried and found to be successful in the United States. However there is no charter in the country identical with the Duluth charter draft, which has been adapted to local conditions and state in mind.

The abolition of ward boundaries and the election of the commissioners at large in the city are to be expected in commission government. The most radical departure from Duluth's present form of government, and the feature which is likely to cause the most discussion, is the single election system, which would do away with primaries.

Under the state law, elections in cities of the first-class must be non-partisan. Under the charter draft, all candidates would submit their cause to the voters at one election.

New Election System.
The election system drafted upon by the committee is one that is in use in Spokane, Pueblo, Grand Junction and other cities of the first-class.

It provides for first, second and all other choices being voted upon. The election is completed at first, it is simple on closer examination, it is not so simple as it seems. It is a one-once primary law, but is an independent plan more readily applicable to cities governed by commission.

In cities in which partisanship figures in city elections, two elections are necessary—one in which the parties select their candidates and the other in which the candidates of the parties are voted upon.

Under the system suggested there will be no necessity for two campaigns, with duplication of effort and expense. One registration day will be eliminated and the voter will be given the right to vote on election day by registration on his own affidavit, supported by the affidavit of two freeholders. The members of the committee believe the plan will prove an economy for the city and for the candidates for office.

Biennial Election.
The charter as drafted provides for a mayor and four commissioners. The administration of the city affairs is divided into departments, and the original draft contemplates the election of the mayor and commissioners for four years at the first election and two commissioners to be elected for two years, so that there will be an election every two years.

The initiative, the referendum and the recall, which were placed in the city charter at a special election last spring, are included in the draft of the new charter.

The present city charter has over 500 sections. The new charter will have less than one-third of that number. Many provisions for administrative detail, contained in the charter at present, will be supplied by ordinance of the commission, the voters having the right of referendum.

Under the present system, charter amendments are necessary for minor details on which every body has an opinion. The new charter will deal more with fundamentals, leaving detail to legislation by the commission.

In the fundamentals, there are very few changes in the new charter except in the drafting of a charter that will give the city good government without burdensome restrictions or administrative red tape.

Will Meet Thursday.
The charter commission will meet at the city hall Thursday evening at 8 o'clock to take up the report of the sub-committee. Several meetings will probably be necessary for the discussion of the charter draft. The meetings will be public and the members of the commission and anxious citizens will be invited to attend the meetings and take part in the discussions.

The charter commission will be called for the submission of the charter to the people. The members of the commission plan to have the special election about Dec. 1. The notice of the special election must be issued thirty days before, so there will be plenty of time for discussion and consideration.

who is most oppressed, I am absorbed in the success of that movement. I feel uncommonly proud in belonging to that movement.

"Friends, I ask you now this evening to accept what I am saying as absolute truth when I tell you I am not thinking of my own success. I am not thinking of my life or anything connected with my personal life. I am saying this by way of introduction because I want to say something very serious to our people, and especially to the newspapers.

Showed Bloody Shirt.
"I don't know who the man was who shot me tonight. He was seized by one of my stenographers, Mr. Martin, and I suppose is in the hands of the police now. He shot to kill me. I am just going to show you—(Col. Roosevelt unbuckled his coat and vest and showed his white shirt badly stained with blood.)

"Now, friends, I am going to ask you to be as quiet as possible, even if I am not able to give the challenge of the Bull Moose quite as loudly. Now I do not know who he was or what party he represented. He was a coward. He stood in the darkness in the crowd around the automobile and when they cheered me and I got up to bow, he stepped forward and shot me in the breast.

"It is a very natural thing that weak and vicious minds should be inflamed to acts of violence by the kind of foul mendacity and abuse that has been heaped upon me for the last three months by the papers in the interests not only of Mr. Debs, but of Mr. Wilson and Mr. Taft.

"Friends, I will repudiate any man of my party who attacks with such vile, foul slander and abuse any one of our party. I wish to say to the speakers and the newspapers that represent both the Republican and Democratic and Socialist parties that I cannot, month in and month out, year in and year out, make the kind of slanderous, bitter and malevolent assaults that they have made and not expect that brutal and violent men should be especially when the brutality is accompanied by a not too strong mind, they cannot expect that such nature will be unaffected by it.

An Experience.
"I am not speaking for myself at all. I give you my word, I do not care a rap about being shot, not a rap. I have had a good many experiences in my time, and this is the last of them. What I do care for is my country. I wish I were able to impress on our people the duty to feel strongly, but to speak truthfully of their opponents. I say now, I have never said on any stump one word against my opponent that I would not defend in the laboratory. I have said nothing that I could not substantiate, and nothing I ought not to have said, nothing that, looking back at it, I would not say again. I am all right."

COCHEMS ALSO FOOTBALL PLAYER
Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 15.—Henry F. Cochems, who helped to down Col. Roosevelt's assassin in Milwaukee last night, is remembered at Harvard as an athlete and ex-football star. He came to the Harvard law school after graduating from the University of Wisconsin, where he was known as "Terrible Cochems" of the football team. He maintained his reputation at Harvard when he ran up 1,164 points in a strength test, which showed him to be the strongest man ever tested by the Harvard system. Cochems was the first man who ever completed the three-year law course at Harvard in two years. Two years after he graduated he nominated Senator La Follette for governor at the Republican state convention. In 1904 he was secretary of the Republican state central committee.

USE OF CELERY INCREASING. Farm and Home: The use of celery is obviously on the increase, but the demand is for a first-class article. The cash results average $250 per acre. The expenses for fertilizer, labor, boards, packing, etc., are quite heavy, being nearly $100 per acre. The net profits may be set at $150 an acre, which well repays us for our trouble. Celery delights in a low, rich, heavy, moist soil, and is usually grown upon the same land year after year. An early crop, such as peas, beans, turnips or extra early sweet corn, generally precedes it. At least one ton of a high-grade fertilizer to the acre is necessary to produce a fine crop of brittle, tender stalks. The favorite varieties are improved white plume and golden self-blanching. The plants are set in narrow, shallow trenches four feet apart and six inches in the rows, requiring nearly 22,000 to the acre. The crop is cultivated frequently, and the earth is gradually worked up to the plants. Care is taken not to fill the heart of the plant with earth. The celery is blanched by setting 12-inch boards up against the rows. They are set on edge on either side of the row and close to the plants so they are only two or three inches apart, in which position they are held with wire hooks or cleats nailed across. Boarding is done when the plants are large enough to show a few leaves above the boards. The foliage then soon fills the space, excluding the light. About three weeks are required to complete the process.

LACONIC. Detroit Press Press: "How much does your wife pay for her hats?" "Too much."

FOILED. Puck: The lovers whispered together before the doors of her father's bungalow, planning the last details of their elopement. "Hurry, dearest," he urged. "We will wheel out your runabout monoplane and together we'll fly away on the wings of the night, nevermore to be separated!" "Wait!" she exclaimed. "I have a better plan. We will run it out and hide it in the old stable; then we will walk to the trolley and papa will never suspect us." They were hardly half a mile on their way down the road when, from overhead, came the roar of the triple propellers of the racing monoplane as papa dashed out into the darkness in hot pursuit.

SCHRANK KNOWN BY NEW YORK MAN

Lodginghouse Keeper Who Rented Room to Him Describes the Man.

New York, Oct. 15.—John Schrank, would-be assassin of Col. Roosevelt, up to a month ago was a lodger at the White hotel, a three-story lodging house at 156 Canal street, just off the Bowery. He had been a guest there for nine months, occupying a room which cost him $2 a week.

Custody Jost, the owner of the hotel, said today that he had known Schrank for a long time, although never intimately.

"The man's father," said Jost, "was an old-time saloonkeeper on Elizabeth street. Schrank used to come often to my place for lunch, or a casual glass of beer. He was a quiet, unassuming fellow, and I often sat down with him for a few minutes' chat, although at the time I did not even know his name."

Used Name of "Shannan."
"It was just nine months ago when he came to me and asked for a room. I gave him one at $2 a week and he was registered under the name of Shannan. He told me at the time he was in the insurance business. A few days later he remarked to me that his name as inscribed on the register was a mistake and should be Schrank. He did not appear to be prosperous—in fact, about two months ago he asked me to help him get a job somewhere as bartender or waiter.

Finally, about the last of September, Schrank quit the hotel, leaving no forwarding address. He said that he was going out of town to visit relatives. A few days later he sent me a envelope, postmarked from a Southern town; I think in South Carolina. I notice by the papers this morning that he had gone South in pursuit of Col. Roosevelt.

Had no Visitors.
"Schrank never had any visitors at the hotel. He was quiet in his manner and in his talk. There was no mystery about him—apparently he was just like many other men whom you meet in New York small hotels and lodging houses. He never talked politics with me, and he never gave any indication of possessing violent opinions. He is the last man I would have picked as a would-be assassin."

The man left no papers or documents in the room he occupied. There was a bundle of old clothes on a cupboard shelf which told the maid to throw out.

ASKS PRAYERS FOR ROOSEVELT
Hotchkiss of New York Wants Nation-Wide Appeal to Be Made.

New York, Oct. 15.—Prayers for the recovery of Col. Roosevelt will be offered daily in every city and town in the country. If the plans of State Chairman Hotchkiss of the Progressive party here are carried out.

One of the first official acts of Mr. Hotchkiss upon learning of the attempted assassination of the Progressive candidate for the presidency was to request, by telegraph, every county chairman in New York state to open all political meetings hereafter with prayer, and to ask particularly for the convalescence of Col. Roosevelt.

"We hope to make this a nation-wide movement," he said, "and to ask every praying man, woman and child in the United States to petition the Almighty for the recovery of our former president."

MINNESOTA EXHIBIT AT ILLINOIS STATE FAIR ATTRACTS ATTENTION

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald).—The Minnesota exhibit at the Illinois state fair is attracting more than usual attention. H. J. ## MINNESOTA POLITICS

Evidence of Machine Politics in Contests for Supreme Court—Friends of Governor Eberhart Call on Other Republican Candidates to Declare for Taft—Independent Candidates for Commissioner in First, Fifth and Seventh Districts.

Supreme Court Contests.
The effect of the coming election on the Minnesota supreme court may well be given attention by the voters. The situation is an extraordinary one. Thus far the voters in this section of the state have given it little attention. They should study the situation and the candidates and vote for what they believe to be the best interests of the state.

A majority of the court will be affected by the coming election—four of the five members are involved. Chief Justice C. M. Start has withdrawn from the contest and his place will be filled. Justices L. B. and A. G. L. Brown are candidates for re-election. Justice C. L. Brown is a candidate for the bench and should be retained in place as associate justice.

Chronologically summarized, the situation is this: The new election law adopted at the last session of the legislature made the supreme court a non-partisan body. The law provides that candidates for the bench shall have their names placed on a non-partisan ballot, the two candidates for each office receiving the greatest number of votes to go on the general election ballot.

In one class Justice Andrew Holt, a St. Paul man, was opposed by Judge Oscar Hallam of St. Paul, a member of the Ramsey county district court. The primary election, Chief Justice Start and Judge Stanton were the two highest in the contest for chief justice. The heavy vote against Chief Justice Start was a great surprise to him and his friends.

The man left no papers or documents in the room he occupied. There was a bundle of old clothes on a cupboard shelf which told the maid to throw out.

In Minnesota, is selling as high as $150 and $200 an acre. Practically all the grasses shown in the exhibit were produced in Northern Minnesota. The potatoes, which are marketed all over the world, come from the northern part of the state. Many exhibitors of the fair, from the territory adjacent to Duluth, say: "The Springfield Journal, in an article on the Minnesota exhibit, says: 'It came out in conversation with Mr. Maxwell, that one of the men with him in the exhibit was A. B. Hostetter, formerly of Springfield, superintendent of state farmers' institutes for many years. Mr. Hostetter is now and for the last five years has been, agriculturist for the Duluth Commercial club at the head of propaganda for developing the market gardening industry about Duluth. Under his direction they are making what one of the principal potato growing regions of the country. Mr. Hostetter left for Duluth Wednesday night."

of partisan politics for the purpose of taking it out of machine politics. The machine is interesting itself apparently, and the people have an opportunity to rebuke it. Justice Brown will not suffer by defeat. He will retain his seat as associate justice and will continue to give good service to the people. By defeating him the people will merely exercise their right to have another member of the bench of their own choosing, instead of leaving the selection to Governor Eberhart and his advisers, whose devotion to the people's interests is open to question.

Smoking Out Candidates.
The Lincoln club of Mankato is attempting to smoke out of the Republican candidates for state offices. The club has sent each nominee a letter giving him until Oct. 15 to declare whether he will or lose the support of the club. Governor Eberhart did not receive one of the letters, and says he was passed up presumably because the members of the club know he has been passing up for Taft. Some of the nominees are pleased because a club composed of friends of the governor is endeavoring to embarrass other nominees on his ticket. They have been waiting to keep the Taft-Roosevelt question out of sight and they do not relish the idea of going on record.

Thomas Frankson, a member of the legislature, has made up for the Mankato club's neglect of the governor by writing him a letter asking that he explain his position on the issue of the referendum and the recall and the tonnage tax. The governor has not yet decided whether he will answer the letter.

The arrangements for the special trains with which candidates for state offices were to tour the state are being held up for some reason. The decision of the state central committee to make the special train trips purely state campaigns, rather than some of the Taft supporters in the state and out, will delay in making the arrangements. It is said the tours may be abandoned altogether.

Justice to Nominees.
Though Judge Stanton and F. Alex Stewart went through the expense and trouble of a primary contest, Justice Brown will share equally with him on the non-partisan ballot in the contest for chief justice of the supreme court. On the sample ballots received by the county auditor, the name of Justice Brown appears with Stanton and Stewart following. The names are to be alternated on the ballot.

On the partisan ballots, nominees by petition are placed last, and the other parties are given position according to their vote at the last election. It seems that a nominee by petition on the non-partisan ballot should not be given equal advantages with the regular nominees. In justice to the nominees, his name should have last place on the ballot.

Independent Candidates.
A. D. Smith of Hibbing filed yesterday an independent candidacy for county commissioner in the Seventh district, opposing R. S. O'Neill of Chisholm, the Republican nominee. At the primary election, two Hibbing candidates ran close to Mr. O'Neill, and friends of Mr. Smith believe that he stands a good chance of getting the Butcher and Ryan votes at the general election.

W. A. Pond of West Duluth has filed as an independent candidate for commissioner in the Fifth district. Petitions for the nomination of John E. Roos in the First district are being circulated. Today is the last day for filing petitions and friends of Mr. Roos say his certificate will be filed today.

Taft Loses Strength.
A Duluth man who returned from a visit to New York a few days ago took a straw ballot on the flyer between New York and Chicago. The vote was: Wilson, 14; Taft, 11; Roosevelt, 3. Three of those who voted for Wilson voted for Bryan four years ago, eight voted for Taft and one voted for Debs. Six of the Taft men this year were also Taft men four years ago and the other five who voted for Taft did not give their former vote. Of the Roosevelt votes, six came from Taft four years ago and the other three did not give their 1908 vote. Of those who gave their 1908 vote, fourteen out of

At the primary election, Judge C. W. Stanton of Bemidji ran next to Chief Justice Start for the place at the head of the court. When Chief Justice Start withdrew from the race, Judge Stanton's election was practically assured, as Mr. Stewart will not be a serious factor in the race at the general election. Justice Brown's nomination by petition, accepted to by Justice Brown, presumably through an innocent desire for promotion, is a deliberate attempt to prevent Justice Stanton's election and to give Governor Eberhart an opportunity to prevent Justice Stanton's election and to give Governor Eberhart an opportunity to prevent Justice Stanton's election and to give Governor Eberhart an opportunity to prevent Justice Stanton's election.

There is no question of Justice Stanton's fitness for the position. He has been a member of the court for the past several years and is a popular and efficient judge.

Appeal to Colored Voters.
Duluth colored citizens have received from Dr. J. Milton Waldron, national organizer and chairman of the campaign committee of the National Independent Political league, copies of an appeal to the colored voters of the city to support the National Independent Political league, which was formerly the National Negro-American Political league, working for the election of Wilson and Marshall and is calling on the colored men of the city to shake off their servile allegiance to the Republican party and vote for their best interests as measured by present-day issues.

Burns Visits Duluth.
Luke P. Burns of Virginia, Democratic candidate for the legislature in the Forty-ninth district, has been in Duluth for the last few days campaigning in the Seventh and Eighth wards, which are part of that district. Mr. Burns formerly practiced law in Duluth, but has been in Virginia for some time. He is making an aggressive canvass and says that if he can get an even break in Duluth he believes he can be elected.

Murphy in Active.
J. W. Murphy of Virginia, the Democratic candidate for sheriff, is in Duluth working on his candidacy. He doesn't intend to allow the Republican nomination to be equivalent to election if he can help it. Mr. Murphy is especially well known on the range and expects to pull a big vote there. He has been on the range since 1893, when he opened the first general store at Mountain Iron. He opened the first general store in Hibbing in 1893 and was the first postmaster of that town. He has lived in Virginia since 1905 and is now in the real estate and insurance business there.

FAVOR UNION OF CHURCHESFirst Steps in Crookston Church Consolidation Plan
Is Successful.Congregations of Two Churches
Now to Vote Upon the Proposal.

Crookston, Minn., Oct. 15.—(Special to the Herald.)—As the result of the joint meetings of conference committees named a short time ago by Congregational and Presbyterian churches, not a single vote of the twelve committees was cast in opposition to a plan for a union of the two churches submitted by the Congregational committee.

The plan for union follows: The two churches and congregations to be united as one Congregational church, the members of the Presbyterian church to be admitted to membership by letter; the property of the Congregational church to be the property of the United church; the property of the Presbyterian church to be disposed of in such manner as that church may designate; upon the union of the two churches all the present officers of the Congregational church are to resign and their successors to be chosen by the members of the United church.

Congregations Must Vote. Now that the plan for union has been adopted without a dissenting vote by the joint committee of twelve, the proposition will be submitted to the vote of each separate congregation and it is believed the vote of both denominations will be practically unanimous in approving the recommendation of the committee. If this is done, and action will be taken at once, the necessary formal and legal steps to effect the union will be taken as soon as possible.

This is the first definite move looking to "general church union in Crookston, the plan of last year to unite five or six of the Protestant churches having been abandoned. It is believed that after the Congregational and Presbyterian churches have united, others may desire to join the union. The development that follows, each church desiring to join will be considered separately, thus making the proposition much more simple, as the central organization of the churches has been formed and the others, to join, would simply have to dispose of their church property and be admitted by letter, making it vastly easier than to have more than two churches figuring on a basis for union, which necessarily would inject many minor points and make an agreement difficult.

Four or five more days will finish shock thrashing, and there remains a short run of thrashing from stacks, as many farmers have profited by experiences of the year and have stacked their grain.

Very little flax has been threshed, but that portion of it that has been pounded out, has been in very good shape. Flax properly threshed and shocked has not been injured by the rainy weather, but that flax which has more or less of other grains mixed with it, will rot or weeds, has suffered because the latter have retained the moisture.

In the western part of the state thrashing activities are not so well advanced.

makers Quizzed on Liquor Inspection Bill.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 15.—(Special to the Herald.)—Legislative candidates in North Dakota have varied opinions as to the bill proposed by the North Dakota Enforcement league providing for the establishment of a liquor inspection department should be enacted into law, the majority of those responding to the recent letter sent out by the special committee, headed by J. B. Wineman of this city, being in the affirmative.

The bill creates a department charged with the inspection of all liquors shipped into the state and the reporting of such shipments to the prosecuting attorneys of the county to which the liquor is consigned, the purpose being to better control the traffic into the state.

A canvass of the legislative candidates is being made by the anti-liquor forces to determine what measure support may be obtained in the coming assembly, and the information that is being obtained will also be used in the short time remaining before the election to give anti-liquor forces, favorable to the measure, an opportunity to vote against such candidates as are opposed to the bill.

ENGINEER IS GAME.

Sticks to Post and Prevents Heavy Loss of Life.

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 15.—Traveling at a rate of forty-five miles an hour, Northern Pacific passenger train No. 4, eastbound, ran into an open switch at Oriska, N. D., Sunday afternoon, took the siding and crashed into a string of freight cars. Miss M. Madison of Minneapolis and a negro waiter received broken bones.

That many of the 350 passengers were not killed or injured was due to George Dazell, engineer. The switch had been left open by a construction crew, and he observed this just before the locomotive headed off the main line. The fireman jumped before the tender crashed through his side of the cab, but Dazell remained at his post, applying the air until the collision occurred.

The passengers drew up resolutions expressing their appreciation of his courageous act.

IRRITABLE CHILDSee if Tongue Isn't Coated, Stomach Sour and Bowels Waste-Clogged.

Mother! Don't scold your cross, peevish child! Look at the tongue! See if it is white, yellow and coated! If your child is listless, drooping, isn't sleeping well, is restless, doesn't eat heartily or is cross, irritable, out of sorts with everybody, stomach sour, feverish, breath bad, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, or is full of cold, it means the little one's stomach, liver and 30 feet of bowels are filled with poisons and foul, congested waste matter and need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

Give a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs, and in a few hours all the clogged up waste, undigested food and sour bile will gently move on and out of the little waste clogged bowels without nausea, griping or weakness, and you will surely have a well, happy and smiling child again shortly.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children, being composed entirely of licorice, sugar, senna and aromatic it cannot be harmful, besides they dearly love its delicious taste.

Mother! should always keep Syrup of Figs handy. It is the only stomach and bowel regulator and purgative needed—a little given today will save a sick child tomorrow.

You Beer Drinkers

Read the following opinion of a scientist, an authority who has experimented and therefore knows that "light starts decay even in pure beer."

"We have tested beers repeatedly, placing the bottles in the direct sunlight, and testing the same after one, two, three and five minutes exposure, found that the beer with three and five minutes exposure became undrinkable on account of the peculiar odor developed. The detrimental effect of light upon beer can be successfully counteracted by the employment of brown or dark colored glass bottles, and such bottles are, therefore, recommendable."

JENSWOLD ISSUES HIS CONFESSION OF FAITH

Democratic Candidate for Congress Tells Where He Stands.

Says Miller Has Misrepresented People of the District.

John Jenswold, Jr., Democratic candidate for congress in the Eighth district, has issued his "Confession of Faith."

He expressed his firm belief in progressive principles of government, that would treat every man as every other man in the nation. He stands for the maintenance of competition, the reduction of the tariff and government ownership of water terminals. He attacked Congressman Miller's record in detail and makes an appeal for support.

Mr. Jenswold's campaign committee is having the document printed in pamphlet form for wide distribution through the district.

The text of the document follows:
Support the Platform.
"As the Democratic candidate for congress from the Eighth congressional district it is my duty to state frankly and it is the right of the people to know fully, what stand for and whom I shall support.

"I believe in and shall support the principles of the national and state platforms of the Democratic party and will support and work for progressive principles of government wherever found.

"I believe in the ability and patriotism of Governor Wilson and his fitness for the office of president.
In that of R. M. Kindig for the office of governor.

"I believe that government should be for the equal and general welfare of all, with special benefits or favors to none.

"I believe in adequate and equal protection to man and property and not believe that the rights of property are higher than the rights of man.

"I believe in and have absolute confidence in the American people and their ability to work out their own future. I believe that the will of the people should be supreme in government. This will be supported by such promises made before election should be sacredly observed and fulfilled in spirit as well as in letter.

"I believe that boards or commissions of experts are invaluable aids to obtain information for legislative bodies; but I do not believe that such boards should be used to delay the passage of needed reform legislation, nor that the power of legislative bodies should be transferred to such boards.

Industrial Competition.
"I believe that all improvements which increase the quality or quantity of production are for the benefit of the American people and that progress can best be promoted by industrial competition; and that American companies of the industry should be required to maintain in all parts of the country the same standard of quality and price, except as prices may be affected by the difference in the cost of selling and transportation and that a violation of this rule should be punished by imprisonment and forfeiture of the right to continue business.

The Tariff.
"I believe that tariff duties on all the necessities of life should never exceed the difference between the cost of the American product and that of the foreign competitor, where such difference exists; that on such products as are regularly sold at a fixed price in foreign countries than in the United States, there should be no tariff duties whatever; that the present tariff is an unjust burden upon the consumer without corresponding benefit to labor, a burden which enriches the few at the expense of the many and should be immediately reduced.

"I believe that the Payne-Aldrich tariff, under which the average duty of manufactured articles is 38 per cent of their cost, while the total cost of labor is but 14 per cent, is for the enrichment of the few and for the plunder of the many—it is not for the benefit of labor, for labor has not been benefited.

Water Terminals.
"I believe in government appropriations to improve rivers and harbors, but I also believe that the ownership of docks and warehouses by railroads and their allied steamship lines has created a monopoly whereby, through discrimination and unreasonable charges against independent boats and fleets, competition by water transportation has been destroyed and the benefits of the appropriations lost to the people.
Therefore, I believe, that the government should acquire and operate upon an open and equitable basis public docks and warehouses so that real competition in the transportation between water and rail may be restored.

"These are my principles, and if I am elected to congress I shall attempt faithfully to carry them out.

Miller's Record.
"On the other hand I charge that
C. R. Miller, the present congressman from this district, has flagrantly violated his promises and grossly misrepresented the will of the people of this district.

"He broke his promise and misrepresented the people when he voted for the continuance of Cannonism.

"He misrepresented the people when he voted against the iron and steel bill. The protectionist theory is to equalize the difference between the cost of American and foreign labor.
The average cost of iron and steel manufactured products is 14 per cent.

This is reduced by the average tariff duty from 35.5 per cent to 22.42 per cent. This reduction was still 8 per cent higher than the total American labor cost. Such Progressive Republicans as Lindbergh, Anderson and Davis, who voted with the Democrats in favor of the bill. But for the president's veto, it would have annually saved to the consumers of this country $30,000,000. Miller voted against it.

Misrepresentation of People.
"He misrepresented the people when he voted against the cotton bill and against such progressive Republicans as Lindbergh, Anderson and Davis, who voted with the Democrats in favor of the bill. If the bill had become a law it would have saved to the people of this country annually $8,000,000.
The bill reduced the average duties on cotton goods from 48.12 per cent to 27.06 per cent. The average labor cost on cotton goods is but 19 per cent.

"He misrepresented the people when he voted against the bill to reduce the average duties on chemicals from 26.4 to 16.6 per cent. If this bill had become a law it would have saved to the newspapers. By this vote he sought to deny to the public knowledge of the persons who control the avenues of public information.

"He misrepresented the people and promoted the interests of the transportation monopolies when he voted to create the commerce court.

KNOX TALKS FOR TAFT

Secretary of State Says That Roosevelt Is Angered at Being Beaten.

Declares Popular Unrest Is Due to "Unthinking Propaganda."

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 15.—Secretary of State P. C. Knox addressed a Republican meeting here last night, defending the record of the Taft administration and appealing to Republicans to stand by the president.

Reservations had been made in the hall for members of various Republican clubs, and these, preceded by a band, paraded through the streets before the meeting, the place of honor in the march being given to the women's organizations supporting President Taft.

"It has been well and truly said:
The reckless use of words whose meaning is greater than their sense has brought more misery and bloodshed to the world than the worst crime punishable by law."

"On the sixth of August, 1912, Theodore Roosevelt in his speech before the Progressive convention in Chicago said that the Republican party is a husk with no real soul, boss-ridden and privilege-controlled.

"Inconceivable elements, not daring to speak out wisely and fearlessly what he said of the vital issues of the day.

Issue With Roosevelt.
"This is a terrible indictment of the greatest political party ever formed by a free people to work for the good of the people and to it is important to know whether it is true or false. Let us test it by the consideration of some undepicted facts.

"Does Mr. Roosevelt mean that under Lincoln, Grant, Harrison and Mc-Kinley the party was so bad and had no soul? Does he mean that during his own leadership of 17 years he was in a better condition than during that period nothing was accomplished? Does he mean that at the time he surrendered the office to himself he was in a better condition than when he was elected? Does he mean that the deplorable condition
he describes existed when on Sept. 25, 1901, he was elected president?

"He means that the deplorable condition he describes existed when on Sept. 25, 1901, he was elected president. He means that the deplorable condition
he describes existed when on Sept. 25, 1901, he was elected president. He means that the deplorable condition
he describes existed when on Sept. 25,
1901, he was elected president.

When the Party Changed.
"Then just when the moment of time between Sept. 25, 1910, and Aug.
6, 1912, that the party of unparalleled achievement and progress was transformed into a party of inactivity and inaction? Was it because the party, taking him at his word, passed to the hands of a third term, and this, I believe, is susceptible to demonstration not only from Mr. Roosevelt's own words, but by a thoughtful consideration of President Taft's record."

Secretary Knox enumerated important measures enacted by the sixty-first congress, upon the recommendation of the president and in fulfillment of the party's pledges, and continued:
"What better proof of far-sighted and enlightened statesmanship along progressive lines can be found than in those measures initiated and advocated by President Taft?"

In case his action rests upon the sound proposition that the welfare of the people and the nation can be best secured by establishing safeguards against injustice and greed and by resolving that the prosperity of individuals and of nations is dependent upon their dealing with one another.

Probably at no period of our history have such advanced, progressive and far-reaching policies of reform been pressed in one administration.

Attitude of Taft.
"No man could successfully challenge the probity and correctness of the attitude of President Taft toward the issues presented in the demands of modern life. No one who hears him to the truth challenges President Taft's unerring efforts to bring about honesty in public life; to check autocratic political dictation; to secure equality of American opportunity; to repress corporate aggression; to control irresponsible and conscienceless wealth and to break up corrupt alliances between wealth and politics.

"I venture to say it is not so much the grave and sober demand of the people, East or West, North or South, for a more honest and more just society, as certain unthinking propaganda, lightly formulated and hastily spread, which alone with honest and sincere convictions of some, a strain of fanaticism of others, has brought about the present state of confusion and self-seeking of the storm.

"Someone must say it not so much and steadily above the storm of conflict and agitation, and it should be an inspiration to all sober Americans to con-

To Re-Elect Taft.
"President Taft can be re-elected if he receives his party's votes. For the

THREE CHISHOLM MINERS DROWN IN LOIGYEAR LAKE

Returning to Homes Across Lake in Rowboat When Craft Is Capsized.

Upturned Boat and Victims' Hats Mute Evidence of Triple Tragedy.

Chisholm, Minn., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald).—Three miners living in what is called the South end, or across Loigyear lake, the sheet of water about two miles in circumference that adjoins this village, were drowned in a rowboat when they returned home in a rowboat from the Christopher Columbus Junction here late Sunday night.

Their names: FRANK NOBEN, aged 30, employed at the Monroe mine, having wife and children; FRED GORSE, aged 31, single, employed at the Pierce mine; FRED DOLNICK, aged 30, married, having wife and children living in Austria; employed at the Monroe mine.

The men were last seen alive late Sunday evening when they embarked in a rowboat from the foot of Lake street to row across the lake, about half a mile, to the South end, where they lived.

Their failure to put in an appearance yesterday aroused suspicion and late in the afternoon an investigation was set on foot that resulted in finding their overturned boat on the north-west shore along with their hats and other articles. As soon as the police were notified they began dragging the lake. The work of dragging the lake was continued all night and today, up to this afternoon, the grappling irons had not brought the bodies to the surface, but Mayor Austin who is directing the search is hopeful that the bodies will be recovered.

Since the discovery of the boat and other evidence that the men undoubtedly drowned when their boat was luffed about by the heavy seas that prevailed on the lake Sunday evening, it is known, a farmer employed by the Swan Lake Lumber company recalls having heard cries of distress from the lake about the time the three men are supposed to have perished. The shore about that time due to the wind-up of the big celebration, the cries of the unfortunate men failed to attract the attention of anyone who would have been accorded.

Hunter Who Mistook Animal for Deer Is Fined and Pays for Horse.

Coak, Minn., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald).—Carl and John Johnson paid fines of $25 and costs in Justice Leiting's court Monday afternoon on a charge of hunting deer with headlights and Abel Anderson, a woodsman employed by Erickson & Nelson of Duluth, paid them $100 for a horse he had shot while headlighting.

Anderson signed a statement confessing that he had shot the horse while hunting deer with headlights along the shores of Lake Vermilion. All of his hunting and fishing paraphernalia, including over 500 feet of net, several headlights, guns and ammunition were confiscated.

Headlighters have recently killed a cow and a horse in this vicinity and "hook merchants" induced the warden to come here. The three arrests followed his visit.

COUNCIL HEARS EXPERTS' REPORT

Contractors Tell Two Harbors Aldermen About Olson Fire Damage.

Two Harbors, Minn., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald).—The meeting of the city council last night was again devoted to the John Olson fire case.

Several experts testified as to the amount of damage sustained by the fire and in each case they held that the building was damaged more than 50 per cent. A village ordinance provides that when a building is destroyed by fire 50 per cent or more, the building cannot be repaired, but must be demolished. Within the fire limit, the Olson building is within 50 per cent of being destroyed, but must be repaired, but must be demolished.

Those who were appointed by the council to inspect the building and report are: Andrew Erickson, Charles Erickson and G. W. White, all local contractors.

What they reported, they had made a complete examination of the building and submitted the following figures: Erickson, $700; White, $2,000; and Olson is making a stubborn fight to repair the ruins, but his chances for doing so does not look very bright. He contends that he can repair the building and restore it to its original condition.

GOSSIP AND COMMENT ON SPORTS AND PASTIMES OF ARENA, FIELD AND TRACK.

By BRUCE

JOE WOOD should have been in three games in the present series between Boston and New York, he had equalled the record established by Christy Mathewson, Jack Coombs and Babe Adams. Since the present modern series of the winner being decided on the four game reworking, no pitcher has succeeded in coping more than a trio of triumphs.

Back in 1905 Christy Mathewson, then in the very prime of his pitching strength, fought with Connie Mack's Athletics, the Giants that year winning four contests to the one by the Philadelphia team, and Mathewson being on the mound when three were won by the Giants.

In 1906 Babe Adams was the hero of the series. That season the games were strung along the full length of the possibilities, without counting two, seven being played. It was the pitching of Adams that decided the contests.

In 1910 it was Jack Coombs who had much to do with the winning of the series by the Athletics. He pitched the Cubs back from the Venz-like form of sweet victory, and mounted the pedestal of fame with the springy limbs of pride and prowess.

SITTING here in an easy chair, with nothing to contemplate but the wall and the various year imaginings conjures up, it might sound exceedingly foolish to say that it looked as if Stalld used bad judgment in sending O'Brien into the box. From here, nevertheless, it does.

Coombs seemed like the man that should have been given another chance. The way he pitched after the game was shown, that he was right yesterday and far from his true form when he went into the box against the Giants in the contest of last week.

Of course the Red Sox have the best of it, but just the same the Giants have their big fighting chance left. Should the McGrawites cop today the odds will suddenly switch in favor of the team that Sunday looked badly beaten and shunted out of the race.

JIMMY BRADY, one of the smartest and gentlest little fellows in the fight game, came around yesterday extending the glad hand of greeting.

The other night at Port Arthur he beat young Hughes and he is thinking of trotting on to the Canadian land of prosperity, where they have dollars and droll delight in the fight game.

In the inner circle of the fight game it is generally believed that "Lance" is about through," quoth "Lance." Some of the fighters think that the operation for appendicitis has robbed the Dutchman of his vitality and made him a victim for the next good man that fights him. All of the boys in the lightweight class are crazy to fight him now, and you didn't notice any of them falling over themselves to get at him when he was mowing them down.

"Jack Britton is one of the coming boys in the lightweight division. He had it on Packey McFarland at Memphis, and he has beaten most of the good boys in his class. Don't let anyone tell you he can't make 133 pounds."

"Some of us don't think so much of Joe Rivers. It is him around in fight circles that he is getting to be one of the boozie comedians. I'd like to have a bet on Jack Britton, and you ever gets the chance to fight Rivers."

Speaking of pitchers of the present series, it might turn out that Rube Marquard would be the fitter to go down with the illustrious as the winner of three games of the series. The defeat of Boston in the game of today would probably mean that Mar-quard will be the hurler chosen for the deciding game of the series.

One of the enthusiastic newspaper men writing of the games goes into ecstasies and other things over the catching of young Cady. He compares the work of the youngster with the palmy day back stopping of Lou Criger and Buck Ewing. Some shining examples of the art of receiving, were these two. It is said that the superb catching of Cady has shown up the work of Chief Meyers.

It is safe to say that Duluth is more thoroughly aroused over the coming wrestling match, the great contest that will be decided just one week from tonight, than ever in the history of wrestling in this city. The fact is not hard to explain. Two of the greatest little men in the world are coming together and the match promises to be one of the greatest in the history of all wrestling contests. That is the reason for the immense amount of interest that is being shown by business and professional men, as well as the usual following of sports.

The match is one cleanly and thoroughly made, and one that is bringing together two athletes with something to settle. Not only will Duluth watch the outcome of the match, but also will it be awaited by fans all over the country.

CUBS NAILING CHAMPIONSHIP

Chicago, Oct. 15.—The Chicago Nationals buried the White Sox under an 8 to 1 score yesterday, winning the third straight game of the series to decide the baseball championship of Chicago. One more victory for the Cubs will end the series.

Cleto attempted to stop the Cubs' winning streak and lasted two innings. He was relieved by Lange after five runs had been scored off him. The Cubs batted in a run off Lange in the third, and then they were held in check until the ninth, when Sater founded out his second triple, scoring two more runs.

The Americans' lone tally was made in the sixth when Eddie drove the ball deep into center field for three bases and came home on Johnson's drive to left. Cheney pitched in rare form and held the Americans to eight scattered hits.

The game was witnessed by 15,245 persons. The receipts were $10,510, of which $1,051 will go to the national commission and $4,729.50 to each club.

FAIRMONT'S TO CHANGE LINEUP

According to the quiet reports that have been sneaking around the city, the Adams men are going to have some surprise next Sunday in the game with the Fairmonts. The rumor runs on velvet feet, like a cat stealthily stealing upon the unsuspecting mouse—and yet, perforce, it makes progress.

The story came to light today, and it says that the Fairmonts, a famous football player of Cleveland, is to be played on the Fairmont line, and that several burly, husky iron workers, mussy kind of boys, who hail from Chicago, are to be seen much of life and much of football also, are to be with the Fairmonts both in body and spirit.

From the general looks of things, the Adams men are to have almost an entirely new lineup for the game of next Sunday, and it is the endeavor to guess what the Fairmonts are going to spring that at the present time is worrying the management of the Adams team. A defeat before the games with the crack Beavers of Minneapolis and the hated Shamrocks, would mean mud of a nasty nature on the proud escutcheon of the haughty Adams.

It is said that the Adams boys are going to get out and practice the present week as they have prepared for no game during the present season.

JAWN MCGRAW IS CAUGHT BY STAGE.

New York, Oct. 15.—John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, will enter vaudeville with the "The United Booking Agency," which has drawn up a contract which will be signed by McGraw and E. P. Feltz as soon as the latter returns from Hot Springs, Va.

It is understood that the United Booking Agency has made it optional with McGraw whether he will appear at twenty weeks.

PLAYERS' UNION WILL MAKE TEST OF POWER

Chicago, Oct. 15.—Members of the Cubs and White Sox held an important council of war on Saturday regarding their participation in the receipts of the present city series. Johnny Evers and Dee White, their respective representatives on the board of the Players' Protective association, were instructed just as informally, but none-the-less positively to advance the claims of the players for a share in the receipts of the first six games, including the two tie games.

Commission Must Decide. The decision naturally will fall to the lot of the national commission, which will have the unhappy task of nullifying one of its own rules to grant the request or deny a petition in which the players have asked that the receipts of the fans whose hearts always are with the players against the magnates of the game be divided. The present direct or through President Dave Fultz, runs to be decided. The presentation of facts was forwarded to Fultz yesterday.

Players' Share Is Small. Therefore, unless their appeal is granted, the players' part of the present city series will be $35,063 for the four games played, or which 60 per cent, or $21,038, will go to the winners and 40 per cent, or $14,025, to the losers.

There are 27 Cubs and 24 White Sox eligible to take part in the series. The Sox already have decided to decline in some of their former comrades released during the season, while Secretary Williams and others usually come in the Cub division. So the final dividend will be slightly under $800 for each winning player, and about $600 for each losing player. This compares with $275 and $225 last year. Attendance at the first two games this season was comparatively poor because of unfavorable weather.

Public Is Always Suspicious. Of course the lack of the commission's rule is that a certain portion of the public always is suspicious of the honesty of the game, and might profess to believe the players' story, but the public is usually in order to get a bigger take-off.

If the present petitions of the players are refused, that no doubt will be the ground of the refusal.

ry Ordeman, Julius Johnson, another 200-pounder of Minneapolis and Frank McCoy, also of the Mill city and one of the fastest little men in the country.

The final week before the match will be put in on the road and gymnasium. Little Louis Zorbas, the Duluth Greek, will assist Martin Johnson, who will probably have several workouts with the little pole.

The wonderful endurance of Miller, which Duluth people marveled at the night he defeated Sator Jack, is natural, but he has also been increased by his training methods. Some of the greatest athletes hold that a man leaves his strength on the road. Not so Miller. The little fellow has been running ten miles at a stretch on the Fort Snelling road out of St. Paul and during the week preceding the battle with Adams will do some strenuous work on the roads in and out of Duluth.

Adamson is putting the finishing touches on his training at Waterloo, Iowa, and is being assisted in the work by Fred Kaiser, the cousin of the famous Charles Kaiser, and Fred Barth, the famous wrestler. The old fox is due to get in Saturday and will keep limbered up at the Catholic Athletic club gymnasium.

FORMER AMATEUR WINS.

In a letter from James E. Ten Eyck, coach of the Duluth Boat club, comes the information that Frank Greer of Boston defeated Smith and Manning, the two professionals who have been after a race with the former amateur champion for some time.

In his communication, Jimmy further says that there is some talk of having John Hackett come down East for a three-cornered race with some of the professional scullers of that part of the country.

According to one of the Boston papers, Hackett has offered to wager from $500 to $1,000 in a race with Wray, the famous coach of the Harvard crew.

THIRTY THOUSAND SAW IT.

New York, Oct. 15.—The national commission's figures for attendance and receipts at yesterday's game are as follows:

Total paid attendance, 20,622.
Total receipts, $68,554.
National commission's share, $6,665.40.
Each club, $29,994.30.

JOE WOOD VS. MATHEWSON

Believed to Be Pitching Choice for Game in Boston.

Hub Will Stage Deciding Game in Any Event.

Boston, Oct. 15.—Although tentative plans for a reception to the Red Sox as world's champions were in the making here yesterday, Boston fans were not greatly disappointed over their team's defeat in New York.

"It only delays the result of the series and the reception to the Red Sox as champions of the world by one day," said Mayor John Fitzgerald, who has been directing plans for the reception, as he heard the result of the game at the edge of a bulletin board crowd.

The baseball enthusiasts of the city look to today's game at Fenway park to decide the series in Boston's favor. Even before yesterday's game, fans who gathered to hear the bulletin reports, freely said that they did not care much whether "Boston wins today or not," and that they would be better pleased to have the series decided in Boston, and to see Joe Wood pitching before a house crowd for the first time in the series, get the honor of being the final game.

Reserved seat tickets for today's game were placed on sale at the Fenway park ticket offices late yesterday. A small crowd rushed to the grounds just as soon as the game was over, and it was definitely known that the teams would play here today. The offices were kept open until late at night.

It is expected that Mathewson will be on the mound for New York in today's game, but Manager McGraw has not definitely announced who he will trust with the task of opposing Wood. It is not believed that he will have Tressau face "Smoky Joe" again, after being beaten in the final game.

Following yesterday's game in New York, Manager Stahl and McGraw tossed to determine where the final game would be played in case New York should win today. The Boston manager won, so that the Hub will stage the deciding game in any event.

Communications.

In answer to C. F. L.:

The games or draws in any athletic contest generally result in the calling off of all bets. There may be several different opinions on your bet, which is admittedly open to controversy. The writer holds that A loses the bet, as Boston did not win the first game that Mathewson pitched.

FIGHT CLUB TALK.

Curley Ulrich Springs Old Story About Boxing in Superior.

Curley Ulrich, the irrepressible, is going to form a fight club on the other side of the bay, according to drift wood conversation in the pugilistic seas. It might be mentioned that Curley and others have at former times tried to form fight clubs on the other side of the bay, the deathly quiet side, and that the attempt has been without the fruits of success.

Jimmy Brady of Chicago, the rangy and clever featherweight, has been offered a fight by Ulrich at the prospective club, and Brady is hesitating as to whether he will remain and watch with philosophical calm the growth of the club, or hike onward to thrives under the tender encouragement of the municipal orb.

COUNCIL FEELS HELPLESS IN STREET CAR STRIKE

Aldermen Realize They Are at End of Their Rope.

Franchise Attack Dropped—Ordinance to License Motormen Presented.

The city council met in executive session at the city hall yesterday afternoon and discussed the street car strike pro and con without determining upon any future plan of action. The city attorney informed the council that as far as the legal phase of the situation is concerned he had gone as far as possible and that he did not know of any additional action which might be taken. He explained that the resources in that direction have been practically exhausted. About all that remains is an attack upon the franchise of the company, which could only be decided after a long battle in the courts. This feature was only mentioned.

The council in substance decided that it can do but very little to settle the strike. The aldermen state that they realize that there is very little which the city could do. The leverage to bring pressure to bear on the company is not great, as the charter was granted by the state legislature and not by the council.

Resolution Forgotten.
The mayor did not sign the resolution passed last week to the effect that the franchise of the company become null and void unless it resumed normal service within three days. It was pointed out that the West Duluth and Lakeside franchises specify that careful men be employed and that the company is not doing so. The value of the resolution was about equivalent to the paper upon which it was written.

THEY NEVER FAIL TO MEET REQUIREMENTS

For that reason it was forgotten at the meeting last night.

The proposal for an arbitration board embodied in the report of the special committee a week ago was adopted last night in the form of a resolution. Under its provisions a board composed of three members is to be appointed to investigate the situation and do its best to bring about an adjustment of existing difficulties. One member is to be appointed by the general manager of the company, one by the men and the third by the two above named. If they cannot agree the resolution asks the judges of the district court to appoint them on Oct. 17 or as soon thereafter as possible. When this committee has completed its labors the resolution states that the side which refuses to co-operate shall be held responsible by the public for failure to restore normal street car service. It is provided that the board shall only act in an advisory capacity.

To License Motormen.
The proposed ordinance to license motormen had its first reading last night. It provides that written and oral examinations be made to the council, that the applicant must have had at least two weeks' experience as a student; that he must be familiar with the rules of the road; that two male residents must certify as to his good moral character; and that his good moral character be attested by two male residents. The applicant to comply carries a penalty of not to exceed a fine of ten dollars or imprisonment in the county jail for not more than thirty days. The penalty for non-compliance is a fine of not to exceed $100 for each offense.

The annual light squabbles began again last night. The session grew quite animated at times. Lights appear to be in the position of a quarrel, each of various aldermen seeming to hold that if he gets a light less than some other alderman his future political hopes are blasted.

The question was brought up by a resolution providing that the use of gas lights on East Third street from Second to Third street be discontinued and electric lights be installed at the intersections to replace them. The change will involve but a slight additional expenditure. A motion to postpone action for one week was lost, whereupon the resolution was referred to the light and water committee.

A light was also referred to the committee. The aldermen discussed the question of a new street car line from Central and Grand streets, opposite the new Bethel. Steps and a walk are also to be built at the end of the line. The new line would run from Twenty-fourth to Twenty-ninth avenues west.

E. A. Dahl was granted extensions of time for the completion of his West Duluth contract. The extension was given until Oct. 15 to finish Ramsey street, between Central and Grand streets, and until Nov. 15 to finish Central avenue from Cook to Roosevelt streets. The applications were referred by the board of public works to the council without recommendation.

The Duluth Police Range and the Northern Pacific acknowledged receipt of the resolutions passed by the council thinking them to be of great service installed at the beginning of the street car strike. The company officials expressed their pleasure that the council appreciated what had been done.

G. G. Hartley sent in a communication expressing his disapproval of the resolution of the works board ordering the construction of a new street car line on Oatwanna street between Woodland and Allendale avenues. He asserted that the street was planned about twenty years ago but that it is now little more than a rut. He said that he does not intend to pay for the improvement and pointed out that it will only put him to the expense of defending himself in the courts and causing unnecessary expenditures from the general fund.

City Assessor J. C. Myron, in asking the council for a 2-cented runoff automobile license, suggested that it be necessary for men from the office to stay out all night in making assessments. In the case he said that a horse would require extra attention and he an expense. The assessor thought that a machine would be an economy as there are many outlying divisions to be visited. No action was taken on the request last night.

Aldermen Charles Hector and H. P. Corren made a report of their trip to Buffalo as delegates to the convention of the League of American Municipalities. They stated that after hearing city governments discussed by experts it was their opinion that Duluth can take a place in the front rank of American cities.

A resolution was passed asking the street car company to start running cars on the new hills and north which was recently completed. It was stated that the necessary service is increasing at this time of the year for rapidly.

The Island Creek Coal company was granted a temporary permit to connect its south half of Leasure street to its docks with the Northern Pacific tracks.

The city engineer was directed to prepare estimates of a storm sewer in Twenty-fourth street from Piedmont avenue to the Northern Pacific tracks. A petition for a sanitary sewer in Duluth Heights was received.

Certificates of indebtedness for $20,000 on the new hills and north improvement funds were authorized. This procedure has been found necessary at this time of the year for years past.

The Royal Order of Moose was granted a dance hall license for its hall at 224 West First street. It was stated that the proceeds of dances given there are devoted to charitable purposes.

The city attorney advised the council that in his opinion the bill of the Burroughs Adding Machine company against the city is not a legal claim. He states that his information is that the machines were placed in the assessor's office on trial.

The board of fire commissioners informed the council that the duties of the electrician are becoming so numerous that he has not been required to have charge of the electrical wiring inspection. The board suggested that this properly comes within the province of the building inspector and that it might be transferred to a special inspector working under the direction of the building inspector.

The board of fire commissioners was authorized to have plans drawn for a new blacksmith shop at No. 3 hall and for a new fire hall at New Duluth and to advertise for bids for their construction.

The board of public works reported that it has ascertained that the cost of garbage cans, as suggested by the Woman's Council for Duluth, is approximately $1.40 each and that the cost of installing them amounts to $1.10 each.

The Northern Pacific was directed to install an arc light at the crossing at Smithville.

SONS OF JOVE HOLD BANQUET

Local Electrical Workers Are Initiated Into Mysteries of Order.

The local lodge of the Rejuvenated Sons of Jove, consisting of electrical workers, met at the last evening at the Macabee hall, initiated a class of eighteen new members, located at Duluth and Superior. The ceremony was performed by a team of thirteen out-of-town members. The local officials acting as judges were: W. H. Vilett, Minneapolis; Neptune, E. Reddington, Chicago; acting Vulcan, J. L. Haupt, Chicago; acting Hercules, W. R. Hays, St. Louis; acting Mars, G. Dubsky, Syracuse; acting Apollo, D. R. Becker, Minneapolis; and acting Venus, C. P. Ryder, Minneapolis.

After the initiation ceremonies were over, the party adjourned to the St. Louis hotel, where a banquet was given. Among the speakers were: William Burgess, toastmaster; Charles Dubsy, Joseph Barnard, William R. Hays, and others. The Sons of Jove is a fraternal organization of nearly 8,000. It was instituted in 1890, at Austin, Tex., with a membership of 44.

The local campaign for new members will be continued through the coming month, and at the end of that time it is expected that there will be another large class to initiate into the order. The event will be held at the Macabee hall, near the capitol.

EXTENSION OF UNIVERSITY

Work Started at St. Paul and May Be Extended to Duluth.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first big step in the extension of the state university to Duluth was taken last night when ten professors from the university faculty faculty started at St. Paul and organized evening classes at the Mechanic Arts high school building, near the capitol. Extensive these courses will be extended in St. Paul so that it will be possible for St. Paul people, especially young university education here, and obtain a degree in St. Paul. It is given for work successfully completed in the extension system of continuing education as may be applied on a university degree.

The state university has thus joined with the St. Paul public school board, the St. Paul institute and the St. Paul Builders' exchange to provide for the working people of the city, and for the young people, an education in any of the subjects taught in the day school. The institute has provided, also, several special courses in physics, chemistry, and hygiene. Popular music study, methods of teaching public school, and folk dancing and folk games. All are conducted by the popularly known as the "People's University," and together they provide a complete system of continuing education as is offered in any of the United States. The university extension work in St. Paul, and the rest of the undertaking, will have a special interest to Duluth because its success here means the future extension of university instruction in Minnesota, and Duluth probably would be the next city to get it.

PROTEST AGAINST NAMES CHOSEN FOR SCHOOLS.

A resolution protesting against the action of the city school board in naming the two new buildings to be erected in the near future after R. E. Cobb, superintendent of schools, was presented last evening by a special committee of John G. McEwen camp of the United Spanish War Veterans, appointed for the purpose. The committee consisted of R. H. Houghaling, captain, Charles C. Teare, and Joseph R. Gibson. A copy of the resolution will be sent to the school board in time to be read at its next meeting. It reads as follows:

Whereas, It has come to the attention of Camp John G. McEwen, No. 6, United Spanish War Veterans, that the board of education of the city of Duluth contemplates making a change in the custom of naming the public school buildings in the city after distinguished living people. Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the members of this camp are unalterably opposed to such a change for the reason that the deeds of our distinguished dead should constantly be an incentive to our school children, and that no better way can be devised to preserve in the memory of the living the deeds of our noble dead as well as their names, than by associating them with our public institutions of learning.

It is thought that similar action will be taken in the future by Camp John G. McEwen, No. 6, United Spanish War Veterans, and their various auxiliary organizations.

Anybody who would be able to find an address in the city for the purpose of being able to find your CLASSIFIED ad.

DEFENDED BY O'CONNOR

Sculptor of Johnson Memorial Believes Its Location Is Appropriate.

Interested in Duluth and Will Come Here Next Week.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Through reluctant to reopen the controversy relative to the site selected by the Memorial commission for the statue of Governor Johnson, Andrew O'Connor, the sculptor, stood by his guns yesterday and declared that the location would not injure the architectural beauty of the building. Mr. O'Connor arrived in St. Paul Saturday. So far as the commission is concerned, the matter is a closed incident and it was given out by a member of that body that under no consideration would any change be made.

"I participated in the selection of the site," said Mr. O'Connor, "and believe that its prominence is appropriate for a memorial to a man who occupied such a high place in the esteem of our state.

Statue Not out of Place.
"With due respect to Mr. Gilbert, for whom I have the highest regard, I believe that many of the criticisms advanced against the location of the statue are not to be taken seriously. It may take another statue at some later date to displace it, but I believe that with a companion piece the Johnson memorial will not be out of place among the monuments of the state.

You will notice that pedestals have been provided on either side of the site and in the background for other statues which if placed would be in practically the same relation to the dome as the Johnson memorial. In Washington and the capitals of Europe monuments are being similarly placed without arousing protests.

Mr. O'Connor is enthusiastic over the West. Following the unveiling of the monument he will take a trip to Duluth where he spent several weeks getting suitable types for figures about the base of the memorial.

Duluth Interested Him.
"That city interested me immensely," he said, "and I want to go back and study it again."

The Titanic disaster played a part in delaying the unveiling of the monument. Mr. O'Connor was on the ship when it was wrecked and was sent over in the ill-fated boat. He was not for several days able to trace them. It had been planned to unveil the memorial upon the anniversary of Governor Johnson's death, but the delay in the sketches prevented holding the exercises at that time.

Two of the figures at the base of the monument were shown in the photographs of them with him, the first to furnish an impression of the realistic value. The pictures which he showed were of the men who were the woodsmen. In them Mr. O'Connor has shown the strong, virile types of the Northern range and woods with telling accuracy. He has had no photograph made of the men who were the woodsmen. Johnson, so the first glance the public will get of that will be of the memorial is unveiled next Saturday.

CHICAGO COUNCIL JOINS VICE WAR

Many Moves Made to Eradicate Social Evil in That City.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—The Chicago city council decided at its meeting Monday to take part in the campaign against vice conditions in the city. Under a resolution of the appointment of a committee of nine to make an immediate investigation.

State's Attorney Wayman, who announced that property owners who were allowing houses to be used for immoral purposes in the vice district, they would effect their own removal and plenty for their tenants, was visited by twenty-five owners of houses in the vice district and at once.

Miss Kate Adams, working in the interests of the American Vigilance association, proposed to municipal court judge in the city. Under a resolution of the appointment of a committee of nine to make an immediate investigation.

Supt. John L. Whitman of the Bridge and Highway department of the city, who was secretary to the former Chief of Police Leroy T. Steward, has been in charge of the police department since his left the police department.

GERMANY PLANS WAR UPON STANDARD OIL.

Berlin, Oct. 15.—A government bill aimed at the Standard Oil company is announced in the semi-official Nord Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung. The provisions of the bill are intended to bar the company from the wholesale business in illuminating oils in Germany, which is to be entrusted to a national stock company operating under government supervision.

The new company is to be empowered to acquire the existing wholesale oil plants and stock by appropriation if necessary.

The capital of the new company is to be furnished partly by the big German banks and partly by open subscription. The banks are to be given a controlling share, and an increased power in order to prevent any attempt to obtain foreign control. The life of the corporation is fixed at thirty years.

AKELEY ESTATE CASE CARRIED TO DENVER.

Denver, Colo., Oct. 15.—An attempt to compromise the litigation pending in Minnesota and California involving the $1,000,000 estate of the late H. C. Akeley, was abandoned here today. The object of the arrival in Denver of H. V. Mercer and J. R. Vanarsdale, Minneapolis attorneys representing the widow, Clara Akeley. The attorneys sought a conference with Mrs. J. P. Akeley, daughter of the deceased lumberman, who opposes Mrs. Akeley's effort to have the estate probated in California. The daughter asserts that undue influence was exerted on her father by Mrs. Akeley, whom he married a year before his death.

BANKERS SEE PROSPERITY IN BRISK DEMAND FOR LOANS

Duluth bankers all tell the same story about prevailing business conditions. They say conditions are very prosperous, and they are in a position to know, for they furnish the big business men with the money to carry on their transactions. There is no excuse for any man who is able to work to do any begging in Duluth now. There is a dearth of labor. There is plenty of money to pay for the labor and plenty for him to do. The enormous crops require much ready money to move them and the ready money is in the hands of the banks. A year ago the prevailing interest rate was 5 per cent, but now it is 6 per cent. There is a great demand on the accumulation of the banks, but happily, these accumulations are large, and there is enough for all responsible borrowers. The business activity is by no means confined to the grain business. It is general. Jobbers declare they are placing big orders. There is but one class that is complaining and that class consists of the retail merchants. Bankers assign two reasons for this. In the first place the wave of prosperity that the grain handlers, jobbers, lumbermen, and storekeepers are already enjoying has not reached the retail trade. In the second place they say the street car strike has greatly impaired business by its interference with traveling. The retailers themselves are inclined to lay the principal stress on the latter cause.

WAYWARD BOYS RESIST POSSE

Wisconsin Youths Put Up Fight, One of Them
Finally Surrendering.

Green Bay, Wis., Oct. 15.—After holding a posse of twenty-five officers and citizens at bay at Big Bend, on the Wolf river, four miles north of Shawano, yesterday afternoon, Arthur Dwyer, 16 years old, surrendered and was placed under arrest. His brother, Calvin Dwyer, 18 years old, continued to resist arrest by using firearms which the boys had stolen from a hardware store in Shawano last Saturday evening. The boys were arrested several days ago for breaking into the same store and were out on bond Saturday night when they again entered the store and carried away the entire stock of firearms and ammunition.

They were pursued by the chief of police, but succeeded in making their escape by taking a house from a nearby barn. They entered a cave on Kamosha road, where they fired a number of shots at the chief of police and managed to escape under the cover of darkness.

The police later discovered that the boys had taken refuge at Big Bend and a posse was formed to capture them.

Aged Rockland Couple.
Rockland, Mich., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Blomquist of Rockland are undoubtedly the oldest living couple in Ontonagon county, if not in the Upper Peninsula. Their combined age is 182. Mr.

Biscombe is 90 and his wife 92. They keep house alone, without help, and "Uncle Joe" always has the finest vegetable and flower garden in town.

The deal includes the distributing plants at Sault Ste. Marie and Escanaba and a refrigerating house at St. Ignace.

Charles Calligan of Hibbing, Republican candidate for the office at the day. It is understood that he will confer with Ben F. Mr. Clark stated this morning that he had as yet made no plans for the future.

FARGO SWITCHMAN IS BADLY INJURED

CLEANED ALONG THE POLICE RUN

go inside but that Wellington pushed him aside and went through the door, straight followed by Wright. When they were within Peterson said that he told them that they had better go no further as they might get into trouble. But despite his protest he maintained that they went through his home, where they saw the men who were attending the meeting. Maxwell Hall, president of the union, and Victor Wicklund, both of whom were present, were called and corroborated Peterson's story. The city had several other witnesses present to testify along the same line. It is expected that they will be put on the stand this afternoon.

Henry Benecke's hankering for George Mason's house in the county jail when he pleaded guilty in police court yesterday morning to having stolen the instrument. Had Benecke taken it for love of music he might have fared better, but the facts showed that he appropriated it for the material benefits it would bring him. He hurried with it to a pawnshop and soaked it for the few dollars which would let him have on it. The police located it in a shop with three balls hanging over the front door. Benecke and Mattson had been working together in a lumber camp a short distance from the city. Benecke had seen the violin in the storeroom where Mattson had placed it. Being shy of funds and wishing to come to the city, he decided that he would take it along to see what it was worth. Mattson soon missed it and followed. Going to the police station to make his report. This morning Benecke was located by Detectives Toovey and Bradley and arrested on a charge of petty larceny. Benecke's statement that he intended to return the violin today did not carry much weight with the court.

Henry George's lucky star evidently did not shine on him yesterday. He wife eloped with his bank roll containing about $100 and left him with just enough cash to drown his sorrow, which he proceeded to do. Henry didn't quite drown it, but soaked it sufficiently to get very damp inside. He probably sought succor in oblivion, but his remaining cash gave out before he could reach that desired stage of forgetfulness. When he asked to be given lodging for the night at headquarters he was locked up on a charge of drunkenness. In police court this morning he admitted that he had consumed more of the amber fluid than he could handle comfortably, but was given a suspended sentence after he had told his story to the court.

No matter how serious the occasion, the Joker is seldom silent. The last quip was given birth after the shooting at Milwaukee Monday night of Col. Roosevelt, chief of the Bull Moose party and was put in circulation about town yesterday. "I understand that the most the man who shot Roosevelt can get is $100 or three months in the workhouse," is the way it runs.

How's that?—Is the natural question. "They'll certainly stick him for attempted murder."

"Under the laws of Wisconsin that's all they can soak a man for shooting a bull moose out of season."

There's another chance to wonder who thinks up all the stories which are heard the world over.

John Kenna didn't seek a job when he was given his liberty yesterday morning after pleading guilty to having been drunk. Instead of looking for work he sought his haunts along the Bowery and before midnight was back in the bull pen on the same old charge. This morning he got $10 and costs or ten days in the county jail.

Frank E. Stone, charged with having robbed William Koski of $129 in cash Sunday night at their boarding house at 524 West First street, will be arraigned in police court this afternoon. He is claimed to have knocked Koski down and then to have sat on him while extracting his cash from his pockets.

Jesse M. Stanley, who came here as a strikebreaker and is accused of having robbed Julius Dahlin, another strikebreaker of $65 and a reliable watch, asked for an examination when arraigned in police court yesterday afternoon. His hearing was set for this afternoon and bail was fixed at $250.

He is said to have taken Dahlin's watch while they were quarreling together in the sleeping quarters provided by the street car company at the car barns. He was arrested Monday afternoon when trying to sell the watch at the car barns. He claims that he bought it from another man, but, as he is exceptional, he doesn't know who he was.

John Joseph Barry, alias William Smith, who says he made about $300 as a strike breaker before he was separated from his job, was arrested yesterday on a charge of petty larceny. He is alleged to have obtained $10 on worthless checks passed at the St. Louis hotel and the Board of Trade Bldg. He was not arraigned in court this morning. Barry went from Duluth to Superior and was found enjoying the proceeds of the checks in a third parlor across the bay. Those seeking him invited him for a joy ride and he accepted. When they were back in Duluth again Barry asked them to go to the brewery where he'd buy a round or two of the foaming high ones. But the party stopped just a short distance this side of the brewery and left Barry at the police station. He didn't know up to that point that he was in charge of Detective Norman Terry, who was one of the men who had asked him to go for a spin.

Matt Ark, Abraham Hendrickson and John W. Hill, laborers, were arrested yesterday afternoon on charges of trespass. They were in the employ of F. E. Dowling and it is alleged that they took earth from an adjoining lot while doing up that of Dowling. Pleas of not guilty were entered through an attorney this morning and their hearings set for Friday afternoon.

W. H. Greasener was arrested this morning on a complaint sworn out by his wife, Pauline Greasener of 319 First Avenue East, charging him with having deserted her and their three minor children, aged 10 to 11 years. He asked for an examination and his hearing was set for Monday afternoon. Bail was fixed at $250.

J. L. Brown and Mildred Horn, arrested last night on disorderly charges, forfeited $15 bail each when their names were called in police court this morning.

Mary Besovich was convicted in police court yesterday of having assaulted her sister, Mrs. Manday Carrich and was placed on probation for three months. Mrs. Carrich was formerly the Manda Slukich. Mary is said to be angry at Manda because she married a man of whom she, Mary, did not approve. As a result Manda was arrested on a charge of having stolen $80 and an attempt was made to have her deported out of the country that she was an immoral woman. Both allegations fell through. The last trouble is alleged to be the continuation of the quarrel over the $80.

Joseph Klepizinski, alleged to have struck Michael Dunal over the head with a stove shaker Sept. 28 last during a quarrel in a coach in the railroad yards, was bound over to the grand jury after a hearing in police court yesterday afternoon. He was released on furnishing a bond of $500.

Mrs. Charles Williams was arraigned late yesterday afternoon on a warrant sworn out by William Knuth of 5285 Idlewood street, Lakeside, charging her with having thrown a stone through a double window of his home. She pleaded not guilty to willful destruction of property and her hearing was set for this afternoon. Mrs. Williams said that Knuth's dog tried to bite her and that Knuth assaulted her when she drove him away. It is alleged that the stone intended for Knuth went through the window.

OVERRULES DEMURRERS

Oliver Company Must File
Answer in $1,000,000
Suit.

Judge Dibell of the district court has overruled the demurrers interposed by the Oliver Mining company in the $1,000,000 lawsuit brought against it by the fee owners of the Norman mine at Virginia, the Leon Iron company, the Hazelton company, the Investment company and others. It is not known whether an appeal to the supreme court will be taken from this order of not.

The Oliver Mining company has twenty days to file an answer. H. B. Fryberger is attorney for the plaintiffs.

SOCIALISTS ARE UNDER ARREST

Four Jailed for Trying to Address Strikers at Little Falls, N. Y.

Little Falls, N. Y., Oct. 16.—Charles Roe, an alderman of Amsterdam; H. A. Simmons, James J. Barry, a lawyer, and Robert Bakeman, a former clergyman, all Socialists and the three latter from Schenectady, were arrested here today following an attempt to address the mill strikers here. They have appealed to Governor Dix.

ABOLISH ROLLER TOWELS IN MARQUETTE SCHOOLS.

Marquette, Mich., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Roller towels have been abolished in the Marquette public schools and each pupil is now required to provide an individual towel. Paper towels were tried and proved satisfactory. However, because of the cost, fully $1,000 a year to keep the schools supplied, it was decided not to saddle the city with the expense. Each pupil will furnish his own towel and see it is laundered when necessary.

SUPERIOR

Extension Work Started.

The first class in university extension work was held last evening at the U. S. National Bank building. About twenty-five were present, most of them being bank employees. The first work to be taken up will be commercial law and papers. J. F. O'Connor is in charge of the class.

Will Attend Reunion.

Bishop A. F. Schinner will leave tomorrow for Milwaukee, where he will take part in the sixty-fifth jubilee and reunion of St. Mary's German Catholic church next Sunday. Bishop Schinner formerly resided in Milwaukee and will take a prominent part in the festivities next Sunday.

Commission Cuts Levy.

By eliminating various items in the appropriation reports the city commission yesterday afternoon cut the levy to $325,000. The amounts asked for in each department were reduced from $1,000 to $10,000. An additional $10,000 was appropriated for use in the industrial school.

New York city has 25,938 industrial establishments, or nearly 10 per cent of the country's total, and more than the next four largest manufacturing cities combined. The next four cities, which total 23,550, are Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis and Cleveland. Value of New York's products is $2,029,632,000, compared with $2,027,763,600 for the four cities.

MORE GREEKS RETURN HOME

Hundred Leave Superior—300 Will Go Next Monday.

About 100 Greeks left Superior last night to join the Greek army in the impending struggle against the Turks, and many more will leave by the first of next week. Already 120 young men are here from the surrounding country, waiting the word to go forward, and it is expected that about 300 all told will go to New York via Minneapolis and Chicago on Monday.

Alex George, one of the leading Greeks of Duluth, will go to Minneapolis this evening to get instructions as to what to do with the young men who are waiting to be sent back to the old country. He said this morning that the problem of ocean transportation is beginning to be a serious one. The Greek government has not been able to get enough ships to transport its natives who are inhabitants of the United States, and for that reason the return movement has been checked. However, he says, it is believed that in a few days the matter will be solved and the movement resumed.

San Bernardino, Cal., Oct. 16.—Mrs. John L. Campbell, supposed to be from Alma, Mich., leaped through a window of a Santa Fe sleeping car as the train was approaching Barstow. On her body was found pinned a note requesting the authorities to notify Newton Stillwell of Millersburg, Ohio.

GORE COMING TO DULUTH

Blind Senator From Oklahoma Will Speak for Wilson Oct. 23.

Democrats Hope to Have Governor Marshall in Duluth Later.

Senator T. P. Gore of Oklahoma will deliver a speech for the Democratic national ticket here next Wednesday evening, Oct. 23.

Definite arrangements have not yet been made, but the meeting will very likely be held in the Auditorium or the Armory.

Senator Gore is a unique figure in American public life. Handicapped from childhood by the loss of sight, he has progressed since then to eminence to fame. He practiced law in Texas and in Oklahoma, and in 1907 was sent to the senate from that state. He was elected for a full term in 1909. He is one of the big men in the senate in mental attainments, and is in great demand as a public speaker. Clear mental vision, eloquence and sincerity are qualities that have characterized his public address. He will draw a crowd that will fill all hall the local committee may select for the meeting next week.

Governor Thomas R. Marshall of Indiana, the Democratic candidate for vice president, will make two or three speeches in Minnesota soon, and Duluth Democrats will make every effort to bring him here for one of them.

Arrangements are being made for a special train to take P. M. Ringdal, the candidate for governor, and other Democratic candidates for state office over the range Oct. 29 and 30. The party will also be accompanied by John Jensen, Jr., the Democratic candidate for congress in the Eighth district. Definite arrangements for the special train have not yet been made, but an itinerary will probably be arranged that will take the party to nearly every large community in the country. The roundup will be held in Duluth on the evening of Oct. 30.

WILL IGNORE COUNCIL PLAN

Manager of Street Railway Company Fails to File Acceptance.

Merely Shrugs His Shoulders When Asked as to His Intentions.

Herbert Warren, manager of the Duluth Street Railway company, will probably not take advantage of the city council's mediation plan for settling the strike. He was supposed to file an acceptance and the name of his choice of an arbitration representative with the city clerk by noon today.

At noon he had not done so. Mr. Warren was asked this morning by The Herald if there was anything new in connection with the strike.

"No," he said, and smiled. "Do you expect to?"

"Struck—decidedly Warrenesque—a smile, and that was all."

The strikers met yesterday and voted to accept the council's plan of settling matters, and sent a communication to the city clerk of which the following is a copy:

"Dear sir: After learning of the action of the city council last night in asking that the Duluth Street Railway company and the striking employees submit their case to arbitration, we take this means of informing the council through you, that we will accept this form of settlement and will announce the name of our arbitrator as soon as we are informed that the Duluth Street Railway company will agree to the plan. Yours respectfully,

"MAXWELL, KALL, Secretary."

"Duluth Division No. 522 Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees of America."

Maxwell Hall, president of the street railway men's local union, said this morning that he is convinced that Alderman Gibson has sized the situation up correctly. In last evening's Herald the alderman said that he believes that Manager Warren has never at any time wanted to settle the strike, and that he is reorganizing his forces now under cover of the difficulty.

FIRST OF SERIES OF POLITICAL TALKS AT CHURCH BAZAR

Dr. J. J. Eklund spoke on "The Principles of the Republican Party" at the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street, last evening. The address was the feature of the annual bazar, which opened Monday evening for the week.

Dr. Eklund said in part: "I do not see any reason why we should change our government at this coming election. It is well to let well enough alone. The laboring man has good wages and plenty to do. Living is rather high when you live high. The farmer gets good prices for his products. That is why our food is high. Clothing is cheap if you buy cheap goods and factory made."

"President Taft is a good man. He is not a good politician, that is why people do not like him. He is a judge, a statesman, a clean, good-hearted, patriotic man. He has made a good president and has accomplished much more than the people in general give him credit for. For us in this country he has reduced the tariff on lumber from $4 to $1.50, from one 40 cents to 15 cents. The steel schedule has been cut in two. He has established the postal savings banks, where poor people can safely invest their money. Think the question over for yourselves and find out what the Republican party has done for you and for the country at large, and then compare that with what other parties have accomplished during the last fifty years, and you will be well qualified to vote in November."

Besides Dr. Eklund's address a musical program was rendered during the evening. This evening John A. Keyes will speak on "The Principles of the Socialist Party." Following is the program for this evening:

DR. J. J. EKLUND.

KNOX PLEADS TAFT'S CAUSE

Points to Mexican Policy as Proof of President's Fitness.

Calls on Republicans to Halt Factional Dissensions.

Portland, Or., Oct. 16.—Secretary of State P. C. Knox addressed a Republican meeting here last night which crowded the armory, taking for his subject "The equilibrium between the rights of man and the rights of property." The secretary declared that since the dawn of civilization the rights of property had been over-emphasized, but he warned against radicalism in the process of readjustment.

Reference was made to the increased importance of the United States in world affairs, to the foreign policies of the Taft administration, and to the effort for world peace. Then Mr. Knox alluded briefly to the situation in Mexico as follows:

"For more than a year the neighboring republic of Mexico has been seething with revolution and counter-revolution, and with brigandage involving considerable depredation upon foreign interests in that country."

"Throughout a constant recurrence of questions of the most delicate nature, including on several occasions acute and aggravating situations on our frontier, President Taft has steadily adhered to a policy of friendship to the neighboring nation, of patient non-interference and of care for American interests, which has commanded the approval of the American people at home and the warm approbation of the 40,000 or 50,000 American citizens engaged in different enterprises in the Mexican republic. We are fortunate to have, in a situation so fraught with dangers, a president so calm in his judgment and so inflexible to his purpose."

"I cannot believe that high-grade American labor and wide-awake business men will shut their eyes to these realities; will prefer strong words to quiet, courageous and effective deeds."

"Forget Almsdeeds." "I call upon you Republicans to forget your animosities, to halt your factional dissensions, to clear away every root of bitterness, and present a broken front to your antagonists. Can you fail to recognize our distinguished president for what he is—able, upright, patriotic, courageous, devoted to his country and its welfare, the great president of the people, the leader of his party?"

WOOD TALKS OF PACIFIC COAST DEFENSE NEEDS.

Portland, Or., Oct. 16.—"The military situation on the Pacific coast is very undesirable at present," declared Maj. Gen. Leonard A. Wood, speaking at the Portland Commercial club. "Your assurance of protection in the event of invasion by a hostile power is very small. Now to improve the situation, one or two things must be done. Either we must increase the army, or we must get troops from the interior stations. We don't want to ask congress to increase the army. Public sentiment would not permit it."

Gen. Wood was explaining the war department's plans for the abandonment of numerous small interior army posts. He said that three large posts would be established on the Pacific coast, one at Vancouver Barracks, Washington, one at San Francisco, and the third in Southern California.

NIGHT CLINICS WILL BE HELD

Health Department Planning
New Step in White Plague Fight.

Many Working People Unable to Consult Physician
During Day.

Beginning the early part of November the health department will conduct night clinics as part of the campaign being waged against tuberculosis in Duluth.

The need of the night clinics has been felt for some time, and careful consideration has satisfied the authorities that the move will be a material aid in furthering the work in the city.

Under the present system many persons do not get attention who really need it. They work during the day and feel that they cannot afford to lose the time which would be required to visit the courthouse. Most of them would lose fully half a day in doing so, and the half day's wages is a material item to them.

The tuberculosis work in Duluth is being conducted under the direction of the health department and two visiting nurses. From 200 to 300 cases of suspected cases are constantly under supervision. In some instances the diagnosis does not show the presence of tuberculosis. In many others the disease is discovered in its early stages, and often patients are found who have gone into advanced stages without having had proper medical treatment.

The beneficial work comes in helping the patients who are in the early stages of the disease to effect a cure and in preventing the spread of the disease. Those who have the dreaded white plague are told how to take precautions which will not endanger the health of others with whom they may come in contact. The value of sanitation is emphasized, and much stress is laid upon right living.

Many of the patients under the supervision of the visiting nurses live out of doors. Despite the severity of the winters, some have slept outside continually. The patients include persons in all walks of life, and they range in age from children of a few years to old men and women.

Johnson is in Ohio.

o'clock this morning for Dayton, where he will speak tonight. Following his address here he cancelled his day meeting at Portsmouth and remained over night in Canton to get needed rest.

ROSENTHAL'S WIDOW TELLS OF HUSBAND'S DEALS WITH BECKER

thal and the police lieutenant, and of the death threats he received after he had told the district attorney of the workings of the "system."

John P. McIntyre, chief counsel for the defense, has not intimated yet whether he will put Becker on the stand or call any of the witnesses. He indicated his line of defense for the first time yesterday when he sought to bring out in the cross-examination of Sam Schepps that a clique of gamblers ordered and brought about the murder of Rosenthal.

Mrs. Rosenthal took the stand at the opening of the court. She was dressed in black. Her face was pallid.

Quick Glance at Jurors.
After taking the oath, Mrs. Rosenthal stepped up to the witness stand without assistance, sat down and folded her hands in her lap. With a quick glance over the men in the jury box, she faced Assistant District Attorney Moss, ready for the examination.

"Were you the wife of Herman Rosenthal?" asked Mr. Moss.

"I was," she replied.

Mrs. Rosenthal said she had seen Lieut. Becker several times. Once was at the Elks' club last Thanksgiving eve; she had seen him again on New Year's eve at the same place.

"Did you hear the conversation between your husband and Becker?"

"I did not," she replied almost in a whisper.

"At the New Year's eve meeting," she continued, "Mr. Becker came over to our table and put his arm around Herman's neck. Mr. Becker asked: 'Well, Herman, how is things?' 'Not very well,' Herman said. 'Don't worry,' Mr. Becker answered; 'everything will be all right.'"

Her Husband's Service.
"Then Mr. Becker turned to me and said that he was ready to do anything for my husband at any hour of the day or night. He said he always would be at my husband's service."

Mrs. Rosenthal said she knew Becker and her husband had "business transactions" and that she had learned their nature from Lieut. Becker at her home. This was about the middle of last April, she added, when Becker had caused a hammer to be made on her husband's gambling place. Becker was in the house at the time, she said.

"I heard a hammering on the door and went down to let them in. I couldn't find the key and went upstairs to see Mr. Becker."

"I said to Mr. Becker: 'For heaven's sake, what does this mean?' Mr. Becker said: 'It had to be Herman or me. Then I went downstairs with him and said: 'Don't let them break down the house. Don't let them destroy my furniture.' He said: 'Tell Herman that I'm off. I'll go down and tell that man to call it off, as Herman and I are square and we'll do as he says.' Mr. Becker said: 'What man?' He said: 'Never mind what man. Herman knows.'"

Gamblers, and not Police Lieutenant Charles Becker, instigated the murder of Herman Rosenthal, according to the line of defense indicated by counsel for the accused officer at yesterday's session of his trial. A large sum of money, raised by gamblers, was paid to get Rosenthal out of New York when he began to "heat" on the subject of police protection, and when he took the money and then refused to go, the gamblers, threatened with the loss of their police protection, plotted and executed his murder through the agency of the four gunmen. At least such was the outline of the defense implied in questions put by John P. McIntyre, Becker's counsel, to Sam Schepps on the witness stand. The witness spent practically the day on the stand corroborating the testimony of Jack Rose, Bridge Webber and Harry Vallon, the trio of confessed accomplices who accuse Becker of having inspired the murder.

Asked If They Were Paid.
Schepps added another link to the chain of evidence against the defendant by swearing that Becker had asked him if the gunmen had been paid for their work. He also testified that he had been the bearer of a reassuring message from Becker to Jack Rose, when the latter was in hiding. "Ready to commit suicide," at the house of Harry Pollock, Schepps' part in the plot was that of messenger for Rose in rounding up the witnesses.

Denied that he knew the killing of Rosenthal was on foot, he did not fully comprehend what Becker had made a clean breast of it to him, and then "on the advice of counsel" he got out of town.

Becker's attorney tried again and again to make Schepps admit he had been an accomplice in the crime, but the witness appeared always ready with an explanation for the part he had taken.

Jack Rose told me to do it," was his most frequent excuse for his various actions.

Schepps' Letter to Rose.
The attorney during the day took up Schepps' visit to Hot Springs. He showed the witness a copy of a letter which Schepps admitted he wrote to Rose in reply to the letter. Rose wrote telling him the district attorney had promised leniency in return for his confession.

"The letter read in part: 'All I can say is that I am mighty sorry it has turned out this way for you. I can't help any now.'"

"I have read very little about the case so far, and can't bear to think of it any more. What you said to me I have considered, and I find that I am in very bad, in spite of the leniency the district attorney has offered me. Why do you want to corroborate a few lies for instance, that I paid $1,000 to L. I. in order to get out of town?"

However, my name is Sam and yours is Jack. I have more of your confidence, this terrible situation wouldn't have happened. However, I will come gladly for you. To prove my loyalty to you I must become a gambler, and I shall, even at that cost, except under these conditions—that you will expect me to tell the truth, and that you will not for word what you want me to say."

"What did you mean by 'in very bad'?"

"I had reference to what it said in the newspapers. The said that Rose said I paid the money to Lefty Louie."

What the Lie Was.
"Were there any other conditions?" Jack Rose asked you to corroborate him in?"

"There were some in the accounts that I read in the newspapers. Those were what the newspapers said. As to his request that Rose write him 'word for word what you expect of me,' Schepps said that he was not exactly what he meant."

"What I meant was that I wanted him to say whether I should say where the money was paid and who paid it," he said.

Abandoning this inquiry, Mr. McIntyre for the defense for the first time gave a hint as to Becker's line of defense.

"Did you know," asked the attorney, "that Lieut. Becker made thirteen raids in ten on gambling places just before the murder?"

Justice Goff excluded the question. "Did you know that the gamblers of this city raised a large sum of money to bribe Rosenthal to leave town?"

The court excluded the question.

Ruled Out by Goff.
"Did you know that when Rosenthal did not leave the city when he received a sum of money from the gamblers, that the gamblers inspired the murder?"

For the third time Justice Goff ruled against the question.

Schepps was then excused and the trial was adjourned.

BY FAMILY, RESTS AT EASE IN CHICAGO HOSPITAL

went at once to his apartment, with Mrs. Alice Longworth and Dr. Alexander Lambert, the family physician, in New York.

"Holler" shouted the colonel gaily, when Mrs. Roosevelt appeared in his doorway laughing.

He had been told on the way up to his floor that the colonel's condition had been found exceptional good, and her apprehension just concluded and her apprehension just concluded and her apprehension just concluded.

When the other members of his family appeared, the same cheery greeting met them at the doorway, and he asked them to draw up chairs to his bedside and "kiss" him.

Dr. Lambert stopped for a long enough to wave a cheerful salute and then went into an adjoining room where the attending physicians went over the situation with him in technical detail.

Ate Hearty Breakfast.
The colonel ate his usual hearty breakfast and before the arrival of a family appeared anxious that his room be tidied up to his liking. He felt it would meet the approval of the critical eye of Mrs. Roosevelt, whom he proudly described as a "good housekeeper."

"I don't want to be scolded for carelessness," he explained, laughing. At the examination made while the wound was being dressed he again looked down at it and discussed its apparent good condition with Dr. Murphy. He was shown the bulletin issued by the physicians and merely granted a satisfied approval.

Mrs. Roosevelt has been provided an apartment adjoining and connected with the patient's room and she will remain there during his stay at the Mercy hospital. She was of the opinion the others of his family would stay with friends here.

Later Miss Ethel, Theodore, Jr., and Mrs. Longworth left the hospital, declining to say where they were going. They left alone in a closed automobile. They were in good spirits and Mrs. Ethel had lost the look of extreme apprehension she wore before she had seen her father.

Theodore Roosevelt awoke at 6:20 o'clock this morning "feeling fine," as he expressed it to his night nurse, who prepared to take his clinical record. At that time the colonel had had more than three hours of unbroken rest and his condition showed marked improvement.

This clinical record showed Col. Roosevelt's temperature to be 98.6, his pulse 74 and his respiration 21. This indicates a decrease in his temperature of 2.1 ten beats in his pulse and two counts in his respiration since 10 o'clock last night.

During the early hours of the night Col. Roosevelt's sleep often was broken, and for long periods he was awake, willing away the time with a copy of Macaulay's Essays, which he had brought to the hospital with him. Often the volume would fall from his hands and for a short space he dozed, only to awaken with a start and resume his reading.

Appearance Was Better.
Up to 2 o'clock in the morning his clinical record was regularly taken, but shortly after last time he fell into

She had read a copy of the physician's bulletin, which indicated a more improved condition than even the hopeful situation yesterday, and she told its contents to Miss Ethel, while Theodore, Jr., listened attentively.

The reassuring words failed to remove the look of anxiety from the younger girl's face, but after a few words with Col. Roosevelt and after his cheery greeting and invitation to "sit down and gossip" with him, Miss Roosevelt's nervousness fled and she segregated with her father and wanted to have him tell her "just how it happened."

"Not now," he replied, "I want first to hear how you folks rested last night. I hope you didn't worry about our messages to you."

He told Mrs. Roosevelt of the arrangement whereby she was to have the room adjoining his, and asked Miss Ethel whether she wanted to remain with her mother or stop elsewhere.

When his breakfast was brought to him Col. Roosevelt viewed it with a smile, and after he had finished he declared it to have been "bully." He then resumed his reading. The nurses made preparations for the coming consultation.

Inspected By Doctors.
Mrs. Murphy, Bevan and Terrell at 8:40 held a consultation with Col. Roosevelt while Dr. William Macaulay of the hospital staff dressed the patient's wounds. They had them the X-ray photographic plates, and carefully inspected the work. The view of examining if possible just what physical conditions existed in the tissue surrounding the missile.

Col. Roosevelt was in even better spirits today than yesterday, and the novelty of his situation having worn off, he was prepared for the day with the idea of getting done all the work of correspondence and writings.

Room 312, next to that of the colonel, was made ready for some time, and the patient sent out for some toilet articles and conveniences for her. He was anxious, he said, to see her and have her anxiety relieved by his personal assurance and that of his physicians that the wound was no more dangerous than had been disclosed in his messages to her and the press dispatches.

Mrs. Roosevelt With Him.
When the colonel was informed that Mrs. Roosevelt had left the Twentieth Century Limited train at Englewood, within two miles of the hospital, and would be with him in a few moments his first concern was that the room be in order and that everything in the room assigned to her should be ready.

"She is a good housekeeper, you know," he told Dr. John F. Golden, "and she might scold me if she found the room not in the best order."

The party reached the hospital at 9:20 o'clock and Mrs. Roosevelt went directly to the colonel's room. She went in smiling and spoke cheerfully to the patient. Miss Ethel, Mrs. Longworth and Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., with Dr. Alexander Lambert, their family physician, remained in the corridor.

After Mrs. Roosevelt had been with her husband several minutes the nurse appeared at the door and beckoned to the rest of the party.

Mrs. Longworth led the others of the party in and Theodore, Jr., was the last to enter. Miss Ethel displayed the most concern. Her face was paler than is its wont. She clung to the arm of her sister, Mrs. Longworth.

Dr. Lambert went only to the door of the colonel's room, where he waved his hand and shouted greetings.

Reassured Younger Daughter.
Mrs. Longworth was a little nervous last night that her father's condition was not serious, smilingly patted her sister's hand and showed no anxiety.

LET ELECTRICITY BRIGHTEN YOUR HOME!

THE MAZDA-TUNGSTEN LIGHT

One beauty of the Mazda-Tungsten light is the fact that it does away with the low hanging lights in the home, or the necessity of having a light close to your work at the office.

The Mazda-Tungsten gives such a bright light, and spreads its white glow so evenly over the whole room, that it can hang high up and out of the way.

The Mazda-Tungsten is the most perfect of all electric lights. It is from two to three times as bright as the common incandescent light. It has about two times the life of a carbon lamp. It can be run on as low a voltage as the simpler lights. Therefore, when you use Mazda-Tungsten lamps you get the best of all electrical illumination at the cost of inferior lighting.

Let us demonstrate the advantageous features of the Mazda-Tungsten and we believe you will choose this light for your home and for the office.

GOOD PROGRAM.

Mrs. Fischer Will Sing and Two Piano Numbers Will Be Feature.

The program to be given at the regular meeting of the Matinee Musical next Monday afternoon will be of special interest as Mrs. Emil Fischer, of New York, who has been spending the summer in Duluth will sing a group of songs. Those who have heard this charming soprano are delighted that she has consented to give a group of numbers.

Mrs. John Miller and Mrs. John A. Stephenson will also play several two-piano numbers which will be a special treat as these two pianists have played together for years and their work has become especially pleasing.

A meeting of the executive board at 1:30 preceding the program at the Y. W. C. A. will give opportunity for candidates for active membership to be examined.

GET RID OF RHEUMATISM

Rubbing with liniments, blistering the affected parts, plasters, etc., are usually helpful in relieving the pains and aches of Rheumatism, but such treatment does not get rid of the disease, because it does not reach its source. Rheumatism comes from an excess of uric acid in the blood. This acid circulating through the system acts as an irritant to the nerves, muscles and joints, and produces the inflammation and swelling, and sharp cutting pains characteristic of the trouble. Then Rheumatism becomes chronic and not only a painful but a dangerous disease. S. S. S., the greatest vegetable remedy, goes into the circulation, neutralizes and removes the uric acid, and by building up the thin, sour blood, safely and surely cures the disease. S. S. S. makes rich, nourishing blood, which quiets excited nerves, eases the painful muscles and joints and filters out every particle of irritating uric acid from the system.

Gossip and Comment on Sports and Pastimes of Arena, Field and Track.

By BRUCE

TRUTH, he of the noble brow, is a stunner in the ring, and you can't tell of the vagaries of baseball or a woman's mind. Last Saturday and Sunday they were making bets of $100 to $200 that the Boston would win. As the series stands at the present time, those who bet at the fractional ratio of 10 to 2, are vaguely and with grave apprehension wondering what the probabilities would be to say were he to examine their beans.

New York has the advantage at the present time. Oh, Bill, how glad we are that we didn't predict in print on this series. Our opinion was filed in private, and the way they are going now, perhaps it will remain a deep secret. The Giants have come from behind and have caught the leader. They have the advantage, and this is not saying that they are going to win.

THE series will be ended today. People can work from 1 o'clock in the afternoon until the regular release of evening. The afternoon fever has been going steadily now for something like a week. The country is baseball mad. Football and other winter sports have not the least chance for the center of the stage while the world's series is being played. With the playing of the game of today, thoughts of baseball will depart until the call to spring training quarters.

WALTER MILLER arrived on yesterday's early afternoon train. The little aspirant for the world's middleweight title is looking in the very best condition. He is several pounds heavier than when he was here last spring and wrestled the grueling match with Sailor Jack.

Minneapolis sportsmen are raising $1,000 to be awarded on Joe Carr against Miller. There is a great deal of rivalry between the two cities in the athletic sense, and the defeat of Carr by Miller has always rankled in the minds of the Mill town followers of the mat sport.

"I will wrestle Carr and bet $1,000 of my own money on the outcome, if he will agree to make 153 pounds this side," said Miller. "This winter I am going after all of the men who are recognized as having any claim on the championship title, and the man I wrestle must make the recognized middleweight limit."

"I have been repeatedly forced to give away weight to men whom I have wrestled in the past. I don't weigh so very much over 152, but have no kick coming when a man comes at the recognized middleweight limit. But when some near heavyweight wants to wrestle me and to have the public think he is a simon pure middleweight, it makes me rather peevish."

Miller said the air here is the greatest in the world to condition a man. He will do a lot of road work between now and the time for the match, and expects to enter the ring at about 154 pounds.

DULUTH friends of Harley Davidson may be interested to learn that the crack speed roller skater is at the present time in Australia. He is racing there, and according to the reports has defeated some of the best of the skaters of the antipodes. Davidson is well over the 40-year mark and yet he goes on, not unlike the little purling brook of poetic fame. Sleep has been one of the springs of eternal youth secrets of this remarkable athlete. Every day he gets lots of sleep in this manner. He has conserved his energy, like the man who seldom speaks conserves his opinion of friend and neighbor.

Years back in the day of the knee pants of some of us present ones, this Davidson was winning races on ice. He has also won numerous races on the bicycle, and now he is the champion roller skater of the world.

ED WALSH GIVES HORATIUS STUNT

Big Pitcher Stops Cubs in Their Winning Streak at Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—Pitcher Ed Walsh, of the Chicago American league club, despite poor support, stopped the winning streak of the Chicago Cubs in the National league yesterday in the city championship series. The White Sox won 5 to 4 by a grand batting rally in the eleventh inning. Walsh was opposed by Lavender for the second time during the series, the first meeting having resulted in a scoreless tie in the initial game.

The Americans took a lead of three runs in the second by hitting a single, a double and a base on balls. A double in the fourth and a home run by Schutte gave the Nationals two runs in the sixth, but the Nationals came back with the tying run when a double, Foster's choice and an error netted a tally.

With the bases full and two out in the eleventh, Walsh singled and scored Borton with the winning run. The smallest crowd in the series witnessed the game, the total attendance being 19,297. The total receipts were $2,411. Of this amount the national commission received $11.25 and each club gets $2,500.

The White Sox encouraged by one victory in the city championship series, were ready to put up a stubborn defense today to keep the local pennant from slipping into the hands of the Cubs. The Nationals, with three games to their credit were determined to end the struggle if possible by annexing today's contest. Callahan secured a lead for the White Sox in the first inning. Chance said Reulbach would be sent to the slab for the Nationals. The forecast was for fair weather.

The Oak Hills won the high team score of 1,995.

HITCH IN ARRANGEMENTS

Jack Johnson Makes New Demands Before Signing Articles.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—A hitch in negotiations between Jack Johnson, heavy weight champion of the world, and W. C. J. Kelly, Hugh McIntosh's Australian representative, developed yesterday and delayed the signing of the at-

BLUME MEETING WITH TWIN CITY MAGNATES

President H. A. Blume of the Central International league and President Stanchfield of the Grand Forks club are at the present time in the Twin Cities, where the gentlemen are seeking a conference with George Lennon of the St. Paul team of the American association and President Mike Cantillon of the Minneapolis club, relative to the old desire to get in the Twin Cities. The league officials are hopeful that something will grow out of the conference with the president of the Minneapolis club. Fans here are rather dubious, but have received several linguistic seats for hope and her friends.

Articles of agreement for Johnson's fight with Langford and McVey. It is said that Johnson is to receive a $15,000 fight to be posted by McIntosh in this country instead of with a foreign promoter as was the case before. All other details of the match were agreed upon, it is said. Johnson said that he had received a message from Kelly, who is in Milwaukee, to the effect that the dispute over the forfeit would be adjusted in a few days. It is said that Kelly would not agree to all terms demanded by Johnson.

MILLER HAS STRENUOUS DAY

Is Confident He Will Win From Adamson Next Week.

Walter Miller leads the strenuous life. Yesterday the little champion put in half a day of the hardest work in preparation for the coming battle with Adamson. For over an hour he maulled two six-footers around the mat, following this with some of his own ideas about body exercising and then came to the mat with a group of admirers, pulley weight exercises and several games of handball.

The little pole is taking the match with Adamson as seriously as he ever took any bout he ever engaged in. Miller must be in wonderful condition, for after the contest with the Nationals he seemed as fresh as the proverbial daisy. He looks heavier than when he was here last spring, and he sure hasn't lost any of the flashiness that made the spectators of his contest with the Sailor marvel.

Today Walter will do a long stunt on the road. He is most particular regarding his wind and legs, and in the days that remain between now and the battle with Adamson, he will train to make his breathing perfect and his legs ready to stand any amount of fast work.

Nestor Tammion of Worcester, Mass., who lays claim to the middleweight Greco-Roman championship, and who says he won this title at Helsingfors, Finland, March 25, 1911, is the latest winner of the Finn arrived yesterday and was duly filed along with those of Mike Yoke of Salt Lake City, Henry Gehring, Walter Villoughby, Joe Carr and several other lesser lights.

"I think I can beat Adamson," said Miller last evening to a group of admirers at the St. Louis hotel. "My own money is already up and that is the best indication of what I think. I don't think there is any man in the world of my weight who can beat me. This is going to be the best season in my career. I am stronger, just as fast and better than ever before. Yoke is credited with having beaten me at Salt Lake City. Let that go now, but I never meet again there would be any disputed claim to the middleweight title, there is at the present time." Adamson is putting the finishing touches on his training at Waterville, Iowa, and is due to arrive here Friday or Saturday. According to the letter from the Nonpareil, he will have no trouble in sealing at 153 pounds.

Volgarist Staged.—Articles were signed here today for a semi-circuit bout between Ad. Volgarist, champion lightweight, and Freddie Daniels of St. Joseph, at Quincy, Ill., Oct. 25.

Heavy Attendance.—Boston, Mass., Oct. 16.—Attendance and receipts at yesterday's game of the world's series as announced by the national commission were as follows: Total attendance, 32,694; total receipts, $57,196. National commission's share, $5,719.60. Each club, $25,768.20.

ALL ARE AT CENTRAL TO ARMAGEDDON MEET ST. PAUL

Boston and New York in Coach Schilling's Charges Final Battle of the Series.

Odds Offered on the Giants If Central's Line Can Hold, Her Backs Should Gain Consistently.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 16.—The climax of a season of baseball came today in the eighth game of the world's championship series between the New York Giants and the Boston Red Sox, pennant winners of the National and American leagues, respectively, at Fenway park. The title of world's baseball championship and the consequent honors and a major share of the players' profits were at stake.

The Giants, having won two games in succession and tied the series when the Red Sox needed but a single victory to seize the title, predicted freely that they would be champions of the world after today's game. The Red Sox, on the other hand, were more careful plans than in any of the previous games.

Hugh Bennett, the Red Sox recruit of only a season's standing in the major leagues and who last Saturday bested New York with the old master, Christy Mathewson, pitching, was scheduled to take up the mound today for the Red Sox. Mathewson, it was expected by the New York writers, would be asked by McGraw to assume again the same position for New York. Making another pitcher's duel a prospect. After Saturday's game Mathewson declared that he was done for as a world's series pitcher.

Matty is Fearful.—"I can never win a world's series game again," he said. "My arm is lame and I am tired all through. I have the old arm out twice today and I am afraid it will fall me," he declared. But he warmed up during yesterday's game and all indications were that the veteran of many big games would work for the Giants.

With so much depending on the result of today's game, the probable line-up was a matter of much interest. McGraw kept in reserve the old arm out twice today and the Red Sox reversal of form made the odds switch to New York. Some even money bets were made yesterday, but up to the time New Yorkers sought a short end when looking for wagers.

Line-up unchanged.—No changes in the batting order were made today. The probable line-up being: New York—Devore, 1b; Doyle, 2b; Speaker, 3b; Myers, cf; Merrile, 1b; Herzog, 3b; Meyers, cf; Fletcher, ss; Mathewson, p.

Good Football Being Played By Youngsters in Quayle-Larsen League.—Some of the very best football of the season was played last Sunday in the Quayle-Larsen league. All of the old teams had games scheduled and the brand of football played was surprising when it is considered that the members of the teams are all youngsters.

The Maroons and Wolverines played one of the best games of the day, the Wolverines winning by the count of 6 to 0. The Adams Juniors walked away with the contest with the Johnsons and Peterson aggregation, the count being 21 to 10. The Adams and Gustafsons played to a 12 to 12 tie.

Arthur Ryberg, the organizer of the league, said that the kid teams are playing remarkably fine football for boys of their age. Mr. Ryberg is an old football star and knows whereof he speaks. He says that the playing of football by the youngsters is a fine development some fine material for the older teams.

Games for the coming week will bring the Wolverines and Johnsons and Petersons together, the Adams Juniors and the Gophers, and the Maroons and Gustafsons.

SORRY OUTLOOK FOR U. ELEVEN

Shake-up in Entire Line Likely With Game Scheduled Saturday.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 16.—With Solem, left tackle, out of the game for at least two weeks, with an arm injured in practice last Saturday, and the Gophers, and the Maroons and Gustafsons, the line of the University of Minnesota football team, Solem, who was considered one of the best men in the line, and especially reliable in handling the forward pass, fell and tore the ligaments of his arm.

Five men, Gervens, Dietz, Ihe, Lovring and Outram, are trying out for Solem's position, but a shake-up in the entire lineup is probable. Since the fact that Solem was injured became known, however, practice has been going on with the line, and the coaches being wary against making known anything that transpires on the field.

to hit the ground. He is also a fighter and is seldom thrown for a loss. Harris is fast, one of the fastest men in the squad, in fact. His playing this season has been one of the features of the games at Athletic park. He will be depended upon to make some good runs off tackle and around the ends. Just what Duluth's line will do against St. Paul, is a problem. If the local line can hold their opponents even Coach Schilling is of the opinion that his team will be returned a victor. If the forwards can protect the backs, Duluth is going to be awfully hard to beat.

Big Purses at Lexington.—Lexington, Ky., Oct. 16.—Fourteen thousand dollars was hung up to be divided between the winners of races at the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' association meeting here today. The October prize for 2-year-olds, value $5,000; the 2:21 trot and the 2-year-olds were the principal events on the card. Among the entries are some of the most prominent trotters of the year.

SURRENDER BY TURKEY.—Peace Treaty Comes After Long Diplomatic Strife.

Ouchy, Switzerland, Oct. 16.—It was only after months of diplomatic strife for several terms, that Turkey surrendered yesterday afternoon and the Ottoman and Italian plenipotentiaries signed the protocol of a peace treaty which ends the war between the two nations. The treaty, which relieves the Ottoman empire of a crushing handicap in the forthcoming struggle in the Balkans. The precise terms will not be available until a definite treaty is signed at the end of the week, probably at Lausanne. The treaty, however, is well known. It will provide for the absolute sovereignty of Italy in Lydia, without normal recognition there of Italy by Turkey; free exercise of religious authority by the Khalif, Turkey to secure the title, which the Central of that city are in the very best condition of the season on Saturday. Duluth has three dashing backs in Brown, Harris and Craswell. St. Paul may find a deal of trouble in stopping these boys. Capt. Matt Brown is one of the very best high school backs in the West. He is a star of the very purest ray. Strong, fast and an extremely hard man to get off his feet, this kid is good at hitting the line and skirting the ends, and is also a wonder under the foot. Craswell is one of the squirmy style of runners. He runs with a peculiar long stride and goes on for yards after it seems that he is going to be tackled.

Sovereignty in Tripoli.—London, Oct. 16.—Under the peace treaty, Italy's sovereignty in Tripoli will be recommended, according to a Constantinople dispatch to the Daily Mail, but the sultan will have a representative with jurisdiction over the Moslems, and native judges under him. While Italy will pay no war indemnity, she will pay a sum annually to Turkey. Italy is left to pacify the Arabs herself. The treaty further provides that Italy will associate herself with the other powers in the Balkans to the speedy war in the Balkans to a speedy close.

WON BACK NERVE ENERGY

Broken Down in Health, Mr. Swanstrom Has Hard Fight for Life—Spent Over Six Months in Hospital.

Tells Friends How He Finally Gained Health in the City of Duluth.

Mr. Swanstrom of Marquette, Mich., has been one of the most successful business men when disease, weakness, and nervous exhaustion got the best of him. He was in a hospital where they make a specialty of treating diseases of that kind; however, the doctors there succeeded only slowly and he decided to return home.

During his absence the business had gone back and he made up his mind to hunt for a place where he could get back his health and have his nerves restored, for he feared he may lose his business if he would not get well soon. He turned his steps to Duluth, where he had some business relations, and while talking to one of his customers about the condition of his poor health, he was told of the Electro Medical Doctors, who were reported to have performed a great many cures on those who were suffering from exhausted nerves and many other chronic diseases.

"I cannot praise those methods enough," said Mr. Swanstrom. "It is only two months since I started to treat with the doctors, and I feel as well as I did six years ago, before I ever developed my weak condition. I feel as strong as I ever did and I am sure that I can look after my business with the same energy as I did before."

Every medical man of experience will admit that there are no remedies which will cure the nervous system, and many other diseases are as little curable as nervous diseases. Electro Medicine is an achievement of science which is not many years old, but it has won victories as never any other branch of medical science did. Every first-class hospital has one or more scientific machines in its equipment, but few of the general practicing doctors of the old school have entered this field of medical art.

The Electro Medical Doctors of Duluth have secured a physician who is one of the greatest experts in the application of Electro Medicine, and there is hardly any among the doctors of the Northwest who has been working with as much success as did this doctor. Electro Medicine is a powerful agent in all chronic diseases like Paralysis, Rheumatism, Stomach Diseases, Cancer, Gailstones, Blood Poison, Bladder Troubles, Female Troubles, and those diseases peculiar to men. Anyone interested in the curative methods of Electro Medicine is welcome to a free consultation at their office, No. 26 West Superior street. Married women must be accompanied by their husbands.

DISGUSTED WITH DELAY

Property Owners Will Take Bricks If They Can't Get Blocks.

Displeased at the Extension Granted Paving Contractor By the Council.

Unless Contractor E. A. Dahl takes immediate action to obtain the concrete blocks for the paving of Central avenue, the property owners will make a request of the board of public works and city council to have the paving contract changed to bricks instead of blocks.

One of the prominent property owners on the avenue this morning took a canvass of the business men and found that a majority are in favor of changing the contract. They are willing to accept any kind of paving, as long as the street is paved. The continuous delay and postponement of the work has disgusted the larger property owners and action of some kind will be taken before the first of the month.

The property owners are also displeased with the action of the council in extending Mr. Dahl's contract to Nov. 15. The work was to have been finished on Sept. 29, with a fine of $10 for every day thereafter. The fine is now cancelled and Mr. Dahl is allowed another month in which to complete the work.

The property owners will request Mr. Dahl within a few days to go to Sandstone and find out exactly when the blocks will be delivered. If they do not arrive by the first of the month, there is hardly a possibility of the work being done for another six weeks.

Workmen this morning started to repair the Western Curling club's building at Fifty-seventh avenue west and Bristol street. Many improvements will be made within the next two weeks and the building overhauled in preparation for the coming curling season.

Frank H. Wade, president of the club, stated this morning that the structure will be ready for use by the first of next month. It is the aim of the club officers this year, he said, to have the improvements all finished before the curling season sets in. About $500 will be spent in repairing the structure.

The Western Curling club is now four years old, opening its fifth season this winter. The club now has a membership of 150. The officers for the coming year are: Frank H. Wade, president; Ed. Holland, vice president; D. T. Sullivan, second vice president; T. E. Wieland, secretary; and W. B. Getchell, treasurer.

Justice of the Peace J. J. Moran this morning sentenced Edward Olson to thirty days in the workhouse for having stolen a suitcase of clothes from Louis Mallory, Mallory, who is a cripple, told Olson assisted him off the car and then took his grip and ran away. Olson was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of petty larceny.

JUDGE FOR WEST DULUTH

New Charter Provides for Branch of Municipal Court.

Would Replace the Present Justice of the Peace.

The draft of the new city charter, which will be submitted to the charter commission by a sub-committee tomorrow evening, makes provision for a municipal court in West Duluth.

Under the new charter the judges of the municipal court will be elected as now for a term of four years. At the 1913 election a special municipal judge will be elected. Judge Cutting's term expires next spring. The new charter proposes to have elected, in addition, an assistant municipal judge, who shall preside over a branch of the municipal court at West Duluth.

The charter contemplates having the assistant municipal judge serve in the central court only in case of illness or incapacity through other causes of the regular judges. The charter provides for a salary for the assistant judge, with extra compensation for presiding in the central court. The charter also provides for the municipal court to be in session daily or as the business requires.

The plan is to substitute the municipal court for the justice court now established in West Duluth. The assistant municipal judge would be required to have the same qualifications as the other judges, the right to practice law in the courts of Minnesota.

TWO CARS DERAILED
Boulders Rolled on Tracks on Both West Duluth Lines.

Although no one was injured the passengers were shaken up. The stone on Fifty-seventh avenue weighed at least 200 pounds and the motorman experienced considerable difficulty in rolling it off the track. The cars were both damaged and had to be taken to the barns immediately after the accidents.

TAKES MESSAGE FROM ROOSEVELT

Beveridge Will Fill Colonel's Place on Louisville Platform.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—Carrying Col. Roosevelt's personal message, dictated by him in a Mercy hospital yesterday, Former Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana left early today for Louisville, Ky., where he will deliver an address which was to have been made by the Colonel tonight.

Whether the speech is to be read to the audience or simply given to the press at the address the Colonel would have made, has not been determined. It is probable, however, that Col. Roosevelt's message will be of such an intimate and a personal nature that the prepared effort would be an act of climax, and therefore it probably will be given in private.

There will be no advance information concerning the message of Col. Roosevelt, Beveridge said. "No advance information will be made known about it until it is announced from the platform."

LYMAN ABBOTT SENDS TELEGRAM

Praises Roosevelt for His Calmness When Others Were Excited.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—The Progressive headquarters here today gave out the following telegram to Col. Roosevelt from Dr. Lyman Abbott, which arrived from New York this morning:

"In such an hour as this your friends and companions may be pardoned for speaking of their love and devotion in terms of absolute frankness. We had always been proud to be associated with you in this cause of human brotherhood, but never more proud than when we read of your unselfish thought of others, your courageous calmness while all about you were dazed. By your bearing in this assault upon the person you have completely repelled the more malicious assaults upon your reputation."

BEGIN TAKING EVIDENCE IN GRABOW RIOT TRIAL.

Lake Charles, La., Oct. 16.—The taking of evidence in the Grabow riot trial began today. More than 200 witnesses have been summoned and it is believed that the trial will continue three weeks or more.

New Pompadour Taffetas Are Here

Most of these are brought out in very handsome floral effects and most of them in designs which were worn in Colonial Days. They are to be made up in most cases into the Colonial skirt with overdresses of the plain taffeta or chiffon. They, however, can be made up entirely of themselves with pretty lace trimmings.

Your fashion magazines undoubtedly are displaying cuts showing these particular fabrics made up. Very effective colorings in blue, brown and dark wine combinations. When you see them you will picture such pretty quaint gowns made of them.

They are 36 inches wide—$2.00 a yard.

SIX DOCTORS AGREE THAT ROOSEVELT IS ON WAY TO RECOVERY

His Condition Is as Nearly Normal as Wounded Man's Can Be.

Colonel Has Begun to Talk About Resuming Campaign Tour.

Physicians Say He Must Stay in Hospital Until After Sunday.

TEMPERATURE NORMAL. Chicago, Oct. 17.—The most reassuring bulletin yet issued by the surgeons concerning Col. Roosevelt's condition was given at 1 o'clock this afternoon. It reads:

"Pulse, temperature and respiration normal. Blood count has dropped to normal. Breathing seems easier."

"DR. J. B. MURPHY, DR. ALEXANDER LAMBERT, DR. SCURRY FERRELL."

Within an hour, Dr. Lambert said today, however, symptoms of blood poisoning might develop, in which case the entire situation would be altered. Time must be given for the broken ribs to set as well, and it is not unlikely Col. Roosevelt will be detained in the hospital for another week.

It is Col. Roosevelt's own way of living which makes the physicians reluctant to release him at an early date, for they fear that once he is out of the hospital, he would be drawn back into the campaign, and with anything like his customary amount of work he would suffer as a consequence.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—Six physicians, making the most extended survey of Col. Roosevelt's condition attempted since his arrival at Mercy hospital, today, found his condition as nearly normal as a wounded man could be, and renewed their assurance that there was no longer cause for worry.

It also positively was announced Col. Roosevelt would not leave the hospital at least till after Sunday.

The physicians present were Drs. John B. Murphy, Arthur Dean Bevan, John F. Golden, Scurry Ferrell, Alexander Lambert and William B. McConley. The last named dressed the colonel's wound while a bulletin was being prepared.

The physicians' bulletin said: "The pulse, 72; temperature, 98.3; respiration, 18; all normal. Wound dressed, looks well, something oozing. Examination of lungs by Dr. Alexander Lambert shows lungs in good condition. General condition splendid. The case is progressing so favorably that unless some complications occur, the bullet will not be removed at present."

DR. JOHN B. MURPHY, DR. ARTHUR DEAN BEVAN, DR. ALEXANDER LAMBERT, DR. SCURRY FERRELL.

The bulletin was timed at 9:05 a. m. Explanation by Lambert, explained that there was no significance to the fact that the bullet had not been removed at present.

"You see," he said, "when you talk of the future, we must of necessity be indefinite. To illustrate: Suppose the bullet were to set in, after we had said the bullet would not be removed. It might make itself clear."

SCHRANK FEELS NO PANG OF GUILT

Roosevelt's Assailant Says His Conscience Is Clear.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 17.—"Why shouldn't I sleep well? There's nothing bothering my conscience."

This was the remark of John Schrank, the man who fired a 35-caliber bullet into Col. Roosevelt's breast in Milwaukee Monday night, when this morning he was asked by an attendant at the county jail as to how he rested during the night.

Schrank apparently slept throughout the portion of eight hours without a break, as every time the night turnkey made his rounds the prisoner was resting easily and without any indication of discomfort.

The prisoner again partook of the usual breakfast prison fare, consisting of cereal, bread and coffee and seemed to relish the repast.

Lost His Nerve. Schrank is quoted today as saying that he did not shoot Col. Roosevelt at Chattanooga, Tenn., because his courage failed him.

His reason for not attempting the life of the ex-president at Chicago was because he did not want to spoil the reception being for the colonel at a local hotel.

Another bit of information was to the effect that he contributed to the police graft while he was in the liquor business in New York.

TWEITMOE'S HAND SHOWN

Letter Is Introduced By Prosecution in Dynamite Case.

Other Epistles Signed By Beum of Minneapolis Identified.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 17.—A letter written by Olaf A. Twitmo of San Francisco to Frank M. Ryan, president of the Iron Workers' union, expressing thanks for "Christmas presents to the Pacific coast," was identified by C. C. Campbell, assistant cashier of a San Francisco bank, at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today.

The witness said he was familiar with Twitmo's signature because Twitmo, as secretary-treasurer of the Building Trades council of California, kept an account at the bank.

The government charges that Twitmo referred to the Los Angeles explosion when he wrote Christmas presents, and that the Lievelyn Iron Works explosion on Christmas day, 1910, was solicited by Twitmo at a meeting with Ryan in St. Louis after the Los Angeles Times explosion.

The signature of Twitmo to other letters also was identified.

Thomas Hamblin, identified the signature of Charles W. Beum of Minneapolis, Minn., on letters which the government charges Beum wrote to promote the dynamite conspiracy.

Government Witness Attacked. United States District Attorney Charles W. Miller has telegraphed Attorney General Wickersham asking the department of justice to take a rigid investigation of the reported slugging at Kansas City, Mo., of H. E. Pearce, who testified on Monday as a witness for the government in the "dynamite conspiracy" trial.

When shown a message from Kansas City that Pearce had been held up and robbed, Mr. Miller said his information had been such as to warrant the government in the "dynamite conspiracy" trial.

Officer Gallagher and I met Giovannitti after he had been addressing a crowd, Barry testified. "We talked about the strike and Gallagher told Giovannitti that the strike ought to be conducted more peacefully."

"What is peaceful picketing?" Giovannitti asked.

"Why," Gallagher replied, "stopping men on their way to work and arguing with them. If they don't want to do that, work you shouldn't use any force or threats."

"Oh, the hell with that," Giovannitti replied. "If they don't stay out well, bust their heads."

In further conversation, Barry testified Giovannitti spoke defiantly of the police, militia and federal troops.

On cross-examination Barry denied that he and Policeman Gallagher had sought Giovannitti with the purpose of drawing him into violent talk.

BECKER IS TO CALL JEROME

Former District Attorney Will Testify for the Defense.

Telephone Operators Substantiate Story of "Bald Jack" Rose.

New York, Oct. 17.—The state had but few witnesses to call when the trial of Police Lieutenant Becker for the murder of Herman Rosenthal was resumed today.

A tentative outline of the defense called for the appearance in Becker's behalf of William Travers Jerome, former district attorney of New York.

John F. McIntyre, chief counsel for Becker, would neither confirm nor deny the report. It was said, however, that Jerome would be called to refute Jack Rose's testimony concerning his (Rose's) last telephone conversation with Becker after the murder.

Rose, in telling of this conversation, quoted Becker as having guilty knowledge of the murder.

Jerome, it was said, having been present with John W. Hart of counsel for Becker, will say that Becker did the telephoning and said nothing to indicate any connection with the murder. Rose swore also that Becker telephoned from a public pay station.

The defense also will try to show that the state seeks to sacrifice Becker and let the informers go, and that as a matter of fact, Rosenthal was the victim of a gambler's conspiracy.

A mass of evidence will be introduced attacking the character of the state's witnesses and supporting the contention of the defendant.

Telephone Operator Called. John E. Caruso, telephone operator, was the first witness called by the state today. He said he was on duty the night of the murder. From a record of calls made that night he identified one made at 2:17 a. m. July 16.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—C. W. Prior, editor of a trade publication, was instantly killed and four others were seriously injured when Mr. Prior's motor car was wrecked near Hinsdale, a suburb of Chicago, today.

The car was plowed beneath it when it left the road on a steep hill and overturned. Mrs. Walker of Hinsdale and her daughter, were of the other occupants of the car.

NEW NEWSPAPER LAW BEFORE SUPREME COURT

Washington, Oct. 17.—The suit of the New York Journal of Commerce to test the validity of the new newspaper law today reached the supreme court of the United States. The original action was filed in the New York federal courts Oct. 9. This probably makes a record for bringing a case up from a lower court. The case will be advanced for early consideration.

When shown a message from Kansas City that Pearce had been held up and robbed, Mr. Miller said his information had been such as to warrant the government in the "dynamite conspiracy" trial.

Officer Gallagher and I met Giovannitti after he had been addressing a crowd, Barry testified. "We talked about the strike and Gallagher told Giovannitti that the strike ought to be conducted more peacefully."

"What is peaceful picketing?" Giovannitti asked.

"Why," Gallagher replied, "stopping men on their way to work and arguing with them. If they don't want to do that, work you shouldn't use any force or threats."

MADERO GOVERNMENT IS IN SERIOUS DANGER FROM DIAZ'S REVOLT

Nephew of Former Executive Proclaimed Provisional President.

Vera Cruz Is Held By Rebels—Other Uprisings Are Reported.

City of Mexico, Oct. 17.—President Madero's administration appears to have reached a critical point. The resignation of the cabinet was demanded in the chamber of deputies last night by Deputy Querido Moheno, but the president of the chamber refused to permit discussion and the motion will come up again today.

With Gen. Felix Diaz, a nephew of the exiled ex-president, in undisputed control of Vera Cruz, Mexico's most important seaport, reports also have reached here of new uprisings in various parts of the republic, including the city of Pachuca, only fifty-five miles from the capital. Besides this the loyalty of the army is questioned.

Proclaimed Diaz President. Doubts as to the specific object of the Diaz revolt were removed when he was proclaimed provisional president by an attempted rebellion a year ago. He is said already to have selected a provisional cabinet. Among those composing it is Gen. Bernardo Reyes, who now is in the military prison of the capital as the result of the failure of an attempted rebellion a year ago. He has been named minister for war. Ex-Provisional President Francisco De La Barra has been named for the portfolio of foreign affairs, while Alberto Garcia Rodas, who was minister of the interior under De La Barra, is mentioned for the same portfolio.

Got Angry at Madero. The department of communications, according to the rebel plan, is to go to Alberto Robles Gil, now governor of Jalisco, who, it is said, may formally throw his state into rebellion as the result of a sharp altercation with President Madero who recently demanded his resignation.

Washington, Oct. 17.—Frank A. Murney, the publisher, today testified to the Clapp committee that his total contributions to Col. Roosevelt's campaign last year had been $118,000. His pre-convention contributions to the national convention totaled $87,000 and the balance was given to state committees.

***** MURNEY GAVE $118,000. *****

Washington, Oct. 17.—Lavish use of money by the supporters of President Taft in the Michigan primary campaign was charged before the Clapp committee today by James O. Murfin, a Detroit lawyer.

Murfin said that when he and a Capt. Alger raised $150,000 and offered it to John D. McKay, in charge of the Taft campaign, McKay said he had "plenty of money—more than in any campaign before."

Murfin testified he understood McKay to say that candidates for delegates to the county conventions were "holding him up" for as much as $300 each.

"Most Corrupt Ever Known." "It is a matter of general knowledge that the primaries in Detroit this year were the most corrupt sides ever known," said Murfin. "It was just as bad on one side as the other, but our people were the more skillful and we got the delegates. But both absolutely were rotten."

"I asked Charles B. Warren how much money was to be used in Wayne county. He told me Mr. McKay insisted on having $5,000 before he started. 'Well,' I said, 'we'll have a rotten campaign, and we did,' declared the witness emphatically. "It was the worst campaign we ever saw."

"Thought Delegates Like Sheep." "I asked a senator," Murfin testified, "answering Senator Pomeroy, 'both sides bartered for these delegates like so many sheep. Some of them were bought from both sides. Of course, I don't know the details, but that was the general situation.'"

"Who would know the details?" asked Senator Pomeroy.

Bank Account Shows. Chairman Clapp placed on record a copy of the bank accounts for the Republican national committee in New York. It showed deposits, among others, of $118,000.

THIS IS GOOD NEWS FOR DULUTH MEN AND YOUNG MEN

Early in June this year our Mr. Al Abraham left for New York to consult with several clothing manufacturers about making up a suit according to his own ideas that would be as good as the best and yet sell at a popular price. Some of the old foggy makers said it could not be done, but he was not to be outdone and after going over the situation with the woolen men and the ones who furnish the linings and the boys who put the coats, pants and vests together, he interested a young and progressive house in the making by giving them one of the largest orders ever placed by this firm in the 30 years of its existence.

The suits are coming in now by every fast freight and a large assortment will be placed on sale tomorrow for the first time.

Come and see the good all-wool fabrics, the honest tailoring and the attractive patterns. No other store could sell suits that would look like them without this quality at less than $20 and $18, but from now on you can find your size and style here at... $14.45

It gives us pleasure to announce that during the next few weeks we shall bring to your attention, through the columns of this paper, some of the very many uses of "Serpentine Crêpe," and endeavor to explain why it has become the most popular plain and printed fabric in the market.

May we first inform you that we originated and are the sole manufacturers of Serpentine Crêpe, and absolutely control the exclusive processes which make it superior to every other crêpe.

In order to protect you from securing inferior crêpe, we stamp the words "Serpentine Crêpe" on the selvage of every yard made by us. In asking for these goods, please not ask for crêpe but for and then ask to be shown the words on the selvage. If you are particular about doing this, you will receive crêpe which we guarantee will prove satisfactory in every respect.

Allow us further to inform you that Serpentine Crêpe is made in twenty-six plain shades and a very large variety of printed patterns in many beautiful colorings, and is sold by all the best department stores at reasonable prices.

We ask you to beware of purchasing imitating crêpes, advertised as "mill-ends," "remnants," etc., and sold at most any price, as they are of such uncertain value that they always disappoint.

If you do not find the genuine Serpentine Crêpe in just the pattern or coloring you desire, refuse to accept substitutes that may be offered you, and write us, and we will send you samples and see that you receive the goods.

In searching about the bureau drawer, from where the money was supposed to have been stolen, Lieut. Wilcox found a cup containing $58. This was part of the $78 that Mr. Nelson claimed was stolen Tuesday afternoon, while Mrs. Nelson was away from the house. Searching further, Lieut. This was the entire amount, which had "suddenly disappeared" and excited every resident in this neighborhood, as a robbery was committed there last week.

Two Advantages in One

¶ The private buyer oft times fails to realize what we really mean by wholesale "buying advantages."

¶ In the first place the markets are constantly fluctuating. Like the gambler watches the turn of a card, or the broker watches the tape from the "ticker"—just that close do we watch the rise and fall of prices on merchandise.

¶ Our own people always on the vital spot of action all the time, are constantly first hand to all "inside information."

¶ This enables us to own many of our richest pelts at a lesser cost than the "fellow next behind us."

¶ Advantage Number Two is this: we have nothing to do with any but first class furs—They offer us nothing but "clean" stock and fine workmanship, we in turn, offer you the finest of their fine selections.

¶ This gives you a Double Advantage in price and quality, and moreover it gives you a feeling of security to know that we stand behind the furs we sell.

SOCIALISM IS THEME OF SPEAKER AT CHURCH BAZAR

John A. Keyes defined Socialism, tracing the movement back to its birth, and carefully explained its object in an address on "The Principles of the Socialist Party" given last evening at the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street.

The address was the third of the series of political talks planned for the annual bazar of the church, which will continue throughout this week.

Mr. Keyes defined Socialism as advocating the transfer of ownership from the individual capitalist to the people. He also explained its meaning as a social ownership and control of all means of production and distribution.

The abolition of poverty, the eradication of disease, the uplift of morality and the growth of Christianity are some of the changes predicted by Mr. Keyes, should Socialism be established. In concluding his three hour address, he urged the young men to make a study of the subject and to properly learn and understand the real aim of Socialism.

During the evening a musical program was rendered, after which refreshments were served by the women of the church. This evening Hon. E. E. Lohbeck, Prohibition candidate for governor, will speak on "The Principles of the Prohibition Party." Besides the address the following program will be rendered during the evening:

SALVATION ARMY CAPTAIN PROMOTED

Capt. Fred Krause of the Salvation Army industrial home at 1202 West Michigan street will leave next Monday for Minneapolis, where he will be second in command to Maj. Casa. The change is a promotion to Capt. Krause, who will be in charge of similar work in Minneapolis, where his hold is considerably larger than Duluth.

Capt. Krause has been in charge of the local corps for two years and two months, during which time the institution has grown four-fold, has changed quarters three times and is today one of the largest factors in Duluth charitable and settlement work. The growth of the industrial home, the establishment of a paper department, hotel, lunch room and store, have all been the result of Capt. Krause's effective work.

CAPT. FRED KRAUSE.

When Capt. Krause first came here in 1910 he found a small building on Michigan street, which was merely the headquarters of the corps. Considerable work was being done at that time, but with the arrival of Capt. Krause an industrial home was established and a waste paper department installed. Soon after new quarters were taken at 1006 West Superior street. It was there that the waste paper department became such a large factor in the work, with a special head and fifteen men doing the work. The industrial home also grew at the new location and last spring an entire building at 1202 West Michigan street was taken over by the army. Here Capt. Krause arranged the entire basement for the paper department, a hotel on the upper two floors and the industrial store on the main floor. A lunch room, where the poor could eat a hearty meal for 5 cents, was also established here. An employment bureau was also a feature of the work.

Ensign Premley of Denver, Colo., will arrive here next Wednesday to take charge of the local corps. Ensign Premley is well known among Salvation Army circles, he having established a large department at Denver. He is now in Chicago receiving instructions for the work here.

HORSE KILLED BY STREET CAR

Wagon Is Demolished and Driver Has a Narrow Escape.

T. Hartzell, a butcher at 329 St. Croix avenue, miraculously escaped serious injury shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when car No. 204 on the West Duluth and Aerial Bridge line ran into his horse and wagon. Thirty-first avenue west and Superior street, killing the horse instantly and demolishing the wagon.

Hartzell was driving along Superior street, bound for West Duluth. The motorman claims that he repeatedly rang the bell and believing that the driver was about to turn to the left he struck the horse. Instead, Hartzell turned to the right, coming directly in front of the street car.

The horse was instantly killed, having its back broken and two legs fractured. The rig was carried about forty feet before the car was stopped. Hartzell was thrown from the wagon and his escape from serious injury is considered marvelous. The wagon was completely demolished. The horse and wagon both belonged to Matt Newman, proprietor of the butcher shop on St. Croix avenue.

BIBLE CLASS WILL STUDY CIVIC PROBLEMS.

The Servo Adult Bible class of the Second Presbyterian church, 1015 West Superior street, will again take up its study of civic problems and social conditions in the West end.

The class was organized last fall and throughout the winter the members met and discussed the various problems confronting the larger cities. The housing question was one of the principal matters taken up during the winter. Addresses were made every two weeks by prominent citizens.

The class will meet again next week and after organizing will arrange a program for the year. Mr. Morgan, who is now teaching law at the University of Minnesota, was to have spoken during the meetings. Rev. J. A. McCauley, pastor of the church and leader of the class, announced yesterday that another speaker will be secured in Mr. Morgan's place. The first class will be held Monday evening, Nov. 4, when a program of addresses will be featured.

The Servo Adult Bible class includes all the men and women of the church and others who are interested in the work. Bible study is featured every Sunday noon, with Rev. Mr. McCauley in charge of the class.

Will Open Convention.

The Swedish Baptist young people of Minnesota will assemble this evening for a four-day convention at the First Swedish Baptist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street. Rev. ## Friday Basement Bargains You Should Know About

There Is a Hard Way to Keep Floors Clean— and an Easy Way

Which is yours? If your hardwood or painted floors are being treated with broom, brush or damp mop, then you are using the harder way and the less effective. The new method of taking care of bare floors—the method which seems to us the best so far advised—is an O-Cedar Oil Mop.

The mop does not scatter the dust, but gathers it up; wiping like a cloth, and its peculiar construction allows it to get into corners and under furniture.

COST OF LIVING NO HIGHER IN DULUTH THAN IN OTHER NORTHWESTERN CITIES

Dr. B. M. Rastall Compiles Some Statistics for the Commercial Club.

Cheaper to Live Here Than in Winnipeg or in Madison.

Cost About Equal to That in Chicago, St. Paul and Milwaukee.

The cost of living in Duluth is about equal to that in St. Paul, Chicago and Milwaukee, and lower than in Winnipeg, Minn., and Madison, Wis., according to figures compiled by Dr. B. M. Rastall, secretary of the Industrial committee of the Duluth Commercial club.

Dr. Rastall conducted a series of personal investigations. He visited St. Paul, Milwaukee and Chicago to obtain his figures. The figures for Madison, Wis., were obtained by him before he came to Duluth, and he also obtained the Duluth figures. The figures for the comparison with Winnipeg were obtained by a Duluth man living in the Canadian city.

The results of the home garden and farm garden development in Duluth and vicinity are reflected in the figures, berries, garden vegetables, eggs and milk being cheaper in Duluth than in the cities with which the comparison is made.

The study was accomplished by taking a series of price statistics in the various cities on the commodities and services that enter into the cost of living of the average family.

These commodities and services naturally fall into the following groups: Food, rent, heat, light, clothing, furniture and utensils. It being impossible in a brief study to make comparison between clothing, furniture, and utensils, and sundries, these groups were assumed to run the same as the others and statistics were not taken for them.

Method Used.

To illustrate the method of securing prices in each group the tabulation for rent is given herewith. It will be noted that the rental prices are taken for very specifically described properties in order that close comparisons might be made. The method was to interview a number of real estate agencies to talk over with them the range of prices for each of the properties scheduled and to arrive at an average from prices of property actually quoted by the agencies. The returns secured from the various agencies were then averaged to secure the best average for the city. The most difficult thing was securing an average for the various sections of the city, which sometimes differ widely.

Food quotations were secured for a specific list of commodities, covering meats, fruits, vegetables, cereals, dairy products and staples. Taking the group of cities, St. Paul, Madison, Milwaukee and Chicago, prices of meats, and fruits were found to be somewhat higher in Duluth. This was largely offset, however, by cheaper prices in berries, garden vegetables, eggs and milk. Staples such as potatoes, flour and sugar run almost exactly the same.

In both heat and light Duluth has a considerable advantage over any other city in the Northwest. Electricity is considerably cheaper than in any of the other cities. Milwaukee is the only city which has as low a rate on gas. Chicago is the only city having as low a rate on anthracite and smokeless bituminous coal for household consumption.

In order that an average may be arrived at that will make a correct comparison of the general cost of living possible, it is necessary that the various commodities be made to affect this average to about the extent in which they affect the cost of living. Expenditures for light, for example, are very small as compared to expenditures for food, and should have a correspondingly small effect upon the average. This result is secured by the statistical process of weighted averages. Averages are first secured for the groups, food, rent, heat, etc., and these groups are then weighted for securing a general average according to the percentage which they represent of average family expenditures. The weights as determined by extensive studies of family purchases by the department of labor of the United States and various European countries, and from various other sources are as follows:

1. Food, 43 per cent; rent, 19; heat, 5; light, 1; clothing, 13; furniture and utensils, 3; sundries, 16.

Securing a general average by totaling and weighting these groups gives the following comparison of the general cost of living in the cities studied: Duluth, 100; St. Paul, 100; Madison, 111; Winnipeg, 129; Chicago, 101; Milwaukee, 99.

It will be seen at a glance that the costs are considerably higher in Winnipeg and Madison and approximately the same in Duluth, St. Paul, Chicago and Milwaukee.

The studies made were so brief and so many elements enter which cannot be specifically measured, that these results are, of course, to be taken only as very roughly correct. Differences in the standards of living of various classes in the different cities would vary these results. A somewhat shorter winter would have an effect upon heating and lighting costs, which is not measured in these figures. The increased winter costs, however, would to a certain extent be offset by smaller costs for ice and wastes of perishable commodities in summer, and the longer summer days would largely offset increased lighting costs for the shorter days in winter.

On the whole the conditions shown for Duluth are very favorable and there is every reason to expect that the work done here will be highly beneficial in the costs and conditions of living would give Duluth in a short time a decided advantage over the other cities studied. The comparison with Winnipeg, however, would not be so favorable already far below those of the far Northwestern cities, and the prices of many commodities are higher for the work of recent years in the stimulation of farming and gardening in this territory.

SPECIAL TRAIN TO CUYUNA RANGE

Clam Bake and Bear Barbecue Planned for Five Hundred Visitors.

The extension of the Cuyuna Northern railway, the running branch of the Northern Pacific, from Deerwood to Cuyuna-Mills Lake, and the opening of the new line, will be celebrated by running a special train from Duluth to the mine, leaving here at 7:45 next Sunday morning over the Northern Pacific. Part of the Third Regiment band will accompany the party.

Residents of Cuyuna range towns will serve a clam bake and bear barbecue to the visitors under the supervision of R. W. Parsons, assisted by A. Miller, both of the Badger Club. Clam bake will include scallop, rock, green onions, baked potatoes, steamed live lobster a la Newburg, milk-fed young corn on the cob, coffee and cigars.

It is expected that more than 500 stockholders of the Cuyuna-Mills Lake Railway will be present. The train will stop at Ironwood, where the Cuyuna-Duluth branch is located, and will then proceed to the mine. The special will make the fast time of three hours and half and will return to Duluth at 10 o'clock Sunday night.

The Cuyuna-Mills Lake mine is stockpiling high grade ore, which it will begin to ship next week, making the fifth shipment since the mine was opened. The others being the Kennedy, at Cuyuna, and the Thompson mine, at Ironwood. The Hanna mine, at Barrows, is expected to begin shipping in about two weeks, making in all six shipments in the range as against one last season.

STOCKTON IN ASTOR'S PLACE ON I. C. BOARD

Chicago, Oct. 17.—At a meeting of the stockholders of the Illinois Central railroad, Philip Stockton of Boston was chosen a director to succeed the late Col. John Jacob Astor, who went down with the Titanic. Three other directors whose terms expired were re-elected: Charles A. Peabody and Alexander H. Hackstaff, both of New York, and John G. Heed of Chicago. Their terms will expire in October, 1916. Approximately 100 stockholders attended the meeting. With this exception, a total of 77,102 shares were represented.

ARE TOO BUSY TO TRAVEL MUCH

William Hathaway, district passenger agent of the Rock Island and incidentally one of the best known of the railroad men that make the Head of the Lakes territory, is in Duluth today.

"People are too busy to travel a great deal at the present time," said Mr. Hathaway. "Also it might be said that it is too near election time for extensive traveling. The average American cares more for his vote than he does for a trip and until after the election there will be very little but the routine commercial traveling."

This winter should be a very heavy tourist travel. Travel and prosperity are about as friends as Damon and the late Pythias. There is lots of money in the country at the present time and after election and the coming of the cold months there should be a record-breaking travel to the South and Gulf ports.

"Following a heavy crop there is generally very much business in the agricultural sections of the country. This late fall and winter the railroads of the East and West will probably share in the general prosperity of the country."

PLAIN TALK FROM CHIEF

Rights of Public and Street Car Employees Are Defined.

Says Passengers Have No Right to Refuse to Pay Fares.

C. H. Troyer, chief of police, is today issuing a bulletin to all members of the police department setting forth certain provisions of the law relative to powers to arrest which have been brought out by the street car strike.

In addition to summarizing certain sections of the statutes the chief makes certain terse comments. Among them he declares that it is none of the passengers' business whether the conductor rings up the fare or not, that being a matter for the street car company to worry about. The chief greatly deprecates the practice of conductors not giving up the fares but that does not warrant anyone in refusing to pay or excuse anyone for starting trouble on the cars, he says.

Under the law it is stated that the refusal to pay fare on a street car is an offense and that the employees of the company or private citizens have power to arrest anyone who refuses to pay. The company employees also have power to make arrests for any other offenses and private citizens have the same authority, as explained in the bulletin. The chief points out that company employees are just as liable to arrest as their passengers if they violate any ordinance or statute. Complaints have been made to the chief by members of the department, riding in plain clothes, have refused to make arrests when requested to do so by passengers who were not on active duty at that time and that an officer on duty would have to be called. The chief declares that where such conduct can be proven he will recommend the immediate discharge of such officer.

The bulletin contains information which may be useful to every citizen and is as follows:

To all officers of this department:

In order to prevent any misunderstanding between employees of the street railway company and police officers, the following instructions to the officers of this department by first quoting briefly the laws of the state:

"Section 2225, Minnesota Statute. Arrest is the taking of a person into custody that he may be held to answer for a public offense, and may be made:

1. By a peace officer without a warrant.
2. By a peace officer without a warrant.
3. By a private person.

Section 2229. A peace officer may, without warrant, arrest a person:

1. For a public offense committed or attempted in his presence; or
2. When the person arrested has committed a felony, although not in his presence; or
3. When a felony has in fact been committed, and he has reasonable cause for believing the person arrested to have committed it; or
4. Upon a charge made upon reasonable cause of the commission of a felony by the person arrested.

"To make such an arrest the officer may break open an outer or inner door or window of a dwelling house if after notice of his office and purpose, he shall be refused admittance.

Section 2229. It is a misdemeanor, without a warrant, arrest any person whom he has reasonable cause for believing to have committed a felony, and shall be justified in making such arrest, though it is not afterwards ascertained that no felony has been committed, but when so arrested a person without a warrant, the officer shall inform him of his authority and the cause of the arrest, except when he shall be pursued immediately after an escape.

Section 2232. A private person may arrest another:

1. For a public offense committed or attempted in his presence.
2. When such person has committed a felony, although not in his presence; or
3. When a felony has in fact been committed, and he has reasonable cause for believing the person arrested to have committed it.

Right to Arrest.

"By the above it is plain that a private person has a right to make an arrest. This gives any employee of the street railway company authority to arrest any person who has committed a misdemeanor not in the presence of the officer, or if such person has been made by the employee, the officer shall receive the prisoner, or if it becomes necessary shall aid in making the arrest, then take the name and number of the employee, and give him instructions to appear against the offender at the proper time. If the offense is a felony, then the officer has authority to make the arrest on his own account.

"It is an offense under the ordinance to refuse to pay fare on a street car, and you are instructed to arrest any one for so refusing to pay in your presence, or received by a prisoner arrested for this offense by a street railway employee; and I might state here that it is none of the passengers' business whether or not the conductor rings up the fare, this being a matter for the street car company.

"Street car employees may be arrested as well as those committing crimes against the company if they are guilty of committing any offense. The same rule of arrest should follow in stopping street cars and leaving them standing where traffic will be congested for the purpose of making such an arrest. It would be better in most cases to allow the operators to run the car to the barn or some Y where a car can be placed out of the way of other street cars before the employees are taken from the car, unless the delay necessitated by the arrest is a very short one.

"A street car employee can be arrested for intentionally and maliciously destroying property by running his street car into vehicles, etc., but when such a collision is a mere accident you have no right to arrest. If, however, the delay caused by such accident and it can be shown that it was carelessness although the killing was not intentional on the part of the motor-man, he can be taken into custody for manslaughter.

"It has been reported to me that police officers riding in plain clothes strike the strike have refused to make arrests or aid employees of the company by stating that they were not on that time on duty, and the employees would not dare to get a police officer who was on duty. If such conduct as this can be proven against any police officer, I would recommend the immediate discharge."

He completed the letter and addressed the envelope. He found a postage stamp and moistened it. He was about to place the stamp on the letter, when the stamp fell from his fingers and landed, wet side down, on the back of a careless cockroach.

The reformed dipsomaniac stooped to pick up the stamp, when, to his horror, the little red square ran across the floor and started up the wall. Then the stamp crossed the ceiling, walked around for a while and disappeared behind the cornice.

The near conqueror of old John Barleycorn emitted a sigh of distress. He tore the letter up and started to unpack his trunk.

THE OLD-TIME LIGHTNING-ROD

San Antonio Express: The announcement of the death in Missouri recently of John Cole, inventor of the lightning rod, recalls the spectacular career of that formerly interesting figure in the world of commerce and of science, as science was understood by the laymen of earlier days.

No doubt there are half-grown boys and girls in plenty now who have never seen a lightning rod, yet a quarter of a century ago no building was considered safe from a bolt of lightning unless it was surmounted by the trusted steel point which was expected to attract the fluid and convey it harmlessly into the earth.

Public faith in the efficacy of the lightning rod was so great that it was difficult for the owner of a building to get a fire insurance policy unless he first provided a lightning rod as a shield from danger from elements.
as does the average negro depend upon his little bag provided by the hoodoo voodoo.

The farmer was the especial easy mark selected by the lightning rod peddler, for the reason that the farmer usually owned his home, and besides, being less important by traveling agents, he was more susceptible to their wiles, but in the towns and cities no residence was considered quite complete until it was embellished by a lightning rod.

The peddler who was on to his job would drive up to a prosperous appearing farm residence and, equipped with a small storage battery, would proceed to demonstrate to the family the awful fate which awaited if the home was not protected by a lightning rod.
Harrowing tales of the destruction of houses, consuming all the earthly possessions of the occupants, and frequently resulting in the death of the entire family, were told so eloquently and pathetically that a contract was usually signed without delay and the lightning-rod man proceeded to cover the house and the barn with the elementary metal rods, implanting the lower ends in the earth and erecting a net as many shafts above the roof as his conscience would permit, with a rod-or an arrow of some other ornament surmounting the shaft.

When the buildings had been well covered in this way the peddler left on his way to persuade others to allow him to rod their buildings, and a few months later, often, the farmer was notified by a bank that he was expected to call and pay the amount called for in the contract, a sum which usually surprised the debtor, but as the contract was generally in the nature of a lien on the buildings the owner had no option but to pay the bill.

But the passing of the lightning rod has been going on for many years, and now it is practically unknown except when it is seen on some of the older buildings where it has been for perhaps twenty-five or thirty years, and the people have come to look upon it with about as much respect for its virtue as they have for the left hind leg of a graveyard rabbit. The lightning rod served its purpose, it made several millionaires, and it calmed the feelings of thousands of nervous persons during thunder storms, but it has gone, and soon it will be recalled only by tradition.

THE NEW MEANING OF GOVERNMENT

Next President of the United States Sends His First Message to the Women of the Country.

By WOODROW WILSON.
In the November Woman's Home Companion.

The editor of the Woman's Home Companion wrote: "Woodrow Wilson wrote this article for the November Woman's Home Companion. He returned our check in payment for it with the request that it be made payable to Miss Wells, treasurer of the Democratic national committee, and not done. Please understand that the contribution to the cause was directly Mr. Wilson's personal affair only. The Woman's Home Companion prints Mr.
Wilson's article solely because it is an interesting message to American women. In it Mr. Wilson tells the results of his own 'keeping house' at Washington for the whole people."

Democratic government has, the world over, had deep and far-reaching results. It has created a new conception of the functions of government. It is not merely that democratic government is based as the old phrase used to go, on the "consent of the governed," but that it is based upon the participation in government of all classes and interests, and that this participation can be realized, whenever government is disentangled from its connection with special interests and made responsive to genuine public opinion, throughout the length and breadth of the great country. It at once gets new ideals and responds to new impulses.
It then becomes an instrument of civilization and of humanity.

America has so prospered, and her energy has been so great, and her achievements have been so many, that she has not until our day felt the real difficulty and exigency of government. She has not had time to turn her mind to her various and expanding industries, to think of making her government economical in its administration and effective at every point, as her own business enterprises are.

Every dollar that the government spends ought to be spent as carefully as if the resources of the country were limited. Every dollar of expenditure ought to mean something, or provide for the people some real benefit.
Waste is also weakness. Inefficiency brings confusion.

It is part of the new meaning of government, therefore, that its resources are not to be put at the disposal of a governing class or of any limited set of governing influences, but that those who exercise its authority must "keep house" for the whole people, must use the money raised by taxes as if it were expended in trusts to produce the best possible results in the ordering and stimulation of our life.

It is an interesting circumstance that government is becoming less and less a business for politicians; that minds are turning away from the narrow conception of government as a mere means towards it as part of the general enterprise of life. The reason we want our government to be free from every kind of private or narrow control is because we want it to be free to do things that it would see if it served only a few. Those who conduct it ought to have the vision of the nation itself ought to be sensitive to impulses from every quarter, and to be able to turn sideways with the philanthropist, with the student of soils and agricultural methods, with masters of technical and vocational education, with men with financial and lawyers and manufacturers, and merchants, and those interests which usually been at the center of policy. Though he cannot himself keep his life centered on a whole in his mind, he can at least make sure that he is taking counsel with those who have the vision of the nation as a whole, and that he is not patting himself on the back for his own narrow vision.

The Common Interest Is Becoming Clearer.
These changes in the business and character of government are not taking place because of any sudden change of a few millionaires, or of a few and of public thought. They are coming about because the common interest of the nation is becoming clearer.

The government is becoming more and more a sensitive, registering instrument. Public opinion has accumulated in the minds of the people, and it is now infinite richness and variety.
Men of many different aspirations, contributing to it. Neighborhood conventions, city assemblies, national conventions, are held by people of every kind of occupation, and of every debate stimulates each profession, each trade, each class of the people,
facturers, every union of laborers, every association of ages, and every cumulative effect of opinion and upon affairs is incalculable.

Men studying their special interests, not only from their special individual points of view, but in conference with men following similar callings all over the country.

The time has come when the common interest is becoming more and more clear—that if you will but resort to the men who have studied them as well as you.

Why We Are Eager to Restore the Ideals of Our Government.
The government, therefore, in the United States may be said to be entering upon a new day. The reason we are so impatient at some of the old influences which abound in the government is because we are so eager to ideals and to broaden its point of view; and that is also the reason why we wish to make it absolutely honest, not only, but thoroughly efficient. Indeed, the vast deal remains to be done in the mere line of efficiency. Indeed, there has been very little serious effort even yet in the direction of making the government of the United States as effec-cient as a successful business organization would be. For government is not an instrument, not an object in itself. We ought to be interested in it only as it expresses the purposes of the people of the country.

The Duty of the Government Regarding Pure Food.
Take a special topic. Consider the duty of the government regarding pure food. The new aspect of government is very well illustrated in the care which the government takes, when it is justly conducted, to see to it that the food the people eat is pure. Pure food laws, whether of the state or of the nation, are of capital and fundamental importance. No man should be allowed to sell impure food, or adulterated food, or food from which the nutritious quality has been taken. And one of the greatest scandals of our time is that the pure food laws we fought so hard to get are so often ignored and violated and circumvented.

This is not a new function of government as some people suppose, but it is one which, unfortunately, our own governments, state and Federal, took up very tardily, and which required the persistent agitation of such men as Dr. Wiley to make effective in the field of public opinion.

I do not know any function of government in which the two sides we have to make sure of in politics are more clearly illustrated. In the first place, the law must be made effectively, and, in the second place, it must be enforced. The law must be made effective, and in its penalties. But the law will not enforce itself.

And the indispensable second requirement is that the law must be absolutely independent of the influences which would resist or impair the application of such laws.
It must be beyond being "reached" or in any way. It must be thorough, intelligent, fearless, and its application of the law must be absolutely without respect of persons or interests, financial or political.

It is a serious question whether these things can be said either of our pure food laws or of their administration. Until that doubt is entirely removed, our government will not have squared itself with the duty and the standard of the times.

The Policy of Conservation Must Not Be Guided by Political Expediency.

The matter of the conservation of our natural resources affords another illustration. We must know our forests. We must preserve, by scientific care and cultivation, those that we have. We must see to it that the mineral resources of the country are not extravagantly wasted, and that with the care of our forests there shall go the renewal also of these sources of the great rivers which lie on the mountainlands and in the forested valleys.

It will not do for the government merely to hold settlers off and limit their enterprise until it shall have determined what it will do with these things. It must adopt a policy of use as well as of reservation, and in this it must be guided by knowledge, not by mere political expediency.

Such knowledge is available. This is the age of specialization. There are men who can tell us, if we wish to hear interested counsel, how these things can be used without being wasted or exhausted.

Against it is a question of good housekeeping. The government must administer our resources as a good housekeeper would administer a great estate for the support of the living and the benefit of those yet unborn.

That is the reason why the question of conservation has so come to the forefront in our time and has so broadened its meaning. We now do not merely see to it that the business of government not only to see that men live under just laws, but to see that the resources of the country are conserved for their health and strength and for the sustenance of every condition which will make them strong and free.

The Government's Duty Towards the Farmer.

We now see, to take another illustration, that it is the duty of the government to take the scientific knowledge developed in the universities and to the workers of the country, to the farmers, for instance, to whom should be the knowledge of the character and use of soils, about irrigation, about the rotation of crops, about the climatic and other conditions which determine what crops of crops should be planted in particular localities; about the preservation of fruit from insects and disease; about the proper method of planting in order to forestall conditions which have oftentimes killed our crops; and about the proper use of the land, the servant of industry. Knowledge is the man who owns it is willing to be consumed in the universal interest. It is valuable only for guidance and enlightenment.

The Market Basket as the Symbol of the Nation.

The interest of government in high prices and an excessive cost of living is made a symbol of the nation's problem. Every law should be altered which keeps the market basket empty, and everything else that makes it harder for the rank and file of men to live. And every means ought to be used to make the market basket plentiful and secure of its just earnings.

It is not by accident or the mere trick of parties that the market basket is made a symbol of the nation's problem and content. An essential matter with every man is, How shall he live? The man who owns it is willing to be consumed in the universal interest. It is valuable only for guidance and enlightenment.

FROM THE LETTERS OF JEAN DULUTH, JR.

(The theory that the writer of these interesting letters was a son of the discoverer of Duluth is not credited by antiquarians. The explorer was a bachelor. Probably Jean was a nephew.)

Mon Pere: You would admire this city if you could see it now. Its so tall buildings, its factories finer than the grand residence at Montreal, its shops crammed with splendid stuffs and its gracious domesticities.

It would astonish you to know what innumerable things are made here, the fabrics, the foods, the clothing, the jewels, the wonders in iron and steel.
Truly there is no end of the marvels.
If you can arrange it, do manage to be here the end of this month. There will be shown all the things that they do here to supply their own needs. To compare that with the first winter when you nearly starved on this same ground and could not even mend your torn jerkins for lack of needle and thread would interest you.

My fair cousin and I send you our loving duty.

JEAN DULUTH, JR.

DULUTH DRUGGIST MAKES A STATEMENT

We always advise people who have stomach or bowel trouble to see a doctor. But to those who do not wish to do this we will say: try the mixture of simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Adler-Lika. This simple new remedy is so powerful that JUST ONE DOSE usually relieves constipation.

It is a serious question whether these things can be said either of our pure food laws or of their administration. Until that doubt is entirely removed, our government

cities clean; that hospitals are provided; that education is put within the reach of everybody, and that the humblest citizen of our country has a full chance to live and thrive.

It is in this sense that government becomes the instrument of humanity, of social betterment.

This is the new meaning of government. Its business is to establish and maintain every condition which will assist the people to a sound and wholesome and successful life.

"I cannot rest until I see you. Will be at hospital today."

WILSON SHOULD BE GIVEN ADEQUATE CAMPAIGN FUND

Opponents Are Plentifully Supplied With Money for the Contest.

People Have an Opportunity to Take Government Into Their Hands.

If the people of the United States this year let slip their opportunity to take the government into their own hands, they will not have another opportunity for four years.

Woodrow Wilson is the people's candidate. He is the only candidate in the field who typifies beyond question the hopes of the common people of the nation.

He is the only candidate to whom the people can look for a reduction in the cost of living through the removal of oppressive tariff burdens.

He is the only candidate to whom the people can look for the destruction of special privilege and for the elimination from the government of the influences inimical to the interests of the people.

Woodrow Wilson's candidacy is distasteful to the beneficiaries of special privilege. They are throwing the weight of their wealth and influence against him.

It is a significant fact that the opponents of Governor Wilson do not seem to be handicapped for lack of funds.

The plain people of the nation are furnishing Governor Wilson's campaign fund. The great bulk of the fund will be made of the $1 any $5 contributions of men who can afford no more.

No man should hesitate to contribute because he cannot make a large contribution.

The $1 contributions of 100 men are just as great as the $100 of one man, and they indicate a wider range of Wilson sentiment.

Twenty men contributing $5 each may swell the total of the Wilson fund $100.

There is little time left for the campaign. The election will be held two weeks from next Tuesday. Hard work covering a wide territory must be done in that time. Much money is needed for the legitimate purposes of the campaign.

The Democratic national committee and Governor Wilson should not be handicapped by inadequacy of funds.

No man who believes in true representative government should fail to make a contribution to the Wilson fund. In every Westchester county contribute what he can afford there would be no question of the adequacy of the fund.

The territory in which The Herald circulates is thoroughly Republican. Its attitude in the presidential contest should be more faithfully reflected in the fund being received by The Herald than it is at present.

Contributions to the fund are acknowledged by publication in The Herald. Every contributor will receive from Rolla Wells, national treasurer, a handsomely engraved receipt, suitable for framing.

Checks should be made payable to "Wilson Campaign Fund" and mailed to "Wilson Campaign Fund, Herald Office, Duluth, Minn."

The fund has a receipt for $5, mailed by the Democratic national committee to "A Republican," who contributed that amount to the fund, but failed to send his name. If he will call at the office of The Herald he will be given the receipt.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

MRS. HAGAR
IS ELECTEDIs Chosen President of North Dakota Federation of Women's Clubs.Mrs. Cobb of Grafton Elected Secretary—Mrs. Budlong,
New Historian.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Grant Hagar of Grafton was chosen president of the North Dakota Federation of Women's Clubs at the annual election here yesterday afternoon to succeed Miss Minnie J. Nelson of Valley City.

The first ballot, an informal one, showed that Mrs. Hagar had a lead of several votes over Mrs. E. B. Page of Grand Forks and Mrs. N. C. Young moved that a formal ballot be taken. Mrs. Page in a few words withdrew from the race and Mrs. Hagar was duly elected.

Mrs. A. E. Cobb of Grafton was chosen general secretary, while Mrs. Minnie C. Budlong of Grafton was elected historian, a new position created at this session.

For the long term members on the board of directors of the federation, six-nominations were made—Mrs. W. A. McIntyre of Langdon, Mrs. W. J. Brugger of Williston, Miss Louise T. Beebe of Grand Forks, Mrs. J. D. honey of Lumbly, Mrs. D. W. McCuskey of Carrington, Mrs. Percy M. Cole of Kenmare. For the short term, Mrs. J. Cassell of Hope and W. H. Stutsman of Mandan were nominated to be elected. For auditor, Mrs. T. A. Horden of Jamestown and Mrs. J. Zetterberg of Valley City were nominated to the election and additional nominations to the executive committee. Mrs. N. C. Young, the retiring president of the federation, is firm in the belief that the district organization should work in closer harmony with the state organization. She points out that at present several of the districts are being maintained under laws which are in conformity with the laws of the state organization. She points out that this situation is very bad, and that it has led to the district working for objects opposite those laid down by the state organization.

Club Membership Growth.—The growth of the federation during her term of office was also pointed to by Mrs. Young. From having fifty-seven clubs with a membership of 1,664 when she took charge four years ago, the federation has grown to 111 clubs with a total membership of 2,237. Last evening the annual endowment fund program was held, and proved unusually successful, and that fund maintained at a level of $10,000, which was established a year ago, was materially benefited. Prof. Frederick H. Koch of the university gave a Shakespearean reading.

General Federation Secretary. Mrs. W. S. Lauder of Wahpeton reported that she had been successful in raising about one-quarter of the amount apportioned to this state to be raised for the general fund. She reported a proposed endowment fund of $100,000. For the arts and crafts department, Mrs. J. McCarty of Duluth reported showing it to be the purpose of that department to have a more elaborate exhibit for the 1913 convention than has been secured this year. Nine states and territories are represented in the exhibit here, and Mrs. McCarty believes that by next year the number will be greatly increased.

Yesterday afternoon the members were guests of the Grand Forks Automobile club on a sight-seeing trip.

TAFT ELECTOR IS FOR WILSONWisconsin Candidate Finds Himself in Anomalous Political Situation.

Ashland, Wis., Oct. 17.—Running as a Taft elector, this congressional district, J. M. Thomas has startled local G. O. P. circles by announcing that if chosen, he will vote for Taft in the electoral college, but that personally he will vote for Woodrow Wilson.

He explains his anomalous position in the following statement: "As a nominee for presidential elector of the Eleventh congressional district on the Republican ticket, I have had many inquiries as to whom I will cast the electoral ballot for. Under existing political conditions the voters should know my position on this question."

"Some newspapers have quoted me as saying I would vote for Roosevelt. In this have been misquoted. I am a Progressive Republican, but not of the eleven-hour, Bull Moose, Roosevelt anything-for-office variety. If I am elected as a presidential elector, I shall take it for granted the voters of this district favor the election of William H. Taft for president and shall cast my electoral vote for him."

"In making the above statement, I, however, reserve the right as a private citizen, too, and shall cast my individual ballot for Woodrow Wilson, the only truly consistent progressive nominee for president."

PLAINTIFF GETS VERDICT FOR $10

Cloquet Man Sued for $250 for an Alleged Vicious Assault.

Carlton, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—John White was damaged to the amount of $10 when James Marshall of Cloquet attacked him July 1 last, according to the finding of a jury in district court here this week in the civil action of White instituted against Marshall to recover $250 for personal injury.

Marshall admitted he struck plaintiff several times, but denied it was without provocation, alleging that White assaulted him on the street and used such vile and filthy language and threatened him in certain ways that he found it necessary to resort to force to subdue him. Also that at other times White had entered his hotel before his wife and used vile and filthy epithets that were unfit to be repeated in public; that he had at ways paid White every cent he owed him, and that he had paid him for his last fall, but White had forgotten about it and called again to enforce collection of second payment.

Marshall Wanted $500.—The defendant had a counterclaim by asking for $500 damages for reputation by reason of White's malicious slander about him during the trial. Marshall was a witness as to the abusive language, but would not repeat it, as it was said to be unbecomingly human ears.

SEEKING DAMAGES FROM CONTRACTORS

Carlton County Farmer Wants
$2,300 for Trees Being Burned.

Carlton, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Dibel and a jury in district court here are trying the damage case of Jacob Reddel vs. Foley Bros., contractors, and the Soo railway. The plaintiff alleges that during the years 1907-8 defendants were making a grade and clearing a right-of-way for track down in the neighborhood of plaintiff's farm and they cut a strip of woods out 100 feet wide through section 19, 47-16, to establish a railroad grade, that in so doing defendants plied the refuse of their sawmills and in so doing allowed the fire to escape from burning trees of plaintiff's land, the value of some $2,300.25, wherefore he claims damages of that sum.

Fryberger & Fulton appear for defendants and H. S. Lord for plaintiff.

MINNESOTA SUGAR INDUSTRY GROWING

Increase in Production of Home-Grown Sugar
Very Large.

Chaska, Minn., Oct. 17.—The officers of the best sugar factory located here estimate that the production of home-grown sugar in Minnesota this year will surpass that of 1911 by about 250 per cent.

More than $3,000 tons of sugar beets will be handled this year in the campaign which has just begun, as compared with 22,000 last year. The rapid increase in the production of home-grown sugar is due to the fact that the output of 8,000 acres, as compared with 3,000 acres of 1911. Beets are coming to the factory more rapidly than ever before, and the campaign is already well advanced. The increased yield of the crop is estimated, will be more than 15 per cent. due to the better methods of cultivation which are being used.

Average Larger Than Plant.—Already the average which farmers wish to plant to sugar beets for next year far exceeds the capacity of the factory and plans are under way for the erection of a new factory. No decision as to its location has been made, however, since it is recognized that an abolishment of the tariff on raw sugar would put an end to the industry in this country.

At present Minnesota is spending about $11,000,000 for sugar in market outside the state, but officers of the local plant say that there is no reason why, with proper encouragement, the whole amount consumed by the state should not be grown at home. The average yield this year will be about twelve tons to the acre, giving a net return to the farmer of about $20 an acre. On farms where the best methods are in vogue, however, the profit in a number of cases has doubled this year. Farmers report a marked in-

MANY GREET SPECIAL.

Demonstration Train Is Well Received in Upper Peninsula.

Marquette, Mich., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Advices at the local office of the South Shore railroad are that its agricultural demonstration train is making a great hit in the Upper Peninsula.

Every station large crowds gathered when the train arrived. They board the train and listen to the lectures by the instructors from the state agricultural school, pass through the exhibition cars filled with farm machinery, products, seed and stock, and start their trip again.

At Newberry, the entire enrollment of the high school was sent to the train with instructions to take notes of what they saw and prepare for an examination. A stop of three hours was made there, which proved to be too brief, as a number of interested farmers who had come to the station to take advantage of the educational offerings were unable to get in the cars.

While other sections of the state have had a similar demonstration train, this is the first train to be sent to this section of the state, and the interest is very keen. The instructors who have accompanied the train are: Charles S. Sney, Welmore, Marquette; Negaunee, Isham; Champion, to Assen; Keweenaw Bay and Chassell. At each of the different stops of interest to the farmer and his friends.

Great Northern Gets Orders From State Railway Commission.

Badger, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state railroad and warehouse commission held a hearing here this morning on the petition of the Great Northern railroad to build a depot at Newberry, Minn. The commission has now been ordered to begin the erection of a depot there within forty-five days.

Inspector Rowen of the postoffice department has been ordered to inspect a proposed rural free delivery route and it is expected that it will be established.

Winfield Roland, a 13-year-old boy, shot and killed a wolf in his home hunting rabbits when the wolf jumped up within a few feet of him. He received $10 bounty.

Eighty more loads of livestock have been shipped from Badger. Between forty and fifty carloads have been shipped out of here this fall.

CALUMET SUICIDE.

Taking Life.

Calumet, Mich., Oct. 17.—August Merganser, aged 31, a well-known attorney here and a graduate of the University of Michigan, committed suicide at the home of his mother, by shooting himself in the head. It is believed that brooding over the suicide of his brother, who killed himself a similar train wreck month ago, is the reason for the act.

HOME FOR DEPENDENTS

By A. L. Ward.

WHITEFISH ARE SCARC.

Lake Superior Variety Said to Be Becoming a Luxury.

Munising, Mich., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lake Superior whitefish are becoming a luxury. In the last two years the catch of the fish has been reduced to such an extent that it is now a luxury. Now those brought in with the trout and blue fish generally can be numbered on the fingers of one hand. Munising fishermen have lately been receiving orders to deliver whitefish and it is reported that the output of 8,000 acres, as compared with 3,000 acres of 1911. Beets are coming to the factory more rapidly than ever before, and the campaign is already well advanced. The increased yield of the crop is estimated, will be more than 15 per cent. due to the better methods of cultivation which are being used.

KILLS GIGANTIC WOLF.

Trapper Near Crystal Falls, Mich.,
Slays Large Animal.

Crystal Falls, Mich., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Forest, a trapper living near here, brought to town a wolf pup measuring seven feet six inches from tip to tip, the largest he has ever seen. The animal was taken near Crystal Falls in the autumn of 1911. Forest found the animal, grabbing it by the neck. The wolf reached around, seized the dog and shook it so hard that the animal's back was broken. Forest went to the rescue and came near getting bit himself. He shot the animal several times before he finally dispatched it, and the scrimmage the dog was shot also.

"KEEP FIGHT GOING FULL BLAST," SAYS ROOSEVELT TO MATE

Colonel Talks With Governor Hiram Johnson in Chicago Hospital.

Doctors Fear He May Insist on Leaving for Home Monday.

Patient's Condition Is Excellent After Good Night's Rest.

ROOSEVELT WILL GO HOME NEXT WEEK.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Former President Roosevelt will leave Chicago for Oyster Bay Monday afternoon, Tuesday of next week. He will travel on one of the slower trains and enter New York at the station from which the train to Oyster Bay departs. This program was decided upon today with only the qualifications that it depended upon Col. Roosevelt's continued and uninterrupted improvement, which the attending surgeons now confidently expect.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—"Keep the fight going full blast, Johnson; don't let our boys slack up in their work because I can't be with them for a few days. Tell the people you speak to I wish I could be out there working with you myself, and that I certainly will be as soon as my doctors will let me."

This was Col. Roosevelt's parting injunction and encouragement to Governor Hiram W. Johnson, Progressive candidate for vice president, when the latter left the Progressive presidential candidate at Mercy hospital this afternoon.

Twenty-five policemen escorted Governor Johnson from the Grand Central railway station to his hotel. The large guard was ordered by Chief of Police McWeeney as a result of the attempt to assassinate Col. Roosevelt. Chief McWeeney said no chances would be taken of a similar attack on the colonel's running mate. Governor Johnson arrived at his Oyster Bay home, is regarded as doubtful by the attending physicians.

Col. Roosevelt is anxious to gain his usual amount of rest, and the call of the bull moose, and it is with difficulty that Mrs. Roosevelt, the surgeon, and attendants are able to persuade him that a longer season of quiet will insure speedier recovery. Whether he will be able to restrain him longer than next Monday, when he is expected to return to his Oyster Bay home, is regarded as doubtful by the attending physicians.

Col. Roosevelt awoke at Mercy hospital today showing a marked improvement. The colonel's temperature was 98.2, his pulse, 76, and his respiration, 18. His night's rest in the colonel's room and was assured he had had a "perfectly bully night."

Surgeon's Bulletin.

The following bulletin was issued by Col. Roosevelt's surgeons at 9:30 a. m.

"Pulse, 70; temperature, 98.1; respiration, 18. Pain in chest diminished. Breathing freer. Sleeping comfortably so good that he will be allowed to sit up for an hour today until contraindicated."

DOUBLE BAIL FOR SCHRANK

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 18.—John Schrank, who attempted to kill Col. Theodore Roosevelt in Milwaukee on Monday night, was as much unruffled as ever when he was in his cell in section B, tier 2, of the county jail this morning.

In addition to the space of 7 by 4 feet which is taken up by the cell, Schrank has the privilege of exercising in an enclosure 20 by 40 feet in dimensions.

Picture Men Busy.

It was intimated that the reason for having the prisoner's bail increased from $100 to $150 was the result of a plan of certain moving-picture men to have him released and placed under heavy guard long enough to obtain a series of picture films. District Attorney Zabel said today that all efforts in this direction would avail nothing, and that should men back of the enterprise persist in having the prisoner carried out, they would be haled into court and made to face contempt proceedings.

A report to the effect that Schrank will appear for trial in municipal court on Oct. 21 was denied this forenoon by District Attorney Zabel, who stated that the prisoner would not be brought to court to answer the charge of assault with intent to kill until after the national election.

Want Pieces of Clothing.

Morbid and curious individuals and seekers by the score are visiting the department and viewing the prisoner's letters in large numbers asking for pieces of clothing, such as portions of Roosevelt's shirt, the gun shells and things found upon Schrank.

Schrank has a ready money which he refuses to part with. He wears it about his neck, tied with a short string. When he was first taken to the county jail he was asked to turn it over to the jailer because it was feared he might use it in a suicide attempt. He protested vigorously and made so great a disturbance that Sheriff Arnold permitted him to retain it.

WARRANT OUT FOR PUGILIST

Minneapolis Woman Accuses Jack Johnson of Abducting Daughter.

Lucile Cameron Protests That She Loves the Black Champion.

FURIOUS AT ARREST.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Jack Johnson, who was arrested shortly after 11 o'clock this afternoon at his home, was looked in a cell while being taken to the police station. He was released, but later was released, so he might get a judge to approve his bond, which was fixed at $500.

The pugilist appeared to be furious because of his arrest. He demanded to see Miss Cameron, who was with him, and his request was refused.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Jack Johnson, the negro heavyweight champion pugilist, is charged with abducting Miss Lucile Cameron, 19 years old, in a warrant sworn out today by the girl's mother, Mrs. E. Cameron-Falconet of Minneapolis.

Mrs. Cameron-Falconet appeared with an attorney before Municipal Judge Wells, who signed the warrant. The girl's mother became hysterical when she faced her daughter in the police station.

"I would rather see you spend all your life in jail than one day in the company of that negro," Mrs. Cameron-Falconet cried.

The girl broke down and threw her arms around her mother's neck. Counsel representing Johnson attempted to see Miss Cameron, but his request was denied.

Frank H. Hillard of Minneapolis represented Mrs. Cameron-Falconet in court.

Girl Held by Police.

A warrant was issued yesterday for the girl's arrest upon complaint of the mother, charging her with disorderly conduct and she was taken up at the thirty-fifth street police station. The girl was not booked, however, as it was feared the negro then would obtain her release on bail. The pugilist is said to be preparing to start to Australia, and the girl's mother fears he may take Miss Cameron with him.

Mrs. Cameron-Falconet, who came here to rescue her daughter, was accompanied by Frank H. Hillard, a police station yesterday afternoon, at the time Mrs. Falconet made a final plea to her daughter, she advanced toward the Minneapolis man with hand outstretched.

Quarrel at Station.

"Howdy," said Johnson with a broad grin.

Hillard stuck his hands deep in his pockets and turned away.

"I won't shake hands with the scum of the earth like you," Hillard declared.

"What!" shouted Johnson, stepping menacingly closer to Hillard. "You call yourself a gentleman? Why, you dog, what do you mean?"

Johnson raised a big black fist, but Capt. Northrup of the thirty-fifth street police station stepped in front of the belligerent negro.

During the interview with her mother, the girl is reported to have said: "I am going to continue to keep company with Jack. I expect he will marry me, although he hasn't proposed in words."

"How can I help it if the girl is?" (Continued on page 15, second column.)

CALLS PEACE IMPOSSIBLE

Czar Ferdinand of Bulgaria Issues Striking Proclamation Against Turkey.

Roumanian Government Decides to Mobilize Its Army Corps.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Oct. 18.—A striking proclamation to Bulgaria has been issued by Czar Ferdinand. In it he recounts the sufferings of the Macedonian Christians and the efforts of the European powers to obtain better treatment for them, and finally says he has called his people to arms only after the patience of the Balkan nations has been exhausted.

The proclamation opens with a reference to Ferdinand's peaceful reign of twenty-five years, and says he had hoped it would have continued, "but Providence judged otherwise. The moment has come when the Bulgarian race is called upon to renounce the benefits of peace and to have recourse to arms for the solution of the great problems. Beyond the Illy and Phodope mountains our brothers in blood and religion have not been able until this day, thirty-five years after our liberation, to obtain conditions of life that are bearable."

Tears and Grief.

"The tears of the Balkan Slavs and the groaning of millions of Christians could not but stir our hearts and the hearts of our coreligionists."

To succor the Christian population of Turkey remains to us no other means than to turn to arms.

"After the massacres of Isitp and Katschana, instead of according justice and satisfaction, Turkey ordered the mobilization of her military forces. Our long patience has thus been put to a rude test."

The straw vote tallied 723, and resulted as follows: Wilson, 374; Roosevelt, 234; Taft, 141; Debs, 12; Chaffin, 11. For governor, Ruml, 388; McGovern, 232.

E. E. Dover Testifies Before Senators Investigating Political Finances.

Medill McCormick Causes Sensation By Calling Hilles "Liar."

Washington, Oct. 18.—Elmer E. Dover, secretary of the Republican national committee in 1904, placed in evidence before the Clapp committee today what he said was a list of contributions to the committee that year, given by the late Cornelius N. Billes. It itemized contributions by E. H. Harriman, $100,000; "H. H. R.," $100,000; J. P. Morgan & Co., $100,000; George J. Gould, $100,000, and many others.

Started By McCormick.

Medill McCormick of Chicago stirred up a sensation before the committee today when, as the first witness at the day's session, he read a prepared statement touching upon the attempted assassination of Col. Roosevelt, declaring it had been incited by "falsehoods of character-assassinating and liars like Charles J. Hilles."

"It is difficult for an ordinary man, in the compass of ordinary language, to compete with the testimony of character assassins and liars like Mr. Hilles—men who, by their falsehoods, incite weak-minded men to actual assassinations," was the message which brought out a storm of protest from the committee, in which Chairman Clapp joined.

Admitted to Record.

Mr. McCormick argued heatedly that his statement was admissible as evidence, while Senators Oliver and Clapp declined to allow Mr. McCormick to continue.

LAYS MURDER TO GAMBLERS

Becker's Lawyer Makes Address to Jury Before Calling Witnesses.

Declares Gunmen Killed Rosenthal and Seek Death of Officer.

New York, Oct. 18.—Police Lieut. Charles Becker's defense to the charge of instigating the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, is that Rosenthal was murdered at the behest of other gamblers, who hated him as a meddler and informer to the police.

John H. Hart, Becker's lawyer, in presenting his case to the jury, so declared today, adding that he would prove Becker "not only skillful, but absolutely innocent."

"We will show," Mr. Hart said, "that Webster, Rose, Fallon and Schepis conspired independently of Becker, and with independent motives, to murder Rosenthal. After Rosenthal was murdered and they were rid of one of the two men they hated most in the world, they conspired to get rid of Becker, the other man they hated, by false evidence and perjured testimony."

Calls Rose Perjuror.

Mr. Hart added that the defendant had no connection with the gunmen, and that Rose, Fallon and Schepis, alleged conspirators had admitted Becker's innocence. As to Jack Rose, Mr. Hart declared the defense would prove that he had lied on the stand in every particular.

The case moved swiftly. Five witnesses for the defense were sworn within an hour after Mr. Hart concluded his address.

Before the astonished deputies could collect themselves the gunmen had kicked and beaten by the four gunmen indicted for shooting Herman Rosenthal to death, was made public today.

Fight On Bridge of Sighs.

The story of a free-for-all fight on the bridge of sighs yesterday in which Red Phil Davidson, slayer of Jack Zelig, the gang leader, was set upon, kicked and beaten by the four gunmen indicted for shooting Herman Rosenthal to death, was made public today.

Immediately the gunmen, dragging their keepers with them by concerted action, made for Zelig's slayer.

The potato crop will also suffer, as many have wet weather did not damage the flax field. The potato crop will also suffer, as many have wet weather did not damage the flax field.

ALLEGED FORGER IS TRAILED TO BUTTE.

Butte, Mont., Oct. 18.—Alleged to have been chased from a big hotel in Pittsburgh after a wild scene in the dining room and warning from another woman that the police were after her, Mrs. Lillian Weeks, 27 years old, came to Butte, where she was arrested Wednesday night in a local hotel and was taken back to Yellowstone, Ohio, Wednesday to face the charge of forging security of the Montana Oil company. Alfred J. Watkins, chief of detectives in Yellowstone, who trailed her here, took her in charge. She has waived extradition.

NEWSBOY WHOSE SACRIFICE SAVED LIFE OF BURNED GIRL DIES, HAPPY OVER DEED

Gary, Ind., Oct. 18.—Billy Rugh, the crippled newsboy, whose wretched leg was amputated a few weeks ago to save the life of a girl he never had seen in a skin grafting operation, is dead.

He died early today of pneumonia, which resulted from the amputation of either at the time of the amputation.

Ethel Smith, the girl whose life was saved by Rugh's sacrifice, was sent home from the hospital a week ago. She has completely recovered from the effects of the terrible burns she received when the engine of a motor-cycle, on which she was riding with her fiancé, caught fire. Skin from Rugh's leg was grafted on her body.

Lived by Selling Papers.

Rugh came to Gary a few years ago a penniless tramp. He made his livelihood here selling newspapers. He had been trusted with the first bundle of papers he vendied.

One day he read in a paper, as he stood on a street corner, that Miss Ethel Smith had been taken to a hospital, so severely burned that she probably would die if someone did not come to her rescue by permitting bits of skin to be taken from his body to be grafted onto hers.

Rugh looked down at his wretched leg. "It isn't doing me any good," he said, and he started for the hospital.

"Cut my leg off, Doc," he said to the surgeon attending Miss Smith, and use the skin to fix up that poor little girl."

The surgeon gasped and stood looking at the cripple. Such heroism lent common in these days, Rugh had no hope of a reward. There was to be none—not as men generally speak of rewards.

Would "Take a Chance."

"Do you realize what such an operation may mean for you?" the doctor asked.

"Sure; but I'm game. I'll take a chance. Why shouldn't I? Just think of that poor little girl there—doomed unless some gink comes across who is willing to help."

The wretched leg was amputated. Ethel Smith rapidly recovered. Billy Rugh lay on his cot fighting for his life. The other had so seriously irritated his lungs that he fell an easy prey to pneumonia.

Ethel Smith came to see him. She brought him a bunch of roses in his hand, and, taking one of his brown hands in both her own, kissed him reverently. The nurses, as they were to heart-rending scenes, turned away.

"That's all right, little girl," said Billy Rugh, and smiled up at the girl whose life he was to give in order to save. "Don't worry about me. I'm all right."

From far and near came presents to Billy Rugh. Money, trinkets, flowers galore, and messages of appreciation of heroism.

Good for Something.

"This isn't a bad world, is it?" he asked the doctor one day as he held a bunch of roses in his hand which Chicago women had sent him. "Folks are folks, after all."

Today he was thinking of the girl's recovery. He spoke of it with a note of triumph in his tones. He smiled, and remarked happily, with the hint of a death rattle in his breath, "I guess I've been good for something—after all."

Then he died.

HOSPITAL MUST PAY

Hilma Maki Recovers an Additional $750 From St. Luke's.

A jury in district court thought Hilma Maki was entitled to more than $1,000 for the loss of her left hand after it had been crushed in a laundry mangle and this morning shortly before noon awarded her a verdict for $750 more.

The jury's verdict closes the personal injury suit in which Miss Maki has been appearing before Judge Dancer against the St. Luke's Hospital association for the past three days.

The evidence showed that on Oct. 6, 1911, Miss Maki, who was employed at the hospital in the laundry room had her hand dragged under a steam mangle and so badly crushed that it was necessary to amputate it.

During her confinement which followed at the hospital, a settlement was made with her for $1,000 and on her sick bed she signed a paper releasing the hospital association from any further claim.

In her lawsuit against the hospital, she stated that the settlement was made under duress and that it was entirely inadequate. She wanted $12,000 more.

The court instructed the jury to take the settlement into consideration in arriving at a verdict. If they found the plaintiff was entitled to more than $1,000 they were to bring in a verdict for the amount in excess; if not they were charged to find for the defendant providing of course that negligence on the part of the defendant was established.

Says Nothing Could Be Accomplished By Following Council's Suggestion.

Positions Are Not Open for All Men Out on Strike.

The Duluth Street Railway company will not agree to the appointment of the special arbitration committee provided by last Monday's council resolution because it considers that such action would not be fair to its present employees and not in the best interests of its former employees.

An explanation of the company's position is contained in a letter received today by City Clerk Charles Palmer for the council from General Manager Herbert Warren. Mr. Warren takes the position that the appointment of such a committee would hold out false hopes to former employees, causing men who might still find openings with them to hold out still longer in order that all their fellow might be taken back. In other words, if the committee is appointed, some men who might otherwise return to work, will not do so in the hope that the committee will be able to adjust the situation so that the company will take all of them back at once. The company will not take all of them back, but will take back a part of them if they apply for reinstatement. The company thinks that some may apply if no committee is appointed, but that if the committee is appointed they will continue to hold out with the others.

Mr. Warren's Letter.

"We have received a copy of the resolution adopted by your honorable body at the meeting held on Oct. 14, proposing a plan for the selecting of a committee to make an investigation of the differences existing between the Duluth Street Railway company and certain of its employees to the end that a statement of facts may be made by such committee and in addition thereto such recommendations as may be made by them may be made in order to secure better service than now exists."

"The apparent purpose of the plan is to reconcile the differences referred to so that such former employees may be taken back into the service of the company."

"Nothing Could Be Accomplished."

"While we appreciate the efforts of your honorable body in behalf of the general public in this matter we do not see how anything can be accomplished by this procedure."

"On Oct. 8, last, in a communication to the public and to the addressed to the public and to the published in the daily press of this city, we back to take back as many of our former employees as we had places for, barring only such as had been guilty of injuring the company's property, or actively interfering with the service." We stated in that communication that we could then take back a large number of such employees if they applied promptly, but that we could not dismiss competent men to make places for them.

"More than a week has passed since our announcement was made, but none of our former employees have applied for reinstatement, and from statements in the press credited to their leader, Mr. Orr, we understand that none of them will make application for reinstatement unless the company agrees to renege them all."

"Cannot Take All Back."

"In view of this stand taken by the men, and of the impossibility of taking them all back it seems to us that nothing could be accomplished by the proposed committee, but that the appointment of such a committee would hold out a false hope that would cause the men who might still find openings with us to hold out still longer for all their fellow back to be taken back until there would be no places left for any of them. We cannot take back all of those men without violating our contracts and acting in bad faith with our present employees, many of whom are very efficient and desirable men."

"For these reasons and because we believe it would defeat the very purpose desired to be accomplished by tenting to keep out of our service many of the former employees whom we would be glad to take back, we must respectfully decline to take the action requested."

"We fully appreciate the efforts of your honorable body in this matter, and particularly those of the special committee having this particular work in charge, but we trust that it upon standing and in light of our statement of the facts you will realize that in fairness to our present employees and in the best interest of our former employees we could make no other course than we have."

"We fully appreciate the efforts of your honorable body in this matter, and particularly those of the special committee having this particular work in charge, but we trust that it upon standing and in light of our statement of the facts you will realize that in fairness to our present employees and in the best interest of our former employees we could make no other course than we have."

LAST HALF OF
TAXES DUE

Thursday, Oct. 21, will be the last day on which St. Louis county taxpayers may pay the last half of their 1911 real estate taxes without penalty. Although the rush at the treasurer's office has not yet started, a large number of taxpayers have settled their taxes.

County Treasurer Vivian will from now on keep his office open during the noon hours for the accommodation of the public. Heretofore it has been closed except during the rush season when the personal property taxes and the first half of the real estate taxes were received.

Between now and Nov. 1, it is expected that considerable money will be paid into the treasurer's office in settlement for the last half of the real estate taxes. One of two large checks have already been received. The largest single taxpayer of the county is the United States Steel corporation. It is expected that its tax will be tendered within the next few days.

ROOSEVELT URGES THAT THE CAMPAIGN GO AHEAD

Issues Statement Saying His Wound Must Not Halt
the Work.

Jane Addams and Some Twin Babies Visit Him at the Hospital.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Campaign activities should not cease because of Col. Roosevelt's wound, said the statement issued by Col. Roosevelt at Mercey hospital in answer to what Mr. Bryan said in his speech at Franklin, Ind.

"I wish to express my cordial agreement with the manly and proper statement of Mr. Bryan at Franklin, Ind., when, in arguing for a continuance of the discussion of the issues at stake in the contest, he said:

"The issues of this campaign should not be determined by the act of an assassin.
Neither Col. Roosevelt nor his friends could ask that the discussion be turned away from the principles that are involved. If he is elected president it should be because of what he has done in the past and what he proposes to do hereafter."

"Wants Discussion Carried On."
"I wish to point out, however, that neither I nor my friends have asked that the discussion be turned away from the principles that are involved. On the contrary, we emphatically demand that the discussion be carried on precisely as if I had not been shot. I shall be sorry if Mr. Wilson does not keep on the stump and I feel that he owes it to himself and the American people to continue on the stump."

"I wish to make one more comment on Mr. Bryan's statement. It is of course perfectly true that in voting for me or against me, consideration must be paid to what I have done in the past and to what I propose to do. It is of far more importance that consideration be paid to what the Progressive party proposes to do."

"I cannot too strongly emphasize the fact upon which we Progressives insist—that the welfare of any one man in this fight is wholly immaterial compared to the great and fundamental issues involved in the triumph of the principles for which our cause stands.

"If I had been killed the fight would have gone on exactly the same. Gov. Johnson, Senator Beveridge, Mr. Strauss, Senator Hristow, Miss Jane Addams, Gifford Pinchot, Judge Allen Lindsey, Raymond Hobbs, Mr. Prendergast, and the hundreds of other men now on the stump are preaching the doctrine that I have been preaching and stand for, and represent just the same cause.
They would have continued the fight in exactly the same way that I had been killed, and they are continuing it in just the same way now that I am for the moment laid up.
These far as my opponents are concerned, whatever could with truth and propriety have been said against me and my cause before I was shot, can with equal truth and equal propriety be said against me and it now should be so said; and the things that cannot be said now are merely the things that ought not to have been said before. This is not a contest about any man, but a contest concerning principles. If my broken rib heals fast enough to relieve my breathing, I shall hope to be able to make one or two speeches yet in this campaign;
in any event, if I am not able to make them, the man I have mentioned above and the hundreds like them will be stating our case right to the end of the campaign, and I trust our opponents will be stating theirs.

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."
"Negro Made Seesaw."
A negro who attempted to force his way into the hospital, saying he "had got to see Roosevelt," created momentary excitement yesterday. The man entered the main door and went to the elevator shaft, where he was stopped by a watchman.

"I've got to see Roosevelt," he said. "I'm a preacher and I've got a special mission. The man was ejected from the building unceremoniously and went away. No importance was attached to the attempted intrusion."

"Two during Thursday, Mrs. Roosevelt made exceptions to her rule of 'no visitors.' Miss Jane Addams of Hull House, one of the most ardent workers for the Progressive party, called late in the afternoon and spent ten minutes with Col. Roosevelt."

"Visited by Twins."
Two other callers visited Col. Roosevelt, and he held each in his arms and patted them affectionately. They were twins, Joseph and Francis Walshe, who were born just as Col. Roosevelt was being brought into the hospital Tuesday morning. Mrs. D. F. Walshe of 67 East Thirty-seventh place, Chicago, their mother, sent them down to 'interview' the colonel. Their method was to cry lustily as each was taken on his left arm.

"They are good bull moose timber," smiled Col. Roosevelt to the nurses. "They are afraid to vote their protest against a condition they be- lieve in. I congratulate their mother."

Mrs. Roosevelt gave the babies a motherly pat as they were being taken back to their mother. "Little Girls' Offering."
Three little girls, Evelyn Appleton, 9 years old, Florence Hubert, 8, and Virginia Kraft, 7, a handsome bouquet of them stood beside the girls' gift. The colonel pulled three handfuls from the bunch and directed Mrs. Roosevelt to give them to the children, which she did after learning their names and thanking them. They left the hospital smiling and happily clutching their prized lilacs of the valley, boasting of them to nurses who gazed at them curiously.

"While the physicians were with him last night, Dr. Golden said that the colonel was one of his favorite authors. 'Which book do you like best?' the colonel asked.

"African Game Trails," replied the doctor. "And what part of that book do you like best?" the colonel went on. "The illustrations," the doctor replied promptly, and Col. Roosevelt had to admit that for once the laugh was on him.

"Pleases Four-Leaf Clover."
A four-leaf clover was presented to Col. Roosevelt last night, and while he declared that he was not superstitious he added that he thought a good deal of the token. But when he looked for it again it vanished. The colonel called his nurse and then began a search for the missing leaf. It ended by turning down the bed covers and looking under and around the colonel, and it was the patient himself who at last spied it tucked under a corner of a sheet. With his new treasure restored, Col. Roosevelt prepared for a peaceful night's rest.

This Dear Old Lady

was a nurse to the sick and wounded during the Civil War. Twenty-three years ago, at a time when her doctor thought she could not recover from her illness and when he thought other medicines would be useless he advised her to take Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

Look at her photograph. What a pleasing picture of health and content she makes now, in her advancing years!—her brain alert, eyes bright and memory clear. It is within your power to maintain your faculties, your activity and willing, pleased friendships if you will but make an effort to do so.

If you are not aging gracefully, if you suffer from ills which you should not, if your faculties are becoming impaired, if the attention and interest of your friends are lessening, perhaps you can benefit from the experience of Mrs. Kane. Advice is as good as it turns out to be. The advice of Mrs. Kane's doctor to her was pretty good, she thinks. See if you agree with her. Read her letter, which follows:

"I am 72 years old and have used Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for the past 23 years. When I first took it my doctor said it was only a question of a few months before I would die from that dreaded disease, consumption. The doctor said it was no use to take any other medicine, but advised me to take lots of eggs and milk, and use about a half pint of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey in each glass of egg and milk, and to eat as much food as possible.

"At the expiration of ten months my cold disappeared and I gained in weight steadily, and today I weigh 195 pounds. My memory is so very good that I can remember things that happened as far back as the battle of Hampton Roads, between the Monitor and Merrimack, on March 9, 1862. I was then nursing the sick and wounded of the Union, which I did till the war was over.

"I went to Canton, China, as a missionary nurse, in 1875 to 1880, and can recall many of the disastrous events, such as famine and plague, during this period in China. Hoping that Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey will do for others what it has done for me, I remain, Yours very truly, Mrs. E. Kane, 2043 Palmetto Street, Brooklyn, N. Y."

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

does more toward restoring and maintaining good health, unimpaired memory and faculties in men and women than all other medicines combined. It is nature's true tonic-stimulant. Note that Mrs. Kane gained in weight steadily, and her cold disappeared. Her doctor believed she would die of consumption. He prescribed Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. She recovered, and today, 23 years after her serious illness, for which she took Duffy's, at the age of 72 she is alive and well and weighs 195 pounds.

Determine today to regain your own health and strength. Make up your mind to use Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. See that you get Duffy's. Write our doctors for advice. They will give it absolutely free, and in confidence. You will also receive a valuable illustrated medical booklet.

Sold in SEALED BOTTLES ONLY by druggists, grocers and dealers, $1.00 a large bottle. Address The Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.

WHAT OTHER CITIES ARE DOING

Activities of Other Municipalities, Which Might or Might Not Be Copied in Duluth.

KANSAS has one of the few municipal moving picture shows in the country. It is at Haven, a little town in Reno county. There is another municipally owned moving picture show house in the country the directors of the different film companies have no knowledge of it. An officer of one of the largest American film companies said that Kansas had the only house of the kind in the country. Haven was so small that there were no moving picture shows and only occasionally would one be given there by a traveling company. Every one in the little town enjoyed the pictures. No one was willing to risk his money in building a moving picture house, so all the business men of the town "chipped in" enough to buy the machine and the show was started. It is a great success.

The pictures are shown in the town hall every night. An admission fee is charged to pay the operator and the pictures are shown until the fund is exhausted, or additional and special films are purchased and the show is increased and kept going with more pictures until the fund is used up. The town is now building a grand opera house. Next summer the picture shows will be given in the open air.

The moving picture shows in Duluth are all owned by private individuals or corporations. The city has not considered going into that line of business. The use of moving picture machines in the schools has been advocated, however.

their indulgence in too many ribbons, as he expressed it.

All forms of pleasure on the Sabbath were attacked. The worldliness of many of the younger adherents of the faith was the cause of a bitter attack by a delegate from the western part of the state, who said the doctrine of spare the rod and spoil the child was not true, and urged the parents to use the rod more liberally. His suggestion was written on the minutes.

The member of the faith who rides on a street car or railroad train on Sunday is to be reported to the presiding elder, who will determine the proper punishment. The big political parties now struggling for supremacy were denounced vehemently for their alleged corruption. The conference went on record as standing opposed to political corruption.

COLLEGE GIRLS HAVE LIVELY CLASS RUSH.

Macon, Ga., Oct. 18.—Just to show their sister students how insignificant they really are, the sophomores at Wesleyan Female college burned the freshmen in effigy, and after burning the ashes on the college campus "rushed" the lower class girls good and hard. The girls engaged in a hand-to-hand struggle, lasting fully ten minutes, and when it was over there were several things besides dispositions that were ruffled.

The juniors corralled the freshmen early in the evening and escorted them to a drug store near the college. In the meantime the sophomores began their "war dance," and bearing a dummy supposed to represent the freshmen, who were a stake had been placed. Then they tied the dummy to the stake and set fire to it. In the meantime dancing about the burning figure in great glee.

NORWEGIAN-DANISH PUBLISHERS' MEETING

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 18.—The erection of a building at the University of Minnesota, which should serve as a center for the gathering of Scandinavian of the Northwest, was advocated yesterday at the annual meeting of members of the Norwegian-Danish Press association. The session ended last night with a banquet at which Waldemar Aker, Eau Claire, Wis., was toastmaster.

LAZINESS AND PRIDE

Are to Blame for the "H. C. L." Says Duluth Grocer.

People Have Acquired the "Ready-To-Serve" Habit.

That "high cost of living" story and its suggestions, published in The Herald of last evening, has attracted a good deal of attention, but in no place more pronounced than among the meat dealers and grocers who are selling the goods, and who have been often blamed for the advance in the cost of living. The story of last evening quoted a meat dealer as saying that false pride in the matter of purchasing meats is responsible for the advance in the cost of living to a very large degree. A well-known groceryman of Duluth saw that story last night, and today told The Herald that false pride has a good deal to do with it, and carelessness and wastefulness also has a great deal to do with it, but that the chief cause is laziness.

"That may sound harsh," he added, "but it's true. I can prove it to you. There are only about two exceptions I will make when I tell you that in the last twenty years there has not been the slightest advance in the price of groceries. I make that statement without fear of contradiction, and will get down the list in my store with anybody who thinks I am mistaken. The two exceptions I speak of are butter and possibly eggs. In the old days butter was cheaper because there was a good deal of dairy butter, but now about all you can get is creamery butter.

"As to laziness, let me point out something. It is not at all unusual to get a telephone message to send a bunch of lettuce to the East end or the West end of the city. What does that mean? It simply means that we add 10 per cent to the price for delivery. That contributes to the high cost of living, but we have to do it. "More about laziness. Our mothers and the old-fashioned wives baked their bread, cakes, pies, put down their pickles, tomatoes, onions, berries, jams, jellies and all of that kind of stuff that the family would need during the winter, and in a good many cases grew the produce or picked it themselves, aided by the youngsters of the family. But not so now, let me tell you. A short time ago I had tomatoes on sale at the lowest they have been or will be this year, and advertised them for pickling. I had to throw away half of those I had, and since then women are telephoning in to know when tomatoes will be cheap enough to pickle. They don't watch for things like that any more, and they seem to feel that the price is no object anyway.

"Now, also, people in the most moderate of circumstances come into this store and buy cakes, doughnuts and pies which I have for sale. They could make them for less than half what I can sell them for, but that is too much trouble. They will pay the 20 cents for a mince pie which they could duplicate at home for not over 12 cents at the outside. My pie has more cuts in it or no more nutrition than theirs would have, but they reason 'What's the use of baking when you can get the stuff so cheap? Then another thing. Here we keep a continually growing stock of jams, jellies, pickles and all kinds of canned goods. The trade in these is growing every day and shows that the housewife no longer 'puts stuff down'.

"Delicacies Out of Season. "The most amazing feature of all, to my notion, is the general buying of celery, lettuce, tomatoes, and other summer delicacies of that kind in the cold of winter. For the last five years my store has had a wide assortment of such things, and strawberries and things like that, at any season of the year.

People who have no business squandering their money that way buy the stuff when it is at its dearest. Why? Because they must have just as good things as their neighbors, they think. It is within the last five years that I have been carrying these delicacies that I speak of, for it is within that time that the demand for them has grown.

"Another thing—just as an example: When I was a lump of a boy my mother used to send me to the grocery store for a quarter's worth of crackers—soda biscuits, we used to call them. We then got them in the last few years have acquired the 'ready-to-eat' habit so badly that they are applying it to everything. They make nothing but their wages and want to buy everything ready to use. It was illustrated by a man whom I heard telephoning the other day. He is not noted for his ambition to work, but he is far from rich and I thought at the time that he should make some effort to save. He telephoned a woodyard to send up a load of wood, and added: "Send it up cut and split."

"I maintain that laziness is the principal factor in the change of cost of living, and false pride has a good second place. People in the last few years have acquired the 'ready-to-eat' habit so badly that they are applying it to everything. They make nothing but their wages and want to buy everything ready to use. It was illustrated by a man whom I heard telephoning the other day. ## GOLF BALL KILLS BIRD ON LINKS NEAR BOSTON.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 18.—A strange freak of golf was witnessed on the Brae Burn Country club links a few days ago, when a ball driven from a tee killed a sparrow and then continued true in its flight. The incident was witnessed by a number of golfers.

The marksman was Joseph Gould. He was driving from the seventh tee. Mr. Gould got off a good drive and the ball soared high. The bird was flying in the same direction and swerved just a trifle, apparently when it heard the buzz of the golf ball coming behind.

It is common knowledge that a golf ball is no mean projectile and in this case, the bird was instantly killed and fell, a crumpled heap of feathers, as though it had received a charge of shot. The ball was hardly checked in its flight and landed on the green not far from the hole.

LONG BEARDS NOT TOLERATED

Free Methodists Recommend More Frequent Visits to the Barber.

Bellevue, Pa., Oct. 18.—The close of the annual conference of the Pittsburgh district of the Free Methodist church was marked by the passage of several striking resolutions. Personal habits of both men and women members of the church were censured.

The men were admonished to pay closer attention to their personal appearance and were urged to make more frequent visits to the barber. Long beards on the faces of the male members will not be tolerated, and the conference went on record as favoring the smooth shaven face. In the audience were a great many women, and one speaker roundly censured them for

Rosy As a Girl

Summit, N. C.—In a letter received from this place, Mr. J. W. Church, the notary public, says: "My wife had been ailing for nearly 12 years, from female ailments, and at times, was unable to leave the house. She suffered agony with her side and back. We tried physicians for years, without relief. After these treatments all failed, she took Cardui, and gained in weight at once. Now she is red and rosy as a school girl." Cardui, as a tonic for women, has brought remarkable results. It relieves pain and misery and is the ideal tonic for young and old. Try it. At druggists.

RAILROAD IS LIABLE

Conversion of Shipped Coal to Its Own Use Ruled on By Court.

Cause of Action Against "Dr." Till By Patient Is Sustained.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald).—What may be a body-blow to the railroad, that has made a habit in times of coal shortage of converting consignments to their own use, settling with the consignee and allowing consignees in coal famine districts to suffer, is in an opinion handed down by the supreme court today in which it holds that the railroad's settlement with a consignee for converted coal is not a bar to action for damages by the original purchaser of the coal.

The decision came in the case of the Sleepy Eye Milling company against the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company, from Hennepin county, where the plaintiff was given a verdict for $750 in damages and from which the railroad company appealed.

The facts stipulated by both parties were to the effect that the Sleepy Eye Milling company bought of Keller & Co. at Superior, Minn., a quantity of coal for which it paid. When this arrived the company refused to unload until the railroad company paid damages for delay in delivery. Then the railroad company converted the coal and sent the purchase price to the consignee coal company, and set this up in court as a bar to the Minneapolis company's action for damages.

The lower court held it did not relieve the railroad company from damages, as the Sleepy Eye company was the owner of the coal at the time it was converted, and not the consignee. From this decision an appeal was taken, but it is sustained by the supreme court.

Can Sue "Dr." Till. Thomas J. Flaherty of St. Paul has a cause of action for damages against John Till of New Richmond, Wis., who, he alleges, treated him for stomach trouble with applications and caused blisters and sores to come on his body.

Such is the substance of the ruling on Till's appeal from the judgment of a Ramsey county judge overruling his demurrer to the sick man's petition. The facts shown by the opinion are this: On March 18, 1911, Flaherty was suffering from an irritation of the stomach and sought treatment with Till, who, it is alleged, held out he could cure him for a stipulated amount by the application of olive, amber and kerosene oil to the body. Instead of curing him, Till caused sores on his body and he sued Till for damages. Till demurred to the petition and this was overruled by the court. Till appealed on this demurrer.

Under the decision of the supreme court, he must go back and face trial in district court. The higher court expresses the opinion that the "injury to one's person by the fraud of another" is as serious as an injury to his pocketbook.

RAILROAD IS LIABLE

Conversion of Shipped Coal to Its Own Use Ruled on By Court.

Cause of Action Against "Dr." Till By Patient Is Sustained.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—What may be a body blow to railroads that have made a habit in times of coal shortage of converting consignments to their own use, settling with the consignee and allowing consignees in coal famine districts to suffer, is in an opinion handed down by the supreme court today in which it holds that the railroad's settlement with a consignee for converted coal is not a bar to action for damages by the original purchaser of the coal.

The decision comes in the case of the Sleepy Eye Milling company against the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company, from Hennepin county, where the plaintiff was given a verdict for $76,000 damages and from which the railroad company appealed. The facts stipulated by both parties were to the effect that the Sleepy Eye Milling company bought of Keller & Co. at Souda, Ill., a carload of coal for which it paid. When this arrived the company converted the coal and sent the purchase price to the consignee coal company. The court held that this was as a bar to the Minneapolis company's action for damages.

The lower court held it did not relieve the railroad company from damages, but the supreme court's ruling on this point is an important one. The owner of the coal at the time it was converted, and not the consignee, is the party to whom damages are due. From this decision an appeal was taken, but it is sustained by the supreme court.

Can She "Dr." Till. Thomas J. Flaherty of St. Paul has a cause of action for damages against John Till of New Richmond, Wis., who, he alleges, caused him stomach trouble with applications and caused blisters and sores to come on his body. Such is the supreme court's ruling on Till's appeal from the judgment of a Ramsey county judge, overruling his demurrer to the sick man's petition.

Instead of curing, Flaherty claimed it made sores on his body and he sued Till for damages. Till demurred to the petition and this was overruled by the court. Now, under the decision of the supreme court, he must go back and face trial in district court. The higher court expresses the opinion that the injury to the person by the application of another's "quack" is as serious as an injury to his pocketbook.

BRAVE OCTOBER STORMS ON LAKE IN SMALL MOTOR BOAT

WILLIAM WHITE, JR.

J. A. McLENNAN.

Two Duluth young men and a companion from Marquette are somewhere on the reaches of Lake Superior between Houghton and Duluth, bound this way in a small motorboat. The Duluth young men are J. A. McLennan, vice president of the Manley-McLennan agency, and William White, Jr., Their Marquette companion is Ward Powell.

According to advices from Houghton, these young men arrived there from Marquette in the motorboat on Monday night, and spent that night and the fore part of Tuesday provisioning for the trip. Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 they started for Duluth. The weather for the first night's run gave promise of being favorable, but the marine authorities at Houghton looked upon the trip of this time as very risky. The boat is a small trunk-cabin craft, seaworthy, but the Houghton people counted on the usual weather conditions of this time of the year as making chances for the trip unfavorable. Industry at the offices of the Manley-McLennan agency were rewarded with the news that they thought Mr. McLennan in New York, where he went after a hunting trip. At Mr. White's office, it was admitted that he is out of the city, but that he was coming back in a motorboat was news. He is expected home tonight or tomorrow.

FIRST DRAFT OF THE CITY'S NEW CHARTER UNDER DISCUSSION

sion who were present were: T. T. Hudson, J. G. Williams, W. E. McEwen, M. H. Callahan, S. A. Foster, Thomas Olafson, H. H. Phelps, B. Silberman, Bert Foster, J. H. Crowley, F. Macdonald and H. C. Strong, secretary. Macdonald read the charter by chapters and sections and it was discussed at length in this manner.

Prior to the reading of the charter Attorney Phelps, who was chairman of the committee which drafted it, gave a brief talk in which he pointed out the distinguishing features of the new city document and on the new proposed plan of city government.

Mr. Phelps stated that it had been modeled after no particular charter, but that it contained many features embodied in the charters of other cities now operating under a commission plan.

Under the new charter, declared Mr. Phelps, the West Duluth justice court will be abolished and an additional judge of the municipal court provided. He then briefly outlined the plan which calls for a mayor and four commissioners, who shall comprise a city council.

"We have tried to give the council broad powers under the new charter," he said, "we have eliminated the details of the old charter. They can be supplied by ordinance. The new charter under the commission form of government answers the purpose of a constitution. The reading of the charter was then taken up.

During the reading W. E. McEwen raised the point that it would be perhaps unwise for the charter to prohibit the mayor or a commissioner from holding any other public office during his term on the council. He spoke against this feature of the charter, however, supported it and it was voted in. Mr. McEwen explained that he simply wanted to make it possible for the mayor or commissioner to hold an honorary or non-salaried position.

In the original draft, the fourth of time a mayor or commissioner could absent himself from the city without good excuse was six months. This was changed down to three months on the first reading last evening.

Question of Salary. There was some discussion as to the salary to be paid the mayor and commissioners. In the charter under consideration it is fixed at $4,000 each. Mr. McEwen last evening favored $4,500 for the mayor and $4,000 for the commissioners. This matter was referred back to the committee for further consideration.

The commission was divided on the proposition as to what officers should be appointed by the council as a whole and who should be appointed by some one of the city commissioners. It was generally agreed that the mayor, auditor and city attorney should be appointed by the mayor and commissioners. There was some dispute as to whether the city engineer should be appointed by the council or by the mayor and commissioners. The question was raised with reference to a city treasurer and assessor. Mr. Foster proposed that the city treasurer and assessor be made ex-officio treasurers.

The provisions in the new charter governing the election of mayor, commissioners and municipal judges has been drafted in accordance with the Spokane plan.

Synopsis of Charter. A synopsis of the charter is as follows: Chapter 1 refers only to the name and general powers. Chapter 2 vests the legislative and executive authority of the city in a mayor and four commissioners, who shall constitute a city council. The terms of office of the mayor and commissioners shall be each for four years and until their successors are elected and qualified. At the 1913 election, however, two of the commissioners will be elected for two years and two for four years. Elections will be held every two years thereafter. The mayor and commissioners must devote their whole time during business hours to the service of the city. No person is eligible to the office of mayor or commissioner unless he is a citizen of the United States and of the state of Minnesota and a resident of the city of Duluth. Mayor and commissioners will each receive $4,000 per annum.

Chapter 3 deals with the council and legislation. The mayor is made president of the council and chief executive of the city. All meetings are to be made public and the proceedings published. Money is appropriated by ordinance.

Initiative and Recall. Chapter 7 deals with the recall, initiative and referendum in the order indicated. In the matter of recall, it is prescribed that petitions for recall of an officer must contain at least 25 per cent of the actual voters, and state in the petition in not over 200 words the cause of the desired recall. When the city clerk will have found that the requisite number of valid signatures are on the petition, he shall notify the council, which body shall fix a day for the special election not less than forty and not more than fifty days from the date of the filing. In the published call for the election, the statement of cause of recall shall be printed and the officer involved must insert a statement containing not over 200 words, justifying his course in office. The election in such case shall be conducted in the same way as other elections, the same rules for nominations of other candidates applying. The recall candidate, however, will automatically go on the ballot unless he requests in writing that his name be left off.

No recall petition against any officer will be allowed unless he will have held office at least three months. No person who has been recalled from office or who has resigned from office while recall proceedings are pending against him, shall be elected or appointed to any office in the city within at least one year. In the case of a recall of a member of the council, such member will be prohibited from sitting on the council until the recall proceedings are completed. The form of petition to direct the auditor to appear and take his place, and in case there is more than one candidate under recall proceedings, the treasurer or either of the judges of the municipal court may be called upon to fill in the council body.

As to initiative, the charter provides that any proposed ordinance may be submitted by the voters to the council by a petition signed by registered electors of the city to the amount of distance, save where there is a special fund created for a particular purpose. Chapter 4 treats on the administration of city affairs. Five divisions of the city's administration are made:

1. Division of public affairs.
2. Division of finance.
3. Division of public works.
4. Division of public safety.
5. Division of public utilities.

The distribution of duties among the various divisions shall be made by ordinance. At the first regular meeting of the council, the council shall designate one of its members to have charge of each division, to whom shall be assigned such duties as may be required. This was changed at any time. A transfer of any member of the council from one division to another may be made at any time whenever it appears that the public will be benefited thereby.

Non-Salaried Boards. The council may appoint such non-salaried boards as it may see fit. Each member must serve without pay. The matter of appointing a clerk, auditor, assessor, treasurer, attorney, engineer and purchasing agent, has not been decided upon.

Each member of the council shall have the power to appoint or remove any officer or employee of the city except his lawful salary. He shall be free to hold any other public service corporation or any other office or position, but a violation of any contract in which any officer of the city is personally interested is void and of no force.

Chapter 5 deals with the matter of civil service, providing that the civil service board shall consist of three members, serving without compensation and whose terms shall be six years each.

Elections. The chapter regarding elections, which is the sixth chapter, provides for general municipal elections for the first Tuesday in April of each year. The officers elected at such time beginning their term of office on the first Monday in May following at 12 m. Registration days for such elections will be on the second Tuesday in March, and the next succeeding Saturday. In each year. For special elections, registration days, to conform as closely as possible to the rule observed for those in connection with general elections, shall be set by the council. The manner of nomination of all elective officers shall be by petition, each consisting of not less than 50 individual signatures certifying that the person named is a citizen of the United States and of the state of Minnesota and a resident of the city of Duluth. The form of petition is then dealt with. It is also provided that the city clerk shall preserve in his office all paper relative to nominations for a period of four years. The form of ballot is exhaustively dealt with and so is the matter of first and second choice, both purely conforming to the state law. The matter of expenditure in elections is also dealt with. No candidate may spend money for any thing in a campaign except for holding public meetings, for printing and for distributing literature. His total expenses must not be over $500.

Chapter 7 deals with the recall, initiative and referendum in the order indicated. In the matter of recall, it is prescribed that petitions for recall of an officer must contain at least 25 per cent of the actual voters, and state in the petition in not over 200 words the cause of the desired recall. When the city clerk will have found that the requisite number of valid signatures are on the petition, he shall notify the council, which body shall fix a day for the special election not less than forty and not more than fifty days from the date of the filing. In the published call for the election, the statement of cause of recall shall be printed and the officer involved must insert a statement containing not over 200 words, justifying

Chapter 7 deals with the recall, initiative and referendum in the order indicated. In the matter of recall, it is prescribed that petitions for recall of an officer must contain at least 25 per cent of the actual voters, and state in the petition in not over 200 words the cause of the desired recall. When the city clerk will have found that the requisite number of valid signatures are on the petition, he shall notify the council, which body shall fix a day for the special election not less than forty and not more than fifty days from the date of the filing. In the published call for the election, the statement of cause of recall shall be printed and the officer involved must insert a statement containing not over 200 words, justifying his course in office. The election in such case shall be conducted in the same way as other elections, the same rules for nominations of other candidates applying. The recall candidate, however, will automatically go on the ballot unless he requests in writing that his name be left off.

No recall petition against any officer will be allowed unless he will have held office at least three months. No person who has been recalled from office or who has resigned from office while recall proceedings are pending against him, shall be elected or appointed to any office in the city within at least one year. In the case of a recall of a member of the council, such member will be prohibited from sitting on the council until the recall proceedings are completed. The form of petition to direct the auditor to appear and take his place, and in case there is more than one candidate under recall proceedings, the treasurer or either of the judges of the municipal court may be called upon to fill in the council body.

As to initiative, the charter provides that any proposed ordinance may be submitted by the voters to the council by a petition signed by registered electors of the city to the amount of 20 per cent of the votes cast for membership of the council at the last preceding general election, and the council requested to submit it forthwith to a vote of the people at a special election. Then the council shall either pass and ordinance without alteration in twenty days after attachment of the clerk's certificate of sufficiency as to the voters on the petition; or, within twenty-five days after such certification, call a special election at which the ordinance, without alteration, shall be submitted to the people. Should the petition contain at least 10 but less than 20 per cent of qualified voters' names, and the council should not pass the ordinance within twenty days, then the matter shall be submitted to vote of the people at the next general election occurring at any time after twenty days. Whenever such a matter comes up, the clerk is required to have the ordinance or proposition printed and mailed, together with a sample ballot, to each voter at least three days prior to the election, or order such ordinance or proposition printed in the official newspaper. In such an election the majority shall rule, no certain percentage being required for adoption. Any number of propositions may be submitted at the same election. An ordinance or other proposition adopted by popular vote cannot be repealed or amended except by a vote of the people, and the council may submit such proposition at any general municipal election. There shall be no more than one special election in any period of six months.

Unless urgency is defined and declared for the preservation of public peace, health or safety, no ordinance passed by the council shall go into effect before ten days from the time of its final passage except when otherwise regulated by the general laws of the state; and that no grant of a franchise shall be construed as an urgent measure. This is to allow of referendum. If during the ten days mentioned, a petition signed by qualified voters of the city equal to 20 per cent of the entire vote cast for all candidates for members of the council at the last preceding general election, protesting against the passage of such ordinance, be presented to the council, such ordinance shall thereupon be suspended from going into operation, and it shall be the duty of the council to reconsider such ordinance, and if the same be not entirely repealed, the council shall submit the ordinance to a vote of the electors at either a general or special election, and the ordinance will not become operative until a majority of the voters shall sanction it.

OPEN BIDS FOR IMPROVING JAIL

The board of public works this morning opened bids for two propositions for improving the headquarters police station.

The bids have not been fully checked but the approximate figures show that the cost of the improvement would be $33,000, while the cost of remodeling would run about $18,000.

Which of these propositions will be accepted will likely be decided by the council for final decision. A member of the board of public works said this morning that although the cost is considerably greater, the first plan of adding the jail to the station is much more desirable than the other.

There will be no light, sanitary conditions will be better and the arrangements of the offices and various sections of the jail will be much more satisfactory.

Both plans have been approved by the state board of control. The council has not been overly enthusiastic about spending money for this improvement but the state board of control has issued the ultimatum that if something is not done at once the lockup will be put out of commission. It has been condemned a couple of times already.

The board also opened bids this morning for a number of other small jobs scattered about the city.

DIVJAK CASE IS GIVEN TO JURY

Taking of evidence in the prosecution of Mile Divjak of New Duluth for highway robbery, was finished in Judge Cant's court this morning and this afternoon the case went to the jury. Up to a late hour no verdict had been returned.

Divjak, the state claims, was one of four men who at the point of a revolver "stuck up" Joe Subat for a watch and his spare change at a lonely spot on the road between Soudanville and New Duluth at dusk on the evening of June 3 last.

Divjak claimed an alibi. He stated that he had been in West Duluth all day and that he was not on the road at all on the day on which the robbery is said to have taken place.

The next morning, Divjak asserts, he was arrested while going to New Duluth from West Duluth in company with three other men. Officer Root made the arrest. All tried to escape and Divjak was the only one caught.

Divjak was convicted of kidnapping last spring and fined $100 in district court.

CLOQUET'S "FATHER" BACK AFTER YEARS

Cloquet, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Cloquet had as her guest this week H. W. Saums of Wilkesbarre, Pa., who virtually put the town on the map thirty-three years ago. Mr. Saums was doing civil engineering in this part of the state and was hired to make a plat of the village of Cloquet.

At that time there were only a few hundred people here and the streets, Chestnut, Market, Arch and Vine, were named after streets in Philadelphia. He was quite surprised at the growth of Cloquet. Mr. Saums was accompanied here by his brother, A. V. Saums of Brinkport, Ill.

GIRLS! GIRLS! SURELY TRY THIS! DOUBLES BEAUTY OF YOUR HAIR

All You Need Is a 25 Cent Bottle of "Danderine"— Hair Gets Lustrous, Fluffy and Abundant at Once—Doesn't Color.

Immediate?—Yes! Certain?—That's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.
A delightful surprise awaits, particularly those who have been careless, whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use of Danderine, when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

Girl Killed.

Anna Pazyck, the 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pazyck, 1514 Missouri street, met death yesterday afternoon, when her body was caught in a loading rig at the Scott

SCHOOL IN THE OPEN AIR

Eight Children Are Recovering Their Health at Nopeming Sanitarium.

Study and Sleep Out of Doors—The Daily Routine.

Out at Nopeming, a station on the Canadian Northern, railway eleven miles from Duluth, where St. Louis county has established and is now conducting a sanitarium for the care and treatment of tuberculous patients, eight children-victims of the great white plague are taking advantage of an open air school.

The open air school is one of the features of the new institution. It is conducted in connection with the Children's cottage, for which funds were raised recently by a committee of Duluth women. The cottage is a large and attractive one and gives splendid opportunity for the care of tubercular children.

Although the present enrollment of the school is only eight, considerable more could be taken care of according to Dr. A. T. Laird, superintendent at Nopeming. The children now at school, advises Dr. Laird, are all doing well and all of them have gained in weight, some of them six to eight pounds.

The children sleep out of doors and are under the care of Miss Van Vleck, special children's nurse. During school hours Miss Esther Jackson is in charge. The children's daily program is about as follows: 7:45, breakfast; 8:15, temperature and record taken by nurse; 9 to 10:30, school; 10:30 to 11:15, lunch and recess; 11:15 to 12:45, school; 12:45 to 1:30, rest; 1:30 to 2:15, school; 2:15 to 3:45, lunch and temperature record taken; 4 to 5, school; 5 to 6:30, play; 6:30, supper.

To amuse the children a number of toys and games are at their disposal. Most of them have been donated to the children by interested families. A magic lantern and microscope and a handsome victrola which was presented by the Omaha road employees, furnishes a good share of the entertainment.

Pleasant evenings are spent around the big fireplace in the school room. During the day, the children, sometimes given rides to the Northern Pacific railway station at St. Louis, and sometimes to the lake.

Nopeming sanitarium has been in operation since the latter part of May. About thirty patients on an average are now being cared for there. The treatment consists of life in the open air, an abundance of nourishing food, properly regulated rest and exercise and the use of medicine only when needed.

Experience has shown that this method of treatment is much more likely to be successful than the one followed for a considerable time at a sanitarium under medical supervision. Dr. Laird, the medical superintendent, resides at the sanitarium and the daily life of the patients is under his direction and that of the trained nurses.

As it will not be possible to keep the children in the sanitarium until a cure is effected and as one of the principal objects of the institution is to train the patients in the habits of their own health and in safeguarding the health of others, the right is reserved of discharging any one who has been in the institution a reasonable length of time.

The sanitarium site includes eighty acres of woodland situated on the rocky slopes bordering the St. Louis valley. The altitude there is about 1,300 feet above sea level. The buildings face the north and are so located as to be protected from the north winds. The institution has no connection whatever with the tuberculosis hospital maintained by the county at the poor farm. It is designed for self-supporting citizens as well as those whose resources have been exhausted as a consequence of the disease. The rate charged, $7 a week, does not cover the entire cost of maintenance.

Where the patient is unable to pay this, it is expected that his friends, employers, fellow employees, or the fraternal or other organizations to which he belongs will assist him. The sanitarium commission has only a limited free bed fund at its disposal and this can only be drawn upon in special instances.

In a circular which has been issued recently giving information as to the sanitarium, the following objects of the sanitarium are set forth:

"First—To provide residents of St. Louis county who have contracted tuberculosis with the best possible opportunities for treatment and care, to secure restoration of health and working capacity and relief from suffering.

"Second—To thoroughly instruct patients how to live so as not to be a menace to their families and neighbors when they return home.

"Third—To demonstrate to visitors and the public generally approved methods of caring for tuberculous patients and measures to prevent the spread of the disease. In this work the sanitarium commission will endeavor to co-operate as closely as possible with other anti-tuberculosis agencies."

HIS FIRST OUTBURST.
A Hen-Pecked Man Got Drunk, Slapped Wife and Spanked Kids.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—A month-long revolt against twenty years of hen-pecked married life put Charles Schorader behind the bars of a West Hamond jail the other night.

Schorader, who is a retired farmer and for years has been a faithful member of the Nazarene church, kept his wife and three children locked up at No. 437 Johnson street, his residence, in a remote part of the city.

"I got tired of being bossed about the house all the time," Schorader told the police, "so I planned ahead for a good time before I die. I always have been a total abstemious, and a good churchman, so the first thing I did was to go downtown and drink a lot of beer and buy a lot of stogies."

In this gay mood he approached his residence, shocked his wife, slapped her, gave each of his three children a spanking—a pleasure he never had indulged in—and locked up the house, his family inside. He boarded up the windows and took out the telephone.

For three weeks this continued. Schorader bringing home food for his family. His wife was bewitched by the change in her husband's manner that she did not resist. Then neighbors complained to the authorities and a warrant was issued, but before it was served Schorader decided to repent. Went to his church and gained forgiveness and went home and released his family.

His wife then became his accuser and he was arrested on four charges—disturbing the peace, resisting an officer, cruelty and desertion.

NEW ENGLAND FOR WILSON

Thorough Canvass of Six States Shows Wilson in Lead.

Roosevelt Has Split the Regular Republican Vote in Two.

New York, Oct. 18.—Governor Wilson is reasonably sure of carrying the New England states. This statement is based on reports to the Wilson National Progressive Republican league from six of the league's representatives who have just completed a tour of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut. They made a thorough canvass of these states, talked with farmers, business men, manufacturers and laboring men of all classes. Their conclusions show that New England has been shaken out of its rock-ribbed Republicanism and that partisanship is no longer the moving thought of the New England voter. In short, the canvass made by this league shows that neither Col. Roosevelt nor President Taft can hope to win. Moreover, another significant fact is the Democratic vote in the states. The few defections to Taft or Roosevelt will be more than offset by the number of Republicans who will vote for the New Jersey governor.

The league's agents report that Col. Roosevelt in all probability will run second in New England and President Taft third. The league's agents report that Col. Roosevelt in all probability will run second in New England and President Taft third. The league's agents report that Col. Roosevelt in all probability will run second in New England and President Taft third.

Cause of Loss of Strength.
Col. Roosevelt's loss of strength in New England, particularly in Maine and Massachusetts, according to the league's agents, is due to two things—his association with George W. Perkins, former partner of J. Pierpont Morgan, and chairman of the finance committee of the Harvester trust, and his association with the third-term party movement in New England.

A similar situation confronts President Taft in New England because of his association with Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania and "Boss" William Furness of New York. Many have strong Taft supporters declare their preference for Governor Wilson because of the growing feeling in New England that the president's re-election is an unsettled point, this feeling being a continuation of the governmental abuses which are today agitating the country and which have driven many of the independent voters into the Democratic ranks.

ARE PLANNING NEW CAPITOL
Members of Missouri Commission Ready to Take Final Action.

Jefferson City, Mo., Oct. 18.—The absence from the city of three members of the permanent seat of government commission made it impossible for a meeting to be held to pass on the plans of the new capitol, accepted by the state board in charge of the construction.

While no question is feared from this end, it is known that several slight changes will be suggested before actual building begins.

Governor Hadley is in favor of changing the position of the stairways at the sides to conceal the entrance of the driveway from east to west, which is suggested to pass through the sub-basement under the building.

On the drawings the stairs to the east and west are to the sides, with the driveway opening between and beneath them, making it look like a tunnel in approaching from either end.

Of the driveway is to be constructed, which still is an unsettled point, this official wants the stairs in front of the opening with an entrance from the rear. This driveway by no means is to be a public thoroughfare, as there will be others around the building for that purpose, but they will only be open to light traffic.

The permanent seat of government commissioners will get together on the first day that the five are in the city. Governor Hadley again declared that he considers the plans excellent, adding that the work of construction ought to begin as early as possible.

Both are anxious to have the subway on the river front underneath the bluff, intended for the Missouri Pacific tracks to pass through, constructed, if there is enough money left after the capitol has been built and furnished and the park laid out and properly improved.

The cost of the subway is placed at $600,000. It is suggested that if there is not enough money the legislature, about the time the new capitol building is finished, should appropriate more than $250,000 for any single item, could set aside $250,000 for the session and the other half the next.

In this way there would be enough money to go ahead with this work about the time the new capitol building is finished.

It takes good food to build children like these—and in this case, what is good for the child is good for the grown-ups.

Oatmeal is an admirable food. In its combined richness of protein (which builds brain, bone, flesh and blood) and fat and carbohydrates (which supply heat and energy) oatmeal leads other foods.

SEVENTEEN DAYS BEFORE PEOPLE ELECT PRESIDENT

Admirers of Woodrow Wilson Should Lose No Time in Contributing.

Aggressive Campaign Will Be Conducted Up to Last Moment.

Exactly seventeen days remain before the voters of the United States will go to the polls and choose their president for the next four years.

Every indication points to the election of Woodrow Wilson.

However, overconfidence is dangerous in any contest. The Democratic national committee and admirers of Woodrow Wilson everywhere are determined that overconfidence shall not deprive Governor Wilson's chances of victory.

The campaign will be carried on to the greatest possible extent up to the very hour of the opening of the polls. There will be no letup in the campaign plans on account of the Wilson's excellent prospects of election.

A hard campaign is being conducted against the Democratic nominee. His opponents are well supplied with money. Men of wealth, beneficiaries of the special privileges which have been maintained under Republican rule, have thrown their influence against Governor Wilson.

Governor Wilson is leading in a battle for the people's rights. He looks to the people for the votes which are to elect him. He looks to the people for the funds which are to finance his campaign.

Governor Wilson's campaign fund will be smaller than any fund ever used to finance the campaign of a nominee of any of the big parties in the United States. In fact, it is smaller than the contributions made by the nominee's opponents.

If every man who believes in true representative government and wants to see Woodrow Wilson elected president were to contribute but a small amount, there would be no question of the adequacy of Governor Wilson's fund.

The people have an opportunity. No cause was ever won without a fight. A great national campaign entails great effort, great sacrifice and great expenditure of a large amount of money. The legitimate needs of money during a national campaign are many.

Only seventeen days remain. After that period there will be no more money will avail if Governor Wilson is not elected.

No man interested in the public welfare and anxious to see the reins of government restored to the hands of the people should fail to make a contribution.

No man is asked to give more than he can afford. Governor Wilson's fund will be made up of the $1 and $5 contributions of the men who can afford no more.

Contributions should be made now. It will soon be too late.

Why Druggists Believe In "NURITO"

The New and Effective Remedy for Rheumatism, Sciatica and Neuritis

We want all the sufferers in this city to know why we believe in "Nurito," because their belief is bound to be founded on ours.

This new progressive remedy is the work of a doctor whose standing we know. There is no mystery about it—no patent medicine deception. Like men who are today working the great advances in medicine the world over—this physician has simply utilized and combined ingredients which separately were recognized by doctors as having a tendency to drive the uric acid poison out of the system.

It is their unique combination which is new. Instead of a mere tendency to relieve, "Nurito" gives absolute relief which is as permanent as the relief from any disease can be. There is neither narcotic nor opiate in this prescription—simply a harmless powder which is a complete antidote for uric acid poison. Patients who have been almost distracted by the knife-thrust, darting rheumatic pains have been greatly relieved in a very few hours and entirely relieved in a remarkably short time.

Doctors throughout the country believe in "Nurito"—they have seen its work. We, as druggists, give it our fullest endorsement.

THE HERALD'S STRAW BALLOT—NO. VIII.

Wilson Holds the Lead But Roosevelt Makes Some Gains on Day's Returns.

The eighth day of The Herald straw ballot, closing last evening, showed Woodrow Wilson still in the lead. His lead, however, was diminished.

The tabulation of the votes shows that yesterday Wilson gained 13 votes, Roosevelt gained 31, Taft 4, Debs 13 and Chafin 2.

Of the total 1,425 votes that have been thus far cast, Wilson has received 513 or slightly less than 35 per cent, Roosevelt 439 or a bit less than 31 per cent, Taft 207 or slightly over 14 per cent, Debs 256 or a bit less than 18 per cent, Chafin 29, or between 1 and 2 per cent.

Wilson at the close of the seventh day had 39 per cent of the total vote, Roosevelt 29 per cent, Taft 15 per cent and Debs 13 per cent. At the close of the first day Wilson had 42 per cent, Roosevelt 25 per cent, Taft 13 per cent and Debs 17 per cent. Chafin's vote has been so small as to be almost inconsiderable in comparison with the others.

Wilson has thus been slowly losing his percentage of the total vote. Roosevelt has been gaining. Taft and Debs have gained a little in the percentage.

The voters, by recording for whom they voted for president in 1908, show enormous Democratic gains for Wilson, the Democratic nominee in 1908, whereas Wilson out of this vote has received 513. Of the parties in this straw vote, 735 voted for Taft in 1908, but he received only 207 votes in this straw vote. This is an enormous falling off. Roosevelt has received 439 votes, or 31 per cent of the total vote. Debs has received 256 votes, or 18 per cent of the total vote. Chafin has received 29 votes, or 2 per cent of the total vote.

Wilson has thus far received 513 votes, whereas Taft in 1908 received 193 votes, Debs 171 votes, Chafin 29 votes, and Roosevelt 13 votes.

Herald straw voters. The Socialists certainly have made vast gains in this part of the country. Chafin with his 19 votes given little reason for satisfaction to the Prohibitionists, for these same straw voters, by their own statement in 1908 gave him 32 votes.

Last evening the straw ballot editor took up the business section of the West end. Of the 27 votes cast, Roosevelt received the largest number, 10. Wilson came second with 9. Taft third with 4, and Debs and Chafin broke even with 2 each. A Democratic gain of 21 is greater than the vote for either Taft or Chafin. Roosevelt's vote of 21 is greater than the vote that any of the candidates received from these straw voters in 1908. In that year they gave Bryan 17 votes, Taft 12, Debs 4 and Chafin none. All in all yesterday was certainly a Roosevelt day.

Yesterday's vote by mail went heavily for Roosevelt. He polled 21 votes out of a total of 36. Wilson polled 4 and Debs 11. There were no votes for either Taft or Chafin. ### INVENTOR ARRESTED

Alleged to Have Used the Mails Fraudulently.
St. Cloud, Minn., Oct. 18.—D. B. Stanley of Maine Prairie was placed under arrest Wednesday charged with fraudulent use of the mails in connection with the Stanley Car Coupler company. His bond was fixed at $1,000. The matter will be presented to the United States grand jury at Fergus Falls on Nov. 12.

Stanley, after having his car coupler patented, came to this city and ordered printed at a local printer's, letter heads bearing the imprint of the interstate commerce commission. On these letter heads he wrote a letter to himself, boosting his patent and signed it with the name of the chairman of the commission. It is further claimed that these letters were sent through the mails in an effort to sell stock.

There are probably some things a want ad cannot do—perhaps a good many things. But—it's strange how hard it is to think of any of them.

PROHIBITION DOCTRINES ARE OUTLINED AT CHURCH BAZAR

Declaring that the Prohibition party was the first to ever advocate the initiative, referendum and recall and the direct election of United States senators, Hon. E. E. Lobeck, Prohibition candidate for governor, spoke last evening at the church bazar held in the parlors at Twenty-first avenue west and Second street.

He said in his address:

"The Prohibition party is the only one that never surrenders the initiative, referendum and recall and the direct election of United States senators. We have been doing the political thinking of the country for the last twenty years or more. We were the first to advocate the election of United States senators by the direct vote of the people; the first to demand civil service reforms and railroad regulations. We led in the demand for two-cent postage and were the first to state that government lands should be granted to actual settlers only. It was our party that first called for the suppression of lotteries and the prohibition of saloons. We were the first to demand the election of a direct vote of the people; the first to demand uniform marriage and divorce laws and the appointment of a tariff commission."

For years we have, as a party, stood for the initiative, referendum and recall."

Following Mr. Lobeck's address, a program of music was rendered. Dur-

WILL OPPOSE POLLUTION

International Effort to Prevent Spoiling Water on the Boundary.

Famous Temple of Sharon in Ontario to Be Torn Down.

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 18.—The province of Ontario has some views to express on the question of the pollution of boundary waters. That question, by arrangement between the Canadian and United States governments, was recently referred to the international joint commission. The commission took the subject up at a meeting held in Ottawa, and heard the evidence of a Washington expert, who expressed the view that measures sufficient to insure the non-pollution of waters would bankrupt the municipalities along the border. The question is to be taken up for further consideration on Nov. 18, when the Canadian and American sections of the commission will meet in Washington.

Since the commission was asked to look into the water pollution problem, the Ontario board of health has been displaying a good deal of interest in the matter. The board, which acts under authority conferred by the provincial public health act, is opposed to the pollution of the Great Lakes and international rivers so far as the province of Ontario is concerned. The contamination of rivers and lakes by the refuse from cities and towns is a very live question in this province.

Had Typhoid Epidemic. Down in Ottawa they are just getting over a bad epidemic of typhoid, dug, according to experts, to the pollution of the Ottawa river. The same thing happened there once before. The city of Toronto used to be an offender in this respect, but has lately spent a large sum of money in the construction of a plant for the treatment of sewage.

Dr. McCullough, secretary of the provincial board of health, wants to put before the international commission some of the facts which have come under his notice, and has asked for a hearing. He has received word that the commission will be glad to get such evidence and suggestions as the representatives of Ontario are able to give, although the precise method of investigation to be followed by the commission has not yet been determined.

On this invitation Dr. McCullough will go to Washington, probably taking with him Provincial Inspector Bell and Dr. Amvot, the provincial analyst, who will have with him reports and statistics to support the position that sewage may cross international boundaries and cause epidemics. The provincial authorities think that this should be prevented.

The Temple of Sharon. The Temple of Sharon is to be torn down, and the old story of the building of this remarkable place of worship is being retold. The temple was built nearly 100 years ago in the town of Essex, Gwillimbury, in the northern part of York county, the builders being a sect known as the Children of Peace or the Davidites, the sect being a Quaker offshoot, founded by one David Willson. This man came from Dutchess county, N. Y., with his wife and two children. They lost all their effects by shipwreck on the way over.

Arriving in what was then the village of York, Willson obtained a deed to a farm in the East Gwillimbury wilderness, and he and his wife, carrying their children, walked through the forest to the site of their new home. Willson joined the Quakers, but subsequently left them owing to some dissension, taking with him a little band who helped him found the Children of Peace society. The legend is that Willson one night dreamed that he saw a temple in the forest, and the next day he set to work on the building of what is today a crumbling ruin, a strange structure representing three cubes one on top of the other, the base being six feet square. The Davidites were six years putting up the temple. The three stories signified the Trinity, and there were doors all around so that people might enter from all directions. One man spent a whole year in building an altar supported by four pillars to represent the four virtues, faith, hope, love and charity.

The Sect Prospered. A second building, not unlike a modern curling rink, was built for the holding of weekly meetings, the temple being kept for special religious festivals. The founder of the society was its leader and under him the sect prospered. The services were largely musical and the first brass band and the first pipe organ in the country belonged to Sharon. That was in 1820. Some years later a Boston professor was brought in to take charge of the teaching of the music. A girls' house was built in connection with the settlement and enemies made, this the basis of accusations against the founder.

When Willson died in 1866 he left a collection of sermons, which were preached by elders for a number of years. After a time the society began to divide. In 1880 or thereabouts the Sharon services ceased and the temple and meeting hall have stood unoccupied since then. The property, however, remained in the Willson family till recently, when it passed into other hands. The buildings are now reported to be in danger of falling, and it has been decided to pull them down. The temple of Sharon has always been one of the show places of North York county in the days when the Children of Peace were still a flourishing society.

May Sell to City. Although Toronto has been for the last four or five years the scene of much real estate enterprise, the Ontario government has been unable to sell by tender the normal and Model schools property, occupying a block bounded by Church, Gerrard, Victoria and Gould streets. The block is an exceedingly valuable one. The school buildings were built when the district was a residence one, but families with children have left that section of the city to the boardinghouse-keepers, and the government will build the schools elsewhere.

The city of Toronto, hearing of this intention, tried to get the block for park purposes, but failed. Prospective buyers approached the government with tentative offers, but when the minister of public works advertised the property for sale by tender, there were no offers. The government is now in a position to sell privately, and the city will renew its efforts to get the block. A conference is to be held with the city and the minister of public works and the city and terms discussed.

Seven district medical health officers appointed by the Ontario government under the recent amendments to the public health act have been on a visit to Washington, studying the methods of dealing with the question of public health in that city. They have returned and have visited Muskoka, where there is a sanatorium, a tuberculosis hospital for the treatment of tuberculosis, and the sanatorium for the treatment of tuberculosis. The officials will have directly to with the measures for stamping out the white plague from Ontario, and visits now being made will equip them for that work.

The Patricia District. Prof. Miller of the Ontario department of mines has prepared a report on the resources of the territory annexed to Western Ontario last year and named the district of Patricia. The report shows that the new territory resembles the country in the north of the province, where gold, iron and other ores have been found. The rock formation is much the same, and it is thought that iron may be found in considerable quantities and that silver may also be mined successfully.

In the region closer to Hudson bay there is promise of petroleum, natural gas, salt and kyanite. In addition to the mineral possibilities it is shown that the territory contains good agricultural land, and at the trading posts to the north grain and vegetables have been grown successfully.

OUT-OF-TOWN ATTENDANCE SUPPORTS THIS SCHOOL.

Newton, N. J., Oct. 18.—That the 100 resident high school pupils in the Newton high school get their education in that branch of the school for less than nothing and at a net profit of $1.62 to the town of Newton, is the statement of Howard E. Shimer, principal of the local school, in his September report to the board of education. This is due to the fact that 125 out-of-town pupils attend the Newton high school, and all the expenses the town is put to is to furnish and maintain the building and equipment. Mr. Shimer urges that an action be made to the present school building.

The high school department receives $6,200 in tuition fees from the outside pupils. The state appropriation amounts to $3,880 and the attendance allowance in the high school nets the town of $10,653. The expenses of the department for the school year ending June 30, 1912, were: Salaries, $70; salaries of high school teachers, $6,253; coal, $470; janitors, $400; books and supplies, $290; medical inspection, $100; a total of $8,552.

LOS ANGELES WOMAN IS ON CIVIL SERVICE BOARD.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 18.—"I shall represent my sex in the civil service," declared Mrs. David Chambers McCan, a well-known Los Angeles clubwoman and club worker, when she was appointed to the hands of Mayor Alexander as a member of the civil service commission.

"I would not think of accepting a position unless I believe that the women should have equal chance with men in the competitive examination system. I intend to represent my sex on the board to the best of my ability. Of course, sex does not count in competitive work and while I am a woman and believe that they should enjoy as many privileges as a man does, I do not believe they should be favored any because of their sex."

"I will be ready to do my share and at the same time will be in a position where I can talk with some small show of knowing of my subject."

Mrs. McCan has been a resident of Los Angeles eight years. She is an ardent suffragist and helped in no small way to carry the state as chairman of the publicity committee of the Political Equality league. She is now president of the Friday Morning club. She has also been president of the Southern California Woman's Press club.

PATRONS OF HOTELS AND RESTAURANTS KICKING.

New York, Oct. 18.—A number of the hotels and restaurants in New York city have made changes in their prices upon their menu cards, which result in marked advances in the costs of meals to their guests, and there is deep-seated discontent among the majority of those who have been regular patrons. These do not fail to express their dissatisfaction in the restaurants, but their strongest objections are voiced to each other in their own homes. The increase or upon the street. The in a carte establishments, by these advances, have thrown a great number of patrons to the table d'hotes, and for the last week the proprietors of the latter have been doing an immense and rushing business through the additional number of persons who have come to them because of the extra charges in the hotels and restaurants which they formerly patronized.

A REFORMED BOOK AGENT'S TALE

The Reformed Book Agent was reclining in the hotel lobby, says the New York Times. "You know," observed the R. B. A. in the course of the dissertation, "there always comes a time sooner or later when the rule you've been going by won't work. It had got to be a rule with me that school teachers were comparatively easy marks for a man who desired to enter negotiations for the sale of a book the size of a child's Bible, bound in either plain cloth or half morocco, with title in gilt letters. I was selling a book that was practically the same thing as a 25-cent almanac, containing all useful information, and if you didn't care for the best binding you could get it for as little as $2.75. It was a work that appealed strongly to teachers, principals, mothers, and all who had the education of the youth of any given community heart."

"I was just going to pull out my prospectus, when a young man came into the reception room just outside the office, and started to walk in where we were, but stopped when he saw me. I told the old man that I would let my business wait if the man in the next room wanted to see him for a minute, but he waved me back into my chair."

"Stay right where you are," he says, smiling amiably, and added in a whisper: "I think I know who that is. It's a young man who's been coming around to bother me about a book. It won't do him any good, for I never buy books from agents, but I suppose he'll succeed in taking up a lot of my time before I get rid of him."

"Wow! Put me in line, didn't it? I about abandoned any idea right then of owing up that I was a book agent myself, but to make matters worse, the young chap walked in right then, and my intended victim turned around and recognized him as his own son. Well, well, he chuckled, to think that I would take my own son for a book agent! That's pretty good. I guess." And he laughed heartily. We all laughed. Mine must have sounded like the cold, calculating laugh of the man who wears a gray derby hat in a show, for there was no mirth in it. "Well, sir, do you know, I was so put out over that deal that I went on to the next town without trying to sell a single book in that burk, though I'd expected to spend three or four weeks there. In the first place, I had enough superstition in me to take it as a hoodoo. And then I was afraid that old man would meet me on the street some day and learn what my business was. So I ducked."

"But," added the Reformed Book agent, "the thing I've wondered about some thousands of times since then was this—did the benevolent, humane society looking old party get off that book agent talk on purpose? Do you suppose he did?"

LATEST SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

Gossip and Comment on Sports and Pastimes of Arena, Field and Track.

By BRUCE

SOME one gave a story a pat on the back and sent it forth to travel all over the country. Following advice, the story has wandered up and down, back and forth, gathering more and more of credence than has generally been the lot of the rolling stone.

Said story, with eloquent voice but lying lips, listed that Hannes Kolehmainen, the great Finnish runner, the hero of the Olympic games, the athlete who became world-famous in a day—was brought to this country so that he could represent America in the Olympic of 1916.

Terence Farley, former chairman of the recreation committee of the Amateur Athletic union, met the story on its round, went to the mat with it, thrashed it thoroughly, and then came through with the statement that it was quite absurd.

A man has to be a bit of this great and glorious section of heavily wooded and thickly wooded land before he can represent the Stars and Stripes and be on a winning team. It requires five long years of toil, wrestling with English literature, or a firm friendship with some political power, before a foreigner can enter the fold and grab his citizenship.

While the series lived and thrived, we forgot the tripping trials of life, the rent, meat, office paper, the editorial page. We learned new adjectives, some of us, and suffered the lowest dregs of chagrin and were elated by the highest waves of decoration. She was one of the gayest weeks we have had for some time. It ought to last till the sweet Yuletide lights her head and says peep-a-boo and humbly suggests a pinching of part of the payroll for the new year and new coats and diamond rings.

Life is sweet and we must be brave. Up to the time of going to press there was no verification of the rumor that Snodgrass was mobbed in New York.

Put it up to PRESIDENT FOGEL Philadelphia Baseball Magazine Must Prove Charges Before Commission.

New York, Oct. 18.—Formal charges against Horace Fogel, president of the Philadelphia National league club, based upon his alleged assertions that umpires had favored the New York Giants and that this year's season had been fixed for the club to win, were ordered drawn at a special meeting here yesterday of the National League of Baseball clubs.

Mr. Fogel will be given an opportunity to substantiate statements published by his signature accusing current umpires of fixing the season. The charges also will include statements which President Fogel is alleged to have made at the Philadelphia baseball park at the last series played there with the Philadelphia Athletics.

Alleged to have been made that the manager of the St. Louis Cardinals was playing baseball substitutes so that the New Yorks could win, and charges made by William Brannan, an umpire, whose fairness was said to have been impugned by Mr. Fogel.

"If he can prove that the National league race was crooked this year and that the umpires or the president of the league were parties to it," said the president of the Philadelphia Athletics, "then the umpires should be discharged and blacklisted from ever taking part in organized baseball, and the president of the league should step down and out of his position in disgrace. On the other hand, if these charges cannot be proved, then it is up to the National league to pass legislation preventing this man from representing a National league club in any capacity."

John A. Heydler, secretary of the league, was directed to present the charges to President Fogel within five days and Mr. Fogel was given five days additional to present his answer. The league will meet here Tuesday, Nov. 26, to hear Mr. Fogel's defense and to take action in the matter. Umpires William F. Brennan, Charles E. Miller, William Klem and Al Orth were here in attendance at the meeting, but were not called upon to testify.

MILLER IN GREAT SHAPE FOR THE ADAMSON BOUT

(By BRUCE)

Yesterday morning Lakeside residents might have been roused to curiosity by the sight of a stocky little man in cap and sweater running swiftly through the streets of the extreme eastern part of the city. The particular man isn't dippy and wasn't trying to escape from the minions of the law. He was Walter Miller, champion wrestler, weight wrestler of the world—getting his morning's morning in allopathic doses.

In the morning Miller covered six miles. After a bath and rub down and a rest he got outside of a cheering mass of spectators. In the afternoon he wrestled with three opponents, skipped the rope, worked the dumb bells and Indian clubs, shadow boxed and practiced footwork and then did some more indoor running to keep up the profuse perspiration.

Terry McGovern, the greatest little fighter that this or any other country ever produced, was noted for the volcanic energy he put into his training methods. Duluth followers of sports have witnessed other famous athletes train in this city, but it is extremely doubtful if any man ever went at it as hard as Miller. He is putting in his preparation for Adamson.

Miller's skin is white and clear and he perspires freely and easily, one of the cardinal signs of excellent physical condition. He works with enthusiasm and endurance, which is another indication of the natural healthy condition of all his parts. His rest and careful living have put the little marvel in the very best shape of his career.

For the first time since he came to receive checks for their individual share of the world's receipts, the city will get more than $4,000 each, a greater sum than the salary of many of them.

JOHNSON LETS PINKIES GO FOR HIS TAXES.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, owns five automobiles, but has never paid the city any vehicle tax.

This was explained yesterday when Johnson was summoned before Municipal Judge Newcomer at the Thirty-fifth street police station. Johnson was supposed to be in court Tuesday but failed to appear.

"Why did you not appear in this court last Tuesday, as the summons read?" asked Judge Newcomer.

"I was taking my beauty sleep and did not wake up in time," Johnson replied.

"Well," said the court, "thereafter don't let your beauty sleep interfere with court matters. I understand that you have five automobiles and don't pay any vehicle tax. Is that so?"

"Yes," replied Johnson. "I have paid so many fines that I think the city ought to let me have the vehicle tax free of taxes."

"The case will probably be settled today."

Race Meeting at Lexington Successful Beyond Expectation.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 18.—The fortieth annual meeting of the Kentucky Horse Breeders' association will close this afternoon with an "open gate." The success of the meeting has been so pronounced that the directors of the association decided to admit every one free to the final day of the meeting.

The day was a success. The Ashland stake for 220 class trotters and worth $2,000 to the winner.

The other race was the 2-year-old trot.

Warren, Pa., Oct. 18.—Hugh Bedient, the Red Sox twirler, made his first appearance in Warren with the Palcoer high school team against the Warren Independents. Bedient attracted the attention of R. J. Scumacher, manager of the Warren team.

Later, when he looked two games with the Meadville Intercollegiate he telephoned to Bedient:

"I have two games for today, but only one pitcher. I'll give you an expense to come and pitch the afternoon game."

"No," was the answer; "but make it $150 and I'll go."

That was the first game Bedient ever pitched for money and he won. Later he broke the record for strikeouts, pitching a game of twenty-two innings at Corry, in which twenty-four batters were struck out.

DULUTH CENTRAL READY FOR FAST ST. PAUL TEAM

Coach Schilling's Charges Primed for the Biggest and Most Important Football Game of the Season.

Duluth Central high school faces the biggest and probably the most important football game of the season in the contest with the fast and aggressive high school eleven of St. Paul Central, which will be held at Athletic park tomorrow afternoon.

Coached by one of the best high school instructors in the West, Alvin Herman, the Apostles are sure to bring the head of the Lakes team well drilled and well versed in the finer points of the game. It was the superior knowledge of the St. Paul team, its better team work and its ability to use its advantages that caused the defeat of Duluth Central some four years ago.

If Herman could cause his team to win against an aggregation that was almost conceded the game before the two teams ran on to the field, it is pretty sure that he is going to have an eleven here for tomorrow's game that will give a very good account of itself.

Coach Schilling has really done wonders with the material he has worked with this season. There were those who predicted that Central would have the most team this year. But the predictions were evidently made by those who did not know the coach of the man who at the present time is the coach of the high school squad.

The evidence and the results have shown a power of attack that is fully up to the standard of play of the team last season. Duluth has been ragged, it is only to be expected. The green material into the faintest semblance to a smoothly running machine. Coach Schilling, the veterans of last season at his command it is quite safe to say that the team will be the very best high school teams in the state today.

Steady Backfield.

Taken as a whole the backfield of Duluth is stronger than it was last year. Brown is playing the game of his life, and Harris and Craswell are both stronger and heavier than they were last year. Judging from the games that have been played so far, the brunt of the ground gaining work will devolve upon these three players.

It will require the playing of tomorrow's game, or at least part of it, to determine just what the Duluth forwards will do. It was the Duluth line that lost the 2 to 5 game, back some four years ago, and if St. Paul's forwards show up the local line the way they did in the game of last year, the Duluth line will have little chance to get away clean.

The charging forward invariably carries his opponent back into the play or goes through and spills it himself. If Duluth's line holds like the stone wall of college fame, it would seem that the local backs should gain and gain consistently.

According to the report received after the practice of yesterday, Central is in the very best shape of the present season. Duluth will labor under one disadvantage—barring the opening game with the alumni the local team has not had a game that gave the eleven a hard practice.

The defense of Central has hardly been tried out. The backs have been the different sections of the country will complete their hard work today. All of the eleven will be sent through hard scrimmage drills. Plays will be polished and team work perfected, while a long defensive drill can be expected by those who are trying for places on the eleven.

The formations which will be used in Saturday's struggles will be perfected, while the usual amount of time will be spent in throwing and catching forward passes, catching punts and other work characteristic of the training on the eve of important battles.

As the coaches now have a definite idea of the men who will compose the first eleven, they can devote their attention to teaching these players the different duties of their respective positions. The men have had plenty of time to master the rudiments of the game, and from now until the close of the season advanced football will be taught.

As each succeeding game will be harder to win, and therefore of more importance, the players can expect the coaches to give them new and more important duties. The players are expected to net victories in these battles.

Maroons vs. Iowa.

That Coach Stage of the Chicago eleven has a lot of respect for the Iowa team, which will give battle to the Maroons on Marshall field on Saturday, is shown by the long drills which the Midway mentor is giving his charges every day.

The Wisconsin-Purdue battle at Madison already is attracting a lot of attention. It cannot be said that Northwestern put the Badgers to the test in last Saturday's game, which was the conference game, which the Badgers' first real combat, and Coach Horvath is sure to make strenuous efforts to give his team back to Lafayette with a victory.

MURDER AND SUICIDE RESULT OF JEALOUSY

Herbert Switzer Shoots Girl Who Repulsed Him and Then Himself.

Young Woman Was Preparing to Leave for Home to Be Married.

"She turned me down on the street after I had been going with her; that's why I shot her."

Without remorse and without sorrow for his cold-blooded crime, Herbert Switzer, murderer of Kate Perry, passed away at midnight last night at St. Luke's hospital with those words on his lips.

The faint whisper was caught by Dr. J. J. Murphy, who was attending him, as the final flickering spark of life was passing from his body.

Switzer shot and almost instantly killed Kate Perry in her room at the Marine hotel at 204 Lake avenue south, at 10 o'clock last night, on the eve of her departure to join her future husband on his honeymoon at Minneapolis, where her parents reside.

Switzer then turned the rifle upon himself and after an unsuccessful attempt sent a bullet through his heart, dying from the wound at 11 o'clock of hours later at St. Luke's hospital.

Switzer was 45 years old and his victim, 18 years of age. Both were employed as cooks at the Marine hotel, the scene of the murder and suicide. The weapon used was a .32-caliber semi-automatic rifle.

Switzer was a married man, but his wife, who was living with him at the time of the murder, was not present at the scene.

The hotel people said that they told Switzer that Miss Perry was engaged to another man, but that she was not coming to the hotel.

The tragedy took place before the eyes of two girls friends of the murdered girl, Emily Hamilton, pantry girl at the Spaulding hotel and Viola Rialla, kitchen helper at the Marine.

They were in her room, waiting while she packed her trunk, when Switzer came in and shot her.

He sent the shot through his left chest. He crumpled across the second bed. The police found them as they had fallen, when they arrived on the scene a few minutes later, the girl fully clad and in her street clothes, and the man with the rifle which he had used in the killing alongside him. The body of the girl was taken to a morgue and Switzer was hurried to St. Luke's hospital, where he died until 1 o'clock this morning.

Switzer Talks. Although fatally wounded, Switzer was able to talk, though somewhat incoherently. From him the police gathered that he had killed the girl because she would not stay and didn't want her to leave me," came after another interval. "I loved her better than life and she wouldn't come to me. I couldn't live any longer without her."

Switzer made no attempt to defend either of Miss Perry's friends after he had shot her. His sole thought after that was to kill himself.

The girl's father and mother have been notified of her untimely death and word from them is expected some time today, if they do not come to the city personally.

Twenty men and women were sitting about in an adjacent room when the double tragedy took place. Switzer held the rifle at a different angle when he turned it upon himself. It might easily have killed or dangerously wounded one of them in the other room. The two girls who were present stated at the police station that they could do nothing to prevent it. They had no time to scream for help, and when the others burst in from the next room it was too late to do anything but summon the police, who arrived a few minutes later.

Switzer has been in Duluth fifteen or sixteen years. It is claimed that he was in the city for a long time.

charged in this indictment," declared Becker's attorney. "The charge is solely that of murder."

By a further draft, proof, the prosecution recalled to the stand Jack Rose, Becker's alleged collector of graft, but justice refused to permit him to be examined along this line.

Value of Woman's Testimony. "My husband, Nathan Rosenberg, wife of 'Lefty' Louis, one of the witnesses furnished one of the sensations of the day's proceedings when the appearance as a state's witness. Although denying that he was the collector of graft, Mrs. Rosenberg told of the visit to San Schemps made by her husband in getting Jack Zells, the gang leader, out of the city. This testimony corroborated the stories of Scheps as to the importance of the state's chain of evidence.

Mrs. Rosenberg was one of a dozen witnesses put on by the state to close out the case, the loose ends of its case, which it had taken seven days to complete.

Trick to Corner Lawton. The committee went after Mr. Lawton, a conspiracy story, Elmer Dwyer, secretary of the Republican national committee in 1904, was scheduled as the other witnesses for the day. None was present when Mr. McCormick took a recess to await their arrival.

Letters and telegrams from Joseph H. Call, special attorney in charge of the lease annulment suits of the government against the Harriman lines in California, were placed in the record by Chairman Clapp. They contrasted with the testimony of J. H. Lovett that the suits had been annulled in 1905, nine years before the so-called Harriman fund of 1904.

Attorney Call's statement declared that the suits were abandoned July 10, 1902.

Tom Lawson on Stand. "The snail system" formed a deep laid plot to control the present presidential election, Thomas W. Lawson of Boston told the committee late yesterday.

Mr. Lawson was careful to impress upon the committee that he knew only in a "general way" of the alleged colossal scheme to nominate and elect a candidate "satisfactory to the Wall Street interests." All of his testimony was of matters which he knew in the same "general way" and he became involved in a heated controversy with the committee in defining just what he meant by this phrase, with which he prefaced practically every statement he made. In the course of the dispute he earnestly informed the committee that the examination of J. Pierpont Morgan and other witnesses had been "a joke."

The conspiracy of the Wall Street interests of which Mr. Lawson knew in a general way, he declared, was the defeat of Col. Roosevelt at the Republican national convention, the nomination of President Taft and the election of Col. Roosevelt into the campaign as a third party candidate to "split the Republican party." All this without the knowledge or consent of Col. Roosevelt.

Million at Baltimore. Then, Mr. Lawson knew a general way, a mysterious fund of $1,000,000 had been raised in Wall Street to enable the Democratic convention at Baltimore, prevent the nomination of any of the candidates before the convention and to name a dark horse satisfactory to the "system," who was to be elected.

"I communicated this information to Mr. Bryan at Chicago during the Republican convention," said Mr. Lawson, "and as a result Mr. Wilson was nominated and the scheme failed."

Frank A. Munsey, who preceded Mr. Lawson, argued at length with the committee against the admission of the present investigation as enforced had "frozen up the pocketbooks" of the wealthy. He outlined his own expenditures in the Roosevelt pre-convention campaign fund, amounting to more than $118,000, and told the committee that compared to the amount he was reported to have contributed, the real figures made him "look like a piker." He estimated the total expenditure of the Roosevelt pre-convention campaign at $74,000.

George B. Cortelyou, chairman of the Republican campaign committee in 1904, was recalled. He gave the committee his recollection of the so-called Standard Oil contribution of $100,000 which John D. Archbold testified he gave to the Republican fund that year. Mr. Cortelyou said that when President Roosevelt demanded that any Standard Oil money be returned, he was told by Cornelius N. Bliss, treasurer of the committee, that no contribution had been received from the company.

The witness said he had a vague recollection that Mr. Bliss said something to the effect that "no one should be asked as to individual contributions," and that after the election Mr. Bliss had said something to him about a contribution from H. H. Rogers of the Standard Oil company, which he said may have been Archbold money.

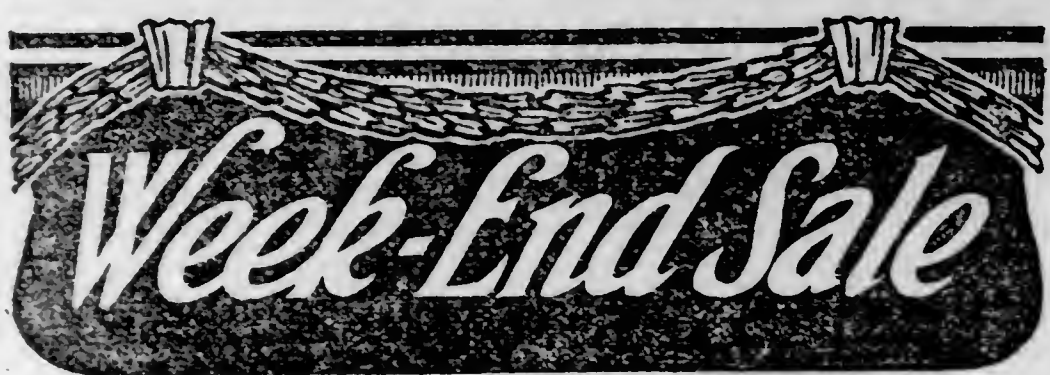

Trick to Corner Lawton. The committee went after Mr. Lawton, a conspiracy story, Elmer Dwyer, secretary of the Republican national committee in 1904, was scheduled as the other witnesses for the day. None was present when Mr. McCormick took a recess to await their arrival.

Letters and telegrams from Joseph H. Call, special attorney in charge of the lease annulment suits of the government against the Harriman lines in California, were placed in the record by Chairman Clapp. They contrasted with the testimony of J. H. Lovett that the suits had been annulled in 1905, nine years before the so-called Harriman fund of 1904.

Attorney Call's statement declared that the suits were abandoned July 10, 1902.

FEWER GREEN VEGETABLES

Cucumbers, Lettuce and Spinach Now Grown Under the Glass.

California Plums and Peaches Are Gone—Cornichon Grapes Here.

The time for an abundance of fresh green vegetables is now past. The lettuce and cucumbers now on the Duluth market are hot-house products. The cucumbers on sale now were grown under the glass. The supplies of these vegetables are now limited to what can be produced by the artificial summer weather and those who use them must pay accordingly.

The tomatoes that are coming in now are from California. They, too, are luxuries in comparison with their recent plentifulness. The price of a four-basket crate is $1.50 at wholesale. They are of very good quality.

There have been few changes in the prices of vegetables since a week ago. The fruit market has also been very steady.

The season for California plums and peaches is entirely over. The Cornichon grapes, however, from that state have been added to the fruits on the Duluth market. These are of excellent quality. They are larger grapes than the Tokays and are better keepers. A four-basket crate is bringing $1.50 at wholesale.

Almería grapes are cheaper. A box that a week ago brought $2.50 now sells for $5. These grapes are now coming in car-load lots and that has helped to reduce the price. Almería grapes are Spanish Malagas. Malaga grapes are grown in many different parts of Spain, but only in the province of Almería is such a grape produced as will keep well enough to stand shipping from the Old World to the New.

New York pears, which a week ago brought $5.50 a barrel now sell for $5. These are very large pears. They are quite expensive and dealers have not found much profit in handling them. The price has been required to get them off the market.

The season for cantaloupes is entirely over. There are no more on the market.

Apples are of fine quality and the prices are quite reasonable. The principal movement in Duluth is Russets, Greenings and Ben Davis. The quality of grape-fruit is very good, but the receipts are still less than car-load lots, and the prices are therefore rather high. It is expected that after about two weeks the grape fruit will be received in full car-load shipments and then they will be considerably cheaper. The price is about average for this time of the year. The shipments are from Florida.

Butter, eggs and cheese have been very steady. Prices exactly where they were a week ago.

Poultry has not changed in price. The receipts are not so large from the country as they have been, and Duluth wholesalers have found themselves obliged to ship poultry in from the Sioux City and Omaha markets in order to supply the local demand.

The wholesale price of meats are just what they were a week ago. The receipts on the livestock markets are still very small. The hope is that the cheapest meats on the market. Beef and pork are very high. Local wholesalers hold out hope that there will be a good movement of hogs to the livestock markets in the near future, when the farmers are not so busy with their grain crops.

One factor that is expected to be of beef is that feeders have been buying off nearly all the cattle that have come upon the market. There is now quite a time will have to come comparatively cheap, and there is now quite a time will have to come comparatively cheap, and there is now quite a time will have to come comparatively cheap.

Hay is a little cheaper by reason of the arrival of the new crop. The principal grades are all about 50 cents per ton lower than they were a week ago.

HEYBURN OF IDAHO DEAD

United States Senator Succumbs to Diseases of Heart and Kidneys.

Had Reputation of Fiery Debater in National Congress.

Washington, Oct. 18.—United States Senator Weldon Brinton Heyburn of Idaho died at his home here last night after a lingering illness. He was 60 years old and had been in the senate nine years.

A complication of diseases involving the heart and kidneys was the cause of the senator's death. He had not been well since last March, when he collapsed after delivering a speech in the senate on the arbitration treaties, in spite of the doctors' warning that the effort might cost him his life.

Several weeks ago, apparently gaining strength after a serious relapse, the senator and Mrs. Heyburn made preparations for a trip West. Another relapse followed, however, and since then the patient had been growing steadily weaker. Yesterday the doctors thought he was slightly improved but death came immediately a few minutes before 8 o'clock. The body will be taken to the old home of the senator in Birmingham, Pa.

Born a Quaker. Senator Heyburn was born in Delaware May 24, 1852, his parents being John Heyburn and Sarah Eliza Heyburn, Quakers of English descent.

—Copyrighted by Harris & Ewing.
W. B. HEYBURN.

After being admitted to the bar in 1876, he practiced law continuously until he entered the senate. He was a prominent lawyer, a man of strong convictions, and a man of strong convictions.

In 1884 the senator moved to Shoshone, Idaho, which had been his home ever since. He was a member of the Idaho constitutional convention and had served as delegate to the national Republican convention and was national Republican committeeman. Jan. 12, 1903, he was elected to the senate. He was re-elected in 1909. He was re-elected to serve until 1915. One of the staunchest of the regular Republicans, and a man of strong convictions, he was a man of strong convictions.

Heyburn had for years been a conspicuous figure in the senate. He was known for his fiery debating and his bitterness toward the South and the frequent denunciation of Southern Civil war leaders. He called the placing of Lee's statue in the capitol an insult to the nation and a dishonoring to the an. many other incidents engaged in acrimonious debate with Southern senators.

Opposed to Roosevelt. During the last few years, since the development of serious division in the Republican ranks Senator Heyburn had played a prominent part in the fight for party regularity. He always opposed Roosevelt's policies and was a strong advocate of the old party line.

Clapp on Committee. Utica, N. Y., Oct. 18.—Vice President Clapp, who had just returned from his trip to the United States senate to attend the funeral of Senator Heyburn, said that the senator was a man of strong convictions and a man of strong convictions.

Wilson Attacks the Taft Party. Makes No Mention of Progressives in Speeches in Delaware.

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 18.—"My thought is constantly of that gallant gentleman lying in the hospital at Chicago. With this sentiment running through his mind, Governor Woodrow Wilson, today, deploring the assault on Col. Roosevelt and deprecating the use of violence to interrupt the course of politics. The Democratic nominee declares his argument is to state to the people of the Progressive party, and when he discussed national questions, when he attacked the administration of President Taft, declaring that there was prosperity enough for those at the top, but that it had not 'percolated through to the people of the people'.

The governor made four speeches, appeared before cheering throngs in nearly a dozen towns, and passed the day with a big street parade and meeting at Wilmington last night. Urging Delaware to 'join the process'.

slon of progressive states." Governor Wilson declared in his speeches that it was "dangerous to block the progress of reform in America," and that "the standard man, which is the only thing that holds back the popular forces, will presently break."

Threatened to Shoot Wilson. A large number of policemen were distributed through the crowd at the opera house here when Governor Wilson spoke. This was the result of a threat made by an Italian to "shoot him the same as Roosevelt was shot." The governor himself knew nothing of the affair, and neither did any of the members of his immediate party.

The class is limited to fifteen members and an aeroplane will be constructed. This is believed to be the first high school class in the country to take up the study of aerial navigation.

GOES AFTER THE SALOONS

"If Beer Is Sold, It Must Be Clean," Says Health Officer.

The city health department has started an inspection of saloons in Duluth. So long as saloons exist the department intends to make them as sanitary as possible. Certain practices are in vogue in divers saloons of which the department does not approve. The department officials are not entering into the prohibition feature. The department does not rise to the heights of attempting to wipe them out, but only of attempting to compel them to wipe their glasses and the various and sundry other appurtenances which enter into serving the public liquid concoctions with a "tang" to them. Among divers and other faults which the department has to find with the following: Splashing glasses into a common pan of water, turning them upside down, on a drain board and calling that washing them. Neglecting to clean the drain board. Forgetting to change the water, although in the first place nothing but running water should be used. Furnishing forks for the free lunches which are washed every morning instead of after each time they are used. Exposing free lunches for flies as well as for patrons. Overlooking the conditions of their ice boxes. Failing to have the pipes of their beer taps cleaned frequently. Using roller towels which are allowed to get so filthy that the original color cannot be distinguished. The department feels that these and other things should be remedied. The officials state that they have been means of spreading disease in the past and are very liable to cause epidemics. They point out that the present laxness is mighty favorable to the breeding of germs as well as to transmitting them, scattering them broadcast throughout the community. Inspectors J. J. Tolsonnault, A. F. Braun, D. Larson and M. J. Segal have been assigned to the task. Their orders are strict. They are to visit and closely examine each of the 180 and odd saloons in Duluth and to turn in complete, individual reports on each of them. Following this the tabulations will be compared and it is probable that a second inspection will follow closely. If the conditions are not improved, the department will take steps to help improve them. As far as known this is the first time in the history of Duluth that the health department has undertaken to make a sanitary inspection of the saloons in Duluth.

Why Some Women Always Seem Well Dressed

However Hard the Day—However Long the Journey—They Always Look Fresh, Well Dressed, Well Fitted, Trim and Natty

Their clothes always seem to fit them—never seem shabby—or to need pressing. These women are not always those who spend most time or money on their apparel, yet their clothes even look better the second season than the clothes of many other women look in the second week of wear. What is the secret?

Part of the secret really is a gift—a gift of good taste and good judgment in the choice of clothes—and some of it, of course, is due to carefulness, but the greatest credit is due not to the wearer, but to the tailor who made the clothes.

How can you be safe? You cannot go by the price. The highest priced suit is not always the best made. To a certain extent you must depend on the store which sell them. Of one thing sure, any garment that bears the Wooltex label is everything you want in clothes. The character of the fabrics and the workmanship in the garments are such that the makers guarantee they will give satisfactory service for two full seasons' consecutive wear.

We alone sell Wooltex Garments in Duluth.

Come in and see them. We especially invite you to see—

The new Teddy Bear Coat at $25.00—
The Carlton, the best suit $25.00 ever bought—
The Aristocratic Savoy Suit at $35.00—

CIGARETTE SMOKING IS DRAWBACK TO BOYS' CLUB

At the meeting of the West Duluth branch of the W. C. T. U. held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Helen Stewart, 5207 West Superior street, cigarette smoking among the boys of the West Duluth Boys' and Girls' club, 295 Central avenue, was discussed.

Norman McLeod, in an address early this week, declared that smoking among the boys is retarding the growth of the institution and is a drawback to the success of such an undertaking. The matter was taken up by the members of the union yesterday afternoon and it was decided to start a city-wide campaign against the use and sale of cigarettes among the boys.

School principals in this end of the city will be asked to learn the names of the boys who smoke cigarettes and in this way find out the names of dealers who are violating the law. Messadames W. C. Ives and Joseph Cochran are on the committee.

During the afternoon addresses were also made by Miss Jean Poirier and Mrs. George Little, who spoke on "Patriotic Legislation." Mrs. Stewart was assisted about the rooms by Mesdames Charles E. Holt and H. J. Gray.

It was decided to give a supper from 7 to 8 o'clock on the evening of Oct. 26 for the benefit of the club. The meal will be served at the club rooms, 295 Central avenue, and the following members will be in charge: Mesdames C. R. Keyes, I. P. Swangle and J. T. Culbertson.

BOAT CLUB WILL GIVE A DANCE

The Western Boat club will entertain at its first annual ball the latter part of next month as the closing feature of the season.

Frank H. Wade, commodore of the club, stated this morning that a meeting of the club will be held next week, when arrangements for the ball will be made. Committees will be appointed and a date selected for the affair. It is the aim of the club, said Mr. Wade, to have a good ending for the work done this year and for this reason all efforts are to be made to make this dance one of the largest ever held in this end of the city.

The Western Boat club was organized the latter part of August with a membership of thirty. Soon after a membership campaign was started and today there are over 100 active members in the organization. During the past season the club conducted several interesting races. A building committee of the club is now arranging for the construction of a clubhouse at the foot of Sixty-first avenue west.

The officers of the club are: Frank H. Wade, commodore; A. E. Swanson, vice commodore; Ernest Larson, rear commodore; Stanley Strand, secretary; and Merwin H. Murray, treasurer. The members of the site committee are: Robert Jennings, A. P. Swanson, M. H. Murray, Charles Dahl and Melvin Olson. The racing committee consists of Ernest Larson, M. H. Murray, Ammon Fayling, Warren Crosby and Charles Dahl.

COMMITTEE ON FISH HATCHERY WILL REPORT.

The proposed fish hatchery at Fond du Lac will be the principal matter to be discussed at the meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club this evening. The inspection of the site by the state game and fish commission yesterday will be explained in detail by the members of the committee which represented the club.

During the evening addresses will be made by local candidates for office. It was announced this morning that the meeting will be open to the public, and any one desiring to hear the candidates may attend. The business meeting will begin at 8 o'clock so that the speakers will all be given an opportunity to address the members.

PAVING BLOCKS HAVE ARRIVED

Immediately following the threat made by Central avenue property owners that they will request the council to change the paving contract from blocks to bricks, Contractor E. A. Dahl wired to the manufacturers at Sandstone and yesterday afternoon two carloads of the concrete blocks arrived. The continued delay in sending the blocks and the blocking of traffic on this thoroughfare for the past two months had aroused the property owners. They decided to request Mr. Dahl to make a last effort to secure the blocks, and if he failed, to make for paving the street with bricks. Ramsey street was paved with bricks, they said, and Central avenue could be paved likewise if necessary.

Mr. Dahl wired to the manufacturers at Sandstone, W. J. J. Moran, telling them of the decision of the property owners, and twenty-four hours later two carloads of the blocks arrived. Workmen this morning started to lay the blocks and the blocking of traffic on this thoroughfare for the past two months had aroused the property owners. They decided to request Mr. Dahl to make a last effort to secure the blocks, and if he failed, to make for paving the street with bricks. Ramsey street was paved with bricks, they said, and Central avenue could be paved likewise if necessary.

FIRST FIRE ALARM FOR OVER SIX WEEKS.

The West Duluth fire company had its first call this afternoon for over six weeks.

A small summer house at 712 North Fifty-sixth avenue west caught fire at 1 o'clock, the firemen having difficulty, however, in checking the flames. The total damage to the building is placed at $25.

Paving Petition.

Property owners on Highland street are circulating a petition for the paving of that thoroughfare from Fifty-ninth to Sixty-fifth avenue west. The plan at present is to grade the street and open a road between the two avenues, as Highland street ends at Fifty-ninth avenue and starts again on the other side of the D. M. & N. tracks at Sixty-fifth avenue. The property owners propose to grade the thoroughfare, connecting both avenues with a culvert underneath the railroad tracks.

LETTERS OF JEAN DULUTH, JR.

Do come, Mon Pere, Little Pifine is to be a vanderer and Anette will serve chocolate. You will find them adorable. The merchants and artificers are all ready erecting booties in which will be shown the things made here and all will be as gay as at Versailles itself. But most of all it will please you to see how your city has grown from the rough state in which you last saw it.

One of the factories, as large now as the stockade at Grand Portage, though it was built only one year ago, is now enlarging itself by three. There is no end to the new things. At present people are talking much about the contest of the baseball, the outcry of the politie and the wound of the colonel. But none of these will be of so great moment as the show of what is made here, which is but two weeks from now. You must come. The little Pifine has said it.

JEAN DULUTH, JR.

Talk of Missions.
Lexington, Ky., Oct. 18.—Home missions occupied the attention of delegates to the international convention of Disciples of Christ today. Prominent on today's program were the report of the church extension board, presented by George W. Muckley of Kansas City; the report of the board of ministerial relief, and the president's address. Extended discussion of the problems of the churches in the country, county and city was planned.

Farmington Place has absolutely the best soil, viz.: a rich sand loam with a good covering of black loam; no stone, no red clay, good drainage and good water. Farmington Place lies midway between Proctor and Ironton and is only a short walk from Grand Avenue Car Line. Farmington Place lies alongside the Thomson Road, the great thoroughfare between Duluth, Proctor, Carlton, Cloquet and the Twin Cities. Farmington Place is on the main line of both telephone companies, the Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railway and the Great Northern Power Company. Farmington Place will have a good school as School District No. 1 owns one acre in Farmington Place.

Farmington Place contains only eighty acres divided into thirty-two lots ranging in size from 1 1/4 acres to 3 acres. Remember, only thirty-two lots, which means thirty-two owners or less. ## $25,000,000 DAMAGE DONE BY TYPHOON IN PHILIPPINES OCT. 16

No Americans Killed and Native Loss of Life Not Ascertained.

Five Small Steamers Wrecked —Hundred of Small Craft Lost.

Army and Navy Supplying Relief Through Wide Area.

Manila, Oct. 18.—Twenty-five million dollars is the estimated damage done by the typhoon which swept the Philippines on Oct. 16. The storm extended over a wide area, touching Surigao in the south, Tulaoban in the north and crossing Leyte, Bohol, Cebu, Negros and Panay.

Reports from the various districts are incomplete and contain nothing definite concerning the rich sugar districts in Negros nor the interior points in Cebu and Panay.

Five small coasting steamers were driven ashore and wrecked and a hundred small sailing vessels were sunk or beached. The army and navy have both joined the government in undertaking measures of relief.

Rear Admiral Nicholson, commander of the United States Asiatic fleet, has placed the cruiser Cincinnati at the service of the government and has come south with Brig. Gen. Harry S. Bland, chief of the Philippine constabulary.

The army authorities are lending doctors and men of the hospital corps, together with tents. The government is dispatching one steamer to convey the doctors and another with supplies of food, while it is holding the transport Warren in reserve.

Apparently there were no casualties among American residents. The total number of dead among the natives has not been ascertained.

BOY HANGED BY HIS BOOK STRAP

Wisconsin Lad's Body Found Suspended From Fence Post.

La Crosse, Wis., Oct. 18.—The 10-year-old son of Fred Polz of Big Creek lost his life by hanging in a peculiar manner yesterday on his return from school when a book strap, which he carried over his shoulder, caught on a fence post. He had attempted to climb over the fence.

The lifeless body was found today. Death probably was instantaneous, as no evidence of a struggle was visible.

PLAN ATTACK ON VERA CRUZ

Two Thousand Federal Troops
Go to Put Down Revolt.

Fifteen Killed in Outbreak in the Seaport Town.

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 18.—Two thousand federal troops will attack Vera Cruz today, according to a telegram received here by Alberto Madero, uncle of President Madero.

The message comes from Ernesto Madero, minister of finance at City of Mexico.

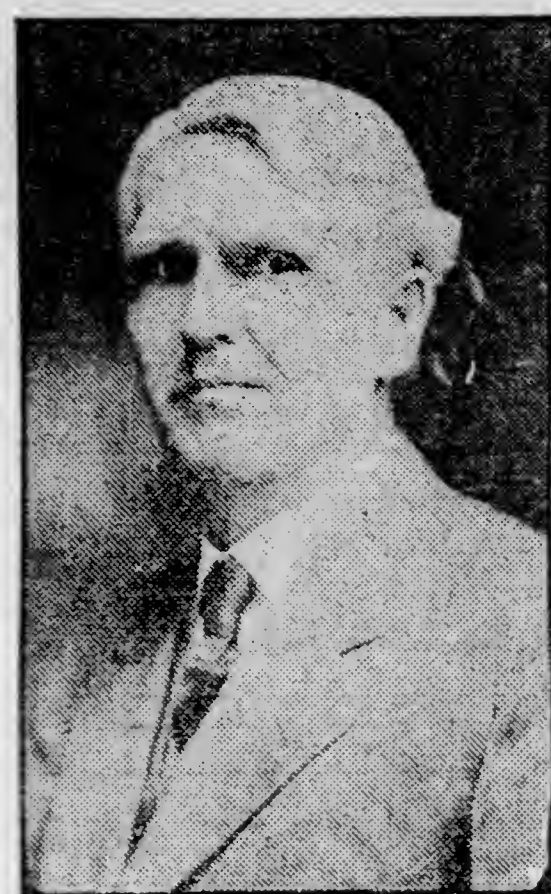

Fifteen People Killed.
City of Mexico, Oct. 18.—Fifteen persons were killed and many wounded at Vera Cruz by the troops of Felix Diaz, when administration sympathizers formed a parade and refused to disperse when ordered by Diaz, according to reports which have reached the capital. It is also stated that Diaz called upon the students at the marine college to surrender, but the cadets refused, declaring their loyalty to the government.

Three of the four gunboats at Vera Cruz have fallen into the hands of Felix Diaz, according to information received by the government. The fourth, with Commodore Azeta on board, has remained loyal to the federal government but is covered by the guns of the other vessels and is not allowed to obtain provisions. It is generally thought the commodore soon must surrender.

Another Revolt Ready.
Gen. Benito Trevino, the commander of the federal forces at Monterrey, who resigned yesterday, is said to be favored by many military men for provisional president. He is believed not to be implicated in the rebel movement started by Diaz.

The train service to Puebla has been interrupted by the rebel forces under Gen. Aguilar, who control the adjacent territory and are threatening the city. Everything is quiet in the capital.

HEADS DEMOCRATIC TICKET IN MICHIGAN

WOODBRIDGE FERRIS.
Big Rapids, Mich., Oct. 18.—Woodbridge Ferris, Democratic candidate for governor of Michigan, is the head of the Ferris institute at Big Rapids. He is a native of New York state, but has lived most of his life in Illinois and Michigan, having been at the head of educational institutions in both states. He was an unsuccessful candidate for governor eight years ago.

BULGARIANS SEIZE TOWNS

Four Turkish Cities on Route to Adrianople Are Captured.

Turks Are Reported Marching on Sofia and Philippopolis.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Oct. 18.—The Turkish town of Mustapha Pasha was taken last night by the Bulgarian army corps which is marching on the great fortress of Adrianople. The Turks were repulsed all along the line.

The Bulgarian troops also have crossed the frontier at other points and have captured the small towns of Tsarevovo, Garmia and Djuma. Other columns have penetrated through the passes of the Rhodope mountains and marched across the frontier into Turkish territory.

The advance of the Bulgarian troops on Mustapha Pasha was watched by Gen. Ferdinand, several princes and Gen. Savoff, the Bulgarian commander-in-chief.

The Bulgarians occupied one after another the fortified positions around the town of Mustapha Pasha, which itself finally fell into their hands. There was considerable fighting, and after the battle Ferdinand commanded a blood struggle for miles.

MILLIONS LOST IN ARSENAL FIRE

Government's Main Storehouse on the Pacific Coast Is Destroyed.

Benecla, Cal., Oct. 18.—The Benecla arsenal, the government's principal storehouse for army supplies on the Pacific coast, was destroyed by fire last night. The loss is estimated at between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000. Spontaneous combustion or crossed electric wires is assigned as the origin of the fire.

Sixty thousand stands of small arms and 12,000,000 rounds of ammunition were destroyed. Because of the explosion of cartridges the work of fighting the fire was extremely hazardous. The company of sixty men stationed at the arsenal manned the fire-fighting equipment immediately after the flames were discovered. Despite the steady explosion of the huge quantities of ammunition, the troops approached near enough to the building to reach it with their streams of water.

Visible for Miles.
Soon, however, the fire was beyond control. The three-story stone structure, filled with inflammable material, made a blaze visible for miles.

The Benecla arsenal was the main equipping station for both the Pacific coast and the Orient. The building was erected in 1855.

Col. Charles Ruggles, in charge of the ordnance department of the Western division, commanded the soldiers that fought the fire.

It is said that no one was in the arsenal since 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when the keys were turned over to the guard in charge. No powder or large shells were stored in the building.

ROOSEVELT SAYS HE DOES NOT PROPOSE TO LEGALIZE MONOPOLY

GOING HOME ON MONDAY

Roosevelt Rejoices Over Prospect of Leaving the Hospital.

Physicians Say Danger From Wound Is Practically Over.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt will leave Mercy hospital for Oyster Bay Monday forenoon, at 5:15 o'clock.

This was the announcement made today by Alexander Lambert, the colonel's family physician, after the examining physicians had issued the following bulletin describing his condition:

"9:05 a. m., Saturday, Oct. 19.
Pulse, 86; temperature, 98; respiration, 20. Breathing easier. Resting well, condition good. Convalescing satisfactorily."

"JOHN B. MURPHY, M. D.,
"ARTHUR D. BEVANS, M. D.,
"ALEXANDER LAMBERT, M. D.,
"CURRY L. TIERRELL, M. D."

Last night was one of almost unbroken rest for Col. Roosevelt. He fell asleep shortly after 11 o'clock last night and he awoke only once between then and after 7 o'clock today, when he announced himself ready for breakfast.

Wound Not Troublesome.
The wound the colonel received at the hands of a would-be assassin at Milwaukee several days ago gave him little trouble. The crisis in his illness is now believed to have been passed and his rapid recovery is constantly expected. Blood poisoning no longer is regarded as a possibility by his physicians. The only danger to be feared now is tetanus, or lockjaw. But even this is believed to be remote.

Throughout the night Col. Roosevelt was awake only once. That was at 3 o'clock, and then for only a few moments in which night nurse Fitzgerald had only time to obtain a clinical record of his condition as he was normal.

When he awoke later the clinical record showed temperature 98, pulse 73 and respiration 18. This practically is where the figures stood for the night. Such changes as were recorded were considered of no importance. With his breakfast, which he had with Mrs. Roosevelt, he asked to be given the morning papers.

For the first time since his confinement in the hospital, Col. Roosevelt was permitted to sit up for a short space yesterday. It is believed this relief will be prolonged today.

Col. Roosevelt declared the news that he would leave the hospital on Monday to be the best he had received since he first was assured that the wound would not be fatal.

"It has been very tedious, waiting here," he told the doctors.

"Now, mother," he said, addressing (Continued on page 24, fourth column.)

Issues Statement at Hospital After Talk With Heney.

Would Amend Sherman Law or Enact New Statutes.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Col. Roosevelt, after a long conference with Francis J. Heney of San Francisco made clear, for the purpose of publication, his attitude on the industrial commission with which he proposed the trust situation shall be controlled in America.

His announcement came from the hospital here and was in reply to writings of Louis Brandeis and speeches of Governor Wilson in which Col. Roosevelt is accused of endeavoring to legalize monopoly by a commission "which would have police power to say to a favored corporation, 'You are legal,' and to an unfavored corporation 'You are illegal.'"

CRANKS WRITE PRAISING SCHRANK

Letters Received at Milwaukee Jail Are Not Given to Prisoner.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 18.—Several letters from various parts of the country commending John Schrank in his attempt to take the life of Col. Theodore Roosevelt were received in Milwaukee today and submitted to District Attorney W. A. Zabel. The letters, which evidently were written by "cranks," were not made public and will not be delivered to the prisoner.

Nothing unusual took place at the county jail where Schrank is confined, the prisoner putting in his time quietly in his cell and in the small inclosure provided for exercising. No permitted to communicate with the prisoner and any attempt to secure his freedom, or company, will be frustrated by the district attorney.

Schrank has declined upon his will, using his own statements to the police, "is willing to take what is handed him."

One of the provisions of the will, will be that the missile which would have killed Roosevelt, but for the doubled manuscript and metallic spectacle case he gave to a New York his society and placed upon exhibition with the gun in the rotunda of the capital building in Albany. Schrank said he desires the bullet and revolver to be a constant reminder to posterity of the "dangers of attempting to violate the third term tradition." Schrank also said he was going to bequeath his property to relatives in Germany.

MEMORIAL STATUE ERECTED TO LATE GOVERNOR JOHN A. JOHNSON IS UNVEILED AT STATE CAPITOL

TRIBUTE OF THE PEOPLE

THE JOHN A. JOHNSON STATUE.

JOHNSON CAMPAIGN PLANS UNSETTLED.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Governor Hiram W. Johnson today is to give his decision as to whether he will return tomorrow to California and later make a campaign in the West, or remain in the East to aid Col. Roosevelt in closing the Progressive campaign. The governor planned to hold a meeting with Col. Roosevelt and later make his decision public.

Two speeches were scheduled for the governor during the day, one at the Stock Yards and a night gathering on the West side in a tent, where Col. Roosevelt spoke recently.

Wilson Going to Michigan.
Washington, Oct. 18.—Secretary of Agriculture Wilson will leave on a Republican campaigning trip next Monday. He will speak first at Detroit, Mich., and will be speaking practically all the rest of the time until election day, under a schedule which the campaign managers will map out.

"Kidnaped" Child Found.
Chicago, Oct. 18.—After 1,600 school children had assisted the police in searching for Jeannette Gorski, 2 years old, believed to have been kidnaped, the child was found last night at the home of Mrs. Jeannette Gatton, who said she discovered the little girl crying on the street, and took her home until her parents could be found.

DEFY RAIN TO HEAR WILSON

Train Traverses Pennsylvania.

Nominee Refuses to Discuss Roosevelt or the Third Party.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 18.—Wet weather campaigning brought Governor Wilson a series of merry incidents as he traveled through West Virginia and Western Pennsylvania yesterday. Only at Pittsburgh last night did he speak indoors, but throughout the day the Democratic nominee faced a fabric of umbrellas underneath which stood a multitude of enthusiastic people.

"I don't want to keep you standing in the rain," said the governor at Wheeling, as he began to abridge his speech.

"No, no, go on," urged the crowd. "Perhaps I had better make my speech as dry as possible, then, to counteract the effect of the rain," suggested the nominee, and the crowd laughed and cheered.

"We're glad you came to West Virginia," called a man to Governor Wilson from the crowd at New Martinsville. "Well, return the call at the White House next year."

"All right," laughed the governor, "come and see me then."

People Defied Rain.
The governor found a big turnout everywhere, notwithstanding the drizzle of rain which fell most of the day. He pleaded with the local committee men not to insert any more speeches than were originally scheduled, but was only partly successful. The nominee appeared on the platform at all stops and chatted and shook hands with those in the crowds nearest him.

Governor Wilson covered a series of subjects in his speeches. At Wheeling he was loudly applauded when he said he would not discuss the third party.

WILSON SEWS BUTTON ON COAT

Has to Borrow Needle and Thread to Make Necessary Repair.

Princeton Junction, N. J., Oct. 18.—"Has anybody a needle and thread?" The question came from Governor Wilson as he looked inquiringly toward some of the members of his party gathered at breakfast in his private car today.

"I have lost a button at a strategic point," laughed the governor.

"Well, while thread do," asked someone.

"Yes, I think so," was the reply, and a few minutes later the Democratic presidential nominee was sitting on the edge of the bed in his stateroom, patiently threading a needle and sewing a lower button on his coat.

The governor left his special car at Princeton Junction early today and went to his home in Princeton to get garments suitable for his meetings tonight in Carnegie hall, New York, and Academy of Music, Brooklyn. When he returned with the clothes he discovered that a button was missing.

LIKENESS MARVELOUS

Many Shed Tears As They Look Upon Life-Size Statue.

Miss Jeannette Lynch Pulls the Veil From the Bronze Figure.

Eloquent Address Is Delivered By Congressman W. S.
Hammond.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—With a gentle wind sweeping across the green capitol grounds and Mallorea orchestra playing "Hearts and Flowers," the memorial statue erected by the people to the late Governor John Albert Johnson was unveiled this afternoon. The bronze likeness of the state's illustrious executive who died on Sept. 21, 1905, stands towering from a granite pedestal at the roadway landing directly in front of the gray stone building, a wonderful reproduction of Johnson, the man.

With a weather forecast of rain or snow, the commission in charge of arrangements had feared that the dedicatory exercises would have to be held inside, but a warm sun made the day almost ideal and a great throng was out to witness the ceremonies. The exercises started at 2:30 o'clock.

In the governors' reception room, the place where the late executive resided so many guests and friends gathered today to pay tribute to his memory. With the band playing Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever," they marched to the platform erected at the side of the statue about which the crowd had collected.

There the statue unveiled.

There Rep. J. J. Hammond delivered the invocation and a moment later (Continued on page 16, first column.)

PERE MARQUETTE RATES HELD UP

Washington, Oct. 18.—An increase of 1 cent a hundred pounds on grain and grain products, proposed by the Pere Marquette railroad from Milwaukee to New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and other Wisconsin points to Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and similar destinations, was suspended today by the interstate commerce commission until Feb. 19. An inquiry is being made.

RECEIPTS BY McMANIGAL

Money Orders for Sums Used in Dynamite Campaign Are Shown.

Signatures and Documents Identified at Indianapolis Trial.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 18.—Postoffice money orders showing how J. J. J. J. McManigal sent through the mails funds which Orin McManigal used on his "dynamiting conspiracy" trial today.

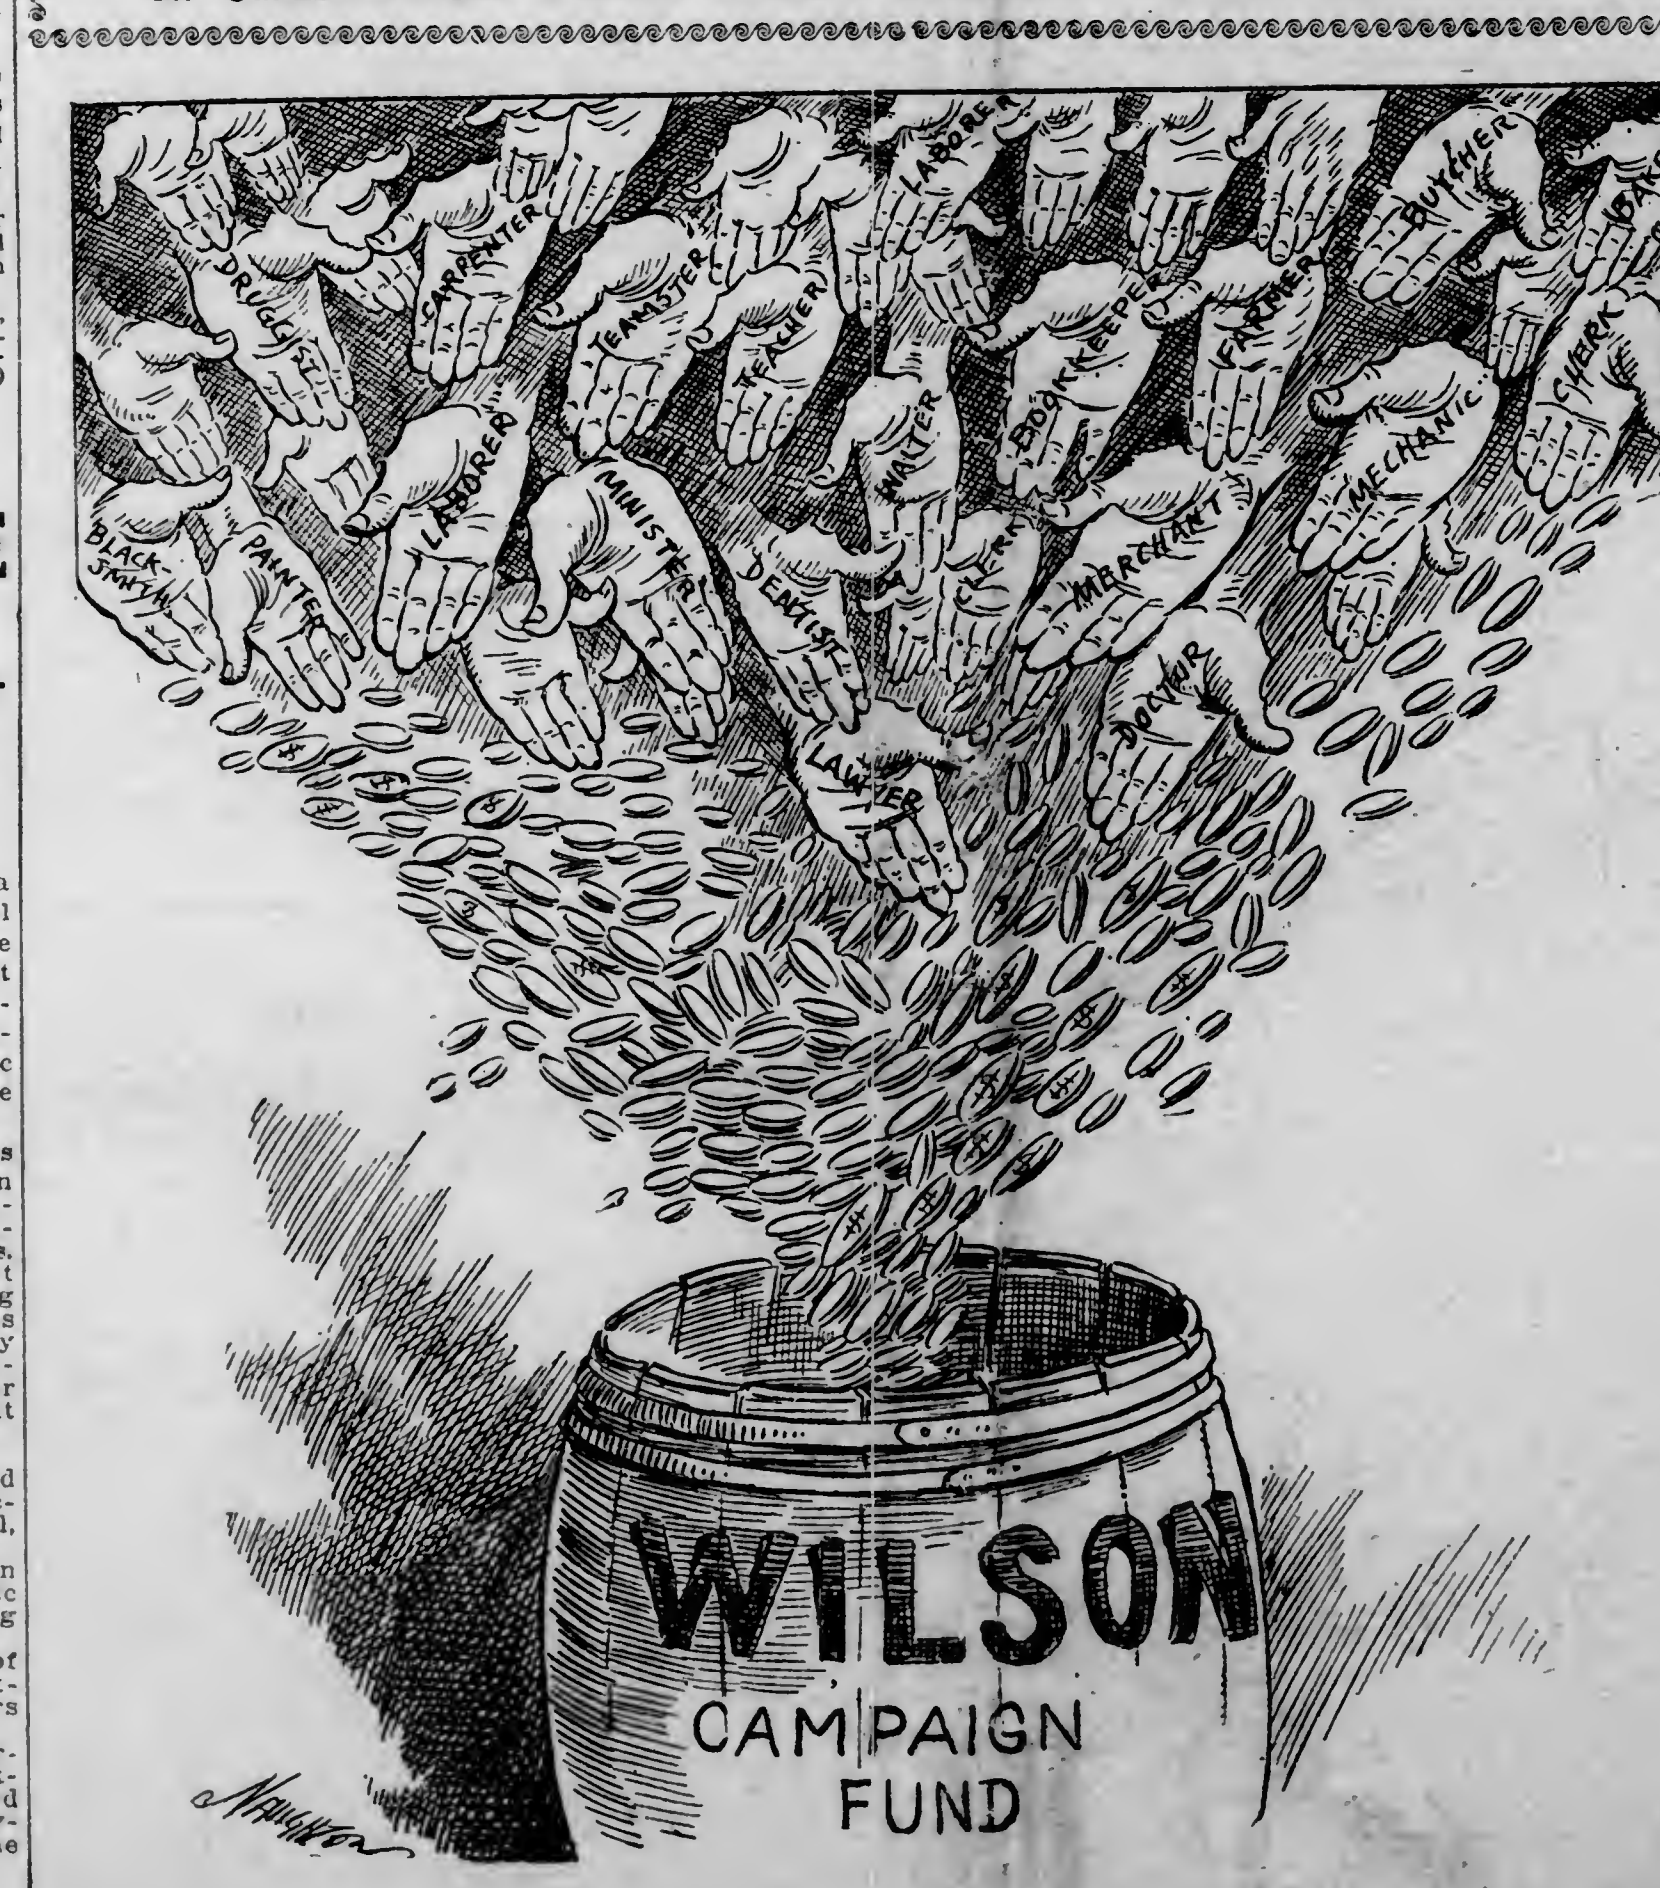

Robert H. Bryson, postmaster of Indianapolis, identified many money orders issued to McManigal and payable at cities where explosions occurred. McManigal received several payments at Kansas City, Mo., when he was on his way to blow up the county court-house at Omaha, Neb.

Emmett Miller of the Kansas City postoffice identified records showing McManigal sent $100 to his wife in Chicago on March 20, 1911, four days before the Omaha explosion. The records also showed transmission of money by McManigal to Frank Eckhoff, Cincinnati.

The government charges that McManigal, then secretary of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, was sending the money about the country to promote a "dynamiting campaign" after he had been authorized by the union's executive board to spend $1,000 a month.

Daniel Miller, clerk of the postoffice at Phillipsburg, N. J., identified the signature of George Hagerter, iron worker. The government charges McManigal plotted to destroy a bridge at Phillipsburg.

His patients recommend his treatment, that is the reason he is a busy man.

Mr. R. Lock, 251 East Superior street, treated for general rundown of the nervous system, which affected his stomach, liver and kidneys, was not able to do a day's work when he came to Dr. Mitchell. Mr. Lock says: "I recommend Dr. Mitchell's treatment to the sick and suffering from disease. No matter what your ailment may be, go and get Dr. Mitchell's advice. He will give you a whole barrel of money to you. Dr. Mitchell will not take for cases he can do you no good. He will tell you so and save you expense and time. I have seen many people Dr. Mitchell has treated and cured. Some of them came a thousand miles to get Dr. Mitchell's treatment. They were cured and returned home pleased with Dr. Mitchell's treatment and are now enjoying good health. I will be glad to substantiate this statement. My wife, of two, Harbison, Minn., says: "I recommend Dr. Mitchell's treatment to all sufferers from heart, nervousness and stomach trouble. I went to Dr. Mitchell after trying everything without getting relief. I can now eat a boiled dinner and sleep all night. Am feeling fine. Got Dr. Mitchell's treatment and get well. It is a life-saver."

Mrs. John Morris returns to her home at Tacoma, S. D., cured of fistula, from which she had suffered for a number of years.

Mrs. W. H. Sweet of West Duluth, 125 North Fifty-sixth avenue, cured of paralysis of right side.

Frank Hill of Cloquet, Minn., cured of deafness.

Miss Williams, Maltowa, Minn., cured of lung and heart trouble of which he had given up all hope.

Mrs. Gust Johnson, Superior, Wis., had a tumor removed by Dr. Mitchell's treatment.

INDUSTRIAL ARBITRATION

Rabbi Lefkowitz Advocates Court to Settle Labor Disputes.

Says It Is the Only Hope for Industrial Peace.

"Industrial Arbitration" was the subject of a sermon delivered at Temple Emmanuel by Rabbi Lefkowitz last evening. He spoke in part as follows: "Industrial arbitration, though a comparatively recent conception, is one fraught with untold good for humanity. It is the only hope for industrial peace, and it is the one remedy that this age is greatly in need of, for there is no denying that a condition bordering on a state of war exists today between capital and labor. Employer and employee seem to stand arrayed against each other with gauntleted hands. Capital is represented as a Moloch feeding on the heart's blood of labor; labor is represented as a monster seeking the annihilation of capital. Capital says labor's one desire is to pay as little as possible and to get for that little as much work as can possibly be squeezed out of the employee. The two that are related to each other as the blades of a pair of scissors—each a little service without the other—are rendering useless what should and could be beneficial to each.

"The people, though in no way responsible for the bitter feeling existing between the contending parties, are made to suffer a large part of the consequences. They feel that a way out of the difficulty ought to be found, must be found, for the sake of the general peace and good-will. More and more the people are coming to feel that special courts should be permanently established for the arbitration of industrial disputes, just as there are courts for the adjudication of other quarrels between man and man. Such courts, wherever established, as in Germany, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, have lessened the number of strikes and the attendant degree of suffering to the local situation.

"The people of this city have just now a splendid chance to help toward the realization of the principle of industrial arbitration. The controversy between the street railway and its striking employees is a fit subject for arbitration. As in every protracted strike, neither one nor the other is exclusively on one side. The attitude is inexcusable. It should be corrected on its position of absolute rejection and consent, at least, to submit the preliminary question as to whether or not the pending dispute is arbitrable to some impartial board for decision.

"This controversy is not to be settled with the bludgeon of the law, but by the moral suasion of sweet reasonableness. A little less 'law' and a little more love, a little less technical quibbling and a little more kindly sentiment, and the matter would be settled in short time to the best interests of all concerned."

List of Contributors to Republican Campaign Is Shown.

Elmer Dover Gives Clapp Names Copied From Bliss' Records.

Washington, Oct. 19.—For the first time since its investigation began the senate campaign fund committee has secured a copy of a list of contributions to the much disputed 1904 republican campaign fund.

Elmer E. Dover, who was secretary of the 1904 republican committee, put the list in evidence, saying it had been copied from the private memorandum book of the late Cornelius N. Bliss, treasurer of the committee. He told the investigators he believed that in many instances the list was inaccurate and ambiguous owing to typographical errors. It totaled $2,250,013 and showed practically all of the contributions to the 1904 republican campaign have been mentioned in this committee's investigation.

Some donations intimated. A contribution of $100,000 appeared on the list from "H. H. E." and "J. D. W." Mr. Dover told the committee he supposed the "H. H. E." stood for H. H. Rogers, of the Standard Oil company, and that the "J. D. W." was an error and should have been the initials of either John D. Archibald or John D. Rockefeller.

The committee tried in vain to get any information as to campaign contributions from Col. George Harvey of Harper's Weekly. He said he knew nothing of funds collected, or of attempts to collect funds, or of funds to the Wilson pre-convention campaign. A grilling cross-examination by Senator Oliver failed to shake

JUDGE STANTON INDORSED

Entire Bar of Fifteenth Judicial District Joins in Testimonial to His Judicial Ability and High Personal Character.

Duluth, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald).—Aroused by a recently published anonymous letter in a Twin City newspaper, attorneys of the Fifteenth judicial district have prepared the following open letter in defense of Judge C. W. Stanton, of this city, candidate for the office of chief justice. The letter is signed by about eighty members of the bar in Judge Stanton's home district and quotes from his records to show that next to Judge Dickinson of Minneapolis, Judge Stanton has the best supreme court record in the state. The letter in full and its signers follow:

An anonymous letter recently published refers to Judge Stanton of the Fifteenth judicial district, who is now a candidate for supreme court as a result of the non-partisan primary election just held.

The entire bar of the eight counties comprising the Fifteenth judicial district join in expressing our disapproval of that communication and in this testimonial to Judge Stanton.

Respectively of our political convictions, we commend Judge Stanton for his high judicial character and his painstaking and conscientious performance of judicial duty.

We herewith express our sympathy which has been made of cases appealed to the supreme court and decided therebetween October, 1908, and October, 1912. This summary shows that Judge Stanton has the best record of any judge in the district who has been tried before district judges during the entire period named, and the result of the appeals taken.

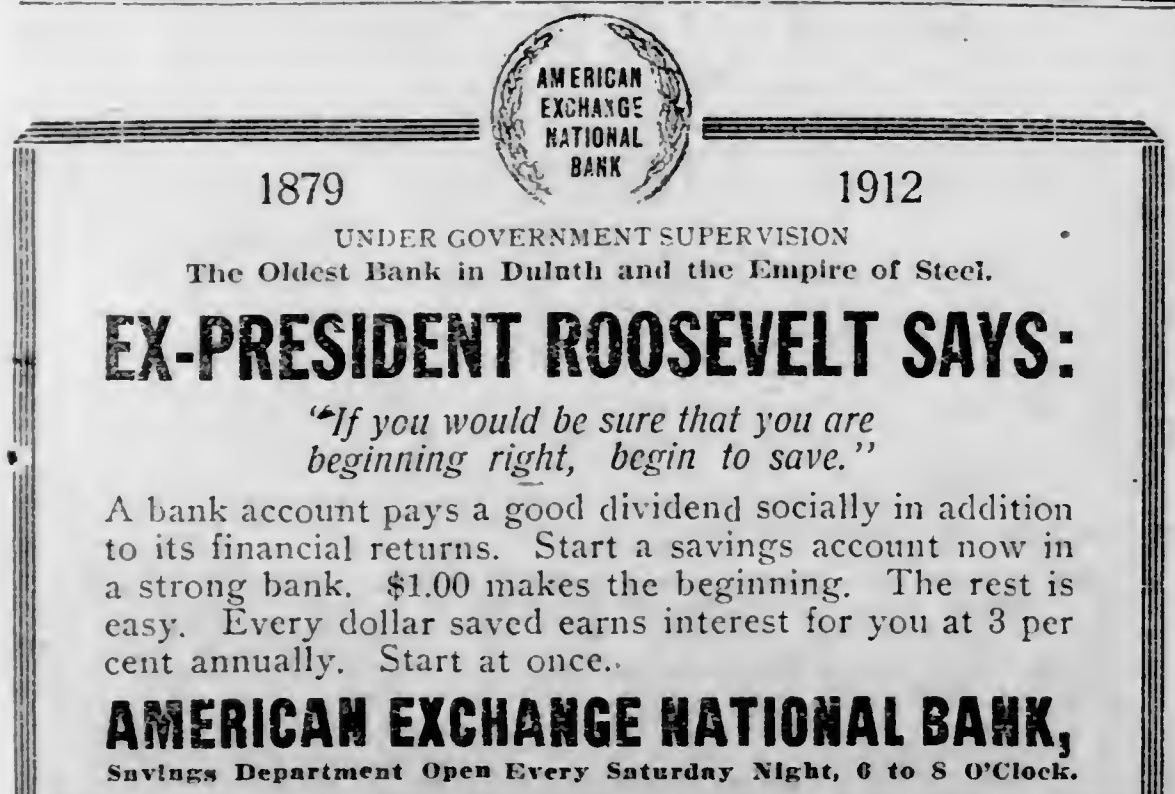

The record thus presented as to all these several judges is one of efficient service rendered under exacting conditions. Of such public servants and their work it is not just to speak unfairly, nor should they be made the target for covert attacks and anonymous communications.

He has no opinion with which many people will probably take up specific legislation in his speeches later, but just now he is making the initiative, the referendum and the recall his theme. His progressiveness is well known. It has been a fact for twenty years or thereabouts that Rindge has been assumed for political effect. ## LUMBER "HOOKERS" FADING FROM THE INLAND SEAS

CAPT. C. H. WEEKS.

A few days ago The Herald published a news item to the effect that the popular idea concerning the decline of the lumber trade was not well founded; that the lumber industry in the Duluth district—logging, sawing, etc.—was not on the wane but had developed in the last ten years. All of which appears to be true, and it is explained by the fact that the lumber produced in this part of the country is used in the Northwest instead of being shipped East as in the "good old days."

Otherwise it would be paradoxical to quote Capt. C. H. Weeks, the veteran lumber "hooker" man to say that the lumber shipping trade is declining. Capt. Weeks is authority for the statement that there is a very distinct fall in the lumber vessel trade, and that in the not very far distant future, should the decline of the past few years continue, it will have practically passed out. The captain knows, for there are none. It is believed, who are better fitted to pose as an authority than he. The captain has been in the business of lumber chartering ever since 1870. He has lived in Duluth and been in that business for eighteen years and is the oldest of his line at the head of the Lakes. In that time he has seen dozens of lumber vessels come and go, he had chartered more capacity than any man living in the country at this time, and he knows the business as an engineer knows his engine. Up to the time he came to Duluth, eighteen years ago, he had placed lumber-carrying capacity to the extent of 3,000,000 feet and estimated that since that time he has filled 1,500,000,000 more. And he is still filling as soon capacity as he can get hold of, but there is not as much available as in days of yore. And that brings the

AFTER a more thorough study of his municipal problem, Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston has come to the conclusion that the city should have a percentage of 30 or more in connection with the market, which has been utilized largely for the sale of vegetables and greens. Anything which would reduce the price of meat and poultry would be a loss to the city, and there is no doubt but what the markets would be patronized by hundreds of people who would be glad to take advantage of any possible saving.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The Zenith board held an important meeting at the school. The members gave the contract for the taking of the class pictures. The style of picture was also decided by the board. Editor Dow reviewed the work already accomplished and urged all the members to extend their best efforts to the appointment of Alma Gross, to take charge of the society write-ups. The initial sale of Zenith slips will occur Nov. 1. It is planned to put these slips on sale two or three times during the year and the same system will be followed in their distribution, as that employed last year. All holders of these certificates are assured of a book, as all outstanding slips will be honored before the general sale of the Zenith. The social committee has arranged for a cabin party to be held at the Kotarie cabin at Woodland next Friday evening.

A routing meeting of students was held during the lunch period yesterday noon on the front steps of the school in order to create more enthusiasm for the game with the Yellmets. Bogan led the cheers of the 300 or 400 assembled students who gathered to their feet and sang. Several new yells which have been arranged during the week were rehearsed.

The debating club, which was recently organized under the direction of Prof. R. G. Olson, who has charge of debating and public speaking at the high school, has perfected arrangements for a straw vote by the students to determine who they would like to see occupy the presidential chair at the United States. It is planned to form clubs for the support of the candidates and campaign managers will be selected.

The "A" and "B" lists were announced in chapel yesterday morning by Principals Leonard Young. These lists are compiled and read monthly and to have one's name on either is an honor. To be on the "A" list it is necessary for a student to

REFERENDUM BY MODERN WOODMEN IS ENJOINED.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Judge McKinley, in the superior court, has issued a temporary injunction restraining the officers of the Modern Woodmen of America from submitting to a referendum vote of the members of the society the question of the repeal of increased rates in effect since January. The proposed vote was to be taken under the authority created by the statute amending the state insurance act, which was passed last May. In granting the plea for the temporary injunction, Judge McKinley informally expressed the opinion that the statute was unconstitutional.

Adison Jones, a benefit certificate holder of the society, was the com-plaintant. In his bill he alleges that the statute is unconstitutional, in that it is retroactive.

TAFT ADMINISTRATION LAUDED AS FLAWLESS.

Carthage, Mo., Oct. 19.—Charles F. Nagel, secretary of commerce and labor, lauded President Taft in an address here last night. He said that President Taft's administration has been without a flaw, and that its pledges have been kept. He reviewed the tariff legislation, defended the president's votes and said the high cost of living is due mainly to the persistency of the American citizen in living beyond his means.

CARUSO REFUSES TO TALK ENGLISH

Defendant in Trial at Salem Insists on Having Interpreter.

Salem, Mass., Oct. 19.—Joseph Caruso, one of the defendants charged with the murder of Anna Lopizzo at Lawrence during the textile strike, who is on trial here with Joseph J. Etor and Arturo Giovannitti, sat in the prisoner's cage late yesterday with an interpreter by his side, while Lawrence police officials testified that they frequently had conversed with him in English, and that the defendant had understood without difficulty.

Caruso was detained in the Lawrence jail last March before his indictment for the Lopizzo murder. He was held in the jail for a period of 30 or more days. "I talked to him in his cell," said a police officer. "I asked him what he was for, and he said: 'They say I stabbed a man.' He then told me about his movements."

"When I asked Caruso where he was on Jan. 19, the day of the riot which Mrs. Lopizzo was killed," continued Etor, "he said he was in a pool room near the place where a man ran in shouting: 'They are killing all the Italians in Union street.' He said he did not want to get into trouble. He said he saw one man rush into the crowd with a club, and another with a cleaver."

Bernard Ford, a Boston newspaper man, who met Etor during the Lawrence strike, described events and riots on Jan. 19 in the mill city, and declared that Etor told him on that day that the authorities could "send the whole federal army" to Lawrence and the strike would yet be won. "We will win if they erect a gallows on every street corner," were words attributed to Etor by Ford.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF TRADE

New York, Oct. 19.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade today says: Business activity in this country continues to advance, unchecked by the political complications in Europe and the fears they have caused abroad.
Next to the assurance of unprecedented harvests, the most gratifying business development is that the great expansion in the iron and steel trade is proceeding without, as yet, any unwholesome development. The car shortage and scarcity of labor cause, however, more embarrassment in some sections. Conservatism is shown in accepting future business. Most mills are booked ahead for practically six months on important products, so that new orders are not expected to continue at the recent pace. Purchasing of pig iron is on a heavy scale, however, and the general price situation reflects further strength. Crude steel material remains in scant supply, and quotations are very firm for virtually all finished descriptions. The new price list on black, blue and annealed of 1 1/2 ton with No. 28 black sheets at $225 and galvanized at $340. Additional rail contracts include 80,000 tons of open hearth for one prominent system, but the demand is somewhat less active as a heavy business has been placed for rolling stock early next year. Orders for fully 5,000 cars were awarded this week, and nearly 18,000 more are pending.

Dry goods markets are steady, despite lower quotations for raw cotton and a tendency to move slowly, until after the election. Repeat orders are frequent and for small lots. Jobbers are showing little disposition to allow their stocks to run as low as last year.

TORONTO TO HAVE THE DISCIPLES OF CHRIST.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 19.—Toronto was chosen unanimously as the meeting place of next year's international convention of the Disciples of Christ. The choice was made by the American Christian Missionary society, a customary, the co-related organizations in the Christian church abiding by its decision. Rochester, N. Y., St. Louis, Spokane and Denver also presented invitations. It is practically decided that the 1915 convention will go to Los Angeles.

GOSSIP AND COMMENT ON SPORTS AND PASTIMES OF ARENA, FIELD AND TRACK.

By BRUCE

UA. McCuen, as mayor, yesterday met and welcomed Walter Miller to Duluth. As Dr. McCuen he gave the little athlete a thorough medical examination and then pronounced him one of the finest specimens of physical manhood that had ever come under his observation during the years of his medical practice.

The little athlete wanted to be sure just how right he was. He was doubly assured. Dr. McCuen pronounced his heart action normal, his lungs unusually developed and his respiration perfect.

"You look like a little giant," said the doctor. "I imagine you get your strength from the fact that you are symmetrically built. You have remarkable shoulders for a man of your size, but your back and chest and waist line are also built in solid lines. Your legs denote both lifting power and endurance. Your muscles are not bound, but are soft and pliable when not tensed."

After the examination the doctor as mayor gave the little champion the municipal brand of welcome. "I have always been for clean sports," he declared, "and you look like a clean sportsman. Sports, when properly conducted, are good for the young men of any city. A good sport is a man who is fair and clean. The other kind of sports ought to be kept out of the game."

EXPERT writers of Gotham are attempting to palliate the defeat of the Giants. Figures lie when they are employed to grab the nits from the fire of the excuses of defeat. Most of the followers of baseball throughout the municipally irrigated city belt, the corn and clover country and the forest district are of the opinion that the better team won. If they are not they have discretion enough to be silent like the Sphinx and the wrongly accused hero in the meller-drama.

One of the reasons why multitudes of men and a thin, garly bedecked line of women wish to see the Giants set down with chagrin and humiliation playing rag time on their countenances, is because of the chestiness of the scribes of Manhattan.

Over fifty-seven variety of ways the Giants could have won have already been figured out. If the Gotham crew had won the honors we would never have heard the end. The magazines are full of pictures of players, descriptions of their clothes, their automobiles, the books they read and other highly interesting matters and most of the players are the Giants.

Maybe this winning of the world's championship by the Red Sox will give some of the players of the land a chance to have their countenances tickled by the national limelight.

MIQUE CANTILLON, president of the Minneapolis Baseball association, has been vainly seeking for an alibi for the stinging defeat administered by the Denver team of the Western league. He lays it to the altitude. Altitude and hot air are synonymous in this case. Someone should drag the villainous high ball in by its wretched heels.

REVIEWING the sports of the past week, the writer would not be accused of being impartial by stating that several baseball games, played alternately in New York and Boston, were among the features of the events that transpired.

ONE of the leading baseball publications of this country swings the long whip once or thrice over its head and then takes a hard and deserving welt at the cussed custom of having heavy-handed players write their impressions of the world's series.

If these players really wrote what they are credited with, the spelling, punctuation or lack of it, and general lay of the literary land being left as it came from the hand that swings the bat, there would be vast and uncontrolled amusement in reading what they had to offer.

But when some tired slave of the machine is employed to air the opinions of these men, or manufacture opinions for them, it gets tiresome, not to say nauseous and soul hardening.

In casually reading over some score of opinions from about all of the athletes who participated in the late jubilee, we have been struck by the similarity of style, the lack of originality and the fondness of one athlete to lay the blame of defeat on the heavy shoulders of friend team mate.

The dear public pays enough to see these men play and should not be afflicted by having them credited with using "approbrium," "lambent flames of victory," "propitious pause of fate," and other expressions that generally come after the mental engine has been heated by several spins over several sheets of paper.

Nay, nay, sweet press syndicate, don't ask us to believe that Jeff Tesreau of the Ozark mountains ever became actively interested in giving

WITH baseball safely tucked in its little bed, the light extinguished and after nurse has carefully tiptoed out of the room and closed the door, we can call Winter Sport into the front parlor, bring out the fudge, pass the fruit and in general have one joyous time. The baseball child was hard to quiet, but will probably sleep now until late in the sweet morning of spring.

TODAY'S game with Nebraska is the turning point in the 1912 Minnesota football lane. A win means shrieking confidence and renewed hope; and in the case of defeat dragging its ugly form into the picture, there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth, accompanied, perhaps, by the burning of several harmless fences and assaults upon the internal system.

By no stretch of the imagination can the team of this year be compared to those of other years; but, however, be that as it may, and other things considered, we would like to see the help of the Cornhusker drowned in the deep blue cheer that in the days of old and nights of cold was wont to ring out in strident sound over the ramparts of the historic armory.

From now until the idea of March come upon us Boston will be about the only city in the country that will use baseball in number one column and sidestep the chatter of football and its hardy cousins of the winter sport calling list.

SPEED OF BASEBALL.

Walter Johnson Throws Sphere 122 Feet Per Second.

Walter Johnson, star pitcher of the Washington Americans, and Nap Tucker, champion southpaw of the Brooklyn, recently established two new records. They succeeded in timing the speed of a pitched ball for the first time in the history of the world, and in order to do this made a record breaking run in an automobile from New York to Bridgeport, Conn., and return. The trip was taken one Saturday morning, and both pitchers had to be in New York for the game that afternoon. They left New York at an early hour in a big Franklin touring car, accompanied by the editor of the Baseball Magazine, one of the feature writers of the New York World and A. J. Lane, champion pistol shot of the world. The distance traveled was fifty-five miles and in returning to New York the distance had to be made in less than two hours. This was a record run considering the fact that most of the fifty-five miles was over city pavements. Johnson's best speed record in throwing a baseball, which was made in the test room of the Remington Arms U-M-C company at Bridgeport, was 122 feet per second. The best that Tucker could do was 113 feet per second. The speed for a new government .45 caliber revolver is 800 feet per second, which is about 6 1/2 times the speed of Johnson's pitched ball. A high-powered hunting rifle of .35 caliber has a velocity of 2,000 feet per second, or about 16 1/2 times Johnson's best record.

Hal Chase's Divorce.

New York, Oct. 19.—The suit for divorce brought against Hal Chase, the New York American league baseball player, received a setback when Supreme Court Justice Greenbaum returned the referee's report recommending that the decree sought by Chase's wife be granted.

Justice Greenbaum said he was not satisfied with the uncorroborated testimony of the sole witness and directed the referee in the new hearings to examine the referees of hotels at which it is alleged Chase registered with a party of which a blonde young woman was a member.

ADAMSON IS IN THE CITY

Little Demon Comes in From Waterloo and Is Looking Fine.

Chicago Man Says He Will Give Walter Miller Decisive Beating.

(By Bruce)

His eye clear, his step springy and with every confidence in the world that he is going to set Walter Miller back down the wrestling ladder, Ed Adamson, perhaps the greatest wrestler that the world has yet produced in the smaller men, reached Duluth early this morning, ready for the big mat battle of Tuesday evening.

The Little Demon got in from St. Paul yesterday he put in three hours of work at the St. Paul Y. M. C. A. taking on McCauley, the St. Paul heavyweight, and Maxwell, the middleweight. Adamson says he is in great shape, and that his present condition is the result of over three months of careful training.

"I expect to beat Miller, and I look for the result to be decisive and one that will settle the question as to which is the better man," said Adamson. "I am just 35 years of age, something like ten years less than the age at which Farmer Burns is still pretty good. I have lived right and I have trained right. As an athlete gets older he learns to take care of himself. I have set about getting right for Miller, for that is the one man in the world that I want to win from."

"Matsuta, the Jap, one of the greatest little men in the country, has been working with me for this match. I have also had Arthur Abern, a heavy-weight and a rouser, and big Joe Swanson, one of the strongest men I have ever taken hold of, and I have met a lot. Matsuta worked with me for speed and the others have been roughing it with me. I guess that I will be ready for most any kind of going."

"The defeat of Miller means that Yokel or Gehring will have to come to little Ed's terms. In just four days from now I will be getting wages from these boys asking me my terms. Never in my long career on the mat have I trained for any match as I have prepared for this contest. I will admit that there is some personal feeling in the matter, but aside from that, I want to show that Ed Adamson is still the king of them all."

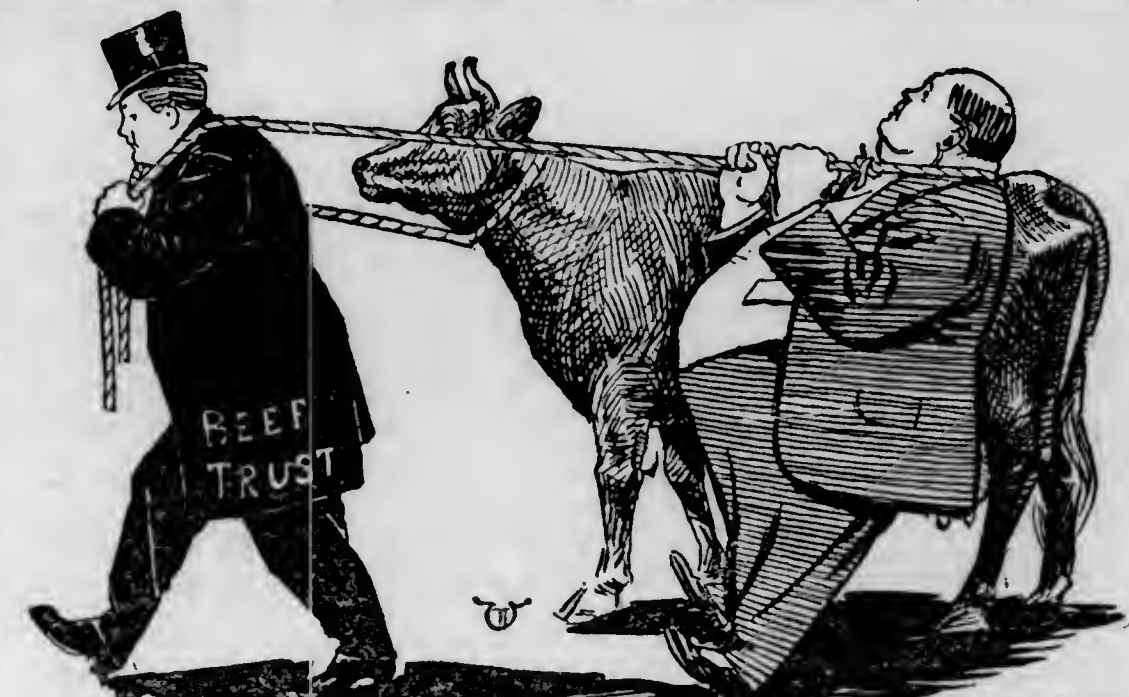

"I have covered miles over the roads around Waterloo, and I have put in long hours on the mat. Those two big fellows have roughed it with me and they were the first to cry enough. I know when I am right, and take it from me, here is one fellow who is right in the very pink of physical condition."

Adamson will take to the road today and will probably work out on the mat this afternoon. Though he says that he needs but little more work between the night of the match and the day of the match, he will probably continue the grind up to Monday noon.

Challenges continue to come thick and fast. The match is attracting attention from many sections of the country.

PHYSICAL EXPERT TELLS HOW TO REDUCE THE WAIST LINE

Are you a fit subject for the Beer Trust?

(By Albert H. Wegener, Physical Director, Y. M. C. A.)

The fat man is a conspicuous specimen. People will turn to look at a fat man waddling down the street and wonder if it is his fault or his parents'. It is usually the fault of both. If his fat ancestors had observed some of the laws of eugenics and had any consideration for their children they might have spared the necessity of carrying around with them a blanket of fat.

But that is very little comfort to the fat man, except that it may help him to be considerate for his descendants. The man has the extra blanket—what will he do with it? If he is not responsible for observing the laws of eugenics as far as his condition is concerned, he is responsible to observe the laws of eugenics. The former refers to his heritage, the latter to his life. The one he is compelled to bear, the other he can do with as he pleases.

But here is the difficulty. He is often over fond of blaming his heritage and thinks it gives him an excuse for his condition. Few of us but inherit some physical imperfection, and it is our business to overcome it. A man may be excused for having club feet, but not for having to wear a forty-four belt.

Of course, it takes time and hard work and self-denial to get to a satisfying size. He has a price to pay that the average man does not have, but it is his obligation.

Are you fat? Are you going to stay fat? What are you doing for your condition? Are you giving your body a square deal?

GAMES ON GRIDIRONS OF EAST AND WEST

Nebraska Meets the Minnesota Team on Northrop Field.

Chicago vs. Iowa—Wisconsin vs. Ohio—Army Against Navy.

CENTRAL'S CAPTAIN EXPECTED TO STAR

MATT BROWN.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 19.—Nebraska's and Minnesota's football elevens this afternoon are to battle on Northrop field here in the final test of strength of both teams and to verify or deny numerous "beat" stories which have emanated from both camps for nearly one week. What the final outcome will be no one seems willing to predict, neither camp making promises. Betting, however, practically is at even money.

Coach "Jumbo" Steinhilber declares that the Cornhuskers are going to put up a hard fight to repeat their lone victory of 1912, when Minnesota was defeated by a score of 6 to 0, but that some of his stars are not in the best of condition. Among these are Quarterback Foster and Left Half Purdy, but they probably will be in the game today.

In the Minnesota team, the loss of Soles, left tackle, injured in practice last Saturday, will be felt, it is said, as he has proved one of the best men on the team in handling the forward pass. In addition, the green Minnesota team will be up against several seasoned veterans. The probable lineup:

Nebraska—Raymond, I. E. Howard, Ostrom, I. T. Sawyer, I. G. Swanson, I. C. Peterson, I. A. Rosenthal, I. F. Ross, I. S. Shughnessy, I. L. Pearson, I. A. Aldworth, I. E. Masten, I. T. Tolleson, I. G. Potter, I. C. McAlmon, I. A. Purdy, I. F. Erdahl, I. F. Frank, I. C. Tobin, I. A. Halligan.

CHICAGO AND IOWA TEAMS ON GRIDIRON.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Football elevens of the University of Chicago and Iowa are scheduled to play here today in the first game between the two schools in seven years. The Chicago line averages 186 2-7 pounds and the back field 161 1/2 pounds, while the Iowa line averages 175 pounds and the back field 153 pounds. The lineup:

Chicago—Huntington, I. E. Lackum, Carpenter, I. C. Brusckner, Whitesides, I. G. Clencius, Des Jarlott, I. C. Houghton, Freeman, I. G. Hanson, Soler, I. E. Trieky, Vrainick, I. E. Backley, Paine, I. G. Curry, Norrgren, I. C. Dick, Fitzpatrick, I. L. McGinnis, Bennett, I. F. McGinnis, Referee—Haines, Yale, Umpire—Snow, Michigan, Head linesman—Fletcher, Northwestern.

EMBRYO GENERALS MEET YALE BULLDOGS IN A GAME.

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 19.—The cadet parade ground was the stage today for the annual football clash between the army and the Yale bulldogs. The game brought several thousand visitors and nearly all the cadets and officers at the post entertained friends, for this is the principal home game in the Army schedule.

Yale came to West Point this year to avenge, if possible, the defeat which army elevens have administered to the Blue in the last two years by scores of 9 to 3 and 6 to 0. The cadet eleven went into the contest today with the usual handicap of lack of time to perfect the intricacies of the game, but his backers were convinced that it would make up in dash and determination what it lacked in football knowledge.

HARVARD'S PRACTICE.

Crimson Expects to Defeat Amherst Without Much Trouble.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 19.—Although handicapped by the absence of Capt. Wendell, who was injured in last Thursday's practice, Harvard anticipated little difficulty in defeating Amherst at the Stadium today.

The Amherst men were in good spirits, having defeated Colgate 14 to 0 and the Springfield training school 13 to 0. Last year Harvard won from Amherst 11 to 0. Last week the Crimson eleven took Williams into camp, 26 to 3.

Michigan vs. Ohio State.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 19.—The University of Michigan football squad left yesterday for Columbus, Ohio, where a game is to be played on Saturday with the Ohio state university. Three of the strongest men of the Michigan team are on the hospital list and may not get into the lineup. They are Craik, Carmel and Boyle. Twenty-three men, in addition to coaches and trainers, make the trip to the Ohio capital.

Good Game Expected.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 19.—A battle royal is looked for when the University of Wisconsin football squad lines up against the Purdue aggregation on Camp Randall this afternoon. Coach Jack Wiley of Wisconsin reports his men in fine fettle for the contest, and "Keeble" Moll, the former Wisconsin star, who is directing the affairs of the Purdue team, says his players are also in fine condition.

Cincinnati boy, and scored an instantaneous hit. It was presumed in the theatrical circles that Sweeney would have an act grading with the usual run of baseball offerings, but after the initial performance, it was conceded by the critics that his act was far more finished and far superior to any baseball act yet attempted.

David Delano will make four productions this season. In the "Governor's Lady" and "The Case of Becky," he has completed half of the task, and next week he will place in rehearsal the third of his season's output.

The new piece is a comedy entitled "Years of Discretion." It is scheduled to succeed the "Governor's Lady" at the Republic theater on Jan. 8. The authors are Frederic and Fannie Hatton, of Chicago, well known as writers.

"Years of Discretion" will receive its initial performance in Syracuse on Nov. 4, and will later go to the Powers theater, Chicago. The cast includes Lynn Harding, Bruce Melton, Herbert Kelley, E. M. Holland, Robert McVade, Jr., Grant Mitchell, Eugene Stockdale, Effie Shannon, Alice Putnam and Mabel Bunya.

Walter Damrosch's "Dove of Peace" will have its initial performance at the Lyric theater, Philadelphia, on Tuesday evening. Fifty-seven members of the New York Symphony orchestra furnish the orchestration for this comic opera. The cast includes: Henriette Wakenfield, Ruth Thorpe, Frank Pollock, Thomas Hardie, Jessie Bradbury, and Robert Lett. The opera will be presented at the Broadway theater, New York, Nov. 4.

Mort H. Singer announces that "Auto Liebschen," in its Americanized form, is to be known as the attraction "Honey-symon." The piece is to be produced by Mr. Singer in Chicago this fall.

Charles Frohman has hit upon a plan whereby Miss Adams' itinerary for the season will include all the Western cities she wishes to visit, and yet make it possible for her to appear in New York Christmas week. As originally laid out, Miss Adams' route was confined to about 200 cities in sections of the country where "Peter Pan" never has been seen. Now, by a rearrangement of bookings, New York is added to the list. Miss Adams' appearances in New York will be very few and she will be seen there in no other play this season. Her other Barrie plays, "The Legion of Leonora" and "The Ladies' Shakespeare" will be produced in the west next spring, preliminary to their performances in New York the following fall.

Adele Ritchie is to play the Sam Bernad show "All for the Ladies," which dispels her former plan to trying the two-day.

A five years' contract now binds John Mason to Charles Frohman. At the beginning of the present season he merely made a verbal arrangement with Charles Frohman for his appearance in "The Attack."

The sketch by John Stokes, entitled "A Regular Business Man," has been acquired by Harry Woodruff for his vaudeville tour. This is the sketch in which Douglas Fairbanks appeared successfully. It briefly, Woodruff's vaudeville engagement begins at Chase's theater, Washington, on Oct. 21.

H. H. Frazee has engaged Edna Baker as leading woman in "Bachelors and Benedicts," a new comedy by Jackson D. Hays, in which Ralph Herz has the principal role. Miss Baker first attracted attention in "The Penalty."

Arthur Hammerstein's production of "The Firefly" will have its premiere at the Empire theater, Syracuse, tomorrow evening. Emma Trentini appears at the head of a large organization. Mr. Hammerstein says that he has already leased a theater for the New York engagement.

Another well known actor was added to Cohan & Harris' forces last week when Edward Abeles was placed under contract by the firm. Mr. Abeles will first be assigned to "Officer 666" at the Gaiety theater to act the leading role which originally was played by Wallace Eddinger.

Louis N. Parker has returned from Europe with the manuscript of a new comedy for Miss Simon, which the Lieblers are to produce. The comedy is set in Paris in the time of Louis XV, and deals with the manner in which a certain Baroness Sophie under the name of M. De Surlines, minister of police. It is probable that "Drake," the play by Mr. Parker now running in London, will be brought to New York this winter. It certain negotiations under way are concluded satisfactorily. "Drake" is an exceedingly massive production, employing 300 persons, of whom fifty act principal roles. It is performed in nine scenes.

Henry Savage is to produce a new comedy of Rupert Hughes next month, with Marguerite Skerwin in one of the leading roles.

"Within the Law" is to be the subject of the first burlesque by Weber & Fields.

Reports have it that Margaret Anglin's season in "Egypt" is soon to close.

A revival of "John Quincy Adams" will be made after the season by Charles F. Atkinson of Boston. Atkinson will also have moving pictures made of the piece.

Frances Demarest has been added to the cast of "My Best Girl" at the Park theater. Miss Demarest is introducing two songs had Raymon, with a new song, is another newcomer in the Clifton Crawford company.

Mrs. Fiske will open tomorrow night in "The Sign of the Cross" at the High Road, written for her by Edward Sheldon, who also wrote "Salvation."

WITH THE INDIANS IN THE ROCKIES. By J. W. Schmitz. Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company. $1.25 net.

This tale for boys tells the real story of Thomas Fox, a real pioneer, and his boyhood adventures in the wilds of the Rocky mountains, with Indians, wild animals, storms and other materials for red-blooded adventure. It was told to the author by the pioneer, who had started himself to write it, and Mr. Schmitz has set it all forth very vividly indeed.

THE YOUNG CRUSADERS AT WASHINGTON. By George P. Atwater. Illustrated. Boston: Little, Brown & Co. $1.50.

The "Young Crusaders" in this second volume go farther afield. Because some of their ranks saved two trains from wrecking, a railroad president invited the whole company to take a trip to Europe. They are presented to the president, and have many interesting experiences. The volume is full of excitement and humor, and boys will like the story, which is for boys of 10 to 16.

THE BIRDS' CHRISTMAS CAROL. By Kate Douglas Wiggin. Illustrated by Katherine Wileman. Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company. $1 net.

"Twas THE NIGHT BEFORE CHRISTMAS," by Clement C. Moore, Jessie Wilcox Smith. Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company. $1 net.

These old-time holiday favorites are in this volume. The first appeared in 1844, and the second in 1863. Both are now in the hands of the new edition. The first is a charming story for children's first appearance twenty-six years ago, and during this time more than half a million copies have been sold. For the first time it appears in really suitable dress, and the new edition is sure to be warmly welcomed.

It has been dear to the hearts of all Americans for many years. Clement C. Moore, its author, wrote a Hebrew dictionary, and expected to be remembered by it. Then one Christmas he dashed off this poem for his own children. It was printed in a local newspaper, spread gradually, and soon he was famous for it, while his painfully prepared Hebrew dictionary is forgotten by all but students. This edition is particularly desirable because it contains a delightful series of pictures by Jessie Wilcox Smith, an imitable portrayal of childhood. There are fourteen full-page colored pictures, illustrating all the well-known and much loved incidents and persons in the poem.

LIEUT. RALPH OSBORN ABOARD A TORPEDO BOAT DESTROYER. By Com. E. L. Beach, U. S. N. Pictures by Frank T. Merrill. Boston: W. A. Wilde company. $1.50.

In this fourth volume of the Ralph Osborn series, he gets his lieutenantcy and is assigned to the command of a torpedo boat destroyer. Through many exciting and interesting experiences is woven much entertaining information about life in the navy.

SIX GIRLS GROWN UP. By Marion Ames Ingersoll. Pictures by E. P. Stetcher. Boston: W. A. Wilde company. $1.50.

This volume completes Miss Taggart's wholesome and interesting "Six Girls" series. The girls are grown up, and are branching out into the various walks of life. Those who have followed their previous experiences will not wish to miss this volume, though it is a complete story in itself, and will interest new readers as well.

THE YOUNG SHIPPER OF THE GREAT LAKES. By Hugh C. Weir. W. A. Wilde company. $1 net.

This unusually good story for boys tells the experiences of a young man who had to plunge into the thick of the enormous commerce of the Great Lakes. As in previous books, Mr. Weir starts with an abundance of information in the field covered, and the story abounds in interesting facts about life on the Great Lakes. The tale, therefore, will not only interest, but instruct.

Accompanying the star reporters in search of news stories, he has some exciting experiences and more than once enables his paper to score a "heat" on its rivals. So eager is he to perform the duties assigned to him that he wins the enmity of two of the other copy-boys, and for a time is under a cloud. But he has a good friend in Reporter Ordway, a Yale man, who stands by him to the end. This is the kind of story that boys will revel in.

LE BRUN OPERA COMPANY WILL BE HEARD IN DULUTH AT ELKS' BENEFIT

SCENE FROM "IL TROVATORE."

Antoinette Le Brun, the young prima donna soprano who is attracting much attention from theater-goers as the leading singer of the Grand Opera company bearing the name is a great grandniece of Andrew Jackson. She was born in the South, but her early girlhood was spent in Indiana, near Kokomo.

Madame Le Brun's stage career has been most interesting. From an obscure Italian opera company and a dingy little theater on New York's East side to playing leading roles with the greatest opera companies of the country is the startling change which formed the most important event of her life. Manager Henry W. Savage of the Savage English Opera company, "discovered" her. She was singing the prima donna roles in a little Italian company that was filling an engagement at the Grand theater, a playhouse erected by the East side Hebrews of New York for the presentation of Yiddish dramas, but which had been rented by the opera company. Madame Le Brun had studied in Italy and had sung in that country, but upon coming back to America found that the leading managers were unwilling to give her a hearing, as is often the case.

Rather than be idle, the plucky little woman accepted the first engagement offered her, and this happened to be at the East side theater, which, despite its pretentious name, is a very modest little amusement place. She made a hit from the start. She speaks and sings Italian as well as a native of the country, and it was a simple enough matter for her to take the soprano roles in the operas that were given. After she had been singing on the East side for a few weeks, Mr. Savage, who is always on the lookout for talent, dropped in one night at the theater to hear her sing. The manager was amazed. He "snapped her up" before the curtain had fallen on the final act of the performance, obtaining her signature in a three years' contract. Madame Le Brun made her first appearance with the Savage organization in the part of Leonora in "Il Trovatore." She remained with Savage until she decided to return to Europe, where she appeared at three different royal operas of Germany and Austria and caused a sensation with her magnificent singing. At the beginning of the present season she decided to accept the splendid offer made her to go out with a company of her own.

Madame Le Brun is not only a soprano with a pure, sweet voice of wonderful range, but is a gifted actress as well. She sings with the fire and abandon of the Italians.

The Le Brun Grand Opera company will appear in Duluth for the first time on Oct. 26 and 27 under the auspices of the local lodge of Elks.

SOUTH AMERICAN OBSERVATIONS AND IMPRESSIONS. By James Bryce, author of "The American Commonwealth," etc. The Macmillan company. $2.50 net.

South America, curiously enough in view of the religious similarity to ours of its history and physical nature and the name held in common, still more curiously because of the profit there should be in dealing with it, has been neglected in the past, less well known, than many parts of Asia. This isn't as it should be with our canal, and it is time that the canal is about to knit the neighborhood closer than ever.

But, and relieved us to introduce to ourselves in his "American Commonwealth," Bryce has introduced us to ever writing a book describing our theories of government, now "introduces to us our neighbors of South America in a large volume full of valuable and interesting information. First there is an admirable description of Panama and the canal, with warm praise for the brilliant way the army engineers are doing this work for us. In the first eleven chapters of the book, Bryce describes the people and the resources of the several

South American republics. The last five chapters treat such general subjects as the causes that divided the Spanish-American dominion, which in 1810 included everything from Mexico south, including the larger islands of the Caribbean sea; the reasons for the wretched people of the aborigines in the north; the negroes in the north; in Brazil, which is Portuguese; the conditions of settlement and government which determine the course of economic and political development in North and South America respectively; with North America and Europe—admittedly, the most important of which the people of this country may study with profit; and the future of the several countries and the continent as a whole.

The ambassador of a great power is barred from discussing current political topics, but little that is not ephemeral is lost by this, in treating fundamental causes and tendencies. Mr. Bryce contrives to give a very clear understanding of many things not generally known to the people of this country, most of whom look upon the continent as a vast, lawless collection of brawling and half-civil-

The author of this book attempted a very difficult feat, but one very much more easily done than it seems. She was to take the history of the world and confine within the covers of a book of ordinary size the brilliant, vivid and evanescent spirit of French letters, to give a full and accurate account of the life and of the political and economic conditions which made that history. And she has done it.

Not only that, but she has supplemented her survey by translated extracts from striking examples of the chosen literature, and by illustrations that the author's reflection of the times and sometimes to exhibit his personality. In each of these little volumes there is a good short story. The inimitable Mr. Masson tells the story of his best Hebrew teacher, the one in whom Philip Margolius, who was scared out of marrying Fanny Feigenbaum by her moustache and general homeliness, and who never married, solved the difficulty and another concerning a second marriage by finding a husband for Fanny. Mr. Smith's story is a fragrant picture of Normandy, with a quaintly told tale of a man who, making a tragedy that happened in a house, has been repented to the author by a shrewish old woman.

We were afraid likable Philip Sidney, when he came West to learn to be an artist with the best of the money left him by Aunt Mary Ballard, wouldn't penetrate the forbidding exterior of her handmaiden, Eliza Brewster, and find the heart of gold within. But when he praised Aunt Mary's pictures, of which Eliza had had a secret distrust because nobody else praised them, he captured her, and next minute she had captured him. So that was all right.

Philip met the Fabians—the kin whom Eliza sat upon, and found Mrs. Fabian a foolish and proud woman, her stepson an insufferable puppy who improved later on, and her step-daughter a charming and wholesome young woman. He also met Violet Manning, young teacher of artistic dancing, whom Edman Hobbs made night calls to Mrs. (man) again.

Hogan's Island had been a place where the people were interested in us in the people of her books—in Philip Sidney's painting, in Mr. Fabian's financial difficulties, in Mr. Wright's loafing and Eliza Brewster's girl loyalty. We go back to the island with a feeling that it was situated, and all of us enjoy it very much. As usual, there are no big things about it; it is not obtrusive, and it is nowhere near so evident as the sense of peace and quietness. One can see why Buxton distinguish the followers of that faith.

The characterizations are cleverly drawn and the descriptions are worked out with brevity.

NORTH BUTTE IS GETTING BACK TO ITS OLD FORM

Samples From New Ore Run Up to 40 Per Cent.

Radersburg Mine Owners Are Trying to Get the Railroad Completed.

Butte, Mont., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The North Butte is undoubtedly getting back to its old form, and today there is a body of ore opened up which is richer than any uncovered in this district for at least several years. Manager Pope wears a broad smile when approached on the subject, but he cautions by inducing to say that all the reports concerning the strike are true—indeed, he will not commit himself one way or the other. However, the story of the cutting of the Jesse vein is absolutely true, and the 2,500-foot level of that vein is exceedingly rich. It is 15 feet wide and there are 3 1/2 feet of ore which runs 40 per cent copper. Samples from the ore taken at random are from 10 to 14 per cent and hand samples run up to 40 per cent. For a day or two the officials managed to keep the information from the general public, but gradually the news leaked out through miners working on the level, who became so enthusiastic over the richness of the ore that they went about advising their friends to purchase stock. An old mining man who said that he had seen a sample declared that it was among the richest he had ever held his eye on, and the opening up of this ore body is but another illustration of the fact that the district is one of experienced mining men that the mines of Butte at depth are of unknown value and that there is not a property in the district which will not prove the truth of this assertion.

Capt. Wolvin.
Capt. A. B. Wolvin, president of the Butte & Superior Mining company, has secured an option on the Brandy claim, and he is now making arrangements to develop the same. He has purchased machinery and has ordered that it be delivered on the Montgomery claim, which has a shaft about 400 feet deep. The captain refuses to divulge anything as to what he has in mind at the present time, but the fact that he has purchased a large compressor and made arrangements to have it set up at once shows that he is about to start work on the property.

The Bullwhacker.
The actual work of constructing the leaching plant has been commenced and it is estimated that it will be ready for operation inside of ninety days. The building will be far enough advanced to receive the ore from the solution tanks in about thirty days. The crusher capacity will be 300 tons of ore a day, but the line of the plant is not yet completed.

working fifty-five men in its Courtland mines. Shipping is being done and two cars of ore are being shipped daily to the Butte smelter. Besides this production work some development work is also in hand.

Calumet & Arizona's New Smelter Will Be Ready Before August.
Doing Large Amount of Development Work in Various Districts.

Blasbe, Ariz., Oct. 19.—The construction work on the new Calumet & Arizona smelter at Douglas is making splendid progress and the accomplishment up to this time has even exceeded the original plans and expectations. All the men who are accommodated on the various departments are kept at work and so far there has been but little delay on account of lack of material. After looking over the work, Capt. Greenway predicts that the new blast furnaces will be completed and in operation by May 1, and he expects that the plant will be ready for action before August. This was the estimate of time required to erect the plant when the work started the first of the present year.

Since his return from the East, Capt. Greenway has had work started on a temporary sampling works which will be required for the advantage of some of the best bodies of ore ever discovered in the Tinian camp.

In Superior District.
The Calumet & Arizona is starting development work on eighty-five claims recently bonded in the Superior district north of Florence in Pinal county. Here it is now planned to sink a three-compartment shaft and also run a tunnel. Development machinery will be installed and electric power will be taken from the Ray Consolidated company, twelve miles away. Forty to fifty men will be employed here, and Jack Hooper, formerly of Blasbe, will be in charge.

There is much activity now in evidence in the Superior district. The Magna mine owned by Gunn & Thompson of New York is being worked, high grade copper carrying rich values in gold and silver is being shipped. The Guggenheim have taken a bond on the old Lake Superior property in the Superior district and the property is now being unwatered so that it may have a close examination.

In Pima County.
The Calumet & Arizona is continuing development work on the New Cornelia property bonded several months ago and located about five miles south of Gila Bend, the railroad station on the Southern Pacific, 125 miles west of Tucson. Sixty men are employed here and diamond drill work is the feature of the camp. It is estimated that a fair tonnage of very low grade ore has been encountered. It is copper in the form of carbonates and sulphides in the form of chalcopryite. It is believed that this ore will have to be found before successful reduction would be possible. Mike Curvey is in charge of this Pima county work.

At Cortland.
The Calumet & Arizona company is leaching plant tanks will be but 50 tons a day. The copper which will be placed in solution will be recovered electrolytically. The Bullwhacker mine is under lease to several miners who are taking out the ore treated at the East Butte and Washoe smelters, but as soon as the leaching plant is in commission the ore will be treated there, the Bullwhacker company promising a rate considerably lower than the smelters can give. This will give the leasers an opportunity to make additional money and will at the same time afford the Bullwhacker a chance to earn a good profit on the ore it has invested in the erection and equipment of the leaching plant. Should the plan prove the success anticipated by Mr. Clark and others it is stated that it will be enlarged to a capacity of 300 tons a day.

Bound to Radersburg.
The Radersburg mine owners are still making every effort to have the railroad completed. The prospects are not very bright. A proposition is being made that several Eastern capitalists take a certain amount of stock in the mine and also secure the right over the job of completing the railroad. The ground has been graded and there is nothing to do but put down the rails which have been ordered by the mine owners. The plan is shown in the table appended herewith:

This level is over 150 feet below the surface and is a zone approximately 150 feet wide at its base. The mineralized zone is a zone of irregular shape with numerous stringers of copper and occasional bands of vein matter. The whole zone is characterized by a high degree of irregularity and is quite impossible to identify. Cross-sections show that the zone is about twenty-seven levels are driving to intersect this zone nearer the surface. The No. 4 level is now being opened in the shaft, and is one of the most important features of the investigation in this property. The big vertical shaft has reached a depth of 400 feet and is now being bottomed at this point. Considerable development work has been done in the No. 3 level and also in the No. 2 level. In years past, production has been considerable.

The Indiana.
The Indiana, all activity in shaft sinking, has attained a depth of 100 feet and is now being rather slow. The present hoist has just about reached the limit of its capacity and will be replaced by a larger hoist purchased from the Lake Copper company. This machinery is already on the ground and the foundations are laid. A larger air-compressor is also being ordered, and the company has recently passed to the United States Smelting, Refining & Mining company, which company has also acquired control of the Franklin Mining company in this district.

Adventure.
The Adventure is finding considerable encouragement in the work in progress in No. 1 1/2 level to which all activity has been transferred. This level was not disclosed in the recent diamond drill exploratory campaign. The Houghton is preparing to cross-cut north from the bottom of the No. 3 level. The shaft is now being driven west in the direction of the No. 2 level, which is showing a good streak of copper along the contact. The company also has a diamond drill in service in the western limits of the property where drill hole No. 8 is being put down on the underlay of the South Lake lodes. The company's treasury suffered through the failure of Stephen R. Dow & Co., and the company is now under the necessity of borrowing funds where to continue operations. The company is expending about $4,500 monthly.

Oreocela.
The Oreocela has resumed operations in the Oreocela shaft and production from that point is meeting the decreased output of the North Kearsarge branch occasioned by the shutdown of No. 3 shaft. Total shipments of all branches in September reached 110,000 tons of rock and resulted in the yield of 1,589,925 pounds of fine copper. The No. 3 shaft, North Kearsarge branch, is idle during the time necessary to erect a steel shaft rock house in place of the wooden structure formerly in service. The change will greatly increase the productive capacity of the branch.

MAY OPERATE KIMBERLY MILL

Giroux Officials Considering Idea of Rehabilitating and Increasing.

Salt Lake, Utah, Oct. 19.—From a fairly authentic source it is learned that officials of the Consolidated Mines company have been giving some consideration to the rehabilitation of the 500-ton concentrating plant at Kimberly. Since the contract was entered into with Nevada Consolidated, the plant has been idle. The plant is a fine piece of machinery and it is thought that it can be made to operate at a profit. The plan is to increase the capacity of the plant to 1,000 tons a day. The plan is to increase the capacity of the plant to 1,000 tons a day.

The calculation of the tonnage of commercial ore in the Morris and Bunker Hill properties about a year ago, showed that there was over 1,000,000 tons of porphyry ore averaging 1.5 per cent copper. Since that time, the plant has been idle. The plan is to increase the capacity of the plant to 1,000 tons a day. The plan is to increase the capacity of the plant to 1,000 tons a day.

In improving its mill plant at Kimberly and increasing its capacity, the officials of the company are of the opinion that it will be an easy matter to extract over 1,000 tons of copper daily for its Steppe plant under its present machinery. Butte, Mont., Oct. 19.—At no time during the past six years has there been such evidence of mining activity in the Butte district as at the present time, and from operations which are now under way or which will be commenced within the next few days, there is reason to believe that a good policy of development will be followed.

The following whether or not the mineral veins of the Butte district are continuous in an easterly direction is a question which has been a matter of controversy for many years. Good progress in being made with the rehabilitation of the leaching plant by the Bullwhacker company, and it is expected that the plant will be in operation within the next 60 or 90 days. An enormous ore body has been discovered, extending to a depth of nearly 200 feet and extending the full width of the property.

The rival candidates for the presidency and vice-presidency now are Dr. Enrique Varona Suarez and Dr. Eusebio Hernandez for the Liberal party and Gen. Mario G. Roncesvalles for the Conservative party. The plan is to increase the capacity of the plant to 1,000 tons a day. The plan is to increase the capacity of the plant to 1,000 tons a day.

MONTANA MINING DEAL IS CLOSED

Longmaids of Helena Acquire Hecla Mines of Beaverhead County.

Helena, Mont., Oct. 19.—A mining deal of unusual importance has been thought to a successful conclusion in this city whereby the Longmaids well-known and successful mining men, secure control of the old Hecla mines at Helena, Beaverhead county. The deal was effected by Henry Knippenburg, owner of the property and the deeds have been signed and are ready for delivery on the payment of the purchase price. The money has been advanced to New York and the sale will be completed within a day or two. In the meantime, the Longmaids will take possession of the property and prepare to work it.

The Hecla mine has an interesting history. The discovery of the property was made many years ago by a Mr. Armstrong, who interested Eastern capitalists in the property. The mine was organized and a smelter was built and was operated successfully for a number of years, producing a great amount of silver and gold. The mine was then abandoned and the property was sold to Henry Knippenburg. The mine was then operated as a profit. The mine was then operated as a profit.

HOW TO BUILD A GREAT CITY

Duluth Might Profit By Studying Suggestions of Los Angeles Realty Men.

It has long been recognized as a fact by real estate men that Los Angeles, Cal., is the expert city of the United States in the real estate business. There probably is no other city in the world where the real estate game is played as scientifically as in the California city. The building development of Los Angeles has been along the sanest lines with the keenest eye to the future and to the beauty and harmonious arrangements of homes and buildings.

Without peculiar commercial advantages, such as Duluth for instance, Los Angeles has made a city of homes and probably at the present time no other American city is as alluring to the man with the keenest eye and is seeking a desirable community of the right sort in which to establish his residence.

The Los Angeles real estate board is the largest and most powerful organization of its kind in the country. Recently it made a visit to San Francisco and at that time the San Francisco Call took occasion to get interviews from the leading members of the Los Angeles board on the methods of dealing with the problems and opportunities of the city.

The suggestions contained in the interviews are as interesting to Duluth people as to those in San Francisco. The Call commented editorially as follows:

"Everybody knows that there are few cities where business is as large or where it is as well or scientifically conducted as it is in Los Angeles. Everybody knows that the extraordinary growth and prosperity of Los Angeles are largely the result of its successful real estate business. Therefore everybody should know that it is worth while to study the Los Angeles method and get whatever profit is to be had from good example. It is just as easy to learn from precept as it is from hard experience and a good deal cheaper."

Four of the leading real estate men who visited San Francisco last Friday and Saturday summed up the results of their observations. Briefly, the points they insist upon are these:

- 1—Fewer flats and apartment houses and more homes on lots of ample size.
- 2—Better attention to tourists and visitors.

itors in order to induce them to remain, invest and make their homes here.

3—More effort to advertise and exploit the surrounding country immediately tributary to San Francisco in order that vacant and waste lands may be settled up and become a source of profit.

4—More concerted effort to advertise the advantages of all Northern and Central California in the East and have desirable subdivisions ready for the great number of visitors who are expected during the year of the exposition and whom we hope to keep in California.

"These points are well taken. The real estate business includes something more than buying a lot for $1,000 and holding it until it can be sold for $2,000. The far-sighted man who is in real estate as something more than a makeshift knows that he must do his share of constructive work in order to build up a good and permanent market. Greater care must be taken in laying out new tracts and subdivisions. That phase of the business has become a science in Los Angeles and it is only beginning to be recognized here. Street work, water mains, sewers, lighting facilities and a rigid adherence to building regulations are all matters in which the real estate man may very well take an active interest. The obligations of all kinds of contractors should be strictly enforced and shoddy construction everywhere ruled out of the game. The twenty-five foot lot for a home should, in most cases, become a thing of the past. Building lines for dwelling houses should be established on all new blocks, and if that cannot be done by city ordinance it can be done by cooperation and agreement or restriction."

"Another important thing is this: Not only the real estate man, but all citizens need a better apprehension of the value of the agricultural development of the interior as part and parcel of the prosperity of this city. "All these things and many more are proper subjects to interest the real estate man who expects to be really successful in his business; but, while his interests may very well cause him to take the initiative, he cannot be expected to carry the whole burden alone. He should have the help of every property owner and every citizen."

NINTH STREET CAR LINE WILL OPEN NEW RESIDENCE DISTRICT

Service on the new Ninth street car line will probably be started about Nov. 1. This week, the switch at Fifth avenue east and Fourth street has been installed and it is expected that everything will be in readiness for the opening of the service about the first of the month.

At the last meeting of the council, Alderman Makowski introduced a resolution requesting the Duluth Street Railway company to commence running the cars. The line has been ready for some time, but the delayed matters. The company is now in a position to start the cars and establish the long promised service to Chester park. Whitney Wall, who is selling lots in Homewood addition, which is made quite accessible by the new car line has hit upon a clever advertising scheme. He is advertising that he will sell six street car tickets for 25 cents to every lot holder in Homewood addition and will allow each to buy $1 worth a month. The offer stands good for six months.

The new car line will serve the territory west of Chester park from Sixth street up to the boulevard. In speaking of the development of this territory, L. A. Larsen of the L. A. Larsen company said today: "It is a fine territory, and the school board realizes the need of a school in that territory and has already secured land on Eighth street and Twelfth avenue for that purpose.

"One of Duluth's most beautiful spots is Chester park. It contains forty-three acres and extends from Fourth street and Fourteenth avenue east, northeast to the horseshoe bend on the boulevard. The two walks on the boulevard, the creek and the park, like that one might have said that they were not made by man. It is termed the park of native birches, although a great many pine trees and larches are scattered about. The Ski club realized the future advantages in the land and purchased the park a few years ago to the north of the park. One would judge by the hundreds of people who go to the park on week days and on Sundays, that it is much admired."

"Cameras are much in evidence in this place, especially on the west side where in the afternoon view, a walk on of the east bank just before the sun goes down. The favorite walk is to go to the horseshoe bend, cross over the creek and up the bank and through the time picnic grounds and then west to Tenth street. Those who like a longer walk generally go to the boulevard and turn westward reaching the city at Tenth, Ninth or Eighth street or go on the boulevard to Kenwood road, and then down Seventh avenue east."

WILL FINANCE DULUTH PLANTS

Eastern Capitalists Willing to Advance Money to Local Enterprises.

That Duluth's most almost unlimited possibilities of development along industrial and commercial lines is attracting attention in the money centers of the East is evidenced in an announcement which A. H. Burg of A. H. Burg & Co., of this city, has received from an Eastern financial concern. The Eastern banking firm, with which Mr. Burg is in touch, stands ready to finance any Duluth industry which needs a large amount of money to launch it, hereafter, the inability to secure the money in Duluth has been a serious drawback in securing large manufacturing plants and other industries for the city.

The Commercial club industrial committee, said Mr. Burg, "has, as I understand it, received many applications from manufacturing concerns who are looking towards Duluth. When the new concern lines that it is unable to secure the money here, the proposition generally falls through."

Under the arrangements which have been perfected, amounts from $50,000 up to $1,000,000 can be supplied. The Eastern concern will take mortgages on the property.

NEW REAL ESTATE FIRM.

Clarke-Wertin Co. Organizes Subsidiary Concern to Handle Realty.

The Home Realty company, composed of O. H. Clarke, J. J. E. Wertin and E. W. Lyons, is the latest real estate firm in Duluth. This firm succeeds the real estate department of the Clarke-Wertin company, which latter firm has been dealing extensively in property adjoining the steel plant.

The insurance business of the Clarke-Wertin company will continue as heretofore under the personal supervision of O. H. Clarke. E. W. Lyons will be in active charge of the Home Realty company, and the office of this firm will be with the Clarke-Wertin company, 209-211 Alworth building.

Mr. Lyons reports a very active week in Gary, the company having disposed of ten lots to local purchasers. The

BUY A SELF SUSTAINING HOME

Novel Slogan Adopted by Sellers of Exeter Farm Tracts.

"Buy a home that is self-sustaining."

This is the slogan which has been adopted by the Alliance Real Estate corporation which today opened its selling campaign at the newly acquired Exeter farm tract, which consists of 425 acres of land, peculiarly adapted to market gardening purposes adjoining the city limits to the east. The tract is owned by the Minnesota company, a local concern, and was taken over recently from the Iowa company. The purchase has been subdivided into one, two and three-acre tracts which are now offered for sale at prices ranging from $150 to $250 apiece. The Alliance Real Estate corporation, of which George E. Lynott is manager, is the selling corporation for the Minnesota company.

In promoting the sale of Exeter farms, the Alliance Real Estate corporation will make an extensive advertising campaign. A neat attractive booklet on "Homes That Are Self-Sustaining" has been issued and is now being distributed to prospective purchasers. The booklet boasts for Duluth, first last and always and incidentally mentions a few concrete facts as to what can be accomplished in the market garden and homecrofting lines at Exeter farms.

The booklet contains statements from fourteen men who have accomplished results in the market gardening business in this vicinity. A history of the growth of Duluth and the development of her agricultural resources,

ROWS OF TREES ACROSS STATE. Bismarck Tribune: "Commencing at the South Dakota line, said Dr. J. H. Worst, president of the North Dakota Agricultural college, 'I would plant a row of yellow trees clear across the state of North Dakota, from the eastern border line to the western. One mile north I would plant another row of trees, and so on to the northern border line to the western. The greater the number of trees, the better. The good that would accrue would be incalculable and the expense would be reduced by many folds. "Simply as a wind break these trees would do an immense amount of good. We have few if any straight east or west winds in North Dakota. Most of the winds are from the north or south, the northwest or southeast. When the wind would sweep along either from South Dakota on the south or across the Canadian border from the north, it would strike the first row of trees it would have to hurdle it and extend a great part of its force. Before any wind, no matter what its velocity, it would be in a better condition to go to the north or south of these rows of trees, it would be reduced to a mere summer breeze. ## ROOSEVELT ON HIS WAY TO OYSTER BAY, STANDS TRIP WELL Avoids Crowd at Chicago Station By Entraining at Crossing.

Wears Bullet-Pierced Coat as He Leaves the Hospital.

Restless Night Is Laid to Excitement of Going Back Home.

Valparaiso, Ind., Oct. 21.—On board Roosevelt car—"Col. Roosevelt is resting comfortably and so far shows no ill effects from the trip," said Dr. Alexander Lambert, as the colonel's train reached Valparaiso. "His condition is normal."

Col. Roosevelt, in the opinion of Dr. Lambert and his associate Dr. Terrell, bore the trip from the hospital in Chicago to the train surprisingly well. It was the first time since he entered the hospital that he had been fully dressed, and it was feared the exertion would fatigue him greatly.

Col. Roosevelt said he was "feeling fine," but he made no protest when his physicians insisted that he go to bed. While he was somewhat tired, he soon was made comfortable in his stateroom.

Col. Roosevelt's stateroom has been isolated from the remainder of the car and the physicians issued a strict order that no one except members of the family were to enter the room.

STATE MUCH INTERESTED

Attorney General Smith Returns From Express Rate Hearing.

Commerce Commission Decision Will Bear on Local Rates.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Attorney General Lynwood Smith returned today from Washington, where he appeared before the interstate commerce commission in the hearing of the railroads' petition to intervene in the case against the express companies.

The states intended to ask permission to intervene if the right was granted the railroads, but as the railroads were shut out by Saturday's decision, Mr. Smith says it is unnecessary for the state to participate.

The members of the Minnesota board of railroad and warehouse commission are much interested in the final outcome of the express hearing, and were gratified with the report that the issue is to be one confined to the commerce commission and the express companies alone.

The railroads asked to intervene, as their revenue from express companies would be affected by the proposed reduction in express rates, which at (Continued on page 7, third column.)

KNOX ACTING PRESIDENT

Secretary of State Assumes Place on Reaching Washington.

Finds Mexican Situation to Be Considered on Return From Japan.

Washington, Oct. 21.—Secretary Knox and Ransford S. Miller, chief of the Far Eastern division of the state department, constituting the special embassy dispatched by the president to Japan to represent the United States at the funeral services of the late Emperor Mutsuhito, returned today to Washington.

As ranking member of the cabinet, Secretary Knox is "acting president" in Washington. He finds many problems pressing for consideration, principally the situation in Mexico, which he will discuss with Ambassador Wilson, waiting here on his way back to Mexico.

While the United States intends to adhere to its policy of non-interference in the internal affairs of Mexico, the state department has made it plain to the Madero government that measures to protect Americans in the troubled zone must not be relaxed.

These representations, it is understood, include intimations that the lines of communication from the interior to Vera Cruz and Tampico, the principal ports on the Atlantic side, must be kept open for the exit of Americans.

While some students of the question believe the United States might take measures on its own account to keep open an avenue of escape for Americans as it did in China and Nicaragua, officials here do not regard such a development as likely.

MARSHALL ON HIS CALIFORNIA TOUR

Vice Presidential Candidate First of Procession of Campaigners.

Sacramento, Cal., Oct. 21.—Thomas R. Marshall of Indiana, Democratic vice presidential candidate, entered California today to do some fast campaigning and pick a site for the Indiana building at the Panama-Pacific exposition to be held in 1915. He is the first of a procession of Democratic speakers, including Champ Clark, with whom the party leaders intend a campaign from now until election time in the home state of Governor Hiram Johnson, vice presidential candidate on the Progressive ticket.

The first event planned for Governor Marshall today was a reception at the depot at Sacramento. Special railroad rates and already garnered harvests brought many farmers to Sacramento from the San Joaquin valley.

Following a speech in the afternoon the governor was scheduled to leave for San Francisco.

TWO MEN FALL THREE MILES

Noted German Aeronaut and Companion Killed During Flight.

Balloon of Hans Gericke Believed to Have Been Struck By Lightning.

Berlin, Oct. 21.—The announcement of the death of Lieut. Hans Gericke, winner of last year's international balloon race in the United States and head of the team of German defenders in the races to be held from Stuttgart next Saturday, created a profound sensation here today. He was thrown from his balloon at a height of three miles by the explosion of the gas bag, which is believed to have been struck by lightning. His aide, Lieut. Steler, also was killed.

Gericke and Steler were making a trial flight to test the new balloon which they expected to use in the international races. Just above the town of Grossenhain they met a thunderstorm, which they attempted to avoid by rising above the disturbance. When a mile in the air their craft was caught in an eddy and became unmanageable. After a terrific rush straight upward, the bag burst.

Up Over 15,000 Feet.

The shattered instruments which the balloonists carried on their flight were examined today. The recording apparatus showed they were riding at a height of 6,000 feet when they were suddenly hit by a vertical gust of wind which pushed them straight up with the violence of a hurricane. To a height of more than 15,000 feet.

At this altitude the bag burst, either from the sudden change in pressure, or as is more likely, from being struck by lightning.

The balloon had all the latest ideas in gasbag construction and was regarded throughout Germany as the likely winner of the international cup in next Saturday's contest. Gericke and Steler had expected to try for an altitude of 10,000 feet in the course of yesterday's flight, and had equipped their car with oxygen tanks and apparatus to assist them in enduring the rarified atmosphere.

ATTACK WOMAN ON MISSOURI ROAD

Thirteen Men Involved and Five Are Arrested for the Act.

Annapolis, Mo., Oct. 21.—Five men are under arrest here today for attacking eight others who attacked Mrs. Lillie Mullane of Richmond, Va., near here. The prisoners were taken to Des Arc, Mo., for a preliminary hearing, and were then rushed to front on motor cars to prevent threatened lynchings.

With her husband, T. H. Mullane, who is accompanying her a waiting train, Mrs. Mullane was followed by the men, whose attention was attracted when the Mullanes stopped by the roadside to rest. When the men attacked them, Mullane ran and made his way six miles to Des Arc, where he notified the authorities.

Mrs. Mullane was taken to Des Arc, where she is being cared for.

George Hagerty of New Jersey Testifies for the Government.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 21.—George Hagerty of Phillipsburg, N. J., an iron worker, was the chief witness at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today. He identified many letters between himself and J. J. McNamara. In one of them a reference to "putting the bridge at Phillipsburg into the river," the government charges, was made by Hagerty as a result of a labor dispute. Hagerty, in 1906, was business agent of a local union at Easton, Pa. The prosecution asserted that he was employed to destroy property prior to the use of dynamite, and the testimony of Hagerty, who is not a defendant, was taken as showing an earlier motive for illegal interstate shipments of explosives.

Signature Identified.

Herman S. Schwab, assistant cashier of a bank at Peoria, Ill., identified the signature of Edward Smith on letters written in 1910 when two explosions occurred in Peoria, and when one explosion occurred in East Peoria. Smith was an official of the local Iron Workers.

The letters were directed to J. J. McNamara, as secretary of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers. Orrie E. McManigal confessed he blew up the Peoria jobs after Smith had pointed them out.

GERMANS IMPRISONED MISUSER OF U. S. MAIL.

Berlin, Oct. 21.—The circulation in America of pernicious books and improper pictures resulted in a sentence of five months' imprisonment being passed today on Bruno Schultz, said to have lived formerly in New Jersey.

Schultz was also known under the aliases of "Baron Von Schoenewitz," "Baron Von Adlersheim." His arrest in Germany was brought about by a report from Washington that the United States was being defamed by the circulation of indecent literature and photographs, and that these reached America with the postmark of Berlin.

When arrested Schultz displayed a forged United States passport bearing the name of Forbach. He has been residing for some months in a beautiful country home near Dresden.

WANT WILSON TO TAKE STUMP AGAIN

New York, Oct. 21.—Governor Wilson's determination to make no more political speeches unless Col. Roosevelt again takes the stump, is not accepted as final by Democratic national leaders. The fact that Madison Square Garden has been rented for the night of Oct. 31 is being urged upon the governor as a reason why he should yield to the demands of his managers and return to New York on that date.

Chairman McComb of the national committee still hopes to induce the candidate also to speak in Philadelphia Oct. 26. Governor Wilson has agreed to send out a "message" to be read throughout the country Nov. 2, on "Wilson-McComb day," but has not consented as yet to the plans for his personal appearance again on the stump.

TURKS BLOW UP SERBIANS

Whole Regiment Reported Killed By Mines at Novipazar.

Turkish Successes on Montenegrin Frontier Are Reported.

BLOODY BATTLE SOON.

London, Oct. 21.—Within a few days, and possibly hours, there is expected to begin one of the biggest and bloodiest battles of modern times, between the Balkan allies, who have entered Turkey in Europe on all sides, and the Turks, who are taking up strongly entrenched positions. Two other fronts of Adriatic are reported to be in the hands of the Bulgarians.

London, Oct. 21.—The seventh regiment of Serbian infantry is reported to have been virtually exterminated by an explosion of Turkish land mines after crossing the frontier into the district of Novipazar, according to a news agency dispatch from Belgrade.

Belgrade, Serbia, Oct. 21.—A Serbian column commanded by Gen. Jaukovitch, captured the Turkish entrenchments at the village of Podujevo, near Mitrovica, on the road to Prishtina, during the night.

The Turks with their Arnaud auxiliaries, retired toward the south, leaving their colors, several cases of ammunition, eighty oxen and a large quantity of forage.

Turkish prisoners taken by the Serbians consisted of two regular Turkish troops engaged, the Ottoman force at Podujevo consisting of two provisional regiments of reserves and six companies of Arnaud tribesmen, besides a detachment of artillery.

Good progress is being made by the Serbian army commanded by Gen. Zoukovich, operating in the Novipazar district, according to dispatches from Raska, on the frontier. The Serbian troops already have taken the small town of Novovarsch, five miles from Raska, on the frontier. The population, consisting mostly of Servians, greeted the troops with enthusiasm when they marched in.

The headquarters of the Serbian army commanded by the crown prince has been transferred from Vranja to the night.

PERKINS AND RYAN TESTIFY BEFORE THE CLAPP COMMITTEE

CROSSED OCEAN TO BE BECKER TRIAL WITNESS

Former Says He Gave Only $122,500 to Help Roosevelt.

Denies He Underwrote the Campaign to Sum of $3,000,000.

T. F. Ryan Tells of Giving $80,000 to Get Harmon Nominated.

Washington, Oct. 21.—George W. Perkins today denounced as an "unmitigated falsehood" the charge that he had underwritten the Roosevelt pre-convention campaign this year in the sum of $3,000,000. He testified that his total contributions were $122,500.

Rising from the witness chair before the Clapp committee and shaking a clenched fist, Mr. Perkins shouted: "Among the long list of unmitigated lies throughout this campaign, that statement perhaps ought to be placed at the top, because it is largest."

"It was in hopes that Senator Penrose would be here this morning. He made that statement on the floor of the senate and he ought to be required to prove it, or like a gentleman he ought to take it back. There is not a scintilla of truth in it."

"Just a minute," interrupted Chairman Clapp. "All that is necessary is that you deny it. All that the committee can do is to determine the proof or the absence of proof."

Mr. Perkins was not to be stopped. "I want to know where I stand. I want to know whether I can be charged with these things on the floor of the United States senate and not be given an opportunity to disprove them."

He insisted that Mr. Penrose should be brought before the committee and say whether his charge was "true or not." He did not believe the senator should be allowed to "get away with the situation."

Known of No Arrangement.

"Did you ever enter an arrangement to underwrite any portion of Col. Roosevelt's campaign?" he was asked. "Not one dollar."

"Do you know of any one else undertaking to do so?"

"I do not."

Taking up accusations by Chairman Clapp, the international Harvester company had made large contributions (Continued on page 7, second column.)

BECKER WILL GO ON STAND

Whitman Will Try to Learn More About His Finances.

Member of His Strong-Arm Squad Is First Witness of Day.

New York, Oct. 21.—The announcement that Police Lieut. Becker would take the stand with the hope of convincing the jury that he is innocent of the murder of Herman Rosenthal, overshadowed everything else when his trial was resumed today.

Unforeseen circumstances may arise which may prevent his testifying, but according to the present plans of his chief counsel John F. McIntyre, the defendant will take the witness chair some time between tomorrow morning and Thursday. At the rate the case is being handled, it should be in the jury's hands by Saturday.

It is understood that District Attorney Whitman, should Becker take the stand, will again endeavor to get into the record something relating to Becker's bank accounts, a line of testimony which should be in the jury's hands by Saturday.

Besides Mr. Ringdal there were in the party Henry Wessel, candidate for state treasurer; C. J. Blue, candidate for congressman-at-large; W. F. Donahue, candidate for attorney general, and A. L. Soter of Minneapolis.

WIDOW CLAIMS ORE LAND WAS SOLD AT $1 AN ACRE

Says Administrator of Husband's Estate Profited By Transaction.

Detroit Attorney Is Defendant in $500,000 Suit in Local Courts.

A fortune of a half million dollars slipped through the hands of Marie A. Soims Ortmann, wife of the late Charles L. Ortmann, a Detroit millionaire, whose death occurred fourteen years ago, according to claims which she made by her late husband's estate, in a lawsuit brought today in district court before Judge Cant.

The widow and son are suing James Swan, attorney, and the Moosva Mining company, in which he is interested, for $500,000, claiming that the late Ortmann sold the mineral land on the Mesaba iron range. Swan, it is claimed, while acting as administrator of the Ortmann estate, sold the property for the ridiculously low price of $1 an acre to his family physician, who later reconveyed it to the Moosva Mining company in which Swan held one-fourth of the stock.

Rudolph Ortmann, Chicago, Edward W. Ortmann, Portland; Stephanie K. Gott, Detroit; and the late Marie M. Owsley of Greenwald, Wis., were made parties to the action. They were children of Charles L. Ortmann's first marriage and are defendants in the case and are filing the suit as plaintiffs and are filing the suit as plaintiffs and are filing the suit as plaintiffs.

Marie M. Owsley, one of the older children of the Ortmann family, died in the district court recently there was a fight between her husband the late Dr. Frederick D. Owsley and the other heirs, children of her first husband, Wilhelm Boeing, who died several years ago. The district court upheld Dr. Owsley's contention that he was entitled to his statutory one-third interest in the $3,000,000 estate, despite the fact that the will left by the late Mrs. Owsley decreed otherwise. It is probable that her estate will be represented at the trial now on before Judge Cant.

Left Large Fortune. Charles L. Ortmann died on April 23, 1897, leaving a large fortune. On June 9 following, James Swan, a prominent attorney of Detroit, was appointed administrator of the estate. There was considerable litigation over claims and other matters pertaining to the probate of the will and it was finally closed.

On May 19, 1900, according to the complaint in the action now on trial, Swan sold a tract of timber land in Kalkaska county, Mich., for a nominal sum and collected the money for the estate. He also represented to the probate court in Wayne county, Mich., that the late Mr. Ortmann owned about 60 acres in Minnesota, which should be disposed of.

In his petition to the probate court for a license to sell the land as administrator, it is claimed, he represented that the Minnesota lands might have some mineral deposits in them and that he had no funds with which to develop and explore the property and that it would only be taking a chance at the best.

The probate court, it is claimed, allowed the petition and the probate court, it is claimed, allowed the petition and the probate court, it is claimed, allowed the petition.

TELLS OF BONE IN "KIMMEL'S" BRAIN

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 21.—Dr. Loren Wilder of Chicago, who operated last April on the skull of the man held by an insurance company of New York to be George A. Kimmel, testified in the circuit court today that he did not believe the patient would ever be normal mentally.

Dr. Wilder told the jury that he removed a bone which had penetrated the brain an eighth of an inch. He said in answer to questions of counsel for the insurance company that such an injury to a man's brain had been known to change the color of the victim's eyes. The claimant's eyes are of a different color than were Kimmel's when he disappeared.

UNIQUE CHURCH BAZAR ENDS WITH TALK ON CHRISTIAN IN POLITICS

Rev. M. S. Rice, pastor of the First M. E. church, closed the annual bazar of the Swedish Mission church Saturday evening after one of the most successful weeks in the history of the church. Dr. Rice spoke on "The Christian in Politics."

The feature of the bazar last week was a political address given every evening by a leader in each political party. Last Monday evening the bazar was opened with an address by John Jensen, J. R. Democratic candidate for congress from the eighth district. During the week addresses were made by Dr. J. J. Eklund, John A. Keyes, E. E. Lobeck, prohibition candidate for governor, and P. V. Collins, progressive candidate for governor.

In his address on "The Christian in Politics," Dr. Rice urged every Christian to study politics.

He said it was the duty of every Christian citizen to make an effort to have the best man elected each time, regardless of party lines or political affiliations.

Following Dr. Rice's address a straw vote was taken on the presidential candidates. After the final count was made it was found that Roosevelt was given the lead with 134 votes, Wilson 62 votes; Chaffin, 50; Debs, 37; and Taft, 3. The large Roosevelt vote was given mostly by the women and children, according to those in charge of the election.

THE SUCCESSFUL CHURCH.

Rev. J. A. McGaughey Talks on the Elements That Are Needed.

To be successful a church must be evangelistic in spirit, it must have the fellowship spirit, the spirit of praise, and the missionary spirit. So declared Rev. J. A. McGaughey of the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street, in his sermon last evening on "The Elements Which Enter Into the Make-up of a Successful Church." The sermon was the fourth in a series on "Building a Church."

"Every church, no matter if the pastor and the congregation both play their parts well, must be evangelistic in spirit to be successful. This is the first underlying principle of success and is only following out the order given every Christian to evangelize the world," said the speaker.

"The other three elements of success include the fellowship spirit, which alone makes the world judge the value of a church. By the spirit of taking a stranger alone is manifested the fellowship spirit. The spirit of praise and giving are the other two underlying principles that make success. Without the last three there can be no successful church, as missionary work without a fellowship spirit is a failure. Some say that love is the real strength, but love is of no value unless it is in action. And love in action is the doing of missionary work."

SEEKS TO FREE LUCILE CAMERON

Chicago, Oct. 21.—Robert E. Cantwell, an attorney, today asked United States District Judge Carpenter for a writ of habeas corpus for Lucile Cameron, the Minneapolis girl, whose name has been connected with that of Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, and who is held in the Rockford, Ill., jail, in default of $25,000 bond as a witness before the federal grand jury. Judge Carpenter announced that he would be unable to hear the petition until tomorrow.

As the girl is to appear before the grand jury tomorrow, Attorney Cantwell withdrew his petition. He would not say whether he had been retained by Johnson, who is at liberty on bail, after having been arrested on a charge of abducting the girl.

Francis Younk, aged 13, had his right eye blown out, right cheek torn off and a piece of tin penetration in his skull. Robert Younk, aged 14, had both eyes blown out, and face badly shot. The three youths are in a critical condition at St. Joseph's hospital. The explosion occurred at Beyers' home, making a hole in the roof six inches wide. The windows were broken and blood and flesh are clinging to the plaster.

TWO HUMAN BODIES HANGING TO TREE

South St. Paul Hunters Discover Evidence of Double Crime.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 21.—The bodies of two unknown and badly decomposed men were found hanging to a tree in the swampy woods on the banks of the Mississippi opposite South St. Paul late Sunday afternoon by Andrew Marline, Frank McCoy and Elmer Sedvorton, all residents of South St. Paul, while hunting in that vicinity.

The sheriff of Washington county, in which the discovery was made, was notified, and with the coroner, left for the place.

The hunters say one of the bodies had become so decomposed that it had separated from the trunk and had fallen to the ground, while the other was still hanging by the noose from which it was suspended.

They are described as apparently tramps and the only theory advanced is that they were probably members of a band and had been murdered for some reason by their fellows.

The spot is said to be an isolated one and the officers anticipated a tedious time finding it.

25 CENT "DANDERINE" FOR FALLING HAIR AND DANDRUFF—GROWS HAIR

Don't Pay 50 Cents for Worthless Hair Tonics—Use Old, Reliable, Harmless "Danderine"—Get Results This Time.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scourge. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast.

A little Danderine tonight—now—anytime—will surely save your hair. Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's

MINNESOTA POLITICS

Next Saturday Is Last Registration Day in Duluth—Republican State Candidates at Albert Lea While Stimson Is Speaking for Taft in St. Paul—Ringdal's Record on Railroads Stands Out in Contrast With Eberhart's Do-Nothing Policy.

Registration Days.
Next Saturday is the last day for registration in Duluth. People who have not registered will not be able to vote at the polls next Saturday, or they will not be able to vote Nov. 5.

Next Saturday is also the last day on which traveling men may register and obtain certificates from the election judges allowing them to vote anywhere in the state for candidates for president and for state offices.

There are two more registration days in cities of the second and third class, tomorrow and a week from tomorrow.

The Republican Campaign.
Both branches of the Republican state campaign are starting on their windup today.

This morning the special train of the state candidates started out from St. Paul. The keynote speeches will be delivered at Albert Lea tonight. A great deal of interest is being taken in the governor's keynote. He may explain away the ambiguity in his statement on the subject of reappointment in his platform, and it is possible that he may make an attempt to explain his failure to mention the initiative, the referendum and the recall. Many people feel that some explanations are due.

Tonight at St. Paul, Henry L. Stimson, secretary of the Taft's cabinet, will make one of the big speeches of the campaign for Taft. There will be a rally of the Taft forces and an effort will be made to give some impetus to the Taft campaign, which has been noticeably languishing in Minnesota all year.

Ringdal's Record.
P. M. Ringdal's record as a member of the railway commission and later as a member of the state board of control is making a name for him throughout the state. His friends are bringing to light some of Mr. Ringdal's accomplishments that were not known to many new voters, and the result will be reflected in the vote Nov. 5. While a member of the railway commission, Mr. Ringdal was instrumental in getting the rates lowered in securing material reductions in merchandise rates and in compelling the Northern Pacific railroad to agree to a compromise whereby the old St. Paul & Duluth railroad was placed under state jurisdiction. His record on the railroads stands out in contrast to Eberhart's do-nothing policy. The governor's failure to join with the governor of the state in the Minnesota rate case was one of the biggest blunders of his administration and Ringdal's friends are making the most of it.

Ringdal's record as a member of the board of control, which has placed the administration of the state institutions on a business basis, is also contrasted with the governor's administration of state affairs to the governor's disadvantage. The cry that has come up for a business administration of the state finds answer in Ringdal's candidacy, for his influence on the board of control has always been for economy and efficiency.

Spencer's Candidacy.
L. C. Spencer, who was candidate for the Republican nomination for governor at the recent primary election, has done the most in filling the legislative district in which he represents. Before the primary law was passed, Mr. Spencer was a candidate for governor with considerable prospect, and he reserved to himself the right to run for governor at the primary if he failed to obtain the nomination for governor from the convention. The state-wide primary law cut him off from his opportunity to run for governor, and he has continued in the contest for governor. He was defeated. Two other Republicans and two Democrats are in the contest for the legislature in his district.

Mr. Spencer is a five-cornered fight for the two places. Mr. Spencer's interest in prison legislation has been his chief asset in his campaign for the two places. Mr. Spencer is seeking re-election to the house.

Prohibition Candidates.

The prohibitionists of St. Louis county have candidates in the field for their candidates for the coming year. The prohibition candidate whom the members of the party believe has the best chance of election is L. A. Simons, candidate for the legislature in the Forty-ninth district. Mr. Simons is a strong candidate and is expected to carry the district. He is a resident of the city and is a member of the legislature in the Forty-ninth district. He is a five-cornered fight for the two places. Mr. Simons' interest in prison legislation has been his chief asset in his campaign for the two places. Mr. Simons is seeking re-election to the house.

Charles Kangas of Pike is the other prohibition candidate for the legislature in the Forty-ninth district. He is working hard on the range and in the farming districts and is said to be making good progress.

E. J. Wheeler is the prohibition candidate for county commissioner in the Third district. He made a good run for the state senate two years ago in making a hard campaign for county commissioner. He is a strong candidate and is expected to carry the district. He is a resident of the city and is a member of the legislature in the Forty-ninth district. He is a five-cornered fight for the two places. Mr. Wheeler's interest in prison legislation has been his chief asset in his campaign for the two places. Mr. Wheeler is seeking re-election to the house.

La Follette to Take Stump.
La Crosse, Wis., Oct. 21.—Senator La Follette is expected to go on the stump the coming week. The attitude he will assume in respect to the national tickets is awaited with great interest by all party leaders. He is expected to make several speeches each day until the close of the campaign.

Whistling for Courage.
Andrew Horngren, who is attached to the state payroll by reason of an appointment as deputy factory inspector, has again been interviewed by the News-Tribune on Governor Eberhart's chances in St. Louis county. Mr. Horngren was given some space and air in the News-Tribune before the primaries also.

Mr. Horngren predicts that Governor Eberhart will carry St. Louis county. The News-Tribune either directly or through a clipping bureau rose to the governor's office. Andrew's prediction will be brought to the attention of Ralph Wheeler, if not the governor himself. There will be no election in the governor's office. Andrew will be recognized as a faithful employee of the administration. If Governor Eberhart should chance to be re-elected, Andrew's job will be safe.

This business of interviewing state employees on the chances of the governor is one of the big jokes of the campaign. Of course they'll predict in favor of the incumbent. They are drawing their monthly salaries through his being in office and even if they didn't believe as they say, they would whistle to keep up their courage. Andrew's prediction that the governor's chances in St. Louis county isn't worth the paper on which the original copy was written.

Senator Gore's Visit.
The big event of the campaign in St. Louis county this week is the appearance of Senator T. J. Gore at the Auditorium on Wednesday night. As a senator, a campaign orator and a lecturer, Senator Gore is well known to the people of St. Louis county. He is a sincere progressive and a firm supporter of Woodrow Wilson since the New Jersey's candidacy for the presidency was announced. He came here depended upon for a fair, sincere discussion of the issues of the campaign that may be heard with profit by members of all political parties.

GEORGE D. MCCARTHY.

CALIFORNIA FOR WILSON

Thousands of Taft Republicans Will Vote for the Governor.

Resent Action Which Excluded Taft Electors From the Ballot.

New York, Oct. 21.—Taft Republicans in California, joining hands with the Democrats, will give a crowd that will pack the Auditorium. He is a sincere progressive and a firm supporter of Woodrow Wilson since the New Jersey's candidacy for the presidency was announced. He came here depended upon for a fair, sincere discussion of the issues of the campaign that may be heard with profit by members of all political parties.

GEORGE D. MCCARTHY.

Thousands of Taft Republicans have made up their minds to vote for Governor Wilson in California. They resent the passage of the present complicated election law passed by the last California legislature, which practically excluded from the official ballot Taft electors.

Everywhere in the state protests are being made against this law, the responsibility for which rests with the governor and his associates. Recently in Los Angeles the Republican central committee adopted a resolution denouncing the action of the legislature in passing the law.

Advocates of the law, however, claim that the law is necessary to protect the integrity of the ballot. They claim that the law is necessary to protect the integrity of the ballot.

The detectives, after questioning Molina, permitted him to depart. Col. Roosevelt knew nothing of the attempt to see him.

RETURN FROM BIG REVIEW

Duluth Naval Militia Made Creditable Showing at New York.

Officers and Men Delighted With Experience on Real Battleship.

The members of the Duluth naval militia who participated in the review of the Atlantic squadron at New York last week returned home yesterday morning. The routing from Chicago was made during the trip, but they arrived home at last, having been on the trip since Friday night making the trip from Chicago to Duluth.

Commander Eaton and the other officers and men who made the trip were delighted with the results. They saw some of the world's greatest naval power and acquired themselves creditably when put to the test. Commander Eaton believes the trip will be of great benefit to those who made it and to the naval militia generally in Minnesota.

Commander Eaton, Lieut. Smith, Lieut. Hugo and Junior Lieut. Rabin, with forty-five members of the two Minnesota divisions, left Duluth Wednesday, Oct. 9, for New York. They arrived at Jersey City Friday evening and were immediately taken to the battleship Wisconsin, one of the larger battleships of the squadron. The officers and men of the naval militia were assigned to their regular duties according to their rank. Commander Eaton acted as captain of the Wisconsin, the regular captain acting as admiral. The naval militia officers stood their watches as regular officers of the ship and the petty officers of the ship and the petty officers of the ship and the petty officers of the ship.

The Great Lakes squadron was well represented in the maneuvers at New York. Nearly all divisions on the lakes were represented by some of the militia. The naval militia officers stood their watches as regular officers of the ship and the petty officers of the ship and the petty officers of the ship.

ready to occupy a large plunk seat in the private car. Charles F. Keller, state fire marshal, followed soon after. Then came Marcus Johnson, Dar Hall, Assistant Attorney General James M. Auditor Iverson, Charles Elmqvist and Judge L. B. M. Peterson of the railroad and warehouse commission. James M. Auditor, candidate for congressman-at-large; Julius J. Scheraga, candidate for state; Ralph W. Wheeler, the governor's private secretary; E. W. Burnquist, candidate for lieutenant governor; and finally Governor Eberhart. Practically all Republican candidates for state office, with the exception of Senator Knute Nelson, went along. L. R. S. Ferguson and James Matich, members of the state board of visitors, were at the depot on the way to Hastings and were invited to ride.

"The chaplain, Rev. Dr. Eberhart, catching sight of Dr. Ferguson," he replied, "but I'm going to quit you at Hastings."

"No free champagne," he said, "but to drink, everybody buys his own meal and there's nothing to give away."

"How's that?" he was asked. "Corrupt practices act. Read the rules."

The special will be somewhat unique in that it probably is the first political special carrying state officers that ever left St. Paul without something, at least, to give away.

Among the men who went, besides those already mentioned, were Walter J. Smith, state treasurer; Kelsey S. Edwards, state superintendent of banks; Edward Porter, George B. Bradley, Alex. Jones, L. M. Jones, traveling insurance agent, of the Paul road, and F. H. Myers, superintendent of the river division. Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith may meet the train at Albert Lea this evening.

TURKS BLOW UP SERVANS

In Serbia to the Turkish town of Zibitch, recently captured by the Serbian troops. A number of wounded Serbian soldiers have been brought back from the front to Nish, where they were decorated with the King.

Crown Prince Victorious

The Serbian army under the crown prince has captured Rulya heights, a strategic position to the south of Belgrade, some miles below Vranja. An official report from the general staff at Nish says the Serbians have taken all the trenches in the Turkish territory around Vranja, and the Turkish army has been driven back across Morava valley. They took up a position at Mount Helvig.

Albanian regulars, who constituted the attacking party, were repulsed and hoisted a white flag. A Serbian captain with a white flag approached, and the regulars opened fire, killing an officer and twelve men and wounding forty.

Turkish Successes. Constantinople, Oct. 21.—Several Turkish successes on the eastern front of Montenegro are reported in dispatches from Saloniki.

Sharif fighting occurred in the districts of Grevitza, Kitchiska and Ogra-Klinch, where the Montenegrins retreated with a loss of 6 officers and 15 men killed. The Turkish casualties totaled two killed. They captured some ammunition and tents from the Montenegrins.

Plaza Captured. Cetinje, Montenegro, Oct. 21.—It is officially announced here that the Montenegrin forces captured the town of Plava. The battle lasted two days.

Greeks Dislodge Enemy. Athens, Oct. 21.—After a 4-hour engagement the Greeks dislodged the Turks from the strong position which they had taken in the defense of the foot of Mount Olympus, and occupied the town.

Crown Prince Constantine was in personal command and received baptism of fire. The Greek troops showed great courage. Their losses were small.

The Turks retired toward Sarandaport pass, where the main forces had concentrated. The Greeks occupy all the heights to the north of Ellassona and a decisive battle is imminent.

To the Roosevelt campaign, Mr. Perkins declared with heat. "This is an absolute falsehood made up by a whole cloth, and if Mr. Hill has any reason to believe that contributions have been made by the Harvester company, he owes it to me to make others to have the books of the company audited for the purpose of proving that the money was given."

Had Been "Vindicated." Here Mr. Perkins rose from his seat and protested that he had his trust in Senator Clapp, and that his accusers to prove their charges.

Senator Clapp replied that the committee had no means of doing that. "If I were president and a subordinate had such a charge as Mr. Hill has made, I should make him prove it or dismiss him from office," replied Mr. Perkins.

The chair reminded him that he had been brought to Washington to speak in his own behalf.

Way to Prove. Mr. Perkins contended that it would be easy to prove what had been contributed to the campaign fund and the treasury of the Harvester company.

He said that he was a member of the board of directors of that company and chairman of the finance committee, and knew that not a cent of the company funds had been given to Col. Roosevelt.

Mr. Perkins gave his contributions to the Roosevelt pre-convention fund as follows:

New York state committee, $15,000; to E. H. Hooker, for the national fund, $25,000; to the Washington fund, $32,500; for polls, etc., in New York states, $19,000; to E. W. Stine, $10,000. This statement is absolutely complete, said Mr. Perkins. "My total contributions were $122,500."

Ryan First Witness. Thomas Fortune Ryan was first witness today before the senate campaign contributions committee. Others scheduled to testify were George W. Perkins and Charles E. Drown.

Mr. Ryan first told the committee that he shouldered $350,000 of the debts of the Democratic national committee in 1904.

Early in the campaign, he said, "I gave $50,000 of the fund, although I was opposed to Judge Parker. I probably gave $50,000 in all, but I was not a member of the committee."

When the end of the campaign was drawing near and it was apparent that Mr. Parker could not be elected, some of my friends came to me and told me the campaign would be lost unless the committee received financial assistance.

Finally Gave $350,000. "I finally agreed, in order to pay the national committee, to furnish $350,000. This made a total of $450,000 I gave throughout the campaign. This was a personal contribution and I did not receive anyone except myself. I gave the money to try to elect Parker. I merely wanted to preserve the Democratic organization."

In reply to questions concerning the pre-convention campaign of 1912, Mr. Ryan said he had contributed between $75,000 and $80,000 to Governor Harmon's campaign and more than $20,000 to Representative Underwood.

In 1911, I made up my mind that the prospects of Democratic success were very bright," he said. "I thought any Democrat except Mr. Bryan could be elected."

Rejected Railroad's Plan. According to information received by the senate committee today, the wording of the interstate commerce commission order denying the railroad's petition to intervene.

"The interstate commerce commission has denied application of the railroad carriers for permission to intervene in this case. The commission will complete the schedule of rates after service of the complete schedules prescribed by the interstate commerce commission, while the package rate prescribed by the interstate commerce commission is in effect. The interstate commerce commission is so vitally interested in the interstate commerce case."

Timony heretofore blocked by Justice Goff.

Strong-Arm Man Called. Joseph Shephard, a police lieutenant who was a member of Becker's "strong-arm squad," was cross-examined by the prosecution this morning. He gave direct testimony that he had been present at a raid on Roosevelt's gambling establishment, conducted by

Monday,

He had led the party to defeat three times, and I regarded him as the only cloud on the horizon. I had no special interest in anyone, but I had known Governor Harmon of Ohio for twenty-five years and believed he would make a good president. I gave his managers somewhere between $15,000 and $20,000. Later on my friend, Senator Blankhead, manager for Mr. Underwood, came to me with an argument in favor of a Southern man for president. That appealed to me and I gave him thirty thousand dollars. I was not asked to aid Mr. Clark or Mr. Wilson, but would have given them assistance if it had been requested."

Mr. Ryan said that before Parker's nomination he was convinced he could not be elected.

Perkins, "Retired Workman." George W. Perkins was the next witness. He gave his occupation as "retired workman."

Asked as to the campaign of 1904, Mr. Perkins said that he was asked by Treasurer Bliss to take a place as a member of a local committee in New York to aid in collecting funds for the campaign.

"I worked in New York," said Mr. Perkins, "with Mr. Bliss. There were similar committees in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Boston and Chicago."

Mr. Perkins flatly denied that he knew of any concerted political action by the financial interests in Wall Street. He said that he remembered that he gave $75,000 or $80,000 of the 1904 fund.

"Whenever Mr. Bliss would get short or funds would get low," he said, "I could make a contribution of $10,000."

Chairman Clapp asked what contributions Mr. Perkins knew of outside of his own.

New York Life's Gift. "I was connected with the New York Life insurance company and I knew of the company's contributions," said he. Mr. Perkins produced a long statement of contributions of the New York Life insurance company, which the committee permitted him to read into the record.

The statement quoted at length from the minutes of the late president McCall of the New York Life insurance company, a contribution was made to defeat the "three silver holes" of William Jennings Bryan.

It was argued that the money was given to insure the establishment of a gold standard for the protection of the policy holders of the company and was therefore, it was proper to use the money of the company in that way.

The witness grew particularly earnest, concluding the statement, he read: "I believed at the time, and have always since believed, that in this transaction Mr. McCall did exactly right; that he would have been untrue to a single policy holder, so far as his duty to the company was concerned, had he taken any other course."

There is no question but that the thorough, unscrupulous attacks upon Mr. McCall by certain newspapers and sensational press of the country brought about his resignation. It is a more significant fact that in all this criticism of both him and me, not a single policy holder, so far as I am aware, out of the many thousands in the New York Life insurance company, made a single letter of criticism or complaint of what we did, either to Mr. McCall or to me."

"Without any law or regulation to guide us, we were carrying, firmly believing that the Democratic party was an advocate of financial theories which, if enacted into laws, would most seriously injure the policy holders of the New York Life, with Mr. McCall and I did our duty as we saw it."

Mr. Perkins said that for the New York Life, he advanced $100,000, which Mr. Bliss advanced $100,000, for which he was reimbursed by the company. Later, when the insurance investigation began, he returned the money to the company.

Money for Beverage. Letters relating to a contribution of $10,000, which Mr. Bliss advanced for letters to send to Senator Beveridge for use in the Indiana campaign, were read.

Senator Beveridge returned the money, said Mr. Perkins, "saying that he had been able to finance his campaign."

When the money was returned to the national committee Treasurer Bliss wrote: "You know, Mr. Perkins, how I appreciate the great help you have been to my department of the committee work during the recent campaign."

I cannot add very much to what I have personally said to you on several occasions, but I wish to place on record in writing how greatly I appreciate the valuable aid you have given to the committee through the loan of the money."

When the 1908 campaign was reached in the examination of Mr. Perkins, the witness spoke at length of the subject of publicity of campaign contributions, asserting that he had been working to that end for years.

"In the 1904 campaign, and the 1908 campaign, I urged publicity. But without much result. When the 1908 campaign was reached, I thought I would try to get the publicity of campaign contributions, and I did so."

Here the financier produced typewritten pages of "memoranda" which he said he had submitted to the Republican national committee.

One memorandum outlined a plan for collecting contributions from men of means all over the country. In Mr. Perkins said that "outside of New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and Boston, the cities of the country were practically never been asked to contribute."

Another memorandum to Chairman Hitchcock on Sept. 8, 1908, urged the contributions and expenditures of the Republican campaign to be made public before election.

General Smith said that he had been told down express receipts $25,000.

The state of Minnesota, it was stated at the offices of the railroad and warehouse commission today, is vitally interested in the case, not only on account of the change in interstate rates, but because of its effects on state rates, and the Minnesota commission has followed the case closely to safeguard the interests of the state.

The rate per 100 pounds, prescribed by the Minnesota commission is lower in many cases than the 100 pound rate prescribed by the interstate commerce commission, while the package rate prescribed by the interstate commerce commission is lower than the state commission rates, and it is for this reason that the state commission is so vitally interested in the interstate commerce case.

Rejected Railroad's Plan. According to information received by the senate committee today, the wording of the interstate commerce commission order denying the railroad's petition to intervene.

"The interstate commerce commission has denied application of the railroad carriers for permission to intervene in this case. The commission will complete the schedule of rates after service of the complete schedules prescribed by the interstate commerce commission, while the package rate prescribed by the interstate commerce commission is in effect. The interstate commerce commission is so vitally interested in the interstate commerce case."

He was accompanied by Dr. John B. Murphy and Mrs. Roosevelt. On the morning of the attack, the doors of the various rooms were open and the patients were able to call a greeting to him and wished him a safe journey. In the street there was a great crowd of curious spectators, who also shouted as the ambulance appeared in his wheel chair.

At the door he abandoned the chair, and on the arm of Dr. Lambert, his family physician, he took the few steps that were necessary to bring him to the ambulance, in which had been placed a cot on which he once reclined. The start was made immediately.

Detail of Police. In front of the ambulance was a large detail of motorcycle police, followed the ambulance. Then came various motorcars, in which were Col. Cecil Lyon and the remainder of the Roosevelt party. In other motorcars were the many newspaper men and photographers.

The last thing that Col. and Mrs. Roosevelt did at the hospital was to shake hands with and thank Mother Mary Bapich, the mother superior in charge. The farewell was brief but affecting. In the eyes of Mrs. Roosevelt, tears came, while the eyes of the mother superior were wet, and she quickly turned her head and then hurried into the building.

Avoided Station Crowd. To avoid a crowd at the station, Col. Roosevelt boarded the train in the railroad yard at Twelfth street, half a mile away. The train was then backed into the terminal train shed, where the colonel's baggage was received. In the party that entered Col. Roosevelt's car were Mrs. Roosevelt, Ethel Roosevelt, Theodore, Jr., Col. Cecil Lyon and Drs. Lambert and Terrell.

Col. Roosevelt's train, which had been scheduled to leave Chicago at 8:15 a. m., did not get off until 1:30 p. m. There had been a collision on the Burlington tracks at Fourteenth street adjoining the Union station. The first reports were that the train had been derailed.

Two engines crashed into each other on the Burlington tracks an hour before Col. Roosevelt's train was to pass by on the Pennsylvania line a few yards distant. The accident, which was due to a misreading on the part of a signal man, resulted in injuries that sent to a hospital one of the engineers. The first reports were that he was killed.

Col. Roosevelt's departure was marked by no incident not arranged

THE RINGDAL PROGRAM.

No. 1.—Direct Legislation.

The first item in the program on which P. M. Ringdal, the Democratic candidate for governor, is basing his campaign, is a change in the machinery of government that will bring governmental processes closely into the control of those by whom the government was created and for whom—and for whom alone—the government should work.

This change involves putting into the Constitution of the state of Minnesota provision for the initiative, the referendum and the recall.

The people of this state have desired these tools of real democracy for years—ever since they learned to know what they are, in fact.

There has not been a day in the past half dozen years when if either of these changes or all of them together had been submitted to popular vote they would not have carried overwhelmingly.

Yet so far it has been impossible to get the legislature to submit these changes to the people. Every special interest which seeks special favors and immunities from government is against them, and between them they have had a cunning organization which, even though it were in a minority in the legislature, has been able to contrive the defeat of these measures.

At the 1911 session of the legislature all of them would have passed both houses had they come to a vote, but the organization was skillful enough to prevent a vote being taken, so they failed.

One reason—very great reason—why they failed was that there was nobody in the governor's office to challenge the inactivity of the legislature and the adroit scheming of the minority opposed to popular rule, or to throw the limelight upon those indifferent members who would be forced to vote for these measures if the role was called, but who were willing to connive at delaying and defeating a recall call.

If P. M. Ringdal is in the governor's office, the legislature will not be permitted to dodge consideration of these issues without challenge, and the cunning minority will not be allowed to defeat the will of the majority by shrewd manipulation under cover.

It is true that a governor cannot create the initiative, the referendum and the recall; but he can call upon the legislature to provide them, and he can, by showing that he means it, make it impossible for the legislature to smother them.

The initiative simply means that if the legislature fails to enact a measure wanted by the people, the people can enact it themselves. For instance, if Minnesota had the initiative and the legislature failed or refused to provide the referendum and the recall, the people could enact them into law.

The referendum means only that if the legislature passes a bad law, a law against the public interest, the people can have it submitted to them and veto it if they please.

The recall means that if an elected official betrays his trust, the people need not wait to the end of his term, but may discharge him just as any employer would discharge a faithless servant.

Nobody should be misled by those who pretend to regard these measures as substitutes for representative government. They are, as Governor Wilson termed them, "a gun behind the door," which the people may use if they need it. In practice, they will be more valuable as a menace to unfaithful representatives than for actual use. The legislature will seldom refuse to pass a needed law when it knows that if it doesn't do it the people will. The legislature will seldom pass an obnoxious law when it knows that if it does the people will veto it. Public servants will seldom be unfaithful when they know that if they are their employers, the people, will discharge them under the recall.

Minnesota needs these measures. P. M. Ringdal is the only candidate for governor who can be depended upon to see that the legislature provides them.

Some Claim To Fame.
If the Lloyds people really want to do something sporty they might issue some insurance on the lives of a few of those witnesses in the Becker trial.

THE NEW CITY CHARTER.

So far as it has gone—and it seems nearly complete—the new city charter prepared by the charter commission is an admirable document.

The commission aimed at simplicity—at a body of fundamental law like a state constitution, not a mass of statute law—and its aim has been true. Needful fundamentals are carefully covered; matters of administration are left to the legislative action of the commission elected under the new charter, subject always to the advisory action of the public under the initiative and the referendum.

Government under it will be strictly non-partisan. Instead of the two elections necessary under the party system, there will be but one. The ward system, one of the most prolific sources of corruption and bad government under the old system, is abolished. City government will be city business—only that but all of that.

Five commissioners, one to act as mayor, will be elected as a board of directors of public business in behalf of all parts of the city for the good of the whole city.

It puts city business plainly and purely on a business basis. It centers responsibility. It provides for a mayor and councilmen who will be on the job all the time, and who will be paid accordingly.

The result should be better service at the same cost to the taxpayers, as good service for less money, or, more likely still, better service for less money.

There is no chance for loss in the adoption of this charter, and a great chance for gain.
If there is one criticism to be made of the proposed charter as it stands, it would be that the salaries proposed for the commissioners—$4,000 a year—are too low. Doubtless they were not made higher for fear it would turn some votes against the charter. Still, it is a fair salary, though no means what a private corporation would pay those who managed a business of equal volume. And this point, as we understand it, is still undecided.

The charter commission is doing good work. It is entitled to the thanks of the community. It has absorbed thoroughly the spirit of the commission plan. It has not been bound to any particular example of that system, but has shaped the new charter to Duluth's peculiar needs.

When the work is done The Herald expects to see the best city charter in all the United States. It will be a charter that every Duluthian may be proud of and glad to vote for.

And when the work is completed it is to be hoped there will be no unnecessary delay about getting the new charter before the voters and into operation.

Duluth has long been ready for the commission form, and while there will be determined opposition and every affirmative vote will be needed, The Herald believes that if a full vote is out the charter will carry overwhelmingly.

OR JUST THE MATCHES?

Somebody has written a book on "how to smoke a pipe." The first rule is to borrow some tobacco from the fellow in the next room?

MURDERED HELPLESS.

We have read the platform put forth by His Excellency Adolph Eberhart, governor of Minnesota; first with amazement, then again in alarm, then a third time in horror.

Where are—what has become of—those merry little twins, Consolidation and Conservation—"Con" and "Con" for short—that were wont to accompany Adolph on all his goings and comings?

They were his loyal and trusting companions for many moons. They walked by his side, looking trustfully up into his eyes. They ate with him, slept with him, mounted the rostrum with him, boarded the Great Northern special trains with him, grew to know all the porters on the parlor cars by their first names, and frolicked about his pathway day in and day out, year in and year out.

It was a pretty spectacle, that often brought tears to people's eyes. The mutual trust, the reliance one upon the other—Adolph upon "Con" and "Con," and "Con" and "Con" upon Adolph—was a thing of perfect charm. Never was there such a complete picture of undying mutual loyalty.

Others might talk of regulating railroad rates and service, but not Adolph. He was not to be parted from those companions of his political youth, those ever ready refugees from critical situations, good old "Con" and "Con."

Others might talk of distance tariff, of smashing the fabric of railroad favoritism that crushes out small and hopeful communities that great communities may grow bigger. But not Adolph. He was ever faithful to "Con" and "Con."

Others might talk of the brewery power in politics, might challenge it as the keystone of the system of special interests that thwarts the people's will in Minnesota; but their talk fell on deaf ears. Adolph was too busy chatting with "Con" and "Con," whispering sweet loving nothings into their shell-like ears and fondling their baby hands.

Others might talk of Initiative, Referendum and Recall, and dwell upon their beauties as solvents of all public wrongs; but Adolph could not hear them. No rude, coarse, able Initiative, Referendum or Recall for him while his twin pets, "Con" and "Con" were by his side.

WHAT HAS HE DONE WITH THEM?
We beseech the clamor of the campaign to be still while our lachrymose voice pierces the awed silence to spread this inquiry in the name of mercy and humanity.

Has he slain these faithful friends, who were always ready to come to his rescue at any ticklish moment?

Has he deserted them and left them lonely and forlorn, pitiful little babes in an unfriendly world, at some dark and murky spot along the many roads he has traveled?

Has he tired of their loyalty, and inserted through their delicate ribs the knife of ingratitude?

If he has, he has treated them basely. They deserved better things of him. Their wounds cry eloquently for vengeance, and Justice will stalk grimly abroad until she finds them and rights this monstrous wrong.

Where, oh where, are Consolidation and Conservation, those pretty babes whom in tender affection we used to call "Con" and "Con" for short?

A Dry War.
At least we can feel sure that this Balkan war isn't going to boost the battling averages of the natives to any great extent.

THE JOHNSON MONUMENT.

Once more, and for the last time formally, the people of Minnesota have gathered to pay tribute to the memory and the brilliant career and splendid public service of the late John Albert Johnson, the first native-born son of Minnesota to become its governor.

Saturday afternoon the beautiful monument reared on the capitol grounds with money contributed bountifully by the plain people of Minnesota, from whom he came and whom he loved so well, was unveiled with fitting ceremonies. The work of Andrew O'Connor, the artist chosen for this work, stood forth in all its simple grandeur, and in the high thought of the moment ten thousand pairs of eyes were dewed by tender remembrance of one who is with us no longer, except in gracious memory.

After a prayer by the Right Reverend Father J. J. Lawler, who had been chaplain of Governor Johnson's official staff, the monument was presented by C. D. O'Brien, president of the memorial commission, and accepted by Governor Eberhart in a speech that harmonized well with the occasion. Congressman Winfield Scott Hammond gave one of the noblest orations heard in Minnesota in many a day.

And so this noble monument stands today on the capitol grounds, tangible testimony to the love felt by the people of Minnesota for one of them who came by sheer force of merit and warm lovingkindness to be governor over them, and mutely eloquent tribute to the popular loyalty still felt, and long to be felt, to one who labored with and for them long and faithfully and well.

The tender relation between John Albert Johnson and the people of Minnesota, a finer thing than any beauty of marble or granite could picture, is a glory that will grow softer and more tender still in the mists of the fading years.

THE GOVERNORSHIP

Stands By Old Friend.

Brownsville, Va., Tribune: An exchange suggests that Governor Eberhart get a new political speech. The governor probably feels like sticking by an old friend who has done such valiant service in the past, and we may expect to continue to hear the story of the two "C's" throughout the campaign.

A People's Governor.

Montevideo Leader: We truly believe that it will be for the best interests of the people of Minnesota to elect P. M. Ringdal governor. Mr. Ringdal is the nominee of the Democratic party, but he is more than that. He is a worthy and upright man, and in whatever public capacity he has been placed has made good. He invites a careful scrutiny of his record, public and private, and in asking for the people's support has shown a promise to do all in his power to establish and maintain peace and order, and that he will faithfully administer the laws. We feel sure that the people will find in Mr. Ringdal a doer of right things in the right way at the right time. We do not expect the big statesman, but we do expect a man who will be a governor if elected, as we hope he will be.

Direct Legislation.

William Tribune: It is clearly apparent to any student of conditions that the key to securing reforms that the people want is the adoption of direct legislation. This was the opinion of the late Governor Johnson, and while he was successful in getting the question on county option by his adroit manipulation of the legislature, his view of the case has been vindicated by the course of events. In the candidacy of P. M. Ringdal this issue has the strongest possible exponent. Ringdal was using direct legislation twenty years ago, when little of the meaning of the issue and cared less. There is every reason to believe that if elected as governor, Minnesota Ringdal would use every resource of his mind and his tongue to get direct legislation adopted in Minnesota. Isn't this issue alone worth the while of the progressive voters of Minnesota? With this instrument in their hands, they can do anything they want. That is the key to unlock the door that now bars progress in Minnesota. It is not a party question. It is a broad question of public policy. It is a progressive, regardless of party affiliation, can unite. Let us forget personal animosities and let us unite to get this one big thing—the open door to reform—the establishment of the rule of the people in Minnesota. Let all progressives rally to the support of direct legislation. Its election would mean splendid progress for one campaign.

But He's Not Going To.
Sank Court Herald: "The Man of Destiny" says he's going to stay in viewpoint, and of the bias of personal interest. It is worthy of note, in view of what the correspondent writes, that Col. Roosevelt has seen fit vigorously to deny any association of ideas between him and the heads of the trusts. The Herald always has freely conceded many good and sound points to Col. Roosevelt, and hopes he will long be an active and vigorous worker for the welfare of the nation, but not as president. This nation is not so poor in presidential material that it needs a man who has but one man who can conduct its affairs. It has many such men, and the best of them are well known and available is Woodrow Wilson.—The Editor.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their views on the topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

MUCKRAKING AND A DIFFERENCE OF OPINION.

To the Editor of The Herald: In an editorial of your issue of the 15th inst. you state, "We are profoundly shocked by the news of the attack on Col. Roosevelt." You also state that you are pleased to learn that his would not be serious, and state as a reason that the country needs him. I am sure that you are right. But I am not sure that you are right in your opinion that the country needs him. I am sure that the country needs a man who is not a muckraker. ## ELECTRO MED. DOCTORS ARE OVERCROWDED Institute Opened Nine Months Ago Is Attracting Many Patients.

DOCTORS ARE FEW WHO CAN APPLY TREATMENT.

Present Equipment Proves Insufficient—Doctors Forced to Order More.

From hour to hour is the office steadily filled with patients who are awaiting their turn to be put under treatment. Ever since the institute at 22 West Superior street in Duluth was opened have the doctors been besieged by patients from all parts of the Middle West. Often the examining doctor and his assistants are kept busy that they have hardly time to take their hasty meals, and in spite of all their effort, many of the would-be patients have turned away disappointed. Some are turned away because they need the care of a sanitarium and others because of the lack of time. Those who are well enough to go are sent to the Eastern branch of the institute; however, those who are in pain, and where treatment is an absolute necessity, they are always preferred, and for them there will always be made room.

The number of applicants for treatment is showing the doctors the necessity of a sanitarium, which the doctors intend to build as soon as they think that such an institute will be supported well enough by the public. Many of the wealthy patients have offered to assist them and subscribe for large blocks of stock. However, the doctors want to continue their work under present conditions for some time, and by their cures prove to the people of the Middle West that the Electro Medical method is a cure for many of the ailments of the human body. In their reputation they rely on a great extent on their cured patients, every one of which is a walking advertisement for the doctors, and at that rate they are sure that a large sanitarium would soon be filled.

There are as many as 500 to 700 patients who have been cured of diseases of almost all descriptions. There is no doubt that this method of treatment will develop a new era of treatment as well as electricity has developed a new era in transportation and industries in general. If these new treatments are curing people of cancer, paralysis and nervous trouble, it surely is bound to be recognized by the public. These of a doubting disposition will easily be convinced by the easy, testimonials patients have handed to the daily press. Though the doctors are extremely busy, they welcome every sick and suffering man and woman to a consultation. If they are anxious to find out their real troubles, married women, however, must be accompanied by their husbands.

ADRIFT ON LAKE SUPERIOR

Three Men in Crippled Launch Tossed About for Two Days.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—While members of the crew of a tug chartered for the occasion were preparing to resume their search of the St. Mary's passage for Dr. Alfred Lemon, Frank Oster and Dr. Hobbs, all of this city, the three men reached here this morning in their crippled launch in which they have battled with the elements on Lake Superior for the last two days.

Several days ago they left for Parisian Island, at the lower end of Lake Superior to look over a mining claim. Shortly after they left they set out to return home heavy seas crippled their engine and they paddled back to shelter. Making temporary repairs they started again Thursday afternoon.

Once again the seas crippled their little craft and using a blanket for a sail they drifted helplessly about in the storm until the engine was again repaired. Although all three men were considerably weakened they were little the worse for their experience.

The captain of the Fleetwood, J. H. Ferguson, reported to have escaped serious damage.

The Pine Lake was owned by C. H. Little & Co. of Detroit. She was built in 1895 and had a gross tonnage of 388. The Fleetwood is owned by the Tonawanda Iron Steel company of North Tonawanda, N. Y.

Grain Rate Steady.

GLEANED ALONG THE POLICE RUN

LEAVES FROM A REPORTER'S NOTE BOOK BY X

Carl S. Dahl, a 225-pound blacksmith earning up to $100 a month, said in police court this morning that he "guessed he could make a living" without his wife.

His wife, a slight, nervous woman, didn't appear a bit dismayed at the prospect of Dahl making a living for himself. She said he blew over half of his money for booze and that she made up the deficit by sewing and keeping boarders. She guessed she wouldn't have to go to the poor farm right away.

Dahl didn't make the most favorable kind of an impression upon Judge Cutting, as witness the sentence the court handed out—fifteen days straight in the county jail. He needed guilty to disorderly conduct.

Mrs. Dahl showed how very, very badly she felt about it by commenting: "You didn't get enough."

The couple have had trouble at intervals for several years past, according to their statements in police court this morning. They became so bitter in their allegations that the court directed the address their remarks to each other and not to each other. Dahl said that he didn't know his wife possessed such facility for mutilating the truth and she retorted with the assertion that Dahl's reputation for the unreliability of his verbal pronouncements is known all over town.

Mrs. Dahl declared that he had beaten and abused her; that he had threatened to cut her head off with an axe and that he couldn't find the axe he had used before her, and that he had used vile and profane language in addressing her. She added that she knew a lot of things which she couldn't tell but that she wouldn't do so because they were too bad to be repeated.

O. Davidson, an aged man of North

Sixteenth avenue west, was knocked down by R. M. Selwood's automobile at Lake avenue and Superior street Saturday afternoon. He was hurried to St. Mary's hospital by Mr. Selwood, and an examination disclosed no more serious injury than a dislocated hip. The old man became confused in crossing the street, when he saw an automobile and a street car approaching from the same direction. He dodged forth and back and suddenly stepped in front of the car which was traveling at a low rate of speed.

Pritchard Lund, the son of C. A. Lund of 4405 East Fifth street, declined to tell the name of the man who shot him while they were hunting together Saturday. He declares that it was purely accidental and that it would make his friend feel bad to have his name become known. Lund sustained a flesh wound in the thigh and is in no danger. He is at St. Mary's hospital.

Anybody who has had a whiff of the stink balls which have been broken in some of the local street cars doesn't have any desire to become better acquainted with them. The reason is obvious.

Just as Alfredson says that he had an experience with a stink ball which he will never forget. While working for the street car company he claims that Carl A. Evanson, a striker, broke one down the back of his neck. Spilling his clothes was the least part of it.

Alfredson swore out a warrant for Evanson's arrest, charging him with assault. Although the alleged assault was committed Sept. 21 last, Evanson was not arrested until this morning. When arraigned in police court he pleaded guilty to the charge and was set for Wednesday morning. He was released on $50 bail.

Kate Rick, who runs the St. Elmo hotel on Sixth street, was arrested this morning on a charge of defrauding a linkman. She alleges that he left without paying $5 said to be due her. Taylor, a linkman, was arrested in police court this morning and his trial was set for this afternoon.

Louis Pederson was arrested this morning on a charge of assault on Lillian Pikkariainen, charging him with a serious offense. He asked for an examination and his hearing was set for Wednesday morning. Bail was fixed at $250.

Louis Hanson claims that Stans Sanoski assaulted him Sept. 25 last without provocation and caused his arrest. He had been beaten and was set for this afternoon.

Olof Bloomquist declared in police court this morning that he works for his money. "How much have you got now?" asked the court when Olof denied that he had been beaten.

"I haven't got any," said Olof. "I believe in keeping the coin in circulation." "Is that how you got your red nose?" queried the judge.

The member in question was certainly looking a little red. It glowed like the last live ember of the camp fire fanned by a sudden breeze. It flamed downward right from the bump where the last sweeping curve of his proboscis met its inception. But above all it looked as though Olof had spent a lot of money in getting it to that color.

To get back to the judge's question, Olof was not very frank in admitting that he had fallen down and bumped it, wherefore it was not exactly natural. The policeman who had made the arrest was called to the stand and testified that he had seen Olof brace three different persons for the "price of a meal." Olof did not have the heart to say that the cop was stringing the judge and he was found guilty. He had the choice of paying $5 or going to the county jail for three days. He took the latter alternative, but through no fault of his own.

Hattie Mell, Rondina Moren and August Peterson were arrested in the house at 1902 South street by Chief Trooper and Detective Brady last evening. August and Hattie were acting disgracefully and attracted a crowd of children, according to the police. In police court this morning Hattie was convicted of disorderly conduct and got a straight sentence of sixty days in the county jail. Hattie was charged with conducting a disorderly house, a gross misdemeanor, and she asked for an examination, which was set for this afternoon. Rondina was convicted of being drunk and got 10 and costs or five days in the county jail.

Tom Speech came into headquarters yesterday afternoon to demand the arrest of some one whom he claimed was selling whisky on Sunday. "Tom was so drunk that he couldn't talk straight and was locked up on a charge of drunkenness. He got off with the minimum, $3 or three days, when he pleaded guilty in police court this morning."

Algot Carlson used such vile and filthy language on a street car Saturday night that the women aboard stopped their ears. This morning he pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct and got 15 and costs or fifteen days in the county jail. Gust Johnson and Conrad Bourman each got $10 and costs or ten days on the same charge. Severin Erickson had subsided when told to do so and was let down with $3 or three days.

Frank Nehring admitted that he had broken some dishes when he came home intoxicated Saturday night. His wife became frightened and called a policeman, who arrested him for disorderly conduct. Sentence was suspended this morning when he signed the pledge.

Mrs. Jennie Eney, proprietress of the Alvarado hotel, was arrested Saturday afternoon on a charge of conducting a house of ill fame on the premises. She pleaded not guilty and trial was set for Tuesday afternoon.

The case against F. B. James, John Bartell and Andrew Tudlaff, charged with having assaulted John Schaefer, was dismissed in police court this morning on motion of Prosecutor Wharton.

Mrs. George Weir of Iron River, Wis., has written the local police asking them to try to locate her son, Harry Staples, 13 years old, who disappeared some days ago. The missing boy is light complexioned, with heavy reddish brown hair. He wears light colored cotton cap, blue overalls and a pair of red shoes.

"CASE-HARDENED" AD MAN WRITES

Who else would dare make this offer? We quote from a letter from H. M. Johnson, Vice-President of the Daily Republic, Rockford, Illinois.

"In the twenty-seven years that it has been my business to deal with copy of all kinds I have never seen more convincing, logical and forceful ad than those you are sending out. They have a ring of sincerity and the statements have the tone of being a recital of facts that should inspire confidence. They have so impressed a case-hardened ad man that he is exceedingly curious to know if it really does the wonderful things recited."

In reply we sent Editor Johnson some convincing literature, following it up with the statement that if he knew of a definite case of Bright's Disease, a worthy person to whom our aid would mean something, that we could send a course of Fulton's Renal Compound in an attempt to establish the genuineness of the claims made in the very shadows of the Republic's Editorial Rooms. We added that we do not claim recoveries in all cases and might make a failure, but that we would take the chance, and trusted within three months to show such results that the patient would be in comfort and would have new heart and courage in the reasonable probability that recovery could ultimately be effected.

Ask yourself this question—would anybody else in the world dare make this offer? Druggists supplied by Leithhead Drug Co.

OPPOSED TO ORDINANCE

The Duluth real estate exchange at a special meeting at the Commercial club today adopted a resolution of protest against the proposed ordinance providing for the licensing of street railway men and conductors.

The real estate men take the position that the public good demands that no such restrictions be placed on the employment of men by the street railway company. They hold that the company would be precluded from suddenly increasing its force at times when special service might be required. Whitney Wall was appointed chairman of the committee to present the exchange's protest to the council committee this afternoon.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

WANT REPEAL OF "DRY" LAW

North Dakota German-American Alliance Smoking Out Candidates.

Would-be Lawmakers Asked Where They Stand on Resubmission.

Bismarck, N. D., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The German-American Alliance of North Dakota will endeavor to bring about the resubmission of the prohibition question to the voters of North Dakota, judging from the set of questions which have been submitted to candidates for the legislature. Prohibition is not the only question in which they are interested, as they also will seek to have laws governing education in which they have a particular interest amended, and they also will make a vigorous fight against the enactment of the proposed inspection of liquor bill fostered by the North Dakota Enforcement League.

The German alliance, of which W. H. Mann, state railroad commissioner, is the president, and of which F. L. Brandt of Bismarck, secretary of the state board of control of penal and charitable institutions, is the secretary, makes known its attitude toward prohibition in four questions which it submits to the voters.

The first is on the initiative and referendum, the candidate being asked whether he favors the principle as applicable to both the Constitution and statutes, and, if so, which of the proposed bills, the Doyle-Plymouth, or the Mann bill, he favors.

Then comes the question direct as to whether the candidate being asked whether he favors the principle as applicable to both the Constitution and statutes, and, if so, which of the proposed bills, the Doyle-Plymouth, or the Mann bill, he favors.

Finally, the alliance requests information as to the candidate's view of the proposed inspection bill, and it also submits a special letter on that subject, attacking the proposed measure in vigorous manner, charging that its purpose is not really inspection, but that it is simply a specious way of attempting to enforce prohibition, and interfere with the consumer in his constitutional right of importing liquor for his own use.

In addressing the consumers, the German alliance contends that the proposed bill would make them pay an additional cost of about 50 cents on a package of beer, because of the inspection fee and the labels used. Short measure would be another result. It is claimed as the bill empowers the inspectors to open packages and take samples of the contents. In the case of beer shipments it is charged that such inspections would mean the spoiling of the commodity. And it is charged, also, that the bill covers all the consumers is concerned.

WOULD OUST SHERIFF.

Burlingame County N. D. Official Charged With Negligence.

Bismarck, N. D., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sheriff Frank Barnes of Burlingame county was started last week when an accusation was filed with District Judge Walter H. Winchester, charging the sheriff with refusal or neglect to perform the official duties pertaining to his office. The principal affidavit and accusation was signed by County Constable P. L. Watkins, president of the North Dakota enforcement league.

The affidavit charges the sheriff with showing favors to J. Riley, a prisoner entrusted to his keeping, and failure to enforce the prohibition law governing the handling of seized liquor.

Appended to the main accusation are three affidavits signed and sworn to by Dr. A. L. Kershaw, Frank Peeney and H. J. Miskad, all of Bismarck.

FAVOR IRONWOOD OWNING ITS PLANT

Ironwood, Mich., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The board of directors of the Commercial club passed a motion that in the opinion of the club Ironwood should at once take steps toward purchasing or building a plant for furnishing the city with an adequate and wholesome water supply, that a sinking fund for that purpose of approximately $20,000 per year be established as soon as possible in order to be ready to act at the expiration of the present franchise, and that the committee on water supply be instructed to co-operate with this end in view. It was also unanimously carried that the civic committee be instructed to take up the question of the council the matter of having all poles removed from the principal streets, and all sidewalks in the city. These are the resolutions adopted by the club.

IRONWOOD HOME STATION.

Federal Instructions in Mine Safety To Be Given There.

Ironwood, Mich., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Supt. John M. Bush, chairman of the special committee of the Gogebic county board of supervisors, appointed nearly a year ago to see what could be done toward securing the location of one of the mine and safety centers of the federal bureau of mines in the Lake Superior district, has received word from Dr. Holmes, director of the bureau, that a car is now being fitted up at the Pullman works, and just as soon as fully equipped will be sent to Ironwood in charge of a full crew of experts. Dr. Holmes has directed that Ironwood shall be the home station for the car. Petitions signed by thousands of Lake Superior miners were forwarded to Washington requesting the placing of one of the bureau's rescue and safety cars in this district, and the bureau decided that inasmuch as the car was for use in all of the Lake Superior mining districts of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan, Ironwood was more centrally located than any other place for the home station.

RURAL LIFE BETTERMENT

Is Pledge of North Dakota Women's Clubs.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The development of rural life in schools and homes is the specific work demanded for the coming year from the women of the North Dakota Federation of Women's Clubs. This appeal was embodied in the resolutions adopted at the close of the annual convention held here, and the resolutions adopted at the new president, Miss Minnie J. Nelson of Valley City, when she delivered her speech of acceptance.

The plan of this work is co-operation with county superintendents of schools in spreading the knowledge of school improvement, and the dissemination of household sanitation, creating interest in organization of rural clubs, and developing a use of rural school buildings for social and educational betterment and the intermingling of rural and urban classes.
